U. S. Steps Up Aid To French In Indochina

Light Bombers, Ground Crews, Supplies Sent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The United States has put into operation an emergency plan to help French and loyal Indochinese forces turn back what is regarded here as the most threatening Red offensive of the eight-year-old Indochina War.

The Defense Department announced today it is sending some B26 bombers and about 200 more Air Force ground crew technicians to help the French and Vietnam forces fighting the Communists there.

In addition, the flow of American military supplies has been stepped up so critically needed equipment can move to the battlefront in time to help beat back the mounting Red drive, particularly in Laos.

Substantial numbers of big C119 Flying Boxcars have been "loaned" to the French to speed supplies to threatened areas.

The Defense Department's announcement said:

"The success of the Franco-Vietnamese forces in the war in Indochina is important not only to France and the Associated States, but to the United States and the whole free world."

The department did not disclose the number of B26 light bombers immediately involved, but it was understood to be small, about 10. They will be flown by French crews, and the department noted that "this represents an immediate need for trained mechanics."

Approximately 125 technicians are already on the scene, instructing the French and Vietnamese in maintenance operations for various types of U.S. aircraft, and they will be augmented by about 200 more technical advisers and expert mechanics. They work in rear areas and do not take part in combat operations.

The decision to send mechanics and ground crews, approved by top Eisenhower administration leaders, represents a far-reaching step. Similar action was taken secretly, but on a much smaller scale, last

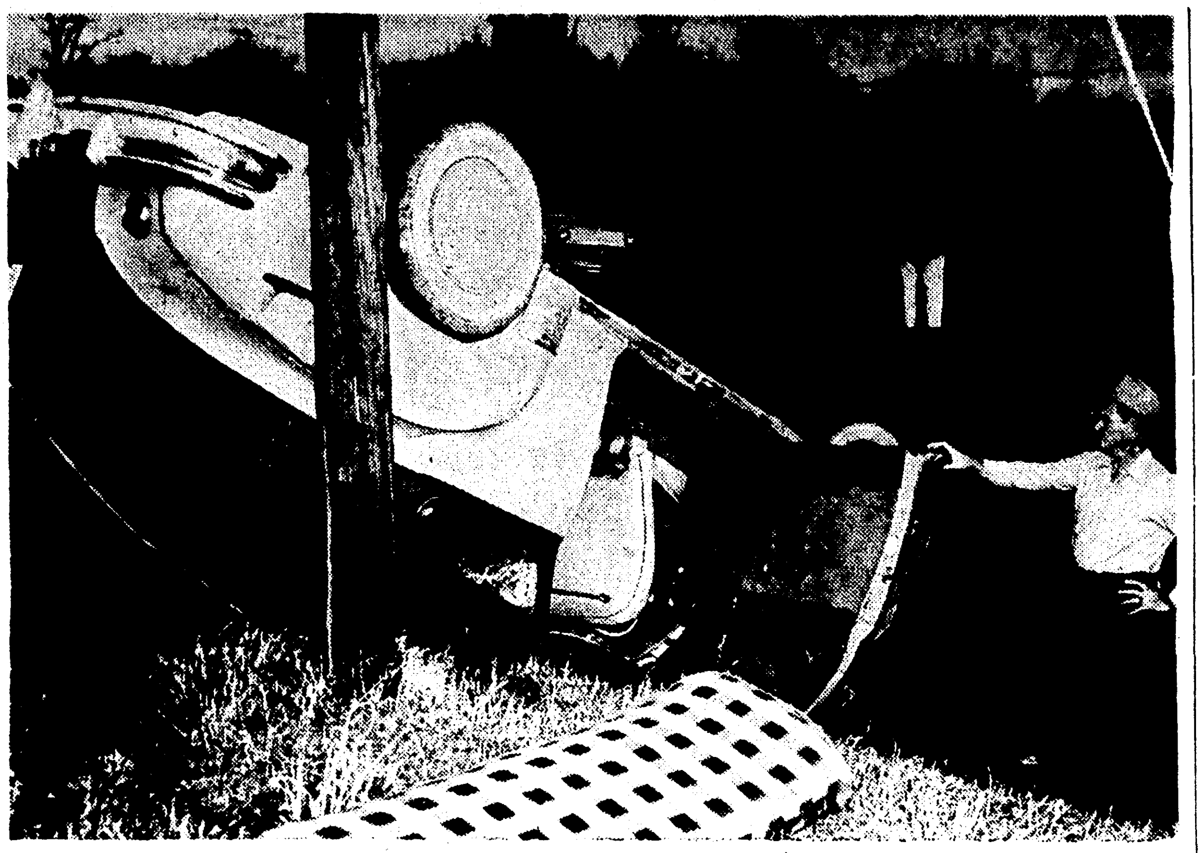
INSURE YOUR FUTURE, PROTECT OUR FORESTS



FIVE ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY—Roy Gardner, right, of Ruston, is shown inspecting an overturned car from which five persons escaped with only minor injuries. The car was traveling west on Highway 80 Saturday afternoon when the driver, 18-year-old June Alexander, daughter of Carroll Alexander, Rt. 1, West Monroe, lost control on a curve near the West Monroe auction barn. The vehicle left the road, and turned over several times before coming to rest against a power line pole. The driver, her father, and his three nephews escaped with only minor injuries. Refuses To Shelve Deadlocked Debate

Molotov Ignores Three Compromise Feelers By West On German Unity

BERLIN, Feb. 6 (AP)—Soviet Russia ignored three compromise feelers by the West on German unification today but refused to let the Berlin conference shelve this deadlocked question to take up the Austrian independence treaty.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov wound up the second fruitless week of the Big Four parley by reviving last year's Soviet demand on the Western powers to cut their occupation costs.

It seemed another grandstand play by the shrewd Russian, who has showered his diplomatic opposition with unacceptable proposals that made Communist headlines but brought the conference no closer to a solution on Germany.

French Foreign Minister Bidault, again the West's vanguard, offered two concessions to the Soviet viewpoint in a last ditch try to start German unification rolling.

He dropped the idea of Big Four supervision of all German elections —hotly attacked by Molotov — and suggested instead that supervisory commissions to protect the voters' liberties be made up of one West Germany, one East German and one neutral as an arbiter.

Bidault accepted the electoral law of the old Weimar Republic, which had received a few good words from Molotov as applicable in unification. The Communists liked this law because it permitted organizations as well as parties to put up candidates. Their organizations, such as the Women's League and Free German Youth, might thus get on the ballot.

Britain's Anthony Eden immediately followed up this French effort to soften the Russian stone wall on unification. He offered to extend the British-Soviet mutual defense treaty against German aggression. It was signed in 1943 and is due to expire in 1963.

"We in the United Kingdom for our part abide by our treaty with the Soviet Union," he said. "We should, I am sure, be ready to prolong it if Mr. Molotov feels that this would give added security to the Soviet Union. If there are any other ways in which we could help to resolve the Soviet Union's anxiety about its security, I have already said that we should be glad to consider them."

Traffic Mishaps Injure 13 Persons During January

A total of 93 traffic accidents were reported in Monroe during January and 13 persons were injured in the accidents, according to statistics released Saturday by the police traffic department.

The figures showed a slight drop in the number of accidents and the number of injuries reported in the same month last year, with 95 accidents resulting in 16 injuries occurring during that month.

A breakdown of 1954's figures show that three persons were injured in automobile - pedestrian accidents; eight in automobile collision accidents, and two in automobile-bicycle accidents.

Besides these there were 78 motor vehicle collisions which did not result in injuries, one automobile and fixed object collision which did not result in injuries; and one automobile turned over without a collision.

There were no deaths in either month.

M'Carthy Makes Reply To Truman

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 6—UP—Sen. Joseph McCarthy Saturday night upbraided former President Harry S Truman for addressing the Americans for Democratic Action and called upon "all good Democrats" to desert their party.

At a Lincoln Day dinner, the Wisconsin Republican again labeled the Democratic party as one of "betrayal and treason."

"Last night, Harry Truman confirmed the facts that his party over the past 20 years well earned and as of tonight still deserves to be labeled the party of betrayal," McCarthy said.

"Speaking before the ADA, which decent Democrats have repudiated because it so often parellels the Communist line, Truman in his usual intemperate language damned the Republicans for searching out Communists in government," he said.

"Forgetful Harry last night before the leftwing ADA screamed just as loudly about the present exposures as he screamed about the exposures of Alger Hiss and Attorney General Brownell," the senator said.

McCarthy charged that "with Truman and (Adlai) Stevenson leading the Democratic party, it is more than ever, if that were possible the party of communism, betrayal and treason."

5 Miraculously Escape Serious Injury In Crash

Five persons luckily escaped with only minor injuries when the car in which they were riding left the road and turned over three miles west of the West Monroe city limits, on highway 80 yesterday afternoon.

Miss June Alexander, 18, of route 1, West Monroe, was driving the car in which her father, Carroll Alexander, and his three nephews, seven-year-old Kenny Alexander, five-year-old Jimmy Alexander and three-year-old Tommy Alexander, were passengers. As the vehicle rounded a curve just east of the West Monroe auction barn, the driver lost control. The car left the highway and rolled over several times before coming to rest against a power line pole.

The occupants were taken by two Kilpatrick Funeral Home ambulances to St. Francis Sanitarium where authorities reported they were found to have suffered only minor bruises and lacerations.

There was no estimate on damage to the vehicle.

The three children in the car were sons of Alexander's brother, R. H. Alexander.

The family was on its way home when the accident occurred.

Korean Veteran Is Held In Two Capital Cases

JONESVILLE, Feb. 6 (Special)—Moses Morace 22-year-old Jonesville Korean war veteran, is being held in the Concordia parish jail at Vidalia on two charges of criminal assault, according to District Attorney D. W Gibson, of Harrisonburg.

Gibson said the first attack was allegedly committed Jan. 28 near Wildsville in Concordia parish and the second in the same vicinity Jan 30. Both of the alleged victims were 15-year-old Jonesville girls, he said.

Morace is being held without bond awaiting action of the grand jury, which meets April 5.

Gibson pointed out that the maximum penalty, if the defendant is found guilty, is death.

Given Hero's Welcome After Dodging Soviets Two Years

Hvasta Reveals Existence Of Czech Underground

HILLSIDE, N. J., Feb. 6—UP—John Hvasta, who hid out in Cechoslovakia for nearly two years after escaping from a Communist prison said Saturday the Czechs are dissatisfied with their Red rulers and have a well-organized anti-Kremlin underground.

Hvasta waited until he had returned to his home town of Hillside before breaking the silence he had maintained since he left Czechoslovakia a few days ago.

The 26-year-old, Czech-born naturalized American perched on a desk in the town hall to tell reporters about his experiences. He said he was sent to prison five years ago on espionage charges.

"It was a secret trial and I was subjected to both mental and physical torture, including beatings, before I confessed," Hvasta said. "I was subjected to the worst possible treatment in prison, treatment reserved only for political prisoners."

Hvasta said the underground that sheltered him for 21 months appeared to be supported by the people.

"The Czech government is not representative of the country," he said. "People are not happy with the present government. The country is suffering and the standard of living has been reduced. The people have been deprived of their freedom, they are poorly clothed and fed."

Hvasta talked to reporters soon after receiving a hero's welcome from his friends, family and the city of Hillside.

Dr. Juraj Slavik, former Czech ambassador to the United States, told newsmen Hvasta had said he would give the State Department top secret information about the Czech underground. Slavik said Hvasta told him he had given secret documents to a U. S. diplomatic courier in London for safe delivery to Washington officials.

He said Hvasta commented he did not "trust carrying the papers" himself.

Hvasta said he had received several offers to buy his story and had been asked to appear on several radio and television programs.

He declined to discuss in any detail how he got out of prison or what he did during his months of freedom as a refugee. He said he hurt his left leg while leaping across a ditch just after he escaped

Germ Warfare Secrets Revealed

Army Owns 3 Secret Plants; 1 In Arkansas

Private Industry Balks At Task Of Operating Them

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—UP—Army officials Saturday disclosed the existence of three highly secret plants specializing in the development of defense against biological warfare.

The plants, operated by the Army chemical corps, are located at Camp Detrick, Frederick, Md.; Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark., and Dugway, Utah.

The existence of the germ warfare installations was disclosed following reports that the Army had failed in efforts to have private industry take over operation of the plants.

The Army has been negotiating since early last fall with the Mathieson Chemical Co. of Baltimore, Md., about private operation of the installations. This was in line with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's policy of having private industry take over as much of the industrial operations of the military as possible.

The Army has never disclosed officially what type of work it wanted Mathieson to take over, except to say it was part of the highly classified research and development program of the chemical corps.

A high Army official disclosed Saturday, however, that the negotiations concerned the biological warfare research program.

This program, he said, is concentrated at Camp Detrick, with parts of the Pine Bluff and Dugway installations devoted to the research.

The chemical corps' research program is devoted largely to defenses against enemy use of germ warfare, including development of detection devices and preventives against devastating epidemics.

But as part of the program, the Army also is developing biological agents, both to determine necessary counter - measures and to be ready for a counterblow in case an enemy uses germ warfare.

Night Watchman Captures, Loses Negro Burglar

An elderly nightwatchman at a DeSiard Street fish market captured a hulking Negro burglar at gunpoint late Friday night, but lost him a few seconds later when the Negro jumped the watchman as he started toward a telephone.

The burglar was still at large late Saturday and police were conducting a search.

According to Detective Chief Hugn Tolbert, the incident occurred about 11 p.m. at Young's Fish Market at 1710 DeSiard street.

The nightwatchman, 71-year-old Jerry Oxford, reported it to police a few minutes after the burglar had departed but a search of the area was to no avail.

According to Oxford Saturday morning, he was asleep in the fish market as was his custom when

Pope Pius Shows Improvement But Remains Very Ill

ROME, Sunday, Feb. 7—UP—Pope Pius XII was reported resting comfortably early Sunday after showing further slight improvement in his battle to recover strength from the attack of gastritis which has left him in a weakened state.

Vatican sources said the 77-year-old Roman Catholic leader has shown steady improvement for more than 24 hours, but his general condition was still reported weak and he was remaining on a liquid diet.

The Vatican officially reported a slight improvement in the pontiff's condition in a communique issued Saturday.

Anxious prayers for the recovery of the spiritual leader of 400 million Roman Catholics began in the Vatican and extended to the far corners of the earth Saturday night.

The Vatican has not issued a general call for prayers for the Pope—a move which would have indicated a worsening in the Pope's condition. The prayers were the spontaneous gestures of priests and the faithful.

Confidential sources close to the papal household said that the slight upturn in the Pope's condition was "reassuring." But they said the pontiff, weakened by a two-week siege of gastritis, must continue to show improvement through the weekend if a crisis is to be averted.

The Pope has been confined to his simple iron-post bed in the papal apartments since Sunday.

Ambulance Driver Facing Sentence

NEW IBERIA, La., Feb. 6—UP—A 21-year old ambulance driver will be sentenced here Monday for negligent homicide in connection with a traffic fatality in May of 1953.

The driver, Ernest Lombard, was convicted by a five-man jury Friday.

Lombard was accused of negligence in the death of Melvin Pontiff of Abbeville who was fatally injured in a traffic collision May 19, 1953.

Police said Lombard was driving on Highway 90 on a routine call when he got in the wrong traffic lane and forced a dairy truck to crash into a tree. Pontiff was a passenger in the truck.

Man, Woman Killed In Pistol Fight

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6—UP—A 53-year old barroom operator has died of wounds received in a gun battle in which his common-law wife was shot to death.

Police said that Henry Boe, 53, and Mrs. Genevieve Simon, 51, shot each other after an argument. The woman, shot four times, died 10 minutes after the shooting.

Boe died in Charity Hospital late Friday. Police said the case was closed with his death.

Soviets Arrest 1,000, As New Revolt Brews

Full Division Of Army Moved To Edge Of Berlin

BERLIN, Feb. 6—UP—East Germans in five cities marched in open defiance of Communist authorities this week, shouting demands for freedom, but the demonstrators were broken up by police riot squads, the West Berlin newspaper Telegraf reported Saturday.

The Telegraf reported the rioting in Leipzig, Gera, Dresden, Halle and Bitterfeld.

Western sources reported the Communists had moved a Soviet army division to the outskirts of Berlin Saturday and arrested 1,000 anti-Communist leaders in an effort to halt the rumblings of new zone-wide revolt.

Reports reaching West Berlin said thousands of East Germans were threatening to march on Berlin, that they distributed anti-government leaflets, beat up Communist officials, broke up government called rallies and stopped work for one minute in factories as a sign of protest.

The wave of unrest swept through East Germany in protest against Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's veto of the western plan to reunite Germany through free German elections. Western sources said the Communists met the unrest with troops, tanks and police reinforcements.

The anti - Communist "Information Bureau West," reported workers were in a "mood of revolt" at a time the Big Four foreign ministers were meeting in Berlin with apparent little hope of success of reuniting the divided nation.

The unrest was no repetition of the open flare-up of last June 17, which was quelled by Soviet armored units, but the Communists took immediate counter-measures.

The western sources said the Communists immediately arrested 1,000 "ringleaders" and called for unmasking of "agents and provocateurs" in what might be the start of a new wave of terrorism to halt the growing opposition.

Reports by West Berlin intelligence-gathering agencies reported Soviet tanks and troops on the move.

The "Information Bureau West" said it had received reports of "troop concentrations" near the Leuna artificial gasoline factory in Merseberg and Soviet tank movements just southeast of Berlin in the Gruenau area — both scenes of major rebellion before.

"Another West Berlin agency, "The Fighting Group Against Humanity," reported an entire Red army division had been moved three miles nearer the outskirts of Berlin, from the Potsdam area to Babelsberg, a suburb 10 miles southwest of the city.

Rumors swept Berlin that the Soviets had sent reinforcing Red army patrols into East Berlin itself, but the only Soviet patrols to be seen were in the area of the Soviet embassy where the Big Four foreign ministers have been meeting.

Western officials said the Communist police reinforced their border guards around Berlin and cancelled all police leaves. Communist police were handed heavy arms, and East Germans were arrested merely for listening to western radio broadcasts.

The Vatican has not issued a general call for prayers for the Pope—a move which would have indicated a worsening in the Pope's condition. The prayers were the spontaneous gestures of priests and the faithful.

Confidential sources close to the papal household said that the slight upturn in the Pope's condition was "reassuring." But they said the pontiff, weakened by a two-week siege of gastritis, must continue to show improvement through the weekend if a crisis is to be averted.

The Pope has been confined to his simple iron-post bed in the papal apartments since Sunday.

Ambulance Driver Facing Sentence

NEW IBERIA, La., Feb. 6—UP—A 21-year old ambulance driver will be sentenced here Monday for negligent homicide in connection with a traffic fatality in May of 1953.

The driver, Ernest Lombard, was convicted by a five-man jury Friday.

Lombard was accused of negligence in the death of Melvin Pontiff of Abbeville who was fatally injured in a traffic collision May 19, 1953.

Police said Lombard was driving on Highway 90 on a routine call when he got in the wrong traffic lane and forced a dairy truck to crash into a tree. Pontiff was a passenger in the truck.

Man, Woman Killed In Pistol Fight

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6—UP—A 53-year old barroom operator has died of wounds received in a gun battle in which his common-law wife was shot to death.

Police said that Henry Boe, 53, and Mrs. Genevieve Simon, 51, shot each other after an argument. The woman, shot four times, died 10 minutes after the shooting.

Boe died in Charity Hospital late Friday. Police said the case was closed with his death.

Soviets Arrest 1,000, As New Revolt Brews

Full Division Of Army Moved To Edge Of Berlin

BERLIN, Feb. 6—UP—East Germans in five cities marched in open defiance of Communist authorities this week, shouting demands for freedom, but the demonstrators were broken up by police riot squads, the West Berlin newspaper Telegraf reported Saturday.

The Telegraf reported the rioting in Leipzig, Gera, Dresden, Halle and Bitterfeld.

Western sources reported the Communists had moved a Soviet army division to the outskirts of Berlin Saturday and arrested 1,000 anti-Communist leaders in an effort to halt the rumblings of new zone-wide revolt.

Reports reaching West Berlin said thousands of East Germans were threatening to march on Berlin, that they distributed anti-government leaflets, beat up Communist officials, broke up government called rallies and stopped work for one minute in factories as a sign of protest.

The wave of unrest swept through East Germany in protest against Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's veto of the western plan to reunite Germany through free German elections. Western sources said the Communists met the unrest with troops, tanks and police reinforcements.

The anti - Communist "information Bureau West," reported workers were in a "mood of revolt" at a time the Big Four foreign ministers were meeting in Berlin with apparent little hope of success of reuniting the divided nation.

The unrest was no repetition of the open flare-up of last June 17, which was quelled by Soviet armored units, but the Communists took immediate counter-measures.

The western sources said the Communists immediately arrested 1,000 "ringleaders" and called for unmasking of "agents and provocateurs" in what might be the start of a new wave of terrorism to halt the growing opposition.

Reports by West Berlin intelligence-gathering agencies reported Soviet tanks and troops on the move.

The "Information Bureau West" said it had received reports of "troop concentrations" near the Leuna artificial gasoline factory in Merseberg and Soviet tank movements just southeast of Berlin in the Gruenau area — both scenes of major rebellion before.

"Another West Berlin agency, "The Fighting Group Against Humanity," reported an entire Red army division had been moved three miles nearer the outskirts of Berlin, from the Potsdam area to Babelsberg, a suburb 10 miles southwest of the city.

Rumors swept Berlin that the Soviets had sent reinforcing Red army patrols into East Berlin itself, but the only Soviet patrols to be seen were in the area of the Soviet embassy where the Big Four foreign ministers have been meeting.

Western officials said the Communist police reinforced their border guards around Berlin and cancelled all police leaves. Communist police were handed heavy arms, and East Germans were arrested merely for listening to western radio broadcasts.

Given Hero's Welcome After Dodging Soviets Two Years

Hvasta Reveals Existence Of Czech Underground

HILLSIDE, N. J., Feb. 6—UP—John Hvasta, who hid out in Czechoslovakia for nearly two years after escaping from a Communist prison said Saturday the Czechs are dissatisfied with their Red rulers and have a well-organized anti-Kremlin underground.

Hvasta waited until he had returned to his home town of Hillside before breaking the silence he had maintained since he left Czechoslovakia a few days ago.

The 26-year-old, Czech-born naturalized American perched on a desk in the town hall to tell reporters about his experiences. He said he was sent to prison five years ago on espionage charges.

"It was a secret trial and I was subjected to both mental and physical torture, including beatings, before I confessed," Hvasta said. "I was subjected to the worst possible treatment in prison, treatment reserved only for political prisoners."

Hvasta said the underground that sheltered him for 21 months appeared to be supported by the people.

"The Czech government is not representative of the country," he said. "People are not happy with the present government. The country is suffering and the standard of living has been reduced. The people have been deprived of their freedom, they are poorly clothed and fed."

Hvasta talked to reporters soon after receiving a hero's welcome from his friends, family and the city of Hillside.

Dr. Juraj Slavik, former Czech ambassador to the United States, told newsmen Hvasta had said he would give the State Department top secret information about the Czech underground. Slavik said Hvasta told him he had given secret documents to a U. S. diplomatic courier in London for safe delivery to Washington officials.

He said Hvasta commented he did not "trust carrying the papers" himself.

Hvasta said he had received several offers to buy his story and had been asked to appear on several radio and television programs.

He declined to discuss in any detail how he got out of prison or what he did during his months of freedom as a refugee. He said he hurt his left leg while leaping across a ditch just after he escaped

WAC-WAF Recruiter Due Here

M-Sgt. Quillie N. Underwood, commander of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station, reported yesterday that 1st Lt. Laverne Wachuta, WAC-WAF recruiter will be at room 210, Post Office building Tuesday and Wednesday to interview and test applicants for the women's branches of the military service.

A number of applicants, Underwood said, have already been advised to report to the recruiting station while Lt. Wachuta is here. However, anyone interested in the WAC or WAF, who has not previously made application for enlistment, may come in for an interview.

Sergeant Underwood used the words "Army Career" to pin point the ten major assets of service in the armed forces.

A, he explained, stands for around - the - world travel. Both men and women of the United States armed forces are serving their nation in all parts of the world.

R is for retirement at an early age. Retirement is available to armed forces personnel after as little as 20 years of service.

M means medical and dental care. While serving in the armed forces all medical and dental care is absolutely free.

Y is for the yearly vacation. Each member of the armed forces is entitled to 30 days vacation a year with pay.

C stands for companionship with Americ's best young men and women. Friendships made in the armed forces continue for many years.

A is the above average pay men and women in the Army and Air Force receive. Everything taken into consideration, persons in the armed forces receive higher pay than civilians performing essentially the same jobs.

R means regular work. A person in the Army or Air Force finds security in his or her job, and does not need to worry about being unemployed due to a reduction in force.

E to men and women of the nation's defense team means education. Training in any of a number of technical schools is available to all members of the Army and Air Force.

E also stands for experience with a cash value. The experience a person receives in the armed forces trains him, or her, for a good paying job in civilian life, as well as leadership within the community.

R has a double meaning, religion and recreation. Members of the armed forces are encouraged to attend religious services of their choice. Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish chaplains are stationed at all posts to assist and comfort personnel needing their services, as well as to conduct services in accordance with their beliefs. Recreation in the Army and Air Force is extensive and varied. All types of sports as well as service clubs, are available to America's men and women in the Army and Air Force.

He said he had two uncles and an aunt still in Czechoslovakia and feared for their safety. Beyond that, he was reluctant to go into discussing personalities. He said he did not want to say too much about his wife, whom he married while in prison.

"There is a basis for reports that my wife is in a sanitorium," he said. "But I don't know what happened to my wife. I still love her."

At Hvasta's side while he talked to newsmen was Robert Vogeler, the American businessman who was imprisoned by the Hungarians for many months. Vogeler said he helped Hvasta through the Czech underground, but he would not elaborate.

But Slavik said at least two secret agents who tried to get Hvasta out of Czechoslovakia six months ago had "disappeared."

Earthquakes In Mexico Cause Severe Damage

TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mex., Feb. 6—UP—New earthquakes rocked southernmost Mexico Saturday night after a series of devastating shocks that caused severe damage in four towns and sent landslides rumbling over rich farming areas.

First official reports from two of the stricken villages said "there are no known dead," although press dispatches based on information received from refugees had indicated earlier that loss of life was feared heavy.

Luis Serrano, secretary general of the Chiapas State government, said the first heavy quake struck shortly before noon Friday and lasted "a few minutes," while six lesser quakes hit the area Saturday morning and "shocks were still being felt Saturday night."

Panicky inhabitants fled to the mountains in terror, he said, but began returning to their damaged homes Saturday afternoon.

Serrano said the state government was unable to give any official estimate of the damage, but announced that "fortunately, loss of life, if any is very little."

He said a relief airplane landed Saturday morning at the two hardest hit towns of Yajalon and Petalcingo, and "noted severe damage, but no casualties."

The relief plane flew over the two other villages hit by the quakes and crewmembers said from the air destruction did not appear "very serious." There were no official reports of casualties in the two smaller coffee plantations.

"Inhabitants of the stricken area are still panicky because of the quakes, but we are taking all precautions to prevent personal losses," Serrano said.

Release Of 3 Americans Held By Reds Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—UP—The United States has asked Russia to release three American citizens reported held in Soviet prison camps, the State Department disclosed Saturday.

The request was made at Moscow during a call at the Soviet foreign office by Elim O'Shaugnessy, U.S. charge d'affaires, in the absence of Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen who is in Berlin.

The department, in response to inquiries, said O'Shaugnessy has asked for the release of William T. Marchuk of Brackinridge, Pa.; William A. Verdine of Starks, La.; and John Hellmuth Noble, Detroit.

"The department has been seeking to establish the identity of persons reported by recently released prisoners of war as American citizens being held in Soviet prison said.

He said the department so far has been able to identify the three men as Americans and that O'Shaughnessy personally took up these cases with the acting Soviet foreign minister Friday.

"Further information on this undertaking will be made available as soon as we have received the Soviet government's reply," the spokesman said.

May when a surprise Communist invasion of Laos posed a serious problem to the French.

American military leaders are reported confident the French and loyal Vietnam and Laotian armies can contain the present Communist drive. The big aim is to hold the Laotian capital of Luang Prubang.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chief of staff, reviewed the Indochina military picture and told of American aid moves at a closed meeting yesterday of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Several senators were reported to have questioned Radford sharply about the plan.

Radford is understood to be dissatisfied with the rate of which the French are training native troops. But, as far as can be learned, he has not suggested that an American training mission be sent to take over this task. There is reason to believe that under present conditions the French would oppose any such move.

Both State and Defense Department leaders are reported concerned about the military and political picture in Indochina. One of the main reasons for the emergency aid moves is to demonstrate to the French that they have American backing at a time when a clamor is growing in France to pull out of Indochina altogether or make a compromise peace with the Communists.

Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of U.S. Army forces in the Pacific, is due in Washington next week to report on his findings during a recent visit to Indochina.

Executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Bess Sharp, is as happy as any woman can be whose mother has been given a remarkable honor. This mother, living in Grenada, Miss., was recently honored by her community for her outstanding services in the March of Dimes, Red Cross and every civic organization in her city. She was unanimously recognized as "Mother of the Year." A formal program was given, largely attended, and broadcast by the radio station. She received a handsome loving cup which stated "In loving recognition of Marino W. Sharp for her long service in this community."

Bess Sharp spent last week end with her mother and they had a joyous experience together. Incidentally, Mrs. Sharp is a stepmother, but her children see no difference through this relationship, for she herself regards them as her very own.

We doubt if there is any other stepmother anywhere, who was so wonderful in her ministering to her brood, that she has been named the "Mother of the Year." It is a wonderful and unequalled compliment for Mrs. Sharp.

The unnumbered friends of Mrs. Jewel McQuiller will be delighted to know that she has been moved to her home from the clinic and is fast regaining her health and strength. She is one woman who has a hold on the community through her many years' service as Ouachita parish home demonstration agent. Three Survivors Of C-47 Crash In Alaska Rescued

TALKEETNA, Alaska, Feb. 6—UP—Survivors of a C-47 that crashed in the rugged foothills of Mt. McKinley definitely have been found alive, Air Force officials in Anchorage reported Saturday.

An Air Force doctor, flown to Gold Creek where the men were first spotted by a bush pilot, said one of the rescued men had been given first aid, but all were in good condition.

He said, however, that the pilot, Don Sheldon, was unable to take his piper pacer off the ground and the group will spend the night at Gold Creek.

Officials said these were the men who were seen parachuting before the plane crashed.

Other reports said seven of the 16 occupants of the C-47 have been sighted and rescue teams are making their way to the wreckage.

Sheldon first spotted the three survivors trudging through waist deep snow toward Gold Creek.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 (AP)—One person was killed and another injured in an auto-truck collision on the Air Line Highway near here today.

Police identified the dead man as Anthony V. Costa Jr., 40, of Kenner, La., driver of the automobile.

Brain Operation Is Performed On Ailing Gorilla

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 6—UP—A prominent brain specialist, aided by three doctors and three nurses, looked into the brain of little Toto Saturday and found abnormal tissue was causing the valuable circus gorilla's paralysis.

Dr. Mason Trupp of Tampa said after the three and one-half hour exploratory operation that a tumor or a parasitic invasion had damaged the right side of Toto's brain.

"We will make tests of fluid and tissue drawn from her brain and will know in the next two or three days what the next step will be," Dr. Trupp said.

The 58-pound gorilla awakened from the anesthetic and was taken to the bedroom of her nurse, Mrs. Lucille Todd. Dr. Trupp said Toto should have little more pain than two aspirins will cure "and she will get the aspirins."

Wrapped warmly in a blanket and cradled in the arms of her nurse, Toto fixed a brief glassy stare on the scene, yawned drowsily and appeared to go back to sleep as Mrs. Todd carried her out.

"We can't say the operation was a success or not a success," Trupp said. "It was of a diagnostic nature, not a corrective operation. If it is found that parasites have reached her brain through the blood stream she will be treated medically. If there is a tumor, we may operate again."

The surgeon said his six-member operating team from Tampa performed "with the same skill they do on every operation."

Some 50 persons took turns in watching the operation from transom windows.

After she succumbed to the anesthetic, the gorilla was strapped into a dental-type chair. Her hair on her head and neck was clipped and shaved. Then X-rays were taken and developed to show the surgeon where to enter the skull.

The top of the head was painted with disinfectant and the scalp laid back from the skull for almost the full length of the head. Trupp drilled two holes in the back part of the skull about the size of dimes.

From the holes he extracted fluid and refilled the skull cavity with air so additional X-rays would show the outline of the brain. He replaced most of the fluid and secured enough brain tissue for laboratory tests. He said he could tell from the tissue and the X-rays that the right side of the brain was diseased.

Henry Ringling North, vice president of the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey circus, which owns the gorilla, watched most of the operation.

He said the circus "was sparing no effort or expense" to get little Toto over her paralysis.

Temperature Dip Is Expected Here

The federal weather forecaster predicts that the Twin Cities may have cooler weather today and tomorrow.

Sunshine will give way to partly cloudy skies for Sunday and Monday, he said.

Diminishing winds are forecast for Sunday night and Monday but, for most of the week end, winds are expected to be moderate to locally fresh on the coast.

Maximum temperatures recorded at the CAA Station at Selman field here yesterday were 65 and 38.

Arkansas weather is predicted fair, cool for Sunday and warmer Monday.

Grabbing his pistol, Oxford walked into the dressing room and covered the Negro, who, he said, was about 20 to 25 years old and weighed approximately 180 to 200 pounds.

"He didn't say anything when I caught him," Oxford said later, "but when I asked him if he had burglarized the market before he told me he hadn't."

"I started toward the telephone and he jumped me, twisting my arm until he got the gun away from me. Then he took it and my pocketknife and ran off."

Oxford said the Negro had been standing about six feet away when he made the jump. He said the jump knocked him down, bruising his hip on the floor.

"I had about $105 in my pocket and there was $40 in the cash register, but he didn't offer to take any of it," Oxford went on. "I wasn't able to see which direction he ran."

Oxford said the burglar made his exit through the screen where he entered.

The nightwatchman said his hip was treated at St. Francis hospital, but since it was only bruised he was later released.

WILL YOU GET THE JOB...if they look up your Credit Record

Employers nowadays often check with the local Credit Bureau before they hire a man for a responsible, high-salaried job.

They know that the man with a reputation for paying his bills promptly is a better prospect than one whose name is carried in the Credit Bureau records as "Slow Pay" or "Poor Pay." They know that the man who is conscientious in the discharge of obligations to his creditors is more likely to be conscientious in his obligations to his "Boss."

The man with a poor credit record usually has two strikes against him when he applies for a job that involves financial or management responsibilities. For employers and their personnel managers are not usually willing to entrust important business affairs to those who cannot efficiently manage their personal affairs.

There is only one way to maintain a good credit record. That is to pay your bills when due. While it is, of course, costly and troublesome to your creditors when your payments are late, you are the big loser if your tardy payments spoil your credit record. For there's no telling when you may need credit to meet an emergency, or a good credit record to take advantage of a big opportunity.

Dozen," for they have not only a dozen but, for good measure, two more than a dozen. Their family comprises 14 children, latest arrivals being two girls (twins) who came a fortnight ago. The entire family of children comprises 12 daughters and two sons. Three daughters are attending Ouachita Parish High School and six are enrolled in the Logtown school.

Who will be able to fracture this record by disclosing more than 14 sons and daughters in another Ouachita parish family?

Executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Bess Sharp, is as happy as any woman can be whose mother has been given a remarkable honor. This mother, living in Grenada, Miss., was recently honored by her community for her outstanding services in the March of Dimes, Red Cross and every civic organization in her city. She was unanimously recognized as "Mother of the Year." A formal program was given, largely attended, and broadcast by the radio station. She received a handsome loving cup which stated "In loving recognition of Marino W. Sharp for her long service in this community."

Bess Sharp spent last week end with her mother and they had a joyous experience together. Incidentally, Mrs. Sharp is a stepmother, but her children see no difference through this relationship, for she herself regards them as her very own.

We doubt if there is any other stepmother anywhere, who was so wonderful in her ministering to her brood, that she has been named the "Mother of the Year." It is a wonderful and unequalled compliment for Mrs. Sharp.

The unnumbered friends of Mrs. Jewel McQuiller will be delighted to know that she has been moved to her home from the clinic and is fast regaining her health and strength. She is one woman who has a hold on the community through her many years' service as Ouachita parish home demonstration agent. Many a rural home has been brightened and in many cases revamped through her suggestions and timely advice.

Little Jimmy Laudenheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Laudenheimer, who reside on Stewart St., Fairview, who celebrated his fourth birthday a few days ago, gamely climbed into his dad's late model car with all the automatic shifts, etc., turned on the key and started the car to rolling and was half way in the garage before the maid detected that the car was being driven by four-year-old Jimmy.

She of course ran and stopped the car and got him out. Any day now little Jimmy is expected to apply for his driver's license.

Hoping that a final project, "The Laff Revue," will bring in enough cash to liquidate cost of the air conditioning of the educational building, the First Methodist Church will sponsor an evening of fun at OPHS auditorium Tuesday at 8 p.m.

"Don't miss the Laff Revue, it's a honey," state those who know. G. Thomas Frazer is chairman of air conditioning; S. W. Jackson, is chairman of ticket sales, and G. E. Boggs is Sunday school superintendent.

Three Survivors Of C-47 Crash In Alaska Rescued

TALKEETNA, Alaska, Feb. 6—UP—Survivors of a C-47 that crashed in the rugged foothills of Mt. McKinley definitely have been found alive, Air Force officials in Anchorage reported Saturday.

An Air Force doctor, flown to Gold Creek where the men were first spotted by a bush pilot, said one of the rescued men had been given first aid, but all were in good condition.

He said, however, that the pilot, Don Sheldon, was unable to take his piper pacer off the ground and the group will spend the night at Gold Creek.

Officials said these were the men who were seen parachuting before the plane crashed.

Other reports said seven of the 16 occupants of the C-47 have been sighted and rescue teams are making their way to the wreckage.

One Killed, One Injured In Crash

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 (AP)—One person was killed and another injured in an auto-truck collision on the Air Line Highway near here today.

Police identified the dead man as Anthony V. Costa Jr., 40, of Kenner, La., driver of the automobile.

Brain Operation Is Performed On Ailing Gorilla

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 6—UP—A prominent brain specialist, aided by three doctors and three nurses, looked into the brain of little Toto Saturday and found abnormal tissue was causing the valuable circus gorilla's paralysis.

Dr. Mason Trupp of Tampa said after the three and one-half hour exploratory operation that a tumor or a parasitic invasion had damaged the right side of Toto's brain.

"We will make tests of fluid and tissue drawn from her brain and will know in the next two or three days what the next step will be," Dr. Trupp said.

The 58-pound gorilla awakened from the anesthetic and was taken to the bedroom of her nurse, Mrs. Lucille Todd. Dr. Trupp said Toto should have little more pain than two aspirins will cure "and she will get the aspirins."

Wrapped warmly in a blanket and cradled in the arms of her nurse, Toto fixed a brief glassy stare on the scene, yawned drowsily and appeared to go back to sleep as Mrs. Todd carried her out.

"We can't say the operation was a success or not a success," Trupp said. "It was of a diagnostic nature, not a corrective operation. If it is found that parasites have reached her brain through the blood stream she will be treated medically. If there is a tumor, we may operate again."

The surgeon said his six-member operating team from Tampa performed "with the same skill they do on every operation."

Some 50 persons took turns in watching the operation from transom windows.

After she succumbed to the anesthetic, the gorilla was strapped into a dental-type chair. Her hair on her head and neck was clipped and shaved. Then X-rays were taken and developed to show the surgeon where to enter the skull.

The top of the head was painted with disinfectant and the scalp laid back from the skull for almost the full length of the head. Trupp drilled two holes in the back part of the skull about the size of dimes.

From the holes he extracted fluid and refilled the skull cavity with air so additional X-rays would show the outline of the brain. He replaced most of the fluid and secured enough brain tissue for laboratory tests. He said he could tell from the tissue and the X-rays that the right side of the brain was diseased.

Henry Ringling North, vice president of the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey circus, which owns the gorilla, watched most of the operation.

He said the circus "was sparing no effort or expense" to get little Toto over her paralysis.

Temperature Dip Is Expected Here

The federal weather forecaster predicts that the Twin Cities may have cooler weather today and tomorrow.

Sunshine will give way to partly cloudy skies for Sunday and Monday, he said.

Diminishing winds are forecast for Sunday night and Monday but, for most of the week end, winds are expected to be moderate to locally fresh on the coast.

Maximum temperatures recorded at the CAA Station at Selman field here yesterday were 65 and 38.

Arkansas weather is predicted fair, cool for Sunday and warmer Monday.

he was awakened by the sound of the screen in the dressing room being torn.

Grabbing his pistol, Oxford walked into the dressing room and covered the Negro, who, he said, was about 20 to 25 years old and weighed approximately 180 to 200 pounds.

"He didn't say anything when I caught him," Oxford said later, "but when I asked him if he had burglarized the market before he told me he hadn't."

"I started toward the telephone and he jumped me, twisting my arm until he got the gun away from me. Then he took it and my pocketknife and ran off."

Oxford said the Negro had been standing about six feet away when he made the jump. He said the jump knocked him down, bruising his hip on the floor.

"I had about $105 in my pocket and there was $40 in the cash register, but he didn't offer to take any of it," Oxford went on. "I wasn't able to see which direction he ran."

Oxford said the burglar made his exit through the screen where he entered.

The nightwatchman said his hip was treated at St. Francis hospital, but since it was only bruised he was later released.

WILL YOU GET THE JOB...if they look up your Credit Record

Employers nowadays often check with the local Credit Bureau before they hire a man for a responsible, high-salaried job.

They know that the man with a reputation for paying his bills promptly is a better prospect than one whose name is carried in the Credit Bureau records as "Slow Pay" or "Poor Pay." They know that the man who is conscientious in the discharge of obligations to his creditors is more likely to be conscientious in his obligations to his "Boss."

The man with a poor credit record usually has two strikes against him when he applies for a job that involves financial or management responsibilities. For employers and their personnel managers are not usually willing to entrust important business affairs to those who cannot efficiently manage their personal affairs.

There is only one way to maintain a good credit record. That is to pay your bills when due. While it is, of course, costly and troublesome to your creditors when your payments are late, you are the big loser if your tardy payments spoil your credit record. For there's no telling when you may need credit to meet an emergency, or a good credit record to take advantage of a big opportunity.

Buy only what you can pay for—pay for it when it is due.

Demo Senators Charge Ike's Administration Seeks To 'Starve' TVA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Southern Democratic senators today charged and Republican leaders denied that the Eisenhower administration is putting the Tennessee Valley Authority on a "starvation diet."

The charge was made by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) in a Senate speech. He was supported by Sens. Hill (D-Ala) and Kefauver (D-Tenn).

Eastland's charge was denied by Senate majority leader Knowland (R-Calif) and others.

Eastland said that since the Republican administration took over last year there has been a "propaganda campaign" aimed at selling assets of the TVA.

He added that he doesn't believe it is the President's policy to sell TVA's assets, but he is worried about the "propaganda" coming from Republicans in favor of selling the agency's power assets.

Knowland replied that he was certain it is not the administration policy "to liquidate or sell" TVA.

Sen. Cooper (R-Ky), whose state lies partly within the TVA area and who supported increased TVA appropriations last year, declared that no one in the present administration has suggested that TVA be sold.

Cooper said there are "certainly grounds for argument" over whether the proposed TVA appropriation for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is sufficient to meet the agency's needs.

But he denied that there is any attempt to "throttle" TVA.

Eastland, replying to Cooper's statement that no one in the administration had advocated sale of TVA, said Clarence Manion, South Bend attorney named by Eisenhower as chairman of the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, had publicly advocated sale of the agency.

Cooper answered that he understood Manion was here "on a special subject and has no authority with regard to TVA."

Eastland's criticism centered around failure of the administration to recommend funds for starting a new steam-electric plant near Memphis, Tenn.

The Democratic administration last year recommended a 30-million-dollar appropriation for starting work on a plant at Fulton, Tenn., north of Memphis. The revised budget excluded it, and attempts to get the money restored failed in both houses.

The budget message this year said arrangements are being made to reduce the demands of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) on TVA by 500,000 to 600,000 kilowatts by 1957. This, the message said, would free that power capacity to meet the growing needs in the valley.

Referring to this, Eastland added, "they are determined not to add capacity to TVA's power system but they are willing to cut down the load which TVA had expected to be obliged to serve."

He added:

"I believe this administration is prepared to put us on a starvation diet so far as power is concerned. I do not agree that it is wise to pinch this year at the expense of the future, at the risk of national security. I am against such meager planning for defense as this budget reveals. It takes three years to build a power plant. It is folly to run such needless risk.

"I insist funds must be provided for TVA to start construction of a new steam plant in 1955. I know it will be good for the region and good for the nation."

"No," he continued, "the assets of TVA will not be sold, but what we must fight now is the starvation diet which has been set out for it and the law of slow attrition which stalks behind this camouflaged propaganda."

Cooper told the Senate the administration's budget requests both this year and last "clearly indicate" it is not the President's purpose to "destroy" the TVA.

10,000 To Attend Conference Of Safety Experts

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (Special)—Ten thousand safety experts from all over the nation will gather here for five days of conferences, starting April 5, aimed at reducing this country's annual accident toll of 95,000 deaths, nearly 10,000,000 (million) injuries and an economic loss of $8,700,000,000 (billion).

New York's twenty-fourth annual Safety Convention and Exposition will be held in the Hotel Statler under the sponsorship of the Greater New York Safety Council and seventy-three co-operating agencies, among which are the Army, Navy, Atomic Energy Commission, Red Cross and business, civic, government and professional organizations.

The convention will have 57 meetings, covering virtually all fields of industrial, highway, home, school, and public safety. The sessions will be addressed by more than 200 speakers, including federal officials, educators, law enforcement authorities, scientists, safety engineers and industrial executives. During the convention this city will observe "Greater Safety Week" in welcome to the accident prevention workers and to emphasis individual responsibility in avoiding accidents.

In conjunction with the convention the Greater New York Safety Council will hold an exposition of the latest developments in safety devices, demonstration of driving and drunkometer tests, and other aids to accident reduction. There will be 118 separate displays on the Hotel Statler's 18th floor. E. F. du Pont, director of E. I. du Pont de Nemours, will address the convention dinner on April 8.

Jaycees Here Will Attend State Meet

LAKE CHARLES, Feb. 6 (Special)—The Lake Charles Junior Chamber of Commerce will be host to the state board meeting of the Louisiana Jaycees on February 13 and 14, Karl Eisele, publicity chairman of the Lake Charles Jaycees announced today.

Registration will be held at the Majestic Hotel and the opening business session is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at the American Legion Home. The Rev. Paul Roberts, pastor of the First Baptist Church will give the invocation and the welcome will be delivered by Mayor Sidney L. Gray of Lake Charles.

A cocktail hour, dinner, and dance with L. E. Frazar, president of the McNeese State College to be the program speaker, is also planned for February 13.

A Sunday morning business session will complete the state board meeting which members of the Monroe - West Monroe Jaycees plan to attend. Lovell Hayden III is president of the local group.

The U. S. Vs. The 'U. N.' Et Al

The State Rests

The year 1955 is becoming a guiding star in the eyes of every internationalist in the nation and in Europe. It is in that year that the redraft of the "United Nations" charter comes to a vote. It is in that year that American sovereignty, what is left of it, either stands or falls.

After 50 years of internationalist propaganda, it is hoped by the members of the "American Association for the United Nations", the "Atlantic Union Committee", the "United World Federalists," and the others of the same order including the "Civil Rights Congress," and the "Americans for Democratic Action." that this republic will have been "softened up" enough for capture. Apparently, such is dangerously the case.

The federal administration advertised during the campaign as one which would "give the nation a change" has not as yet unloaded the departments of Truman-Acheson holdovers. As a matter of fact, the Republican congressmen and Senators have a difficult time fitting Republicans into various offices due to the reluctance of the administration to let go of these Trumanites. In any case, these people are still in policy making positions as has clearly been seen in the past few weeks.

Before any consideration can be made of the situation it must be clearly understood that there are now two major forces opposing the freedom and the sovereignty of this republic. The first is of course, the international Marxist philosophy and the other is the internationalist, one world design. This does not mean that all internationalists are Marxists but on the success of one, depends the success of the other.

If the internationalists succeed in breaking down the sovereignty of this republic, they will succeed in eventually turning it over to the Marxists who are led militarily by the Russian Bolsheviks. One must realize that a most determined effort is being made by the internationalists and one worlders to make of the United States, a territory within a super government. President Lincoln made the statement that this republic could be destroyed only from within.

It is a known fact that the American people have always been able to repulse and oppose what they could see. They fought adversary after adversary with victory as long as they could control their own affairs. Unfortunately, in later years, this nation has not been able to control its own affairs either militarily or from the standpoint of foreign affairs. Militarily, the nation has been tied, bound hand and foot by the "United Nations" which already has lost a war for the U. S. and has forced this republic into a most dishonorable truce.

Some of the background of the case shows that the United States, after the loss of the Chinese Republic, was forced to lean heavily upon the weak and ineffectual European allies. This nation was forced to fight a war actually in their defense, one which they did all they could to hinder. It was fighting a war in which its own administration did not wholly concur witness the ammunition "shortages." The United States was forced to abide by the "U. N. Charter" which specifically calls on all member nations to "repel aggression." The United States military no more prosecuted the overall design of the war than you personally did, witness the Inchon invasion holdup where the victorious Americans were forced to await UN permission and then, to hold up at the 38th parallel.

The Russians, many forget, are a part of the "U. N." How was it that they were not made to abide by the charter? How was it that the satellite nations were not made to abide by the charter? How was it that India was not made to abide by the charter? Why was it that the eight Nationalist Chinese divisions, as offered by Chiang were not allowed to fight although his government was one of the original signatories of the "big five?" Legally and technically, how is it that the Soviet Union can remain inside the "United Nations?"

The answer is obvious: they should have been ousted long ago. However, who is going to oust them? There is no reason to believe that the "United Nations" as a force for peace in this world presently exists than there is to believe that the "United Nations" building has been ordained a cathedral. Rather, the "United Nations" is a power attempting to infringe upon the sovereign rights of Americans. The proof is clearly written in the overruling of numerous California and Idaho statutes which were overruled due to the fact that they failed to coincide with "U. N." law. It is written in the fact that numerous supreme court justices have already agreed that the "U. N." law supersedes constitutional law. It is written in U. S. agreement to the infamous Genocide pact.

It is written in the blood of every single American soldier, sailor or Marine or Air Force member forced into the stalemate war in Korea. Already, due to international agreements, American troops overseas are no longer under American jurisdiction. Instead, the flag that they pledged their very lives to defend has deserted them to the "mercy" of foreign courts, courts which are known not to show too much "mercy" on Americans.

The American people were told with the coming of the Republican administration, that "changes would be made." Just where are the changes? Has the internationalist philosophy been discarded to allow pro-American thinking to express itself in the State Department? Far from it. Secretary Dulles once again embroils this nation in a despicable propaganda war with wily Molotov, a war lost before it even started.

Fellow Americans, these are facts, they are questions which demand answers. The year 1955 is drawing closer and closer. In the recent past, the officials and private citizens interested in the basic protection of their Republic have suffered in the freezing windy blasts of public lack of knowledge and sometimes outright rebuke, while the Internationalists, the Marxists and the fellow travelers have traveled in the warm conveyance of public apathy. How long will it continue? When will a stop be put to the wholesale sellout to the international planners?

The American people had best consider their precarious position in world affairs today. They had best consider the necessity of forgetting idiotic party labels whether Republican or Democrat and attempt to support those who are attempting to salvage what is left. On what happens in the next two years, depends the future, of generations to come. The time is unfortunately limited.

The state rests with you the jury of American people. The United States versus the "United Nations," et al.

Heart Of Your Heart

Not often does a week go by in this area that one does not pick up the newspaper and read of the untimely death of a local friend and citizen. The death notice is too often accompanied by the description which so often states that the victim suffered a heart attack and succumbed before he or she could reach the hospital.

Many times, a close friend will be stricken with a "coronary" and pass on before knowing even what happened. Far too many times, the victims do not even know that they had heart trouble. Electro-cardiagrams are not a definite method of determining heart disease as one could run a perfect test an hour before death. Thanks to the medical research being carried on throughout the nation backed financially by the Heart Fund, there are signs that a better and more positive heart condition test is being reached.

The people of this area have been asked far too often to dig into their pockets already emptied by high living costs and high taxes, to give to various organizations. Yet, how can some of these organizations carry on their great and beneficial programs unless you, the people respond to the campaigns? Giving to the Heart Fund is quite a bit like buying protective life insurance. It might enable you to survive the first attack because you were forewarned in time.

You know, the first heart attack is said, sometimes goes unnoticed as does sometimes the second and even, in some cases, the third as heart trouble resembles mere chest pains caused by other sources including indigestion. Many people who think they have had severe indigestion might have themselves carefully checked.

The heart is a most amazing instrument. On it, obviously depends your life. How many man made pieces of machinery can handle without a flaw the terrific load imposed by ordinary living, forcing the living blood through the miles of arteries, veins and other blood vessels of the human body? How many man made articles of machinery could possibly handle such a constant load for so long a time?

Yet, so very many people ask too much of their hearts. They often over indulge, they put on pound after pound without taking time to think of the results. Many people, taking the advice of the doctors, stop, retrench and try to go back. Unfortunately, the damage may already be done.

The Heart Fund Organization is tirelessly working in behalf of those and other people in hopes that better information can be had about the heart. When it stops, you stop.

Last year, and already this year, far too many Americans have succumbed to heart attacks which might have been prevented had the people known beforehand about their ailments. If the heart is in trouble, and sick, the person should help it out, but often can't because he knows nothing about the condition of the very vital organ.

This year, as in other years, please, for those who you love and like, for those who are now no longer with you and for those who are presently suffering the terrible, almost indescribable pains of heart trouble, and for those who may not be here at this time next year, dig a little deeper. Push to your very limit in hopes that some way may be found to give that valiant organ of the human body, the one which does such a great but often thankless job, the necessary help it needs.

Also, help yourself to help your heart by careful diet so that you may enjoy the children and the homes and the happiness far too many mothers and fathers were and are denied.

The Heart of your heart needs help.

What About The Bricker Proposal?

Last week, it became very apparent that the President had been completely convinced by the State Department advisors and by his own advisors that the Bricker proposal was completely inimicable to his own best interests.

This was manifested in a press release Thursday morning when the President refused to consider any of the compromises made in good faith by both Democrats and Republicans. This, on top of the fact that the president had publicly stated beforehand that he would "go along" with the amendment if the "which clause" was removed. This which clause business was just more state Department hogwash to try and hold action on the proposal and to split the vote in three or four directions. The adroit internationalists have put the most severe pressure on numerous senators supposed to be deciding the issue.

It is a known fact that the President has refused to even consider the proposal in any form. It is not a known fact, not yet, that the President and the administration have used the old patronage weapon with which to club this bill into death and destruction.

What many people don't seem to know is that the administration is and has been desperate to keep this thing from coming to a vote. They have tried by every single method at their command to pigeonhole the entire proposal, amendments to the proposal and compromises. The President realizes that tremendous pressures have been put on the Senators from the "grass roots" to pass the proposal and he and his advisors know that they might face defeat should an actual showdown come.

Politics in a most adroit fashion have been played by the administration forces to kill any chance of any form of the bill to reach the floor of the senate. By his careful mention that the proposal might endanger his relations with "groups of nations" the President has by-passed the idea that the Bricker proposal might manage to save this republic from the "United Nations" now coiled about the throat of the republic like a great boa constrictor.

No one wants particularly to completely eliminate the "U. N." as a world debating society unless it be those people interested in seeing the United States get at least a fair financial deal out of this Marxist propaganda agency and these poor unfortunates are often termed "isolationists" or "hysterical reactionaries".

No one wants to see the "United Nations" unwrapped from this nation's jugular vein lest it be those misguided people interested in managing to save the republic from the greedy nations overseas, even now laying claim to the "green pastures and unlimited opportunities" (to quote Cecil Rhodes) of the United States.

No one is interested in removing the espionage network of the international Communist secret service surrounding and infesting the "United Nations" lest it be those idiots in hopes of some form of internal security. Certainly no one but a dolt would dare consider returning the United States military forces to American jurisdiction.

The misguided backers of the Bricker proposal join millions and millions more idiots and fools who in their frightful isolation and their wretched simplicity, are attempting to preserve at least some of the sovereignty of the Republic. In this category, falls a great segment of the American people. No one knows that better than the President because that is the type campaign he so recently conducted.

No one knows what will happen to the Bricker proposal. In all probability, it will be killed by the internationalists. Even if it is killed, it will have served to awaken the American people to the dangers presently facing the nation. If for no other reason, the proposal submitted by a great American, John Bricker, will have done an effective job.

It is hoped that the proposal will pass.

It deserves your unlimited support.

Hard-Hitting Editorials

Borger, Tex.

Editor, Morning World:

Sometime ago my name was placed on your subscription list, and since that time I have greatly enjoyed reading your editorials.

It is difficult for me to understand how you find the time to hit the issue so hard day after day, scarcely taking a breather.

It is your editorials that should be getting wide circulation because you write so many and they are hard-hitting editorials, the only kind that can possibly shock the American people into a full realization of the enormity of the crime against the sovereign people of this country.

It is good to know that there are men like you who are properly evaluating the situation and doing something effective about it.

The citizens of Monroe, Louisiana are indeed fortunate in having such a loyal and effective patriotic leadership at this grave hour when it is most needed.

With all good wishes and highest personal regards, I am

J. C. PHILLIPS,
Chairman, Committee on un-American Activities,
Dept. of Texas,

(Editor's Note: Mr. Phillips and many other prominent citizens throughout the country are now receiving the Monroe News-Star and World with the compliments of local readers.)

Traditional Philosophy

New York.

Editor, Morning World:

As you know, I am reading your editorials. They are excellent.

Once in a while I bother you with comment, and I would like to do so now on your editorial, "The High And The Mighty," of January 28th, which is a reprint from one run several months ago in the Morning World. Americans need more to be brought back to their own traditional philosophy of government, which you do in this editorial. Congratulations on it.

ALFRED KOHLBERG.

The Ninth Amendment

Monroe, La.

Editor Morning World:

The Ninth Amendment to our Constitution provides, "The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparge others retained by the people."

This Constitutional language can well be the solace and authority for the citizens to disqualify any treaties, international agreements or any contract entered into by our President or the Congress or any of its representative bodies which would hinder or prevent the attainment of any or all the individual objectives relative to security which is the collective wording for the manifold blessings of freedom in this Republic.

Therefore, I do not think this nation is in any serious danger, present or future, from any lack of restrictive amendments to our Constitution such as the Bricker Amendment proposes to alleviate.

Any action or agreement by our President or the Congress or any of its representative bodies would be nullified by the Ninth Amendment if found to be in conflict with the best interests of our government.

This nullification could be accomplished by a petition of our citizens whose authority would be the Ninth Amendment. I firmly believe the Ninth Amendment if invoked could have prevented our intervention in the Korean War and our membership in the United Nations.

Democratic Principles Of The League

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As president of the League of Women Voters of Monroe, I share your deep concern over the democratic process under which organizations should function. Therefore, I wish to clarify some misunderstandings which were apparent in your editorial of January 26, 1954.

I consider it of the utmost importance that your paper and its readers be made cogizant of the truly democratic principles upon which the League of Women Voters is organized and functions.

There are approximately 950 Leagues in the United States. These Leagues send their suggestions to the League of Women Voters of the U. S. (the National League) as to the items which they feel should be on the National Agenda for the 727 local Leagues to study. Local League members have the privilege of submitting items for consideration. At a convention held every two years, the delegates from local Leagues consider these suggestions and decide upon those items which were submitted by the majority of the Leagues. The position taken by the National League opposing the Bricker amendment was the result of approximately a year's study by all local Leagues. The National Board requested each of the 950 Leagues to study the Bricker amendment through workshops, unit groups, radio and television programs, in order to get a consensus of informed opinion from its League. Each local League was requested to report on the results of its study. Not until well over a majority of the local Leagues had responded was a position opposing the Bricker amendment taken by the National League, and this stand was not taken until January, 1954.

When the Board of the League of Women Voters of Monroe, composed of elected officers, elected and appointed Board members, publicized its approval of the National League action they did so solely as a Board and not as representing the sentiment of the Monroe League. This was clearly stated in the newspaper story of January 25, 1954. This action did not establish a precedent and did not violate League procedure.

The League of Women Voters is non-partisan, and it shall not support or oppose any political party or candidate, but it does and can support or oppose legislative issues on local, state and national levels of government.

Our constitution provides that delegates from local Leagues to national conventions vote on and adopt the current agenda from items on the national level submitted by the local Leagues. Delegates to state conventions adopt the program of study for state items. Members of the local League, at the annual meeting in March, decide which items shall be studied on the local level.

Our program for a two year period is then composed of the current agenda on all three levels of government, and it is the duty of the Board to plan and direct this program. The Board is responsible for taking action at a proper time as legislation is being considered both in Congress and State Legislature.

I have gone into these details of League organization because I feel that nothing could be farther from "NATIONALITIS" than this grass roots set-up, and also because I feel sure that your sense of justice and fairness will insure your giving this letter the same prominence in your paper as was given your editorial.

MRS. JAMES N. RIDDLE,
President, Monroe League of Women Voters.

Clean Out The 'Termites'

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As a student of La. Tech, I've been listening to several heated discussions about the terrible situation that this country is now dealing with. These discussions have aroused me in a manner which causes me to write this letter to you.

The fact that the twenty-one American soldiers that are left in Korea as "men without a country" has been dealt with justly by the U. S. Government thus far, in my opinion. These men had their chance to return home at the beginning of the prisoner exchange, held only a few weeks ago, yet through their disloyalty to their country, they have bluntly refused to return to the greatest country that has ever been. These men in my opinion and it seems to be everyone else's opinion also, should be punished with the most severe punishment for being cowardly and disloyal to their country.

Yet while we are talking about punishing these soldiers, we know that there are thousands of Communists walking in the cities within the boundaries of the U. S. Why do we citizens of this peace loving nation just sit and let this country be torn from its foundation by these, in common terms, "termites"?

Why do we as freedom loving people of this great nation just sit around and wait for someone else to act? If we all sit around and wait for someone else to clean up, then we will be taken by this blight that is eating away at the heart of our country. I know that I am not in any position to be advising people, but I think that the citizens of this country are lying down on the job. We should begin at once and have a clean up campaign, everyone taking part and start this year of 1954 off right.

We as people of the state of Louisiana could be leaders in this campaign if only we would think of the betterment of our Grand Old U. S.

W. L. WILLIAMS

Appreciation

Jena, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Even though this letter is a bit belated, may I use it as a means of expressing my deepest appreciation for your editorial of January 3rd (Give God a Chance) in the Morning World? It was one of the most timely articles I have read in recent days. It took on further significance for me as well as for the public in that it was not a pronouncement of the clergy, but rather it was the conviction of a layman. For your courageous stand and symbol statement about such great truths I again express my appreciation. I trust that more such editorials will be forthcoming. When the press expresses and displays such high standard for the world, the world cannot help but be impressed and uplifted thereby.

Why Not A Democratic Third Party?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Some people are suggesting that we organize a third party in the U. S. A. What do you think?

We do know that the Democrat and Republican parties no longer represent all the people and the people are about to lose confidence in the old parties and we need a real Democratic party that all can look to in the future. I think we need a new party for Louisiana. The Republican party is a very weak party in this state and always will be because the leadership of the party must look to the old "Die Hard" Republicans in the north for advice and assistance. The people are ready for a new party, a truly Democratic party. Now is the time to start organization of that new party. 1956 is just around the corner.

You can't tell a Democrat from a Republican. They all stand for the same things and neither party represents Democracy. In Congress watch how they all vote. They swap out and in when they are in the cloak rooms. The Bricker amendment will prove this to be true.

Did you ever hear a man making a speech - a good speech for the interest of all the people and at it's close apologize for what he had said and ask the people to forgive him on the facts he had presented to them? That oft times happens in Congress and other places. That is what is happening now in Congress. These old parties that are worn out and must die sometime so let them die now as it seems they are doing no tangible good for our country. When you can't tell one from the other on what they stand for, it's time to kick them out and organize a new party that will represent all of the people - the poor and the rich alike. What do you say? Would like to hear from others on the matter.

The U. S. Vs. The 'U. N.' Et Al
The State Rests

The year 1955 is becoming a guiding star in the eyes of every internationalist in the nation and in Europe. It is in that year that the redraft of the "United Nations" charter comes to a vote. It is in that year that American sovereignty, what is left of it, either stands or falls.

After 50 years of internationalist propaganda, it is hoped by the members of the "American Association for the United Nations", the "Atlantic Union Committee", the "United World Federalists," and the others of the same order including the "Civil Rights Congress," and the "Americans for Democratic Action," that this republic will have been "softened up" enough for capture. Apparently, such is dangerously the case.

The federal administration advertised during the campaign as one which would "give the nation a change" has not as yet unloaded the departments of Truman-Acheson holdovers. As a matter of fact, the Republican congressmen and Senators have a difficult time fitting Republicans into various offices due to the reluctance of the administration to let go of these Trumanites. In any case, these people are still in policy making positions as has clearly been seen in the past few weeks.

Before any consideration can be made of the situation it must be clearly understood that there are now two major forces opposing the freedom and the sovereignty of this republic. The first is of course, the international Marxist philosophy and the other is the internationalist, one world design. This does not mean that all internationalists are Marxists but on the success of one, depends the success of the other.

If the internationalists succeed in breaking down the sovereignty of this republic, they will succeed in eventually turning it over to the Marxists who are led militarily by the Russian Bolsheviks. One must realize that a most determined effort is being made by the internationalists and one worlders to make of the United States, a territory within a super government. President Lincoln made the statement that this republic could be destroyed only from within.

It is a known fact that the American people have always been able to repulse and oppose what they could see. They fought adversary after adversary with victory as long as they could control their own affairs. Unfortunately, in later years, this nation has not been able to control its own affairs either militarily or from the standpoint of foreign affairs. Militarily, the nation has been tied, bound hand and foot by the "United Nations" which already has lost a war for the U. S. and has forced this republic into a most dishonorable truce.

Some of the background of the case shows that the United States, after the loss of the Chinese Republic, was forced to lean heavily upon the weak and ineffectual European allies. This nation was forced to fight a war actually in their defense, one which they did all they could to hinder. It was fighting a war in which its own administration did not wholly concur witness the ammunition "shortages." The United States was forced to abide by the "U. N. Charter" which specifically calls on all member nations to "repel aggression." The United States military no more prosecuted the overall design of the war than you personally did, witness the Inchon invasion holdup where the victorious Americans were forced to await UN permission and then, to hold up at the 38th parallel.

The Russians, many forget, are a part of the "U. N." How was it that they were not made to abide by the charter? How was it that the satellite nations were not made to abide by the charter? How was it that India was not made to abide by the charter? Why was it that the eight Nationalist Chinese divisions, as offered by Chiang were not allowed to fight although his government was one of the original signatories of the "big five?" Legally and technically, how is it that the Soviet Union can remain inside the "United Nations?"

The answer is obvious; they should have been ousted long ago. However, who is going to oust them? There is no reason to believe that the "United Nations" as a force for peace in this world presently exists than there is to believe that the "United Nations" building has been ordained a cathedral. Rather, the "United Nations" is a power attempting to infringe upon the sovereign rights of Americans. The proof is clearly written in the overruling of numerous California and Idaho statutes which were overruled due to the fact that they failed to coincide with "U. N." law. It is written in the fact that numerous supreme court justices have already agreed that the "U. N." law supersedes constitutional law. It is written in U. S. agreement to the infamous Genocide pact.

It is written in the blood of every single American soldier, sailor or Marine or Air Force member forced into the stalemate war in Korea. Already, due to international agreements, American troops overseas are no longer under American jurisdiction. Instead, the flag that they pledged their very lives to defend has deserted them to the "mercy" of foreign courts, courts which are known not to show too much "mercy" on Americans.

Editor, Morning World:

Sometime ago my name was placed on your subscription list and since that time I have greatly enjoyed reading your editorials.

It is difficult for me to understand how you find the time to hit the issue so hard day after day, scarcely taking a breather.

It is your editorials that should be getting wide circulation because you write so many and they are hard-hitting editorials, the only kind that can possibly shock the American people into a full realization of the enormity of the crime against the sovereign people of this country.

It is good to know that there are men like you who are properly evaluating the situation and doing something effective about it.

The citizens of Monroe, Louisiana are indeed fortunate in having such a loyal and effective patriotic leadership at this grave hour when it is most needed.

With all good wishes and highest personal regards, I am

J. C. PHILLIPS,

Traditional Philosophy

Editor, Morning World:

As you know, I am reading your editorials. They are excellent.

Once in a while I bother you with comment, and I would like to do so now on your editorial, "The High And The Mighty," of January 28th, which is a reprint from one run several months ago in the Morning World. Americans need more to be brought back to their own traditional philosophy of government, which you do in this editorial. Congratulations on it.

The Ninth Amendment

Monroe, La.

Editor Morning World:

The Ninth Amendment to our Constitution provides, "The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparge others retained by the people."

This Constitutional language can well be the solace and authority for the citizens to disqualify any treaties, international agreements or any contract entered into by our President or the Congress or any of its representative bodies which would hinder or prevent the attainment of any or all the individual objectives relative to security which is the collective wording for the manifold blessings of freedom in this Republic.

Therefore, I do not think this nation is in any serious danger, present or future, from any lack of restrictive amendments to our Constitution such as the Bricker Amendment proposes to alleviate.

Any action or agreement by our President or the Congress or any of its representative bodies would be nullified by the Ninth Amendment if found to be in conflict with the best interests of our government.

This nullification could be accomplished by a petition of our citizens whose authority would be the Ninth Amendment. I firmly believe the Ninth Amendment if invoked could have prevented our intervention in the Korean War and our membership in the United Nations.

Democratic Principles Of The League

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As president of the League of Women Voters of Monroe, I share your deep concern over the democratic process under which organizations should function. Therefore, I wish to clarify some misunderstandings which were apparent in your editorial of January 26, 1954.

I consider it of the utmost importance that your paper and its readers be made cogizant of the truly democratic principles upon which the League of Women Voters is organized and functions.

There are approximately 950 Leagues in the United States. These Leagues send their suggestions to the League of Women Voters of the U. S. (the National League) as to the items which they feel should be on the National Agenda for the 727 local Leagues to study. Local League members have the privilege of submitting items for consideration. At a convention held every two years, the delegates from local Leagues consider these suggestions and decide upon those items which were submitted by the majority of the Leagues. The position taken by the National League opposing the Bricker amendment was the result of approximately a year's study by all local Leagues. The National Board requested each of the 950 Leagues to study the Bricker amendment through workshops, unit groups, radio and television programs, in order to get a consensus of informed opinion from its League. Each local League was requested to report on the results of its study. Not until well over a majority of the local Leagues had responded was a position opposing the Bricker amendment taken by the National League, and this stand was not taken until January, 1954.

When the Board of the League of Women Voters of Monroe, composed of elected officers, elected and appointed Board members, publicized its approval of the National League action they did so solely as a Board and not as representing the sentiment of the Monroe League. This was clearly stated in the newspaper story of January 25, 1954. This action did not establish a precedent and did not violate League procedure.

The League of Women Voters is non-partisan, and it shall not support or oppose any political party or candidate, but it does and can support or oppose legislative issues on local, state and national levels of government.

Our constitution provides that delegates from local Leagues to national conventions vote on and adopt the current agenda from items on the national level submitted by the local Leagues. Delegates to state conventions adopt the program of study for state items. Members of the local League, at the annual meeting in March, decide which items shall be studied on the local level.

Our program for a two year period is then composed of the current agenda on all three levels of government, and it is the duty of the Board to plan and direct this program. The Board is responsible for taking action at a proper time as legislation is being considered both in Congress and State Legislature.

I have gone into these details of League organization because I feel that nothing could be farther from "NATIONALITIS" than this grass roots set-up, and also because I feel sure that your sense of justice and fairness will insure your giving this letter the same prominence in your paper as was given your editorial.

MRS. JAMES N. RIDDLE,
President, Monroe League of Women Voters.

Clean Out The 'Termites'

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

As a student of La. Tech, I've been listening to several heated discussions about the terrible situation that this country is now dealing with. These discussions have aroused me in a manner which causes me to write this letter to you.

The fact that the twenty-one American soldiers that are left in Korea as "men without a country" has been dealt with justly by the U. S. Government thus far, in my opinion. These men had their chance to return home at the beginning of the prisoner exchange, held only a few weeks ago, yet through their disloyalty to their country, they have bluntly refused to return to the greatest country that has ever been. These men in my opinion and it seems to be everyone else's opinion also, should be punished with the most severe punishment for being cowardly and disloyal to their country.

Yet while we are talking about punishing these soldiers, we know that there are thousands of Communists walking in the cities within the boundaries of the U. S. Why do we citizens of this peace loving nation just sit and let this country be torn from its foundation by these, in common terms, "termites"?

Why do we as freedom loving people of this great nation just sit around and wait for someone else to act? If we all sit around and wait for someone else to clean up, then we will be taken by this blight that is eating away at the heart of our country. I know that I am not in any position to be advising people, but I think that the citizens of this country are lying down on the job. We should begin at once and have a clean up campaign, everyone taking part and start this year of 1954 off right.

We as people of the state of Louisiana could be leaders in this campaign if only we would think of the betterment of our Grand Old U. S.

Appreciation

Jena, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Even though this letter is a bit belated, may I use it as a means of expressing my deepest appreciation for your editorial of January 3rd (Give God a Chance) in the Morning World? It was one of the most timely articles I have read in recent days. It took on further significance for me as well as for the public in that it was not a pronouncement of the clergy, but rather it was the conviction of a layman. For your courageous stand and symbol statement about such great truths I again express my appreciation. I trust that more such editorials will be forthcoming. When the press expresses and displays such high standard for the world, the world cannot help but be impressed and uplifted thereby.

Why Not A Democratic Third Party?

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Some people are suggesting that we organize a third party in the U. S. A. What do you think?

We do know that the Democrat and Republican parties no longer represent all the people and the people are about to lose confidence in the old parties and we need a real Democratic party that all can look to in the future. I think we need a new party for Louisiana. The Republican party is a very weak party in this state and always will be because the leadership of the party must look to the old "Die Hard" Republicans in the north for advice and assistance. The people are ready for a new party, a truly Democratic party. Now is the time to start organization of that new party. 1956 is just around the corner.

You can't tell a Democrat from a Republican. They all stand for the same things and neither party represents Democracy. In Congress watch how they all vote. They swap out and in when they are in the cloak rooms. The Bricker amendment will prove this to be true.

Did you ever hear a man making a speech - a good speech for the interest of all the people and at it's close apologize for what he had said and ask the people to forgive him on the facts he had presented to them? That oft times happens in Congress and other places. That is what is happening now in Congress. These old parties that are worn out and must die sometime so let them die now as it seems they are doing no tangible good for our country. When you can't tell one from the other on what they stand for, it's time to kick them out and organize a new party that will represent all of the people - the poor and the rich alike. What do you say? Would like to hear from others on the matter.

TIGERETTES RECEIVE INSTRUCTIONS—Luther Jones, director of the Neville High School Tigerettes, assisted by Mrs. Eunice Dunn, (extreme left) points to the "blind corner" areas which the pep squad will survey on Wednesday. Gay Olcott,, survey-coordinator of the Tigerettes, and Carolyn Futrell, assistant-coordinator, will lead some 35 teams in the on-the-spot investigations. (Staff photo by John I. Fogleman.)

'Blind Corner' Battle To Get Under Way Wed.

"Full-scale Twin City - wide "dress rehearsals" have been completed by Tigerettes, Lionettes, Rebellettes and St. Matthewettes in preparation for Wednesday's battle of the blind corners," Harry Frazer, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Traffic committee stated.

Through the 100 per cent cooperation of parish and city school authorities all participating pep-squad members will be dismissed from their morning classes on Wednesday in order that they might contribute one of the "most" important projects pertaining to traffic safety ever conducted in the Twin Cities.

"We are merely coordinating the project through the Chamber of Commerce," Traffic Chairman Frazer said, "the real success of this blind-corner survey will be credited to the wonderful cooperative spirit of our splendid Twin City pep-squads who have volunteered their services."

Chamber officials plan to distribute official survey forms to the teams making up the block by block inspection teams on the day before the all-out effort. This means that the survey will be conducted in a uniform and systematic manner making it possible to tabulate the results quickly and accurately for use by municipal authorities.

Miss Ann Ganaway's Ouachita Lionettes has been assigned an area of particular note, in that, on the southwest section of the city a number of complaints have been filed with the Chamber offices relative to a number of dangerous "blind-spots."

"Each pep-squad has already been assigned a definite area to cover," Frazer said, "and the youngsters are planning on taking considerable investigations on each intersection in their territory."

Tigerette directors Luther Jones and Mrs. Eunice Dunn will perhaps have the largest area to survey, in that, the Neville delegation will undertake to view all intersections north of DeSiard proceeding to the college area.

Chamber officials explained that a "four-way-check" would be conducted at each intersection, with particular emphasis placed upon the immediate areas within a 25 foot zone measured from the corner along the city neutral zone.

"We know that at this particular time," Frazer commented, "that a number of intersections will not appear to the average motorist to be a potential hazard-corner, in that, shrubbery and trees are bare of their foliage."

However, full consideration will be given to low-hanging limbs and tall shrubs that normally will literally "block-out" vision when their full growth of leaves are obtained in the late spring.

Immediately following the Wednesday morning survey, the results will be tabulated and all danger-spots will be resurveyed by the Chamber of Commerce Traffic committee and the West Monroe Businessman's Association.

"The full cooperation of the Monroe and West Monroe city fathers and their respective police departments will see immediate action on the removal of obscurring shrubbery from city-neutral zones," Chamber secretary Jim Williams said.

"We plan," Frazer commented, "to direct personal letters to all affected property owners pointing out the individual danger plants involved noted in the survey; and, we will ask their permission to have city crews to remove and replant the shrubbery in adjacent locations."

The timing of the "blind-corner" project has been purposely scheduled during mid-February so that any plants having to be removed will not suffer.

Property owners naturally would resent having to risk the loss of mature plants even in the name of "safety"; but, every precaution will be exacted in the removal exercises.

West Monroe Police Chief Jeff Caldwell will aid Mrs. John Platt, Ann Thompson and Mrs. Jean Bowers in coordinating the West Monroe survey; while, re-surveys will be handled through the West Monroe Businessman's Association.

Monday Service Scheduled For Mrs. Osterland

Mrs. Agatha Osterland, 75, died yesterday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Coon, 206 S. 25h Street.

Jaycees Name New Yorker As Play Director

Billy Edmondson, president of the Monroe-West Monroe, Junior Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that this group has obtained the services of Leonard D. Stein of New York City to direct the community show, "Tripping Around."

The show will be presented in Monroe on February 25 and 26 at the Neville High School Auditorium.

"Tripping Around" is of the musical variety type in eight scenes, and will feature an all-local cast of more than 150 people.

Carl Slakter, general chairman of the program, said last night that there is a possibility of conducting a baby contest along with the show.

Slakter announced that a general meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday night at the American Legion Home, Forsythe Avenue, for all committees and those interested in participation in "Tripping Around." Slakter said, "This is the kick-off meeting."

Several thousand dollars worth of costumes and equipment for "Tripping Around" will be brought in and two scenes of the show will feature flourescent costumes with special ultra-violet lighting.

Stein, scheduled to arrive in Monroe February 10, is a native of Pennsylvania. He received his training in drama at Bucknell University, Temple University and the Pennsylvania State University.

He has been associated with such summer theatres as the Grove Theatre, Nuangola, Town and Nine and the Milvale Summer Playhouse.

Prominent in television circles, Stein has appeared on all major networks on such productions as Studio One, Kraft Threatre, Philco Playhouse and Treasury Men in Action.

A veteran film actor and summer stock director, Stein produced the pre-Broadway tryout of a new musical, "Little Green Isle," last summer.

Edmondson said, "We feel that the Junior Chamber of Commerce is fortunate to be able to bring Mr. Stein to Monroe. We do know, however, that even with his background and hard work, the success of the show will depend largely upon the cooperation we receive and give."

Edmondson emphasized that "Tripping Around" is a joint project of the Junior Chamber and their wives, the Jaycee Jaynes. "Although this is a joint project, it is still a community project, and everyone is invited to participate in the show," he said.

Two Towns Will Receive Units

BIENVILLE, Feb. 6. (Special)—Health units will be built in the near future at Arcadia, and Ringgold, according to Winlock Van Cleave," president of the police jury.

A total of $39,142.19 will be spent two - thirds of the amount for the unit in Arcadia and one-third for Ringgold. The police jury will provide $8,310.19; the State of Louisiana will provide $5,781, and the federal government $25,051 of the funds.

Franklin Farm Bureau Hears Comm. Pearce

WINNSBORO, Feb. 6. (Special) Dave Pearce, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting and barbecue of the Franklin Parish Farm Bureau, Friday night.

Commissioner Pearce, a former president of the West Carroll Farm Bureau, stressed the importance of cooperation and strong organizations among farmers. He pointed out the fact that the state university did not have adequate soil, feed, or fertilizer testing laboratories and that at the present time he was working to secure these facilities. Pearce assured the assembly that he was working for farm people of Louisiana at all times, and was willing to help them with any new problems that might come up.

George Sherman, Franklin Parish Farm Bureau secretary, listed the board of directors elected at this meeting to serve for the coming year as:

C. J. Clark, Ward 1; W. E. Kenny, ward 1; Lantz Womack, ward 3; S. R. Walters, ward 4; Roy McIntr ye,ward 5; Alton Bryant, ward 6; Louis Lowentritt, ward 7; E. A. Brown, ward 8; John Dailey, ward 9; J. B. Eley, Ed Johnston, Von Thornton, E. C. Ellzey and Rupert R. Scott, members-at-large.

Officers to serve the organization for the coming year will be named from this board at a later date.

Magazine Sales Hoax Revealed

M. F. Penney, director of public relations, Fourteenth District, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Louisiana, reported yesterday that he contacted Barney Yanofsky, editor of the VFW magazine, in Kansas City, Mo., and was told that no subscriptions to the VFW publication are ever solicited by door to door salesmen.

Penney checked with Yanofsky, after several door-to-door salesmen operating on the north side of Monroe Friday—in violation of city ordinance—were said to be soliciting subscriptions to the veterans' organization magazine. The salesmen were also reported to be selling subscriptions to a number of other magazines.

The activities of the salesmen were brought to the attention of police after several residents became suspicious and notified police. Two sales were reported to have been made by the solicitors, one about 1 a.m. and the other about 2:30 p.m. However, police were not contacted until 4:15. A search was made of the neighborhood, but the men could not be located.

Urging residents to contact police as soon as they are approached by such salesmen, Chief of Detectives Hugh L. Tolbert said, "Door to door solicitation of any kind is in direct violation of a Monroe city ordinance, even if such sales are by a legitimate representative of a publishing company, or reader service. The police would sincerely appreciate the cooperation of local residents in stopping such sales."

After being contacted by the Morning World concerning the solicitation of subscriptions for the VFW magazine, M. F. Penney, Charles J. Webber, post commander, Rodney Hobbs, Post 1809, V-FW, and William R. Baker, junior vice commander for Louisiana, V-FW, all reported they had no knowledge of any authorization for such solicitation. However, a ch was made with Yanofsky yester morning to establish definit whether such sales were a thorized.

Yanofsky said, "The subscriptio to our (the VFW) magazine is in cluded in the VFW membershi fee. Positively no door to door so licitation has been authirized."

Jaycees Name New Yorker As Play Director

Billy Edmondson, president of the Monroe-West Monroe, Junior Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that this group has obtained the services of Leonard D. Stein of New York City to direct the community show, "Tripping Around."

The show will be presented in Monroe on February 25 and 26 at the Neville High School Auditorium.

"Tripping Around" is of the musical variety type in eight scenes, and will feature an all-local cast of more than 150 people.

Carl Slakter, general chairman of the program, said last night that there is a possibility of conducting a baby contest along with the show.

Slakter announced that a general meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday night at the American Legion Home, Forsythe Avenue, for all committees and those interested in participation in "Tripping Around." Slakter said, "This is the kick-off meeting."

Several thousand dollars worth of costumes and equipment for "Tripping Around" will be brought in and two scenes of the show will feature flourescent costumes with special ultra-violet lighting.

Stein, scheduled to arrive in Monroe February 10, is a native of Pennsylvania. He received his training in drama at Bucknell University, Temple University and the Pennsylvania State University.

He has been associated with such summer theatres as the Grove Theatre, Nuangola, Town and Nine and the Milvale Summer Playhouse.

Prominent in television circles, Stein has appeared on all major networks on such productions as Studio One, Kraft Threatre, Philco Playhouse and Treasury Men in Action.

A veteran film actor and summer stock director, Stein produced the pre-Broadway tryout of a new musical, "Little Green Isle," last summer.

Edmondson said, "We feel that the Junior Chamber of Commerce is fortunate to be able to bring Mr. Stein to Monroe. We do know, however, that even with his background and hard work, the success of the show will depend largely upon the cooperation we receive and give."

Edmondson emphasized that "Tripping Around" is a joint project of the Junior Chamber and their wives, the Jaycee Jaynes. "Although this is a joint project, it is still a community project, and everyone is invited to participate in the show," he said.

Two Towns Will Receive Units

Franklin Farm Bureau Hears Comm. Pearce

WINNSBORO, Feb. 6. (Special) Dave Pearce, Louisiana commissioner of agriculture, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting and barbecue of the Franklin Parish Farm Bureau, Friday night.

Commissioner Pearce, a former president of the West Carroll Farm Bureau, stressed the importance of cooperation and strong organizations among farmers. He pointed out the fact that the state university did not have adequate soil, feed, or fertilizer testing laboratories and that at the present time he was working to secure these facilities. Pearce assured the assembly that he was working for farm people of Louisiana at all times, and was willing to help them with any new problems that might come up.

George Sherman, Franklin Parish Farm Bureau secretary, listed the board of directors elected at this meeting to serve for the coming year as:

C. J. Clark, Ward 1; W. E. Kenny, ward 1; Lantz Womack, ward 3; S. R. Walters, ward 4; Roy Mc-Intr ye,ward 5; Alton Bryant, ward 6; Louis Lowentritt, ward 7; E. A. Brown, ward 8; John Dailey, ward 9; J. B. Eley, Ed Johnston, Von Thornton, E. C. Ellzey and Rupert R. Scott, members-at-large.

Officers to serve the organization for the coming year will be named from this board at a later date.

Magazine Sales Hoax Revealed

M. F. Penney, director of public relations, Fourteenth District, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Louisiana, reported yesterday that he contacted Barney Yanofsky, editor of the VFW magazine, in Kansas City, Mo., and was told that no subscriptions to the VFW publication are ever solicited by door to door salesmen.

Penney checked with Yanofsky, after several door-to-door salesmen operating on the north side of Monroe Friday—in violation of city ordinance—were said to be soliciting subscriptions to the veterans' organization magazine. The salesmen were also reported to be selling subscriptions to a number of other magazines.

The activities of the salesmen were brought to the attention of police after several residents became suspicious and notified police. Two sales were reported to have been made by the solicitors, one about 1 a.m. and the other about 2:30 p.m. However, police were not contacted until 4:15. A search was made of the neighborhood, but the men could not be located.

Urging residents to contact police as soon as they are approached by such salesmen, Chief of Detectives Hugh L. Tolbert said, "Door to door solicitation of any kind is in direct violation of a Monroe city ordinance, even if such sales are by a legitimate representative of a publishing company, or reader service. The police would sincerely appreciate the cooperation of local residents in stopping such sales."

After being contacted by the Morning World concerning the solicitation of subscriptions for the VFW magazine, M. F. Penney, Charles J. Webber, post commander, Rodney Hobbs, Post 1809, V-FW, and William R. Baker, junior vice commander for Louisiana, V-FW, all reported they had no knowledge of any authorization for such solicitation. However, a chec was made with Yanofsky yesterda morning to establish definitel whether such sales were a thorized.

Yanofsky said, "The subscriptio to our (the VFW) magazine is i cluded in the VFW membershi fee. Positively no door to door s licitation has been authirized."

VANDALISM SHOCKING—When a prominent Monroe resident, living a short distance north of Louisville avenue, awoke Saturday morning he was dismayed and shocked by the sight that met his eyes on his front porch and front yard. A part of the display is shown here. The citizen said he was not disturbed as far as his own comfort was concerned, as it was an easy matter to toss the beer cans and whiskey bottles into a trash can. What worries him is what may happen to the bunch of high school youngsters who were driving in an extremely reckless and unsafe manner while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and who wantonly disfigured the yards in that vicinity. Voters Association Says Race Track Gambling In State Is Discriminatory

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Voters Association said today it would ask the Legislature either to legalize all gambling in the state or halt betting at the New Orleans Fair Grounds race track.

The association, which terms itself non-partisan, said gambling involved "more than a dice or card game, or the operation of slot machines." It termed the practice of permitting race betting in the face of a state-wide ban against other forms of gambling "misleading, inconsistent, and discriminatory."

In a resolution passed yesterday and released today the association quoted Webster's definition of gambling as "risking money on an event or contingency . . . involving uncertainty" and said it was time to stop hypocrisy on the subject.

The association said revenue from legalized betting at the Fair Grounds benefitted the state and it would ask Gov. Kennon and the Legislature to legalize all gambling under strict state supervision or stop it completely.

'Oil Man' Fleeces Money Lender Out Of $120,000 Cash

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6 —UP—A "Houston, Tex., oil man" and a St. Louis gambler were being sought Saturday for fleecing a St. Louis hotel operator and money lender in a $500,000 phoney bond deal.

The hotel man, Albert F. Fein, claimed he was fleeced of $120,000 in exchange for the counterfeit securities and used them innocently as collateral to secure $576,000 in loans from four local banks.

He said the bogus securities were represented as convertible debentures of the Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., an Oklahoma oil firm by an "oil man," introduced him by the gambler whom he had known and trusted.

Fein said he would pay off two outstanding loans totaling $270,000 himself. He had already paid back $306,000 in loans when he found the bonds were counterfeit last Monday.

Arrest orders were issued Friday for the two men.

Arts Associated To Hold Exhibition

Arts Associated, Louisiana's only all - women artists art organization will open its annual exhibition of paintings, sculpture, and ceramics Sunday afternoon, at 1 p.m. February 7, in the Louisiana Art Commission Galleries in the Old State Capitol in Baton Rouge.

According to Director Jay Broussard, the 35 items will remain on display through February 28.

Arts Associated was organized in September of 1951 to foster the exhibition and sale of the art work of competent women artists and to encourage them in the work. The idea of such an organization was first brought up by the late Alberta Kinsey from New Orleans. With the help of Dorothy Moore Grimm and Angela Gregory the group was chartered with Mrs. Grimm serving as its first president.

Marie Demeaux, also from New Orleans was recently elected to her second term as president. She is represented in the exhibition with two paintings.

The organization held its first gallery exhibition in the Art Commission galleries and has held an annual showing ever since. It also holds an annual exhibition in the Delgado Museum in New Orleans and other showings at the State Exhibit Building in Shreveport, the Gallery Circle Theatre in New Orleans and the Morgan City Public Library.

Some of the state's outstanding women artists are members of Arts Associated. They are: from New Orleans: Audye Tuttle, Hazel McKinley, Marcel Peret, Mary Jean Bringhurst, Marie delloa LeBlanc, Betty Christovich, Margot Quintero, Marie Demeaux, Lorayne Walker, Betty Freter, Challis Walker, Martha Wright Ambrose, Margaret Robinson, and Rai Murray.

Miriam Garic Barranger from Covington.

Ethlyn C. Watt from Baton Rouge.

Betty Friedenberg from Shreveport.

The public is cordially invited to see this exhibition along with the Fifth Annual Louisiana Photographers Salon which will also be in the Art Commission's Galleries through February 28.

The galleries are open free at all times from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weedkays, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays. They are closed on Monday.

Uranium Strikes In Llano County, Texas, Claimed

WACO, Feb. 6—UP—Joe Thompson, an independent geologist, said Friday he would start digging for uranium next week in Llano county near the spot where a uranium strike was reported last month.

Thompson said he had leased 420 acres of land only a few hundred feet from where R. L. Moore, a Dallas drilling contractor, reported a uranium strike Jan. 15.

Thompson said his Geiger counter detected stronger radioactivity on his lease than the area where the first strike was reported.

Moore's announcement was authorized by Dr. S. B. Water of Brownwood a metallurgist formerly with the Atomic Energy Commission at Oak Ridge, Tenn. The strike was on the Osborne ranch, 10 miles north of Llano.

Uranium is a radioactive element of the chromium group which, when reduced, is used as a source of atomic energy.

Benson To Make Major Address In Oklahoma Tues.

GUYMON, Okla., Feb. 6—UP—Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's address here Tuesday may be one of his "most important" recent discussions of Republican farm policy, Henry C. Hitch Jr., said Saturday.

Hitch is chairman of the Ross Rizley Appreciation Day committee. Benson will speak as highlight of the "day". Rizley is Benson's newly-appointed assistant.

Hitch said he learned from a Washington source that Benson will discuss assistance to drouth-stricken cattle areas, surplus commodities, commodity storage problems and other key topics at the public ralley.

Benson will come here from Stillwater, where earlier Tuesday he is meeting with farmers and ranchers in a "goodwill" session planned by Oklahoma A&M College and its president, Dr. Oliver S. Willham.

Lt. Gov. James E. Berry will give the welcome address at Stillwater and represent the Oklahoma government at the Rizley party here. Gov. Johnston Murray will be out of the state.

About 5,000 persons are expected for the Stillwater meeting, and Hitch said dignitaries from five states have accepted invitations for the Guymon rally.

Calendar Sales Drive Launched By Tigerettes

The Neville High School Tigerettes, noted for their drive and willingness to participate in Twin-City activities, are now featuring a Birthday Calendar Drive.

After collecting nearly $600.00 for the March of Dimes, this active group is out to raise funds for their next years' operations. Starting February 5, 1954, the drive will continue through this month.

"The Birthday Calendar Drive can be used for commercial promotion by businessmen," Director Luther Jones stated. One pays twenty - five cents to list his birth date. The calendars cost 50 cents.

Director Jones, of the "girl tigers" said that the money will be used to pay bus fares, buy equipment and other expenses.

WELCOMES CANCER WORKER—Dr. R. W. Dickenhorst, president of the Ouachita parish Cancer board, is shown as he welcomed Miss Winona Probus, field representative for the Louisiana division, to Monroe. Miss Probus, who has been working with the American Cancer Society for three years, has established headquarters in Monroe.

Cancer Worker Is Welcomed By Dr. Dickenhorst

Final plans are being mapped out by the Ouachita parish cancer board for a month-long campaign of cancer education, Dr. R. W. Dickenhorst, president of the local group, has announced. Plans for the event were formulated at a meeting of the board Friday.

In conjunction with the opening of the "educational phase" of the cancer drive, Miss Winona Probus, field representative for the Louisiana division of the American Cancer Society, has set up headquarters in Monroe. From this center, she will work the entire fifth Congressional District, plus Bien-LaSalle and Rapides parishes.

"The purpose of the special drive is not to raise money," Dr. Dickenhorst pointed out, "but rather to present to the people the true facts about this disease. When the general public realizes that his is not a 'hush-hush' disease and can freely discuss its symptons, then we are on the proper track towards ending it.

"However, most people are reluctant to even talk of the disease, and in their own reluctance, are hindering rather than aiding the fight against cancer," Dr. Dickenhorst said.

During the discussion among the executive board, composed of volunteer workers from the parish, it was brought out that of the 100,000 orphans each year, statistics show that approximately 26,000 are caused by death from cancer. It was also pointed out that about one-half of the 3,500 cancer victims in the state last year could have been saved with the knowledge and skill now at the command of those fighting the disease. Had the symptoms been known or had the victims had regular medical checks, successful treatment could have been prescribed.

Also brought out was the statistical fact that one out of every five persons are affected by the dreaded disease.

Names of persons who will serve on an educational committee, headed by Mrs. S. W. Collins, will be released "sometime next week." Also to be announced are leaders in the business and industry phase of the program.

About 5,800,000 square miles, or about 10.2 per cent of the earth's land area are covered with glacial ice.

Fink Receives Report On Probe Of 2 Policemen

Paul Fink, chairman of the po-ce Civil Service Board, Saturday eld a report on the progress of n investigation into acts of mis-onduct allegedly committed by Detective Capt. B. J. McBride and Detective Floyd Van, Jr., who were suspended from the police department New Year's Day.

The report was submitted to Fink n Friday by Monroe resident Bill Hardin, who was appointed by the Civil Service Board Jan. 14 to make he investigation, after he made tatements charging the officers vith misconduct.

McBride and Van were under uspension at the time in connecion with the Christmas Day beatng of used-car salesman Wesley Davis, which resulted in charges f simple battery against the deectives and Van's brother, Berard Van.

Bernard Van later pleaded guilty o the charge in Fourth District Court and was fined, but the deectives were found not guilty in he same court. McBride, however, ubmitted his resignation from the department Tuesday.

In his report to the board chairnan, Hardin told Fink information pertaining to both officers was inluded, but since McBride resigned he information need not be made public unless Fink So chose.

At the same time the report vas delivered, Hardin submitted his resignation as investigator for he board.

A Civil Service hearing is pendng Wednesday in the case of 'an, who is still under suspension from he department. Fink said earlier this week no action will be taken in McBride's case since the only course open to the board was his suspension or discharge and his resignation had ended this possibilty.

In Hardin's report, much of the information handed Fink was in the orm of sworn statements pertainng to the alleged acts of misconluct charged by Hardin at the meeting on Jan. 14. Hardin at the ime said the charges he made vere told to him by other persons, and since then were put into the statements.

Hardin added that some information pertaining to McBride had not been included in the reports, since several of his witnesses did not wish to become involved in the case unless it was necessary. He aid the witnesses could be called upon, however, should Fink think heir testimony was valuable.

Van and McBride were suspended Jan. 1 after Davis, the used-car salesman, charged the detectives ured him into a local bar and, with Bernard Van, beat him.

Injured Deputy Improving After Collision Injury

A Ouachita Parish deputy sheriff vas back on the job Saturday after n automobile collision the previous day which resulted in a slight brasion of his knee.

Police said Deputy Sheriff Dick Bell suffered the minor injury to his knee when a sheriff's department car in which he was riding vas in collision with a car driven by Willie Mondine, 37, Negro, of Route 1, Box 306, Monroe about 1:09 a.m. Friday.

According to the officers, the sheriff's department car was being driven by Deputy Sheriff J. T. Avery east on Louisville while Mondine's car was heading west on Louisville.

At 18th Street, officers said, Mondine attempted to make a left hand urn and drove his car into Avery's path, resulting in the collision.

Mondine was charged with reckess driving. Damage to his vehicle was estimated at $50, and to he deputies' car at $200.

VANDALISM SHOCKING—When a prominent Monroe resident, living a short distance north of Louisville avenue, awoke Saturday morning he was dismayed and shocked by the sight that met his eyes on his front porch and front yard. A part of the display is shown here. The citizen said he was not disturbed as far as his own comfort was concerned, as it was an easy matter to toss the beer cans and whiskey bottles into a trash can. What worries him is what may happen to the bunch of high school youngsters who were driving in an extremely reckless and unsafe manner while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and who wantonly disfigured the yards in that vicinity. Voters Association Says Race Track Gambling In State Is Discriminatory

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Voters Association said today it would ask the Legislature either to legalize all gambling in the state or halt betting at the New Orleans Fair Grounds race track.

The association, which terms itself non-partisan, said gambling involved "more than a dice or card game, or the operation of slot machines." It termed the practice of permitting race betting in the face of a state-wide ban against other forms of gambling "misleading, inconsistent, and discriminatory."

In a resolution passed yesterday and released today the association quoted Webster's definition of gambling as "risking money on an event or contingency . . . involving uncertainty" and said it was time to stop hypocrisy on the subject.

The association said revenue from legalized betting at the Fair Grounds benefitted the state and it would ask Gov. Kennon and the Legislature to legalize all gambling under strict state supervision or stop it completely.

'Oil Man' Fleeces Money Lender Out Of $120,000 Cash

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6 —UP—A "Houston, Tex., oil man" and a St. Louis gambler were being sought Saturday for fleecing a St. Louis hotel operator and money lender in a $500,000 phoney bond deal.

The hotel man, Albert F. Fein, claimed he was fleeced of $120,000 in exchange for the counterfeit securities and used them innocently as collateral to secure $576,000 in loans from four local banks.

He said the bogus securities were represented as convertible debentures of the Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., an Oklahoma oil firm by an "oil man," introduced him by the gambler whom he had known and trusted.

Fein said he would pay off two outstanding loans totaling $270,000 himself. He had already paid back $306,000 in loans when he found the bonds were counterfeit last Monday.

Arrest orders were issued Friday for the two men.

Arts Associated To Hold Exhibition

Arts Associated, Louisiana's only all - women artists art organization will open its annual exhibition of paintings, sculpture, and ceramics Sunday afternoon, at 1 p.m. February 7, in the Louisiana Art Commission Galleries in the Old State Capitol in Baton Rouge.

According to Director Jay Broussard, the 35 items will remain on display through February 28.

Arts Associated was organized in September of 1951 to foster the exhibition and sale of the art work of competent women artists and to encourage them in the work. The idea of such an organization was first brought up by the late Alberta Kinsey from New Orleans. With the help of Dorothy Moore Grimm and Angela Gregory the group was chartered with Mrs. Grimm serving as its first president.

Marie Demeaux, also from New Orleans was recently elected to her second term as president. She is represented in the exhibition with two paintings.

The organization held its first gallery exhibition in the Art Commission galleries and has held an annual showing ever since. It also holds an annual exhibition in the Delgado Museum in New Orleans and other showings at the State Exhibit Building in Shreveport, the Gallery Circle Theatre in New Orleans and the Morgan City Public Library.

Some of the state's outstanding women artists are members of Arts Associated. They are: from New Orleans: Audye Tuttle, Hazel McKinley, Marcel Peret, Mary Jean Bringhurst, Marie deHoa LeBlanc, Betty Christovich, Margot Quintero, Marie Demeaux, Lorayne Walker, Betty Freter, Challis Walker, Martha Wright Ambrose, Margaret Robinson, and Rai Murray.

Miriam Garic Barranger from Covington.

Ethlyn C. Watt from Baton Rouge.

Betty Friedenberg from Shreveport.

The public is cordially invited to see this exhibition along with the Fifth Annual Louisiana Photographers Salon which will also be in the Art Commission's Galleries through February 28.

The galleries are open free at all times from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weedkays, and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays. They are closed on Monday.

Uranium Strikes In Llano County, Texas, Claimed

WACO, Feb. 6—UP—Joe Thompson, an independent geologist, said Friday he would start digging for uranium next week in Llano county near the spot where a uranium strike was reported last month.

Thompson said he had leased 420 acres of land only a few hundred feet from where R. L. Moore, a Dallas drilling contractor, reported a uranium strike Jan. 15.

Thompson said his Geiger counter detected stronger radioactivity on his lease than the area where the first strike was reported.

Moore's announcement was authorized by Dr. S. B. Water of Brownwood, a metallurgist formerly with the Atomic Energy Commission at Oak Ridge, Tenn. The strike was on the Osborne ranch, 10 miles north of Llano.

Uranium is a radioactive element of the chromium group which, when reduced, is used as a source of atomic energy.

Benson To Make Major Address In Oklahoma Tues.

GUYMON, Okla., Feb. 6—UP—Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's address here Tuesday may be one of his "most important" recent discussions of Republican farm policy, Henry C. Hitch Jr., said Saturday.

Hitch is chairman of the Ross Rizley Appreciation Day committee. Benson will speak as highlight of the "day". Rizley is Benson's newly-appointed assistant.

Hitch said he learned from a Washington source that Benson will discuss assistance to drouth-stricken cattle areas, surplus commodities, commodity storage problems and other key topics at the public ralley.

Benson will come here from Stillwater, where earlier Tuesday he is meeting with farmers and ranchers in a "goodwill" session planned by Oklahoma A&M College and its president, Dr. Oliver S. Willham.

Lt. Gov. James E. Berry will give the welcome address at Stillwater and represent the Oklahoma government at the Rizley party here. Gov. Johnston Murray will be out of the state.

About 5,000 persons are expected for the Stillwater meeting, and Hitch said dignitaries from five states have accepted invitations for the Guymon rally.

Calendar Sales Drive Launched By Tigerettes

The Neville High School Tigerettes, noted for their drive and willingness to participate in Twin-City activities, are now featuring a Birthday Calendar Drive.

After collecting nearly $600.00 for the March of Dimes, this active group is out to raise funds for their next years' operations. Starting February 5, 1954, the drive will continue through this month.

"The Birthday Calendar Drive can be used for commercial promotion by businessmen," Director Luther Jones stated. One pays twenty - five cents to list his birth date. The calendars cost 50 cents.

Director Jones, of the "girl tigers" said that the money will be used to pay bus fares, buy equipment and other expenses.

WELCOMES CANCER WORKER—Dr. R. W. Dickenhorst, president of the Ouachita parish Cancer board, is shown as he welcomed Miss Winona Probus, field representative for the Louisiana division, to Monroe. Miss Probus, who has been working with the American Cancer Society for three years, has established headquarters in Monroe.

Cancer Worker Is Welcomed By Dr. Dickenhorst

Final plans are being mapped out by the Ouachita parish cancer board for a month-long campaign of cancer education, Dr. R. W. Dickenhorst, president of the local group, has announced. Plans for the event were formulated at a meeting of the board Friday.

In conjunction with the opening of the "educational phase" of the cancer drive, Miss Winona Probus, field representative for the Louisiana division of the American Cancer Society, has set up headquarters in Monroe. From this center, she will work the entire fifth Congressional District, plus Bien-LaSalle and Rapides parishes.

"The purpose of the special drive is not to raise money," Dr. Dickenhorst pointed out, "but rather to present to the people the true facts about this disease. When the general public realizes that his is not a 'hush-hush' disease and can freely discuss its symptons, then we are on the proper track towards ending it.

"However, most people are reluctant to even talk of the disease, and in their own reluctance, are hindering rather than aiding the fight against cancer," Dr. Dickenhorst said.

During the discussion among the executive board, composed of volunteer workers from the parish, it was brought out that of the 100,000 orphans each year, statistics show that approximately 26,000 are caused by death from cancer. It was also pointed out that about one-half of the 3,500 cancer victims in the state last year could have been saved with the knowledge and skill now at the command of those fighting the disease. Had the symptoms been known or had the victims had regular medical checks, successful treatment could have been prescribed.

Also brought out was the statistical fact that one out of every five persons are affected by the dreaded disease.

Names of persons who will serve on an educational committee, headed by Mrs. S. W. Collins, will be released "sometime next week." Also to be announced are leaders in the business and industry phase of the program.

About 5,800,000 square miles, or about 10.2 per cent of the earth's land area are covered with glacial ice.

FEBRUARY WEATHER OUTLOOK—The 28-day outlook for February calls for average temperatures above the seasonal normals over western half of the country, but below normal east of the Mississippi. Northeast is expected to be area of greatest unseasonable cold. Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the Gulf states and along the Atlantic seaboard, much of it snow from Virginia northward. Subnormal precipitation is indicated over the rest of the Northern half of the nation except for near normal in Great Lakes region.

Local Heart Fund Will Get Underway This Week

The 1954 Ouachita Parish campaign will actively get underway here this week. The annual campaign will go into full swing with numerous planned activities on the part of its leaders.

The 1954 heart fund is sponsored by the American Heart Association through its 56 directly affiliated heart associations, constituted for the most part on a statewide basis.

Engaged in this year's campaign will be more than 3,000 community and county - parish wide heart fund committees.

The quota for Ouachita Parish is $10,000.

The objective of the heart fund is to provide the American Heart Association and its affiliates with funds needed to conduct research, education and community heart programs for the purpose of reducing disability and death from diseases of the heart and blood vessels. The greater portion of funds raised will be retained by state and local heart associations to support research, education and needed community cardiac programs.

In 1952, latest year for which figures are available from the National Office of Vital Statistics, heart and circulatory diseases caused 771,000 deaths, or 51.6 per cent of all deaths. One out of every 16 persons suffer from some form of heart or blood vessel disease. Of these, about 500,000 are elementary and high school children.

Heart diseases affect people in all age levels and economic groups. After the age of 45 they cause one of every two deaths.

Today hearts are being saved because heart research is making vital new discoveries and because people are beginning to know these five hopeful facts: some forms of heart disease can be prevented, a few can be cured; all heart cases can be cared for best if diagnosed early; almost every heart condition can be helped by proper treatment; most heart patients can keep on working, often at the same job; your symptoms may or may not mean heart disease so see your doctor and be sure.

Joe Saragusa, prominent young businessman, is chairman of the local drive. Aiding him are: Dick Ware, vice chairman; John Hunt, special gifts chairman; Leon Massey, treasurer of the campaign.

2,000 Children Turn In Bicycle Registrations

An estimated 2,000 bicycle registration cards Saturday morning were turned over to the Monroe traffic department by children representing all city and parish schools, Mrs. W. J. Veazey, of the Red Cross here, announced.

According to Mrs. Veazey, registration of school children's bicycles has been going on in the various schools here since Jan. 9 and the registration cards were turned over to police at the Red Cross building at 10 a.m. Satuday.

Ms. Veazey explained the registration was for the purpose of recovering lost or stolen bicycles, and is not compulsory. She said the registration was held under the sponsorship of the Red Cross.

"We took over the bicycle registration program four or five years ago," Mrs. Veazey said, "because police had no way of knowing whose bicycles they had recovered.

"Since then, if a cicycle is stolen and recovered the officers can look up the registration in the files and find out who the owner is."

She said the cards were turned over to a police officer at the Red Cross building by two children from each of the city and parish schools in the Twin Cities.

Traffic Captain Jack Davis of the Monroe police department said the cards will go into police files, for reference in case a bicycle is stolen or recovered.

Armed Services

Brigadier General George E. Martin, assistant commanding general of the 37th Infantry Division, awarded Sgt. William S. Spears of Mangham, La., with the Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service, at a parade and review staged by the 148th Regiment last week.

Sergeant Spears, who was assigned as rifleman, assistant squad leader, and squad leader in Korea from March 5, 1953 to November 6, 1953, performed his duties in a superior and exemplary manner. Even the most difficult or unpleasant tasks he accepted with determined willingness. He displayed complete cooperation with his superiors and he always maintained a sincere interest in the welfare of the men under his supervision. In combat, he performed with great bravery and dependability.

Sergeant Spears has also received the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the Korean Occupation Ribbon, the Korean Campaign Ribbon, the National Defense Ribbon, and the European citation.

Prior to his entry into military service, Sergeant Spears attended Southern University. With his mother, Mrs. Delitha Spears, Sergeant Spears makes his permanent home at Archibald, La.

CAMP POLK, La. (Special)—The man who has been stationed at Camp Polk longer than anyone else M.-Sgt. Edward Jordan of Tioga, La., was awarded the Certificate of Achievement this week for his outstanding performance as chief food inspector and chief clerk of the post veterinary office.

Sergeant Jordan received the award in a special ceremony in the office of Brig. Gen. Hugh Cort, deputy post commander. He was cited in the certificate for his work during 1953 as chief food inspector and chief clerk of the post veterinary office.

Like the proverbial man who came to dinner and stayed on and on and on, Sergeant Jordan originally arrived at Camp Polk for a 60 day temporary assignment in June, 1950. But with the decision to reopen Camp Polk, the duty became permanent and Sergeant Jordan stayed on.

A veteran of 13 years' service, Sergeant Jordan finally leaves Camp Polk this week to become chief food inspector at the Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot.

Oil Company Suit

VIDALIA, Feb. 6. (Special) — Judge Jesse McGee signed an order of dismissal in Seventh District court at Vidalia Friday in the restraining order brought by Pat McDonough against the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

McDonough was seeking to restrain the company from erecting a commercial building in what he termed a residential section of Vidalia. Lloyd Love of Ferriday, attorney for McDonough, said the petroleum company had signed sales agreements with McDonough under which McDonough will purchase the land owned by the oil company.

'Bill' Goldsmith Will Head Crime Prevention Week

F. M. "Bill" Goldsmith has been appointed general chairman for the local observance of the seventh annual National Crime Prevention Week, February 14-20, by President Paul Goldman of the Exchange Club of Monroe. Plans for special programs held in cooperation with churches, schools, law enforcement agencies, and other groups are now being formulated, according to Mr. Goldman. Committees in charge of these events will be announced next week.

Mr. Goldman pointed out that in his message to The National Exchange Club, President Eisenhower stated that the greatest crime is the tolerance of crime. "This factor," Mr. Goldman said, "will be emphasized during the 1954 observance." The most recent FBI figures showing crime trends indicate a 2.5 per cent increase in crime during the first six months of 1953 over the same period for 1952, he pointed out. What this particular percentage does not show is the fact that there is a marked increase in child delinquency and in crime in rural areas. These distressing facts must be brought home to every American citizen, he concluded.

Armed Services

Brigadier General George E. Martin, assistant commanding general of the 37th Infantry Division, awarded Sgt. William S. Spears of Mangham, La., with the Commendation Ribbon for meritorious service, at a parade and review staged by the 148th Regiment last week.

Sergeant Spears, who was assigned as rifleman, assistant squad leader, and squad leader in Korea from March 5, 1953 to November 6, 1953, performed his duties in a superior and exemplary manner. Even the most difficult or unpleasant tasks he accepted with determined willingness. He displayed complete cooperation with his superiors and he always maintained a sincere interest in the welfare of the men under his supervision. In combat, he performed with great bravery and dependability.

Sergeant Spears has also received the Combat Infantryman's Badge, the Korean Occupation Ribbon, the Korean Campaign Ribbon, the National Defense Ribbon, and the European citation.

Prior to his entry into military service, Sergeant Spears attended Southern University. With his mother, Mrs. Delitha Spears, Sergeant Spears makes his permanent home at Archibald, La.

CAMP POLK, La. (Special)—The man who has been stationed at Camp Polk longer than anyone else M.-Sgt. Edward Jordan of Tioga, La., was awarded the Certificate of Achievement this week for his outstanding performance as chief food inspector and chief clerk of the post veterinary office.

Sergeant Jordan received the award in a special ceremony in the office of Brig. Gen. Hugh Cort, deputy post commander. He was cited in the certificate for his work during 1953 as chief food inspector and chief clerk of the post veterinary office.

Like the proverbial man who came to dinner and stayed on and on and on, Sergeant Jordan originally arrived at Camp Polk for a 60 day temporary assignment in June, 1950. But with the decision to reopen Camp Polk, the duty became permanent and Sergeant Jordan stayed on.

A veteran of 13 years' service, Sergeant Jordan finally leaves Camp Polk this week to become chief food inspector at the Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot.

Oil Company Suit

VIDALIA, Feb. 6. (Special) — Judge Jesse McGee signed an order of dismissal in Seventh District court at Vidalia Friday in the restraining order brought by Pat McDonough against the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

McDonough was seeking to restrain the company from erecting a commercial building in what he termed a residential section of Vidalia. Lloyd Love of Ferriday, attorney for McDonough, said the petroleum company had signed sales agreements with McDonough under which McDonough will purchase the land owned by the oil company.

The Mason-Dixon line between Pennsylvania and Maryland, famed as the division between North and South was set up to end disputes over private land grants.

'Bill' Goldsmith Will Head Crime Prevention Week

F. M. "Bill" Goldsmith has been appointed general chairman for the local observance of the seventh annual National Crime Prevention Week, February 14-20, by President Paul Goldman of the Exchange Club of Monroe. Plans for special programs held in cooperation with churches, schools, law enforcement agencies, and other groups are now being formulated, according to Mr. Goldman. Committees in charge of these events will be announced next week.

Mr. Goldman pointed out that in his message to The National Exchange Club, President Eisenhower stated that the greatest crime is the tolerance of crime. "This factor," Mr. Goldman said, "will be emphasized during the 1954 observance." The most recent FBI figures showing crime trends indicate a 2.5 per cent increase in crime during the first six months of 1953 over the same period for 1952, he pointed out. What this particular percentage does not show is the fact that there is a marked increase in child delinquency and in crime in rural areas. These distressing facts must be brought home to every American citizen, he concluded.

BUICK V8 DELIVERED LOCALLY!
1954 SPECIAL 2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan
Model 48D (illustrated)

*Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

As you look at it, you can see a lot of what makes this new 1954 Buick SPECIAL so sensational.

You can see the long, low, sleek and ultra-glamorous lines that add up to the biggest automotive styling change in years.

You can see the remarkable new windshield with the back-swept corners—greatest visibility improvement since closed cars came on the market.

And of course you can see the price—the local delivered price — which is headline news, too.

For that, as a shopping tour will tell you, is just a few dollars more than those of the so-called "low-price three."

But what you can't see is the rest of the sensational automobile that's yours for the low price shown here.

The spectacular power of this SPECIAL's brand-new V8 engine. The honest six-passenger roominess. The truly modern interior luxury. The superb new handling ease. The sublime comfort of Buick's famed Million Dollar Ride—now steadied even more by a newly developed front-end geometry.

Fact is, there's so much that's terrific about this new glamor car, you ought to drop in and give it a really thorough study and sampling.

That way you'll prove to yourself that the buy—and the thrill—of the year is Buick. Come in this week, won't you?

Kenner Resident Killed In Crash

KENNER, La., Feb. 6—UP—A Kenner man was killed Saturday when his car apparently spun out of control and smashed into a pick-up truck on the Airline Highway here.

Police identified the victim as Anthony V. Costa. He was dead on arrival at Charity Hospital in New Orleans.

Aubrey Robertson of Ponchatoula was treated at Charity for injuries received in the wreck. Police said Costa's car jumped the neutral ground on the highway before striking the truck.

Wilenzick's Test Is Perfect At Tulane

Raymond Wilenzick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wilenzick, 501 Alexander avenue, Monroe, was the only one in a class of 150 in his department of ROTC at Tulane University to make 100 per cent in a final examination in air force drill.

His family and friends here are naturally proud of such a record, which is decidedly unusual.

5-Year Terms Received By 2 In Court Here

Two men were sentenced to five years in the state prison at Angola in Fourth District Court Friday afternoon by Judge David I. Garrett. Both entered pleas of guilty to charges of simple burglary.

Clyde Bartlett, 35, and Charles Lee Williams, 20, were given the sentences after entering the pleas. Bartlett was also sentenced to one year for jumping bail, the sentence to run concurrently with the five-year term.

Other action taken by the court included:

Jack Slater and Fred Reagan fined $300 and costs of court for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Joseph R. Pouche, $25 and costs for reckless operation of a vehicle.

Paul Trichel, 30 days in jail for disturbing the peace.

Albert P. Cooke, Jr., $25 and costs for operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license.

Lonnie E. Pardue, $25 and costs, for reckless operation of a motor vehicle.

James Houston Wilson, $500 and costs of court or five months in jail, for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Entering pleas of guilty, but remanded for sentence were Grover C. Shumaker, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors; U. Loyd Whaley, theft of groceries valued at $15; and Robert R. Milford, indecent behavior with juveniles.

Not guilty pleas were entered by Royce Hudson Byers, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors; Fred Reagan, charged with hit and run driving.

Tips Constitute Taxable Income

District Director of Internal Revenue Geo. A. Lambert today called attention to a widespread misunderstanding on the part of certain taxpayers concerning the taxability of tips received which resulted in the omission of such income from their returns in the past. He called attention to Section 39.22 (a) (2) of Income Tax Regulations 118 which clearly provides that tips constitute taxable income. The provisions of the quoted regulations are supported by numerous court decisions in the past. The omission of tips as income from tax returns filed in the past has been of considerable concern to his office and Director Lambert stated that it is his clear responsibility to correct this situation.

Director Lambert emphasized the necessity of maintaining records of tips received in order that the tax returns filed may be accurate. He called attention to Section 39.41-3 of Regulations 118 which provides that each taxpayer must maintain such accounting records as will permit him to make a return of his true income.

Director Lambert stated that there should be no further misunderstanding on the part of persons normally receiving tips in the course of their employment, such as waiters, waitresses, dealers, barbers, taxi drivers, bellhops, croupiers, porters, hairdressers, etc., that tips received by them constitute taxable income and they should keep a daily record thereof in order to prepare a correct return of income.

35-Mile Zone Set On Highway 200

A section of State Highway 200, between the West Monroe city limits and the Brown Paper Mill, has been made a 35-mile-an-hour zone, according to a notice from George S. Covert, director of public highways for the State of Louisiana. The notice, which was sent to the Ouachita Parish clerk of court, also made the strip a no - parking area, except in specific parking lanes.

The local clerk of court was notified of the law, which became effective immediately, by mail Saturday morning. The letter was dated February 1.

A distance of .8 mile is affected by the change. Basis for the speed and no parking zone was an ordinance passed December 15, 1952.

CLERK ON PROBATION

ALEXANDRIA, La., Jan. 28 — UP—Alva E. Burleigh, postal clerk here for 24 years, was placed on a five year unsupervised probation after he pleaded "no contest" to a charge that he embezzled COD funds. S. W. Jackson, director of the school, states that the school is now accepting applications for the next class that will start sometime this summer or early fall. All who are interested should contact the school for information: write to P. O. Box 676, West Monroe, or call 3-3491.

Order Of Arrow Banquet Slated

An Order of the Arrow banquet will be held Tuesday night Glenn Cobb, lodge chief, has announced. The banquet meeting, which is held by members holding the highest Scouting award, will be at the Italian Village on Louisville Avenue.

Originally the banquet was to be held in a West Monroe eating place, but was changed the latter part of the week.

All members of the lodge who plan to attend the meeting are urged to contact the Boy Scout headquarters in the parish court house.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

A hill billy band gets our plug today although Roy Acuff and his Smoky Mountain Boys can be expected to look as surprised as anybody else to find their mountain music show sharing a place on a newspaper sports page. But when we look into the whys, whats, and whereofs, we can't help but try to boost their Monroe debut at Neville High School auditorium on Friday, February 19.

The Monroe Lions Club is sponsoring the appearance of Acuff and his boys, and when you look back over some of the projects helped along by Lions Club funds derived from just such programs you can understand why these Acuff "athletes" deserve strong support for their appearance here. They have a good musical show and fine entertainment all the way through that will offer the sports followers a night's diversion from their usual fare.

Just to mention a few of the Lions' projects, they gave $3,000 toward construction of our Little League baseball park, without which the kids might not have had the kind of program they are enjoying and certainly Monroe would not have been able to land the state Little League tournament last year; they donated $10,000 toward purchase of playground equipment for schools and the Monroe Recreation department; improvements at the Girl Scouts' camp got a $1,500 boost from the same organization; and several years ago they completely equipped the Ouachita Parish High School football team with Ouachita retaliating by nicknaming its athletic teams the "Lions."

The Lions Club supports other projects as well, including the fitting of underprivileged children with glasses, and the funds that make such projects possible come from public support of such annual club presentations as Acuff and the Smoky Mountain Boys. We are unaware of what the Lions have in mind as their net civic gesture, but, whether or not recreation and youth reap the benefits, it will be a worthwhile cause. So don't forget. Make plans for the Acuff show February 13.

The Lions' show is still nearly two weeks away, but sports followers get three unusual events this week, two for youth and one for the coonhunting fraternity.

Clinics are in style this week with the Twin City Boys Baseball Clinic, Inc., giving its first annual performance next Saturday with such guest stars as Joe Adcock, Milwaukee Braves first baseman; "Schoolboy" Rowe, former Detroit Tiger pitching ace; and possibly Mel Parnell, another famed hurler, serving as instructors along with a host of baseball experts in this area.

Tuesday afternoon marks the first of eight classes for 'teen-aged golfers, boys and girls, at Municipal Golf Club. Muny pro H. A. Britt and McGuire pro Leonard Warren will conduct the clinic on successive Tuesdays with the assistance of such ranking local amateurs as Clyde Nash, Jackie Doss,, Bobby Ledbetter, Mrs. George Miller, and Mrs. Dot Nash. The girls and boys need only to present themselves for instruction. Every necessary item of equipment will be provided by the clinic sponsors who are especially interested in boys and girls who have never played golf before.

Mountain Music's third annual Championship Wild Coon Hunt comes back to Ouachita parish for four days, Wednesday through Saturday, with Eddie Ross of Monroe again the big sponsor in what is already considered the world's largest wild coon event. Twenty-one states are already listed on Ross' entry rolls as hunters and hounds from all sections of the country move in.

Co-featured with the hunt will be the separately operated National Coonhound Association's annual bench show which will be offered at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe, next Friday afternoon. The fair grounds will also serve as headquarters for the Wild Coon Hunt, open to all registered and grade coon dogs.

Eddie Ross, publisher of the coonhunters' magazine, "Mountain Music," brought the coon hunt to Louisiana three years ago and it has grown in popularity each year. "We'll have the finest dogs, the leading sportsmen, and the largest trophies ever presented at any wild coon hunt," Ross points out.

Bryant Says Kentucky 'Is Basketball Crazy'

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)—Paul "Bear" Bryant, under a nine-year contract to the University of Kentucky but waiting to sign with Texas A & M, said today he couldn't be persuaded to remain here.

The grid coach would not elaborate on his terse statement. It came after Kentucky's president, Herman L. Donovan, said he would not recommend acceptance of Bryant's resignation unless a suitable replacement is in sight.

"Coming at this particular time, with spring football practice in the offing, and on such late notice, it poses a difficult problem for the university athletic association," asserted Donovan.

The association is to meet next week. If it refused to act on the resignation, Bryant, in effect, would have to fill out his term with Kentucky.

Standing on a coach's contract as Dr. Donovan is doing, at least for the present, is rare but not unheard of. In fact, the situation parallels one involving Kentucky and Indiana University in 1946.

Kentucky signed the late Bo McMillin to a 10-year contract before hiring Bryant but Indiana refused to accept McMillin's resignation.

Bryant's friends have said his resignation stems from his feeling that basketball is king at Kentucky at the expense of football.

But Dr. Donovan said there was no foundation for such reports, one of which was made today by Atlanta Journal sports editor Ed Danforth.

Danforth an alumnus of Kentucky, in a column written for the Sunday Atlanta Journal and Constitution, declared:

"Kentucky is basketball crazy, devoted to perpetuating the whims of an embittered coach, Adolph Rupp, and in so doing has maneuvered itself into a position of disfavor with the NCAA and its sister colleges."

Rupp was not available for comment on Danforth's story but he has consistently denied that basketball was the ruling sport at Kentucky.

In Louisville, meantime, the alumni association chapter there drew up a resolution urging the National Collegiate Athletic Association to provide some penalty for any member school of the NCAA for "proselyting coaches under contract with other member schools."

ASSISTANT

DETROIT, Feb. 6. (AP)—The University of Detroit today announced the appointment of Patrick Naughton, a 30-year-old Chicago high school coach, as assistant to head football coach Wally Fromhart.

Cotton States Ready As 6-Club League

Meridian Decides To Stay; Jackson Takes Greenville

By J. P. FRIEND
(League Statistician)

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 6 (Special) — Despite the fact that it will operate with only six clubs instead of the usual eight this summer, the historic Cotton States League is looking forward to the 1954 baseball season with high optimistic hopes.

The club complement was definitely established with the announcement from Willis Hudlin that final arrangements had been completed to transfer the Jackson franchise to Greenville. Hudlin said all the players on the 1953 Jackson roster would be transferred to Greenville. The Senators, an affiliate of the Detroit Tigers through Little Rock of the Southern Association, finished in a fourth-place tie with Hot Springs, then won out in a sudden death single game playoff, 6-2, last year.

This switch of franchise came somewhat as a surprise. It had been reported that the Bucks disbanded at the end of the 1953 season and planned not to operate this coming campaign. Vicksburg was considered a good bet as the probable replacement for Jackson, which lost its grandstand in a freak windstorm last August and played the remainder of its home games in Yazoo City and Hazlehurst.

B. C. Burns, Heidelburg, Miss., has decided to continue operating at Meridian. The Millers not only won consecutive pennants in 1952 and 1953 following return to the Class C loop, but became the first double champion to follow with sweeps of the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Changes have been made in the front office of two of the other four heldover clubs. Paul Dean, one half of the famous "me 'n Paul" pitching combination who made history with the St. Louis Cardinals, purchased the interests of H. M. Britt at Hot Springs and will operate the Bathers. There is a connection with the Cardinals for playing talent.

When Bonneau Peters, owner of the Shreveprt Sports of the Texas League, withdrew his support of Monroe, a local group headed by Dr. W. L. Bendel, Clifford Strauss and Saul Adler picked up the fallen gauntlet and announced independent operation. Among the first things they did was to sign Ed Head, a native son who once hurled for the Brooklyn Dodgers, as manager. Head skippered Mobile, Ala., of the Southern Association in 1952, finishing third.

Pine Bluff will continue its affiliation with the Baltimore Orioles, the late St. Louis Browns, with Sam Cook returning as president.

Curtis A. Kinard again heads the independent El Dorado Oilers. He has retained Donald J. Brown as general manager.

Natchez, one of the original charter members back in 1902 and the first pennant winner, surrendered its franchise following a poor year at the gate. Tom Glennon, business manager, resigned before the 1953 season was over to devote more time to his business interests. The Indians received help from Birmingham, where Tom's brother, Eddie, is general manager.

The 1954 schedule, submitted by C. B. (Dough) Rawlings, business manager of Meridian and approved by the directors last week, calls for 120 games. Opening games on April 27 find Monroe at El Dorado; Hot Springs at Pine Bluff, and Meridian at Greenville. After two-game series the sites switch for the other opening dates.

Golf Clinic Open To All Boys, Girls In Schools

Pro Hugh A. Britt of Municipal Golf Club last night announced the golf clinic, opening Tuesday afternoon at Municipal and to be continued for eight successive Tuesdays, is open to all boys and girls enrolled in schools of this area.

Earlier it had been announced that the clinic would be for 'teenagers, but Britt last night said it was the intention of the instructors to handle "every boy and girl desiring to attend, provided they are enrolled in any of our schools."

First class is scheduled to start Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Britt and Leonard Warren, the latter a veteran professional who only recently took charge at McGuire Park, West Monroe, will direct the clinic with the help of Clyde Nash, Jackie Doss, Bobby Ledbetter, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Dot Nash, and one other of the Twin Cities foremost woman golfers who will help Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Nash with the girls.

The clinic sponsors will provide all equipment in the way of clubs and golf balls needed for those enrolling.

"The boys and girls need only to present themselves and enroll to become part of our clinic," Britt said. "We'll provide everything else, including the instructors. Every boy and girl interested in golf, even if they've never had a golf club in their hands, is invited to participate."

Farmerville Host To Annual Union Parish Tourney

FARMERVILLE, La., Feb. 6. (Special)—The Union Parish Basketball Tournament will be held at the Farmerville High School gym Friday and Saturday, J. G. Elliott, high school principal, has announced.

The first session is scheduled for Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock when the Linville girls meet the Downsville girls. At 2:15 p.m. the Marion and Farmerville boys will play, followed by the girls of Marion and Junction City.

The second session, Friday night, will begin at 6:30 o'clock when the Linville boys meet Downsville. Then at 7:45 the Farmerville girls play the Bernice girls, with the session ending after the Bernice and Junction City boys' game.

Semi - finals are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, with consolation and championship games Saturday night. The Marion and Bernice boys are favored in the boys' division, with Linville and Bernice in the girls'.

The officials for the tournament are John and Warren Haile.

Central Tourney Accepts Entries Until Thursday

PINEVILLE, La., Feb. 6 (Special) — Fifteen basketball teams from nine high schools have filed early entries for the 33rd annual Central Louisiana High School Basketball Tournament which is to be held at Louisiana College, Friday and Saturday, February 19 and 20.

Tioga's Class A boys and girls, always strong in the tournament, are the first entries in that division. Tioga girls were Class B champions in 1953.

Entries in Class B division are Dry Prong, boys and girls: Buckeye, boys and girls; Acadia Baptist Academy, boys. In Class C entries have been received from Oak Grove High of Converse, boys and girls. Oak Grove boys were defending champions in 1953 and have always been strong contenders. Other entries in Class C are Noble High School, boys; Georgetown High School, boys and girls, always strong contenders; Forest Hill High School, boys; and Elizabeth High School, boys and girls.

The entry deadline for the rally has been set at midnight February 10. Principals and coaches will meet at the college annex on Friday, February 12, at 2 o'clock, to make pairings in A, B, and C divisions, boys and girls. All entries should be in not later than February 10.

The Class A tournament will be run on an invitational basis. B and C teams, boys and girls, will qualify to enter state.

Four gymnasiums will be used for the contest this year—Louisiana College gym, Bolton gym, Tioga gym, and the C.Y.O. center.

Louisiana State Tackle, Harris, Joining Demons

NATCHITOCHES, La., Feb. 6 (AP)—Bill Harris, 235-pound tackle from Bossier City, transferred from Louisiana State University to Northwestern State College, the college said today.

Harris, who is a senior with a year's football eligibility remaining, was on LSU's starting team last season. NSC officials said his transfer had nothing to do with his classroom work.

Harris was drafted by the professional New York Giants of the National League but decided to finish his college career at Northwestern.

Heard, Nash Tie For First Place In M'Guire Play

Loy Heard and Clyde Nash came in with 71s yesterday to tie for first place in a Canadian sweepstakes tournament conducted by pro Leonard Warren at McGuire Park Golf Club.

Trailing in third place, one stroke behind Loy Heard and Nash was Hilton Heard with a 72.

Others participating in the event were A. C. Williams, president of McGuire club, and E. J. Miller, Kenneth Holt, Jimmy Green, Everett E. Lawson, Dick Watkins, A. H. Jacobs, O. W. Smith, J. E. Peters, "Buster" Parker, Vic David, M. K. Smith, Howard Scott, and Bill King.

Outfielder Dick Sinovic, who will receive a spring trial with the Braves, led the Southern Associations in runs batted in, hits and total bases during the 1953 season.

7-Man Committee Of Minor Leagues Meets This Week

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 (AP)—Minor league baseball's seven-man study committee, instituted to make recommendations toward constitutional revisions and other problems, will meet here next week.

The committee, composed of one official from each classification, will open a three-day meeting Monday. There was no indication what problems it would investigate.

George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, was expected here Sunday to take part in the first day's session.

The committee held its first meeting in Dallas, Tex., Jan. 8-10.

Members of the committee are chairman Leslie M. O'Conner, counsel for the open classification Pacific Coast League; Ed Doherty, of the AAA American Association; Allen Russell of the AA Texas League; Dick Butler of the A Sally League; Howard Green of the B Big State League; Edmond Deramee of the C Evangeline League; and C. C. Hoffman of the D Mississippi-Ohio Valley League.

Shoemaker Registers 1,700th In 5 Years

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 6 (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker rode the 1700th winner today in a career spanning less than five years. His latest victory came in the final race of the day, when the Silent Shoe booted in Annuit Coeptis in a mile and one furlong.

It was also a big day for the veteran Johnny Longden, who rode Indian Hemp, the On Trust Handicap winner, and two others.

Curtises, Indian Trio Meet Kelly Tag Three

A triple tag team match is on tap at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when Jack and George Curtis add a third partner, Indian Chief Apache to their high-rated relay team, and engage "Irish Jack" Kelly, Elmer Davis, and a third "to-be-selected" teammate, in a two-falls-to-win feature bout.

Jack and George, especially the former, are thoroughly disgruntled over the outcome of their last Tuesday's match against the Kelly-Davis combine in the tag feature, and have challenged the two huskies to a return bout this week, plus whoever they want to pick as a third team member to vie with the Curtis Chief addition.

Kallio's Arena hasn't had six men together on the mat since the Curtises and Bill Barney teamed up against Kelly, "Big Boy" Cronin, and Pat Willis in what turned out to be one of the most crowd-pleasing tussles in local wrestling history.

Kelly, derisive of the Curtises and their extra partner, says he's not afraid of any Indian — Apache, Blackfoot, Sioux, or what have you, and that Jack and George themselves acted more like Indians themselves in recent matches, war-whooping and cackling like a hen when they won a fall.

Again, the identity of Kelly's third team member is a mystery until match-time, as the Irishman, for the second consecutive week, has had the privilege of choosing his own team. It paid off last time, when he lived up to his boast that if he could bring a mate of his own selection, they'd whip the Curtis boys.

They did so it will be quite interesting to see how he makes out when he brings his three-man team here Tuesday.

Two short preliminaries, between opposing team members, will serve as warmups for two-thirds of the main-eventers. Both matches are of the one-fall, ten-minute-time-limit variety, the first of which begins at 8:15.

West Monroyan Bill Barney is slated to officiate for the evening.

Richmond Owner Under Pressure, Finds New Name

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 6. (AP) — Richmond's new International League baseball team won't be nicknamed the "Confederates," after all. Team owner Harry C. Seibold announced tonight that "numerous complaints" have led him to change the name to the "Virginians."

Seibold said he had received letters and telephone calls "by the hundreds" from all over Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina "and even a northern state or two" objecting to the "Confederates" label.

"These people said they objected to the 'commercialization' of the word which to them has an honored place in memory," the Richmond franchise owner said. "I see no use in inviting trouble. The last thing I want to do is offend anyone, so after due consideration, I have decided to change the nickname."

The "Virginians" was the tag applied to Richmond's entry in the original International League before the turn of the century. It ought not to offend anyone, Siebold said.

Seibold was deluged with complaints even though before choosing "Confederates" as the original nickname, he had obtained the blessing of the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

He said opposition came not only from racial groups offended by the nickname but from "a lot of otherwise disinterested persons who thought we would be capitalizing on something near and dear to them."

SLADE VS. HENRY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Promoter Goldie Ahearn announced today he has signed Jimmy Slade of New York and Clarence Henry of Los Angeles for a 10-round light heavyweight fight in the Capital Arena here Feb. 17. The bout will be televised nationally (9 p.m., CST) over the Columbia Network.

Mario Picone, pitching hopeful for the Giants, works as a stevedore during the off-season.

Mantle Expects Aid Of Crutch For Two Weeks

Mickey, who is 22, was met by his 17-year-old twin brothers, Ray and Roy, to return him by motor car to his home at Commerce, Okla.

Mantle will be on crutches for about two weeks and will return to the hospital for treatment two or three times a week but expects to be able to leave for spring training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1.

His last operation was to remove a cyst from the back of his right knee, the same knee from which a torn cartilage was removed last November.

"Pepsi-Cola Awards Salesman Of The Month"

George Sellers was awarded "Salesman of The Month Honors" for his efforts during the month of January. For these efforts Sellers received a beautiful Bulova Watch.

When the watch was presented Sellers By J. E. Tripp, Jr., Manager of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., Tripp stated that he planned to carry such a program throughout the year.

In presenting the award, Tripp further stated that he felt the importance of bringing before the public the caliber of salesmen employed by Pepsi-Cola. George Sellers is a good example of the type men that represent our product. Sellers' ability as a productive salesman has been proven in the past month. He is a home owner in the Twin Cities and resides at 3215 Breville Street.

In conclusion, Tripp stated that the future growth of Pesi-Cola in this market could not be questioned with men like George Sellers representing us in the trade.

Danforth an alumnus of Kentucky, in a column written for the Sunday Atlanta Journal and Constitution, declared:

"Kentucky is basketball crazy, devoted to perpetuating the whims of an embittered coach, Adolph Rupp, and in so doing has maneuvered itself into a position of disfavor with the NCAA and its sister colleges."

Rupp was not available for comment on Danforth's story but he has consistently denied that basketball was the ruling sport at Kentucky.

In Louisville, meantime, the alumni association chapter there drew up a resolution urging the National Collegiate Athletic Association to provide some penalty for any member school of the NCAA for "proselyting coaches under contract with other member schools."

DETROIT, Feb. 6. (AP)—The University of Detroit today announced the appointment of Patrick Naughton, a 30-year-old Chicago high school coach, as assistant to head football coach Wally Fromhart.

Cotton States Ready As 6-Club League

Meridian Decides To Stay; Jackson Takes Greenville

By J. P. FRIEND
(League Statistician)

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 6 (Special) — Despite the fact that it will operate with only six clubs instead of the usual eight this summer, the historic Cotton States League is looking forward to the 1954 baseball season with high optimistic hopes.

The club complement was definitely established with the announcement from Willis Hudlin that final arrangements had been completed to transfer the Jackson franchise to Greenville. Hudlin said all the players on the 1953 Jackson roster would be transferred to Greenville. The Senators, an affiliate of the Detroit Tigers through Little Rock of the Southern Association, finished in a fourth-place tie with Hot Springs, then won out in a sudden death single game playoff, 6-2, last year.

This switch of franchise came somewhat as a surprise. It had been reported that the Bucks disbanded at the end of the 1953 season and planned not to operate this coming campaign. Vicksburg was considered a good bet as the probable replacement for Jackson, which lost its grandstand in a freak windstorm last August and played the remainder of its home games in Yazoo City and Hazlehurst.

B. C. Burns, Heidelburg, Miss., has decided to continue operating at Meridian. The Millers not only won consecutive pennants in 1952 and 1953 following return to the Class C loop, but became the first double champion to follow with sweeps of the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Changes have been made in the front office of two of the other four heldover clubs. Paul Dean, one half of the famous "me 'n Paul" pitching combination who made history with the St. Louis Cardinals, purchased the interests of H. M. Britt at Hot Springs and will operate the Bathers. There is a connection with the Cardinals for playing talent.

When Bonneau Peters, owner of the Shreveprt Sports of the Texas League, withdrew his support of Monroe, a local group headed by Dr. W. L. Bendel, Clifford Strauss and Saul Adler picked up the fallen gauntlet and announced independent operation. Among the first things they did was to sign Ed Head, a native son who once hurled for the Brooklyn Dodgers, as manager. Head skippered Mobile, Ala., of the Southern Association in 1952, finishing third.

Pine Bluff will continue its affiliation with the Baltimore Orioles, the late St. Louis Browns, with Sam Cook returning as president.

Curtis A. Kinard again heads the independent El Dorado Oilers. He has retained Donald J. Brown as general manager.

Natchez, one of the original charter members back in 1902 and the first pennant winner, surrendered its franchise following a poor year at the gate. Tom Glennon, business manager, resigned before the 1953 season was over to devote more time to his business interests. The Indians received help from Birmingham, where Tom's brother, Eddie, is general manager.

The 1954 schedule, submitted by C. B. (Dough) Rawlings, business manager of Meridian and approved by the directors last week, calls for 120 games. Opening games on April 27 find Monroe at El Dorado; Hot Springs at Pine Bluff, and Meridian at Greenville. After two-game series the sites switch for the other opening dates.

Golf Clinic Open To All Boys, Girls In Schools

Pro Hugh A. Britt of Municipal Golf Club last night announced the golf clinic, opening Tuesday afternoon at Municipal and to be continued for eight successive Tuesdays, is open to all boys and girls enrolled in schools of this area.

Earlier it had been announced that the clinic would be for 'teenagers, but Britt last night said it was the intention of the instructors to handle "every boy and girl desiring to attend, provided they are enrolled in any of our schools."

First class is scheduled to start Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Britt and Leonard Warren, the latter a veteran professional who only recently took charge at McGuire Park, West Monroe, will direct the clinic with the help of Clyde Nash, Jackie Doss, Bobby Ledbetter, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. Dot Nash, and one other of the Twin Cities foremost woman golfers who will help Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Nash with the girls.

The clinic sponsors will provide all equipment in the way of clubs and golf balls needed for those enrolling.

"The boys and girls need only to present themselves and enroll to become part of our clinic," Britt said. "We'll provide everything else, including the instructors. Every boy and girl interested in golf, even if they've never had a golf club in their hands, is invited to participate."

Farmerville Host To Annual Union Parish Tourney

FARMERVILLE, La., Feb. 6. (Special)—The Union Parish Basketball Tournament will be held at the Farmerville High School gym Friday and Saturday, J. G. Elliott, high school principal, has announced.

The first session is scheduled for Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock when the Linville girls meet the Downsville girls. At 2:15 p.m. the Marion and Farmerville boys will play, followed by the girls of Marion and Junction City.

The second session, Friday night, will begin at 6:30 o'clock when the Linville boys meet Downsville. Then at 7:45 the Farmerville girls play the Bernice girls, with the session ending after the Bernice and Junction City boys' game.

Semi - finals are scheduled for Saturday afternoon, with consolation and championship games Saturday night. The Marion and Bernice boys are favored in the boys' division, with Linville and Bernice in the girls'.

The officials for the tournament are John and Warren Haile.

Central Tourney Accepts Entries Until Thursday

PINEVILLE, La., Feb. 6 (Special) — Fifteen basketball teams from nine high schools have filed early entries for the 33rd annual Central Louisiana High School Basketball Tournament which is to be held at Louisiana College, Friday and Saturday, February 19 and 20.

Tioga's Class A boys and girls, always strong in the tournament, are the first entries in that division. Tioga girls were Class B champions in 1953.

Entries in Class B division are Dry Prong, boys and girls: Buckeye, boys and girls; Acadia Baptist Academy, boys. In Class C entries have been received from Oak Grove High of Converse, boys and girls. Oak Grove boys were defending champions in 1953 and have always been strong contenders. Other entries in Class C are Noble High School, boys; Georgetown High School, boys and girls, always strong contenders; Forest Hill High School, boys; and Elizabeth High School, boys and girls.

The entry deadline for the rally has been set at midnight February 10. Principals and coaches will meet at the college annex on Friday, February 12, at 2 o'clock, to make pairings in A, B, and C divisions, boys and girls. All entries should be in not later than February 10.

The Class A tournament will be run on an invitational basis. B and C teams, boys and girls, will qualify to enter state.

Four gymnasiums will be used for the contest this year—Louisiana College gym, Bolton gym, Tioga gym, and the C.Y.O. center.

Louisiana State Tackle, Harris, Joining Demons

NATCHITOCHES, La., Feb. 6 (AP)—Bill Harris, 235-pound tackle from Bossier City, transferred from Louisiana State University to Northwestern State College, the college said today.

Harris, who is a senior with a year's football eligibility remaining, was on LSU's starting team last season. NSC officials said his transfer had nothing to do with his classroom work.

Harris was drafted by the professional New York Giants of the National League but decided to finish his college career at Northwestern.

Heard, Nash Tie For First Place In M'Guire Play

Loy Heard and Clyde Nash came in with 71s yesterday to tie for first place in a Canadian sweepstakes tournament conducted by pro Leonard Warren at McGuire Park Golf Club.

Trailing in third place, one stroke behind Loy Heard and Nash was Hilton Heard with a 72.

Others participating in the event were A. C. Williams, president of McGuire club, and E. J. Miller, Kenneth Holt, Jimmy Green, Everett E. Lawson, Dick Watkins, A. H. Jacobs, O. W. Smith, J. E. Peters, "Buster" Parker, Vic David, M. K. Smith, Howard Scott, and Bill King.

Outfielder Dick Sinovic, who will receive a spring trial with the Braves, led the Southern Associations in runs batted in, hits and total bases during the 1953 season.

7-Man Committee Of Minor Leagues Meets This Week

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 (AP)—Minor league baseball's seven-man study committee, instituted to make recommendations toward constitutional revisions and other problems, will meet here next week.

The committee, composed of one official from each classification, will open a three-day meeting Monday. There was no indication what problems it would investigate.

George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, was expected here Sunday to take part in the first day's session.

The committee held its first meeting in Dallas, Tex., Jan. 8-10.

Members of the committee are chairman Leslie M. O'Conner, counsel for the open classification Pacific Coast League; Ed Doherty, of the AAA American Association; Allen Russell of the AA Texas League; Dick Butler of the A Sally League; Howard Green of the B Big State League; Edmond Deramee of the C Evangeline League; and C. C. Hoffman of the D Mississippi-Ohio Valley League.

Shoemaker Registers 1,700th In 5 Years

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 6 (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker rode the 1700th winner today in a career spanning less than five years. His latest victory came in the final race of the day, when the Silent Shoe booted in Annuit Coeptis in a mile and one furlong.

It was also a big day for the veteran Johnny Longden, who rode Indian Hemp, the On Trust Handicap winner, and two others.

"Pepsi-Cola Awards Salesman Of The Month"

George Sellers was awarded "Salesman of The Month Honors" for his efforts during the month of January. For these efforts Sellers received a beautiful Bulova Watch.

When the watch was presented Sellers By J. E. Tripp, Jr., Manager of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co., Tripp stated that he planned to carry such a program throughout the year.

In presenting the award, Tripp further stated that he felt the importance of bringing before the public the caliber of salesmen employed by Pepsi-Cola. George Sellers is a good example of the type men that represent our product. Sellers' ability as a productive salesman has been proven in the past month. He is a home owner in the Twin Cities and resides at 3215 Breville Street.

In conclusion, Tripp stated that the future growth of Pesi-Cola in this market could not be questioned with men like George Sellers representing us in the trade.

Curtises, Indian Trio Meet Kelly Tag Three

A triple tag team match is on tap at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night, when Jack and George Curtis add a third partner, Indian Chief Apache to their high-rated relay team, and engage "Irish Jack" Kelly, Elmer Davis, and a third "to-be-selected" teammate, in a two-falls-to-win feature bout.

Jack and George, especially the former, are thoroughly disgruntled over the outcome of their last Tuesday's match against the Kelly-Davis combine in the tag feature, and have challenged the two huskies to a return bout this week, plus whoever they want to pick as a third team member to vie with the Curtis Chief addition.

Kallio's Arena hasn't had six men together on the mat since the Curtises and Bill Barney teamed up against Kelly, "Big Boy" Cronin, and Pat Willis in what turned out to be one of the most crowd-pleasing tussles in local wrestling history.

Kelly, derisive of the Curtises and their extra partner, says he's not afraid of any Indian — Apache, Blackfoot, Sioux, or what have you, and that Jack and George themselves acted more like Indians themselves in recent matches, warwhooping and cackling like a hen when they won a fall.

Again, the identity of Kelly's third team member is a mystery until match-time, as the Irishman, for the second consecutive week, has had the privilege of choosing his own team. It paid off last time, when he lived up to his boast that if he could bring a mate of his own selection, they'd whip the Curtis boys.

They did so it will be quite interesting to see how he makes out when he brings his three-man team here Tuesday.

Two short preliminaries, between opposing team members, will serve as warmups for two-thirds of the main-eventers. Both matches are of the one-fall, ten-minute-time-limit variety, the first of which begins at 8:15.

West Monroyan Bill Barney is slated to officiate for the evening.

Mantle Expects Aid Of Crutch For Two Weeks

Mickey, who is 22, was met by his 17-year-old twin brothers, Ray and Roy, to return him by motor car to his home at Commerce, Okla.

Mantle will be on crutches for about two weeks and will return to the hospital for treatment two or three times a week but expects to be able to leave for spring training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1.

His last operation was to remove a cyst from the back of his right knee, the same knee from which a torn cartilage was removed last November.

Richmond Owner Under Pressure, Finds New Name

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 6. (AP) — Richmond's new International League baseball team won't be nicknamed the "Confederates," after all. Team owner Harry C. Seibold announced tonight that "numerous complaints" have led him to change the name to the "Virginians."

Seibold said he had received letters and telephone calls "by the hundreds" from all over Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina "and even a northern state or two" objecting to the "Confederates" label.

"These people said they objected to the 'commercialization' of the word which to them has an honored place in memory," the Richmond franchise owner said. "I see no use in inviting trouble. The last thing I want to do is offend anyone, so after due consideration, I have decided to change the nickname."

The "Virginians" was the tag applied to Richmond's entry in the original International League before the turn of the century. It ought not to offend anyone, Siebold said.

Seibold was deluged with complaints even though before choosing "Confederates" as the original nickname, he had obtained the blessing of the local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

He said opposition came not only from racial groups offended by the nickname but from "a lot of otherwise disinterested persons who thought we would be capitalizing on something near and dear to them."

SLADE VS. HENRY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—Promoter Goldie Ahearn announced today he has signed Jimmy Slade of New York and Clarence Henry of Los Angeles for a 10-round light heavyweight fight in the Capital Arena here Feb. 17. The bout will be televised nationally (9 p.m., CST) over the Columbia Network.

Mario Picone, pitching hopeful for the Giants, works as a stevedore during the off-season.

Ex-Caddy Shows Old Pros How In Phoenix Tourney

Bob Inman Takes Charge As Better Known Stars Fade

By BOB MYERS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 6 (AP) — Young Bob Inman, an ex-caddy from Tulsa, Okla., caught and passed three of the finest professionals in the business and took the lead at the end of 54 holes in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament today with a total score of 200.

The 26-year-old player shot a five-under-par 66 and goes into the final round tomorrow 13 strokes under par.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., former National Open champion, took a 68 and ended up one stroke behind Inman.

Inman, who learned about golf as a caddy on this course—the Phoenix Country Club with par 36-35—71—started the third round one stroke behind Middlecoff; the Australian star, Peter Thomson and Canada's Stan Leonard.

At the wind-up before the largest Saturday crowd in the tournament's history, the 136-pounder from Oklahoma was on top, Middlecoff second, Leonard was in fourth place and Thomson was tied for fifth.

Leonard shot a 70 and Thomson a 71.

John Weizel, Hershey, Pa., another newcomer to prominence, fired a 67 for 202.

Thomson was tied with Ed Furgol, St. Louis, Mo., who shot a brilliant 65, and Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex., who had a 69.

Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., came in with a 66 for 205 and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Fred Haas, New Orleans, were tied at 206. Furgol had a 67 and Ferrier and Haas 70s.

Lloyd Mangrum, seeking his third straight victory here, got back into the running with a 64, in what he called "the best round I've had all winter—make it a year." But Mangrum still was tied at 208 with Bob Toski, Livingston, N. J.; Johnny Bulla, Verona, Pa.; Al Brosch, Garden City, N. Y.; Manuel De La Torre, Milwaukee, Wis., and Jack Fleck, Davenport, Iowa.

The leaders:

Bob Inman, Tulsa, Okla., 69-65-66—200
Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., 68-65-68—201
John Weitzel, Hershey, Pa., 66-69-67—202

Sunshine Park Enjoys Record Making Program

OLDSMAR, Fla., Feb. 6 (AP) — Sunshine Park's track set a new record mutuel handle today when an estimated [illegible] bettors wagered $2[illegible].918.

The old betting mark was $235,918, set last season.

Meliza, owned by Edison Smith and George Steele, won the feature $2,500 Handicap, setting a new track record of 1.42 4-5 for the mile and 70 yards. The old record was set at the old Tampa Downs track by Duval Easy in 1926. The new mark clips off 1-5th of a second.

The winner, which paid $7.10 on a win ticket, finished ahead of Top Spring by a length and a quarter. Papa Felix finished third.

Willie Mays Due Out Of Service Feb. 26

FORT EUSTIS, Va., Feb. 6 (AP)— Willie Mays, New York Giants centerfielder, left Ft. Eustis today to begin a week's furlough prior to being released from the army Feb. 26.

The National League rookie of the year in 1951 will return to the army's transportation center here Feb. 15 to begin personal processing prior to being discharged.

Mays will join the Giants at their spring training site at Phoenix, Ariz., upon his discharge.

Coon Hunters Meet Here

The third annual championship Wild Coon Hunt, sponsored by the coonhunters' magazine, Mountain Music, comes back to Ouachita Parish this year for a four - day show, beginning Wednesday at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe.

Eddie Ross, Monroe, publisher of the sponsoring magazine, last night said 21 states already are listed among entries for the event which will qualify the ten top dogs in the registered class for championship points by the National Coonhunters Assocation.

The defending champions will be back, including the best in the grade dog class last year.

Bill Culbertson, Benton, La., will return with "Choctaw," the hound that won first place in the registered class in 1953, and Joe Boy Griffin of Oklahoma will return with his second place hound.

Hovie Cromer, Alexander City, Ala., who showed "Rock" as the best grade hound last year, has the same dog back, and his chief challenger, entered by B. O. Pate, Ringgold, will return.

Numerous other contenders, expected to about double last year's list of challengers, will be on hand to offer a threat of new champions.

Ross announced the program for the week as follows:

Wednesday - Registration at Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds. Breeders' night to show dogs in woods.

Thursday — Hunt starts. All dogs ready to go at 7:30 p.m. Four dogs to each race.

Friday — N. C. A.- sponsored bench show, 1 p.m., Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds with championship points to U. K. C. registered dogs. Night trials in woods with dogs ready to start at 6 p.m.

Saturday — Dogs take to woods at 6 p.m. Awarding of trophies and ribbons after night's races.

Registered and non - registered (grade) dogs will be hunted separately. Trophies will go to the first and second place winners in both divisions. Third place winners will receive rosettes.

Master of hounds will be Robert Graves, Alexander City, Ala.

Officers of the N. C. A. bench show, open to black and tans, blueticks, English, Plott, redbone and treeing walkers, are C. T. Swinehart, president, Apple Creek, O.; Harry G. Masser, vice-president, Blue Ridge Summitt, Pa.; and George A. Jaycox, secretary-treasurer, Grafton, O.

Ross has trophies valued at over $200 ready for distribution.

Alabama Mentor Defends Georgia Of Rupp's Blast

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 6 (AP) —Johnny Dee, Alabama basketball coach, today criticized Kentucky's Adolph Rupp for belittling Georgia's team.

"Georgia does him a favor so he can have a full 14-game Southeastern Conference schedule, and he not only murders them 106-55, but then he calls them names," Dee commented in an interview with Benny Marshall, Birmingham News assistant sports editor.

Rupp was quoted at Owensboro, Ky., yesterday as saying his Kentucky team was the "finest ever assembled in the United States."

He also said that playing Georgia is as "ridiculous as kissing your own sister," and added that Kentucky's schedule is among the toughest possible.

DENY QUOTES

OWENSBORO, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP) —Coaches Adolph Rupp of Kentucky and Harbin (Red) Lawson of Georgia jointly denied here today that Rupp had made any derogatory reference to the University of Georgia basketball team.

Both coaches told the Associated Press that Rupp was misquoted in a speech he made here last night.

Rupp had nothing to say on reported criticism of himself by Alabama coach Johnny Dee.

"That guy must be choking when he says that his team is the greatest ever," Dee commented. "How can he tell? He hasn't played anyone.

"He talks about 'Poor old Georgia' being weak opposition. Who scheduled them?

"Georgia replaced the one team in the top 20 that should have been on their schedule, LSU—pretty good deal. Anybody in the conference would rather have Georgia twice than LSU once.

"Georgia does him a favor so he can have a full 14-game Southeastern Conference schedule, and he not only murders them 106-55 but then he calls them names.

"He says Kentucky has played the toughest schedule in the country. Maybe he hasn't looked around enough.

"LSU, Tulane and my own Alabama team have tougher schedules than he has, right in his own conference. In fact, we asked them for an extra game next year to open our season, and they refused. Guess he wants a little more of teams like Xavier and Temple."

"Mr. Rupp has seen a lot more basketball than I have and if he thinks his team is the greatest ever I'd just like to know what that will make us, just in case we should beat him," the former Notre Dame player continued.

Alabama plays Kentucky here March 1.

Reminded Rupp's reaction to such criticism might be severe, Dee answered:

"I don't think anything I might say would infuriate them more than they are. They seem to be pretty mad at everybody.

"But he'd better get us the next year or so if he's going to, after that it will be too late."

Name Quaker Town In Thorpe's Honor

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 6 (AP)— The body of Jim Thorpe, athlete, taken from its Indian burial place in Oklahoma, will arrive in this eastern Pennsylvania community Monday en route to final resting place in nearby Mauch Chunk.

The body of the Indian football, baseball and track star, named the outstanding athlete of the first 50 years of the 20th century in an Associated Press poll, will be taken by motorcade from Allentown to Mauch Chunk.

The city of Mauch Chunk, and neighboring East Mauch Chunk, are to be renamed "Jim Thorpe, Pa." in honor of the Carlisle Indian School hero.

Elixir Captures McLennan Dash, Returns $38.70

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6 (AP) — Dave J. Schneider's Elixir sped through the stretch to overtake the leaders today and win the $72,400 McLennan Handicap at Hialeah Park before the season's biggest crowd of 26,347.

Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale finished second, half a length back, but the stewards lodged an objection and dropped him to last in the field of 16 starters.

That put Sam Tufano's Wise Margin second and Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem third.

Elixer, a six-year-old gelding ridden by Sammy Boulmetis and carrying only 110 pounds, was fourth turning for home in the mile and a furlong feature, but closed with a rush to beat the tiring leaders.

Elixir earned $53,800 and ran the mile and an eighth in 1:49 flat over a fast track. He paid $38.70, $22.30 and $11.30. Wise Margin returned $25.60 and $14.10 while Royal Bay Gem paid $14.50 to show.

Royal Vale with Jack Westrope riding carried top weight of 126 pounds. Valley Farm's Impasse was the favorite at 9-5.

Royal Vale was disqualified for lugging in early in the stretch run, causing crowding among the other horses.

Joe Bertrand, senior high scoring forward, was the first Negro to win a basketball letter at Notre Dame.

Brennan Picks 2 Of Six Aides In Rebuilding Staff

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 6 (AP)— Terry Brennan, Notre Dame's new 25-year-old head football coach, today began reorganization of the Irish staff by retaining two of resigned Frank Leahy's six assistants.

They are Johnny Druze, 39, end coach, and Bill Earley, 32, backfield assistant.

Brennan said he has "two outside people definitely in mind" to complete his varsity staff and may pick one other of Leahy's assistants for a "B" or freshman team assignment.

It is reported Brennan may choose for varsity assistants two Chicago Catholic high school League coaches. One is Ed Mieszkowski, his assistant when Brennan directed Mount Carmel to an unprecedented three straight (1950-51-52) Chicago prep school titles.

Mieszkowski now is Mount Carmel head coach. The other is Max Burnell, coach of St. George high's 1953 Chicago champions. Both Mieszkowski and Burnell are Notre Dame products.

Appointment of Druze and Earley was announced by Athletic Director Edward W. Krause, who made no mention of Leahy's four other assistants, former All - America quarterback Johnny Lujack, 42-year-old Joe McArdle; Bob McBride; and Wally Ziemba.

McArdle, who like Druze had followed Leahy to Notre Dame in 1941 from Boston College, said he would step out of the Irish picture when Leahy's resignation was announced last Sunday.

When Leahy's stunning decision was made known, Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, said any of his assistants who were not retained would receive a year's salary.

In Chicago, Lujack told reporters he "definitely" will not coach next year because he wants to devote all his time to his insurance business.

"I thought about it long before Frank resigned," said Lujack, "and decided that I just couldn't afford to split up the year into two businesses."

Cubs Need Only Six To Complete Roster

CHICAGO, Feb. 6 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today signed veteran catcher Clyde McCullough for 1954, leaving only six of 39 players unsigned on the club's roster.

McCullough, 35, appeared in 77 games for the Cubs last season and batted .258. He broke into the majors with the Cubs in 1940 and excepting a 1949 to 1952 stint with the Pittsburgh Pirates has played for no other big league team.

Ezzard Charles, former world's heavyweight champion, owns apartment houses in his home town, Cincinnati.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6. (AP)— Roedna, a stretch - running charger from the Red Head stables, came from dead last today to score a three - length victory in the $10,000-added Louisiana Handicap at the Fair Grounds.

Ahead of only one horse as the seven - horse field swung into the stretch, Roedna was taken into the middle of the track by jockey Ovie Scurlock and won going away as the early pace-setters, B. W. Landy's Betsy T and Ivan Peat's Sun Tan Tal, began to tire.

Roedna turned the mile and one sixteenth in 1:45 flat, the fastest time of the season over the middle distance route. It was 1 1-5 seconds off the track record.

Overlooked by the 12,000 fans who established Sam E. Wilson's Bugledrums the favorite, Roedna returned $11.80, $6.40 and $4.20. W. Hal Bishop's Pipe of Peace made a strong bid in the stretch to finish second and paid $5.20 and $3.40, with Bugledrums hanging on to place and return $3.20.

Roedna was in last place by five lengths as the field swept through the back stretch.

Scurlock began moving the brown gelding up as the field made the final turn and gave the Red Head stable colorbearer his head at the top of the stretch to finish going away.

Smoke Screen, one of the nation's leading handicap stars last year, was a late scratch and threw the race wide open.

Roedna collected $8,725 of the $12,225 gross purse.

The G and S stables' favored four - year - old Money Broker, whose last victory was in the $100,000 - added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park last March, made his first start in nine months in the six-furlong $2,800 Baggenbaggage Purse and finished fifth in the seven-horse field. The winner of the secondary feature was J. F. Beck's lightly regarded Judge Lane who paid $13.80.

Henry Forrest's five - year - old Hatfield, winner of the fifth race at $8.40, and the Golden Maxim stables' Dania, making his first start a winning one at $11.40, combined for a daily double payoff of $133.80.

Slate Special Bus For Tribe Scrap At Tech

Sigma Alpha Chi fraternity of Northeast Louisiana State will sponsor a special round trip bus to Ruston Wednesday evening for the Northeast - Louisiana Tech basketball game, it was announced here last night. Northeast nosed out the Bulldogs in their last meeting here, 65-61, on January 11.

Reservations for the bus trip will be taken tomorrow in the foyer of Brown Hall at Northeast. The round trip fare will be one dollar. The bus will leave Brown Hall Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, and return shortly after the game.

Earlier, coach Arnold Kilpatrick will take his Northeast cagers to Natchitoches tomorrow night for a second meeting this season with the Northwestern Louisiana State Demons. The high-flying Demons defeated the Redskins, 82-65, here on January 5.

California Club Bids For Paige's Service

MODESTO, Calif., Feb. 6 (AP)— President Tom Mellis of the Modesto Reds said today Satchell Paige, veteran Negro pitcher, will be offered $10,000 to play for the Class C California Baseball League club this season.

"We are serious about this," Mellis said. "Paige not only would be a great drawing card for us, but he would win a lot of games in this league."

Karmazin Added To Tulane Staff As Line Mentor

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6 (AP) — Michael L. (Mike) Karmazin, an assistant on the North Carolina State coaching staff, was named line coach at Tulane today.

Karmazin, a star tackle on Duke's 1941 Rose Bowl team, will share line coaching duties with newly-appointed Jack Green, ex-Army great named to the Tulane staff last week.

Karmazin went from Duke to the Coast Guard and played two seasons of professional football with the old New York Yankees. He served on the Duke staff three years and two at North Carolina State.

Tulane added two men to its five-man varsity staff under head coach Raymond (Bear) Wolf to replace the freshmen coaches. Last year the freshmen worked with the varsity, but freshmen will not be eligible for varsity play in the Southeastern Conference next season.

Ex-Caddy Shows Old Pros How In Phoenix Tourney

Bob Inman Takes Charge As Better Known Stars Fade

By BOB MYERS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 6 (AP)—Young Bob Inman, an ex-caddy from Tulsa, Okla., caught and passed three of the finest professionals in the business and took the lead at the end of 54 holes in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament today with a total score of 200.

The 26-year-old player shot a five-under-par 66 and goes into the final round tomorrow 13 strokes under par.

Cary Midlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., former National Open champion, took a 68 and ended up one stroke behind Inman.

Inman, who learned about golf as a caddy on this course—the Phoenix Country Club with par 36-35—71—started the third round one stroke behind Middlecoff; the Australian star, Peter Thomson and Canada's Stan Leonard.

At the wind-up before the largest Saturday crowd in the tournament's history, the 136-pounder from Oklahoma was on top, Middlecoff second, Leonard was in fourth place and Thomson was tied for fifth.

Leonard shot a 70 and Thomson a 71.

John Weizel, Hershey, Pa., another newcomer to prominence, fired a 67 for 202.

Thomson was tied with Ed Furgol, St. Louis, Mo., who shot a brilliant 65, and Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex., who had a 69.

Jack Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., came in with a 66 for 205 and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, and Fred Haas, New Orleans, were tied at 206. Furgol had a 67 and Ferrier and Haas 70s.

Lloyd Mangrum, seeking his third straight victory here, got back into the running with a 64, in what he called "the best round I've had all winter—make it a year." But Mangrum still was tied at 208 with Bob Toski, Livingston, N. J.; Johnny Bulla, Verona, Pa.; Al Brosch, Garden City, N. Y.; Manuel De La Torre, Milwaukee, Wis., and Jack Fleck, Davenport, Iowa.

The leaders:

Bob Inman, Tulsa, Okla., 69-65-66—200
Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., 68-65-68—201
John Weitzel, Hershey, Pa., 66-69-67—202

Sunshine Park Enjoys Record Making Program

OLDSMAR, Fla., Feb. 6 (AP)—Sunshine Park track set a new record mutuel handle today when an estimated 4,500 betters wagered $2[illegible]0,918.

The old betting mark was $235,918, set last season.

Metiza, owned by Edison Smith and George Steele, won the feature $2,500 Handicap, setting a new track record of 1:42 4-5 for the mile and 70 yards. The old record was set at the old Tampa Downs track by Duval Early in 1926. The new mark clips off 1-5th of a second.

The winner, which paid $7.10 on a win ticket, finished ahead of Top Spring by a length and a quarter. Papa Felix finished third.

Willie Mays Due Out Of Service Feb. 26

FORT EUSTIS, Va., Feb. 6 (AP)—Willie Mays, New York Giants centerfielder, left Ft. Eustis today to begin a week's furlough prior to being released from the army Feb. 26.

The National League rookie of the year in 1951 will return to the army's transportation center here Feb. 15 to begin personal processing prior to being discharged.

Mays will join the Giants at their spring training site at Phoenix, Ariz., upon his discharge.

Coon Hunters Meet Here

The third annual championship Wild Coon Hunt, sponsored by the coonhunters' magazine, Mountain Music, comes back to Ouachita Parish this year for a four-day show, beginning Wednesday at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds, West Monroe.

Eddie Ross, Monroe, publisher of the sponsoring magazine, last night said 21 states already are listed among entries for the event which will qualify the ten top dogs in the registered class for championship points by the National Coonhunters Assocation.

The defending champions will be back, including the best in the grade dog class last year.

Bill Culbertson, Benton, La., will return with "Choctaw," the hound that won first place in the registered class in 1953, and Joe Boy Griffin of Oklahoma will return with his second place hound.

Hovie Cromer, Alexander City, Ala., who showed "Rock" as the best grade hound last year, has the same dog back, and his chief challenger, entered by B. O. Pate, Ringgold, will return.

Numerous other contenders, expected to about double last year's list of challengers, will be on hand to offer a threat of new champions.

Ross announced the program for the week as follows:

Wednesday — Registration at Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds. Breeders' night to show dogs in woods.

Thursday — Hunt starts. All dogs ready to go at 7:30 p.m. Four dogs to each race.

Friday — N. C. A.-sponsored bench show, 1 p.m., Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds with championship points to U. K. C. registered dogs. Night trials in woods with dogs ready to start at 6 p.m.

Saturday — Dogs take to woods at 6 p.m. Awarding of trophies and ribbons after night's races.

Registered and non-registered (grade) dogs will be hunted separately. Trophies will go to the first and second place winners in both divisions. Third place winners will receive rosettes.

Master of hounds will be Robert Graves, Alexander City, Ala.

Officers of the N. C. A. bench show, open to black and tans, blueticks, English, Plott, redbone and treeing walkers, are C. T. Swinehart, president, Apple Creek, O.; Harry G. Masser, vice-president, Blue Ridge Summitt, Pa.; and George A. Jaycox, secretary-treasurer, Grafton, O.

Ross has trophies valued at over $200 ready for distribution.

Alabama Mentor Defends Georgia Of Rupp's Blast

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 6 (AP)—Johnny Dee, Alabama basketball coach, today criticized Kentucky's Adolph Rupp for belittling Georgia's team.

"Georgia does him a favor so he can have a full, 14-game Southeastern Conference schedule, and he not only murders them 106-55, but then he calls them names," Dee commented in an interview with Benny Marshall, Birmingham News assistant sports editor.

Rupp was quoted at Owensboro, Ky., yesterday as saying his Kentucky team was the "finest ever assembled in the United States."

He also said that playing Georgia is as "ridiculous as kissing your own sister," and added that Kentucky's schedule is among the toughest possible.

DENY QUOTES

OWENSBORO, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)—Coaches Adolph Rupp of Kentucky and Harbin (Red) Lawson of Georgia jointly denied here today that Rupp had made any derogatory reference to the University of Georgia basketball team.

Both coaches told the Associated Press that Rupp was misquoted in a speech he made here last night.

Rupp had nothing to say on reported criticism of himself by Alabama coach Johnny Dee.

"That guy must be choking when he says that his team is the greatest ever," Dee commented. "How can he tell? He hasn't played anyone."

"He talks about 'Poor old Georgia' being weak opposition. Who scheduled them?

"Georgia replaced the one team in the top 20 that should have been on their schedule, LSU—pretty good deal. Anybody in the conference would rather have Georgia twice than LSU once.

"Georgia does him a favor so he can have a full, 14-game Southeastern Conference schedule, and he not only murders them 106-55 but then he calls them names.

"He says Kentucky has played the toughest schedule in the country. Maybe he hasn't looked around enough.

"LSU, Tulane and my own Alabama team have tougher schedules than he has, right in his own conference. In fact, we asked them for an extra game next year to open our season, and they refused. Guess he wants a little more of teams like Xavier and Temple."

"Mr. Rupp has seen a lot more basketball than I have and if he thinks his team is the greatest ever, I'd just like to know what that will make us, just in case we should beat him," the former Notre Dame player continued.

Alabama plays Kentucky here March 1.

Reminded Rupp's reaction to such criticism might be severe, Dee answered:

"I don't think anything I might say would infuriate them more than they are. They seem to be pretty mad at everybody.

"But he'd better get us the next year or so if he's going to, after that it will be too late."

Jon Mask bowled first and second place individual high score for the third consecutive week. His scores were 172 and 167. Terry Reeves rolled third high game of 166. Jack Sedberry and Gene Barham tied for fourth high game with 157 each.

High individual series was bowled by Mask with a 489. Second high was Sedberry who rolled a 430. Donald Spatafora was third with a 420.

High team series was bowled by Hill Lumber with 2070. Second high was Eureka with 2004. Third was Charles Building and Supply with a 1935.

Hill Lumber and Supply took two out of three from Eureka. Jon Mask held high game and high series for Hill Lumber and Supply. Terry Reeves held high game and Southerland held high series for Eureka.

Charles Building and Supply took three out of three from the newly sponsored Robert C. Ervin Insurance team. Webb held high game and Freddy Spatafora held high series for Charles. Donald Spatafora held both high game and high series for Robert C. Ervin Insurance.

City Bakery took three of three from Bond's Bakery. Goldman held high game and Weinberg held high series for City Bakery. Robinson held high game and high series for Bond's Bakery.

Name Quaker Town In Thorpe's Honor

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 6 (AP)—The body of Jim Thorpe, athlete, taken from its Indian burial place in Oklahoma, will arrive in this eastern Pennsylvania community Monday en route to final resting place in nearby Mauch Chunk.

The body of the Indian football, baseball and track star, named the outstanding athlete of the first 50 years of the 20th century in an Associated Press poll, will be taken by motorcade from Allentown to Mauch Chunk.

The city of Mauch Chunk, and neighboring East Mauch Chunk, are to be renamed "Jim Thorpe, Pa." in honor of the Carlisle Indian School hero.

Elixir Captures McLennan Dash, Returns $38.70

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 6 (AP) — Dave J. Schneider's Elixir sped through the stretch to overtake the leaders today and win the $72,400 McLennan Handicap at Hialeah Park before the season's biggest crowd of 26,347.

Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's Royal Vale finished second, half a length back, but the stewards lodged an objection and dropped him to last in the field of 16 starters.

That put Sam Tufano's Wise Margin second and Eugene Constantin Jr.'s Royal Bay Gem third.

Elixer, a six-year-old gelding ridden by Sammy Boulmetis and carrying only 110 pounds, was fourth turning for home in the mile and a furlong feature, but closed with a rush to beat the tiring leaders.

Elixir earned $53,800 and ran the mile and an eighth in 1:49 flat over a fast track. He paid $38.70, $22.30 and $11.30. Wise Margin returned $25.60 and $14.10 while Royal Bay Gem paid $14.50 to show.

Royal Vale with Jack Westrope riding carried top weight of 126 pounds. Valley Farm's Impasse was the favorite at 9-5.

Royal Vale was disqualified for lugging in early in the stretch run, causing crowding among the other horses.

Joe Bertrand, senior high scoring forward, was the first Negro to win a basketball letter at Notre Dame.

The winner of the secondary feature was J. F. Beck's lightly regarded Judge Lane who paid $13.80.

Brennan Picks 2 Of Six Aides In Rebuilding Staff

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 6 (AP)—Terry Brennan, Notre Dame's new 25-year-old head football coach, today began reorganization of the Irish staff by retaining two of resigned Frank Leahy's six assistants.

They are Johnny Druze, 39, end coach, and Bill Earley, 32, backfield assistant.

Brennan said he has "two outside people definitely in mind" to complete his varsity staff and may pick one other of Leahy's assistants for a "B" or freshman team assignment.

It is reported Brennan may choose for varsity assistants two Chicago Catholic high school League coaches. One is Ed Mieszkowski, his assistant when Brennan directed Mount Carmel to an unprecedented three straight (1950-51-52) Chicago prep school titles.

Mieszkowski now is Mount Carmel head coach. The other is Max Burnell, coach of St. George high's 1953 Chicago champions. Both Mieszkowski and Burnell are Notre Dame products.

Appointment of Druze and Earley was announced by Athletic Director Edward W. Krause, who made no mention of Leahy's four other assistants, former All-America quarterback Johnny Lujack, 42-year-old Joe McArdle; Bob McBride; and Wally Ziemba.

McArdle, who like Druze had followed Leahy to Notre Dame in 1941 from Boston College, said he would step out of the Irish picture when Leahy's resignation was announced last Sunday.

When Leahy's stunning decision was made known, Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, said any of his assistants who were not retained would receive a year's salary.

In Chicago, Lujack told reporters he "definitely" will not coach next year because he wants to devote all his time to his insurance business.

"I thought about it long before Frank resigned," said Lujack, "and decided that I just couldn't afford to split up the year into two businesses."

Quachita Boys, Baskin Girls Tournament Winners

Lions Beat Eros, 47-42; Baskin's 6 Tag Chiefs, 60-34

By TED HECKATHORN

The Ouachita Parish High School boys team and the Baskin High girls emerged as the Northeast State College Basketball Tournament winners last night; the Lion five defeating Eros in their division finals, 47-42; and the strong Baskin sextette rolling over Calhoun, 60-34 in the girls' section championship tussle.

It was Larry Barnes, ace Ouachita veteran, who cut loose in the second quarter of the boys' final with 15 of his game-high 27 points, to give the Lions a lead they never relinquished.

After a nip-and-tuck first period, with the score knotted at 9-9, Barnes began to hit from all angles, to give his team a 28-15 halftime advantage.

Eros cut the lead to five points in the third quarter, which ended with the Lions still leading, but only by 33-27. Barnes could hit for only four points in this quarter, as the inspired Eros quintet, with their close guard, made him hurry his shots for constant misses. But those four points, plus a free throw, were all the maroon-clads could garner in the third, while Eros was tallying a dozen.

In the fourth, Glynn Russell took up the Lion net-swishing chores, and sank three consecutive goals, to keep the Lions ahead and roll up a 45-33 lead with only a minute to go.

Three dying-second Eros field goals made the final score fairly close, and gave the losers a total of 27 points for the second half to Ouachita's 19.

Eros' G. W. Crowell was second high in the point-making department to Barnes, dropping in 16. He was also the losers' chief rebounder and hardest-working floorman. Ouachita's Russell was third in total points, with 14, closely followed by guard Harold Pesnell, of Eros, who had 13.

Doyle Holstead and Johnny Maroney controlled the boards for the Lions, along with Barnes, whose fine defensive talents are sometimes overlooked because of his consistent sharpshooting. Little Lion "holler guy", Billy Smith, was the scrappiest player and outstanding ballhawk for the winners.

The Calhoun girls gave favored askin a rough time the first half f their title show. Trailing 17-11 t the end of the first period, the crappy Chieftains closed the gap 23-22 late in the second and ft the floor at intermission trailing only 27-24. But in the third uarter Baskin's Alice Humphries it for three consecutive goals and free throw to spark her team to 42-26 lead at the end of the period. In the fourth, it was Betty uth Jarrette's five field goals hat enabled the Baskin winners to crease their lead.

Barbara Coon led the losers, who ought like wildcats all the way, ith 22 points, while Misses Humhries and Jarrette shared gameigh honors for Baskin with 23 piece. Ruby Coronado and Alice ammond, Baskin, were outstanding on defense as was Betty Fay arnes of Calhoun.

The Ouachita quintet gained the oys' final by virtue of a 46-43 in over Ogden.

Behind at halftime, 22-21, the ions outscored Ogden by four oints in the second half. Barnes d the Lions' attack with 27 points, nd teammate Doyle Holstead was ext with 10. Fain, a sharpshooting gden forward, was high for the sers with 18.

In the girls' consolation tussle e Ouachita sextet defeated the orest girls, 41-32. Leading all the ay the Lion lassies were paced Retha Norman who had 18 for ame honors. Jerry Stanford was gh for Forest with 17.

The one o'clock girls' semi-final und the unbeaten - this - season askin sextette defeating a defen- ve - minded Ouachita six, 39-19. Leading by ten points at inter- ission, the winners outscored the on lassies by 12 more in the final lf, and led at the close of every riod.

Tall Alice Humphries, of Baskin ored 21 points for game high, d Virginia Brunson led the los- s on offense with nine, though ard Charlotte Brown was the me outstanding defender.

the other girls semi, Calhoun lged Forest, last year's tourna- ent runner-up, 41-37.

The game was a thriller through- t, with Forest trying to catch up the first two periods, and fin- ly making it late in the third. eir momentum carried them st the Calhoun girls, and Forest at the end of the third by three ints, 33-30. The exciting fourth, which the score was knotted ee times, saw Calhoun's Bar- a Coon sinking two last minute u to decide the issue.

Diminutive Miss Coon, a scrappy r - worker all the way, was high with 24 Calhoun mark- ; while Mickey Drane led the rs with 17.

The Calhoun quintet didn't fare well in the first boys' semi- ls, losing to Eros, 46-30.

The Chieftains trailed at halftime 5, thanks to the skyscraping s rebounders, led by pivotman W. Crowell. Hard - working Joe ite, off his aim in the first rter, sank 11 of the Chiefs' 13 ond - period points, and wound h game honors of 17. Harold nell was high for the winners, h 14, closely followed by Bill loway, who had 13.

All - tournament teams, selected by game officials, were as follows:

Girls — Barbara Woods, Baskin, Lane West, Columbia, Barbara Coon, Calhoun, Kay McBride, Weston, Jerry Stanford, Forest, Betty Ruth Jarrette, Baskin, forwards; and Charlotte Brown, Ouachita, Alice Hammond, Baskin, Margie Ann Peacock, Forest, Betty Fay Barnes, Calhoun, Billie Crammer, Weston and Ruby Coronado, Baskin.

The boys' sportsmanship trophy was awarded to Chatham's George Moore, and to Rita Tullos, of the same school, for the girls. The sportsmanship awards were made by Ed Lockhart of Monroe.

Tigers Sock Wave, 66-47

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 6 (AP) — Louisiana State University turned its long range guns on Tulane tonight to explode a 66-47 victory and keep its Southeastern Conference basketball record intact.

With high scoring Bob Pettit surrounded most of the night by a three-man Tulane bodyguard, L.S.U. called on sharpshooters Benny McArdle and Don Belcher to pick up the scoring slack from outside and in the corner. McArdle and Belcher each got 13 points.

Pettit, who entered the game with a 33.2 average, went without a field goal in the first half, but managed to break away for 22 points before the game was over.

Big Bob's defensive rebounding, coupled with Ned Clark's efforts under the L.S.U. basket, made the difference.

A capacity crowd of about 11,000 —one of the largest ever to see a basketball game in the deep south —saw L.S.U. master Tulane at its own specialty: strategy.

L.S.U. played it slow and deliberate, measuring off each shot with the care of a surveyor. Tulane, using the fast break, rocked into a 7-0 lead in the first six minutes but lost ground steadily thereafter as Belcher and McArdle sent up a barrage of swishing set shots.

Trailing 43-26 in the third quarter, Tulane suddenly charged to a man-to-man defense and gave Pettit his opportunity to take over scoring honors for the night. The best for Tulane was guard Roy Stoll who had 14 points.

Determine Takes Top Spot In San Felipe Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 6 (AP) — Andy Crevolin's favored Determine drew to the front in the stretch to win by a length and one-half over a fast track in the $29,350 San Felipe Handicap for three-year-olds at Santa Anita Park today.

The place wound up in a dead heat between Travertine and Mr. Mustard in the 11-horse field. The winning time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:42 2-5.

A crowd of 48,000 under sunny skies watched the final tuneup for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Der by two weeks from today. They also saw Johnny Longden boot home Indian Hemp in the companion $15,000 On Trust Handicap.

The 8-5 favorite, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Find, finished out of the money in the prep for next week's $50,000 San Antonio Stakes and the richer Santa Anita Handicap on Feb. 27.

The winner went off a 2-1 choice and paid $6.30, $4 and $3.30. Travertine, owned by the Dormar stable and ridden by jockey Gordon Glisson, returned $5.20 and $6.10 and George Brent's Mr. Mustard paid $4.20 and $4.90 when the photo couldn't separate them.

Owned by Alberta ranches and trained by Longden's son, Vance, Indian Hemp made his move around the final turn and stood off the challenge of the King Ranch entry of Rejected and High Scud that took the place and show. Find finished a failing fourth.

Indian Hemp returned $7.10, $3.60 and $3.70 and the King Ranch entry $3.60 and $3.60.

Eastern Kentucky Upsets Unbeaten Hilltoppers, 63-54

RICHMOND, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)—Eastern Kentucky smacked Western Kentucky from the unbeaten ranks tonight with a 63-54 victory over the nation's fourth ranking team.

Eastern, with just 5 wins in 16 starts this season, avenged 122-78 and 81-78 defeats in two previous meetings with Western by employing a tight defense and setting up its offensive opportunities with the greatest care.

Western thus saw its 21-0 record, the best in basketball this season, spoiled in one of the major upsets of the year.

Eastern led by as much as 10 points early in the third period and saw it whittled to one at 52-51, but the Maroons came back and accomplished the reversal mostly on free throws. Just three field goals were hit in the wild final period.

SECOND PLACE TROPHY—The girls of Calhoun High School claimed the second place trophy in the 16th Northeast Invitational Basketball tourney here last night. Left to right, they are: Kneeling, Bobbie Ann Finley, Debbie Faye Baker, Dora Ann Garland, Helen Spillers, Nelda Nolan, Betty Barnes, and Captain Bobbie Coon, and, standing, Mary Alice Kilpatrick, Sue Thompson, Rachel Ann Williams, Betty Lee White, Sally Lou White, Pat Coon, Jackie Kinman, and Mrs. Joy Johnson, coach. Tinsley Gets 3-Year Pact

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 6 (AP) —The Louisiana State University board of supervisors today, voted 8-5 to grant head football coach Gaynell Tinsley a three-year contract.

The surprise action was taken after a five-hour executive session. Both Tinsley and agriculture dean J. G. Lee, chairman of the athletic council, were summoned to the closed door meeting.

The council, an advisory group on athletics comprising faculty, student and alumni representatives, previously recommended the coach be retained for another year.

Tinsley, an All-America end at LSU in the mid-30's, took over as head coach in 1948, after serving as an assistant to coach Bernie Moore. He has been retained from year to year by action of the council and board and without a formal contract.

In five seasons, Tinsley has a record of 27 victories, 20 losses and six ties. His 1949 eleven went to the Sugar Bowl, losing to Oklahoma 35-0.

Last year the 38-year-old coach posted a record of five victories, three losses and three ties. The previous year ended with three victories and seven losses.

The motion to give Tinsley a three-year contract was made by George Baillio of Lake Charles, but Louis Gottlieb of Baton Rouge made an alternate proposal he be kept for one year as the council had recommended.

The three-year plan carried, with Baillio, James McLemore of Alexandria, Mrs. Ella V. Schwing of Plaquemine, Tom Dutton of New Orleans, Horace Wilkinson Jr. of Port Allen, Thomas Leigh of Monroe and Theo Cangelosi and Mrs. Margaret Dixon of Baton Rouge voting for it.

Against were Gottlieb, John Doles of Plain Dealing, C. J. Dugas of Donaldsonville, and J. Stewart Slack and James Smitherman of Shreveport.

Homer Brinkley, a board member now residing in Washington, D. C., was absent.

Centenary Invading Alabama, Mississippi

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 6 (Special) —Centenary's Cents collide with two of their most rugged opponents Monday and Tuesday on a two-game road jaunt through Alabama and Mississippi.

Monday the Cents tangle with Spring Hill College in Mobile for the first time of the season and move back to Hattiesburg Tuesday night to engage powerful Mississippi Southern.

Both Southern and Spring Hill will return the trips later this month when the Southerners appear in Shreveport Feb. 13 and Spring Hill enters Haynes gym on Feb. 15.

Winnsboro Cagers Take Both Halves Of Tourney

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 6. (Special)—The Winnsboro High School boys and girls captured championships in each division of their own Winnsboro Invitational Basketball Tournament here tonight. The Wildcat girls sacked up the first title with a 67-36 win over Newellton's sextet, and the Winnsboro quintet followed by defeating Rayville, 59-42, in the boys' final.

All-State Glenda Bennett, Winnsboro forward, hooped 30 points in sparking the girls to victory, while Perritt, with 20 points, was Newellton's chief point - maker.

The Winnsboro boys were led by Morse with 17 points, and Newsome sparked Rayville with 12.

In today's girls' semi - finals, Winnsboro beat Crowville, 47-25, and Newellton measured Fort Necessity, 75-64.

The boys' semi-finals saw Rayville whip Central, 54-46, and Winnsboro beat Holly Ridge, 45-43, after quarter - final scraps in which Central eliminated Ferriday, 46-26; Rayville topped Fort Necessity, 56-41; Holly Ridge defeated Grayson, 61-34; and Winnsboro beat Crowville, 51-38.

All - tournament teams were named as follows:

Girls — Pylant, Crowville; Guthrie, Fort Necessity; Bennett, Winnsboro; Watson, Winnsboro; Perritt, Newellton; D. Williams, Winnsboro; Montgomery, Newellton; Adams, Ogden, S. Williams, Winnsbor; P. Cullum, Newellton, Loflin, Winnsboro; and G. Williams, Winnsboro.

Boys — Germany, Holly Ridge; Floyd, Grayson; Best, Holly Ridge; C. Moore, Fort Necessity; Gilbert, Central; Riser, Winnsboro; Morse, Winnsboro; Newsome, Rayville; Thomas, Rayville; and Huff, Winsnboro.

Trophies were presented first and second place winners.

Will Shoot For New Water Ski Distance

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb 6—UP—Babe Fox, 50-year old Chicago man, said Saturday he would attempt to set a new distance water ski record on a 540-mile trip from here to New Orleans.

Fox will leave Wednesday for the trip down the Red River and the Mississippi. He said he expected to cover the distance in 32 hours. The old record is 245 miles, he said.

Cage Comedians To Show In West Monroe Monday

West Monroe High School's inaugural comedy basketball classic gets two performances tomorrow when the "Block - Busting Band Boosters" engage the "Quarter-Bloomer Gals" in matinee and night contests in the high school gymnasium. The afternoon show is chiefly for the benefit of the students, while city fans are invited to turn out for the night performance, beginning at 8 o'clock. The matinee is billed for 2:15.

It will be women vs. men as the "Band Boosters" form the women's team, and the "Quarter-Bloomer Gals" will be composed of men in ridiculous attire.

Comic beauty contests and a fan dance are also on the program, according to Robert C. Ervin who has been ballyhooing the show.

Last reports on the personnel for the women's team had Mrs. Carmel Jones, Mrs. Howard Barker, Mrs. Primm, Mrs. M. C. Wooley, Mrs. Gregg, Mrs. Ouida Carter, Mrs. P. C. Hammond, and Mrs. Anna Mae Bennett ready to play with others to be added.

Ouachita Boys, Baskin Girls Tournament Winners

Lions Beat Eros, 47-42; Baskin's 6 Tag Chiefs, 60-34

By TED HECKATHORN

The Ouachita Parish High School boys team and the Baskin High girls emerged as the Northeast State College Basketball Tournament winners last night; the Lion five defeating Eros in their division finals, 47-42; and the strong Baskin sextette rolling over Calhoun, 60-34 in the girls' section championship tussle.

It was Larry Barnes, ace Ouachita veteran, who cut loose in the second quarter of the boys' final with 15 of his game-high 27 points, to give the Lions a lead they never relinquished.

After a nip-and-tuck first period, with the score knotted at 9-9, Barnes began to hit from all angles, to give his team a 28-15 halftime advantage.

Eros cut the lead to five points in the third quarter, which ended with the Lions still leading, but only by 33-27. Barnes could hit for only four points in this quarter, as the inspired Eros quintet, with their close guard, made him hurry his shots for constant misses. But those four points, plus a free throw, were all the maroon-clads could garner in the third, while Eros was tallying a dozen.

In the fourth, Glynn Russell took up the Lion net-swishing chores, and sank three consecutive goals, to keep the Lions ahead and roll up a 45-33 lead with only a minute to go.

Three dying-second Eros field goals made the final score fairly close, and gave the losers a total of 27 points for the second half to Ouachita's 19.

Eros' G. W. Crowell was second high in the point-making department to Barnes, dropping in 16. He was also the losers' chief rebounder and hardest-working floorman. Ouachita's Russell was third in total points, with 14, closely followed by guard Harold Pesnell, of Eros, who had 13.

Doyle Holstead and Johnny Maroney controlled the boards for the Lions, along with Barnes, whose fine defensive talents are sometimes overlooked because of his consistent sharpshooting. Little Lion "holler guy", Billy Smith, was the scrappiest player and outstanding ballhawk for the winners.

The Calhoun girls gave favored Baskin a rough time the first half of their title show. Trailing 17-11 at the end of the first period, the scrappy Chieftains closed the gap to 23-22 late in the second and left the floor at intermission trailing only 27-24. But in the third quarter Baskin's Alice Humphries hit for three consecutive goals and a free throw to spark her team to a 42-26 lead at the end of the period. In the fourth, it was Betty Ruth Jarrette's five field goals that enabled the Baskin winners to increase their lead.

Barbara Coon led the losers, who fought like wildcats all the way, with 22 points, while Misses Humphries and Jarrette shared game-high honors for Baskin with 23 apiece. Ruby Coronado and Alice Hammond, Baskin, were outstanding on defense as was Betty Fay Barnes of Calhoun.

The Ouachita quintet gained the boys' final by virtue of a 46-43 win over Ogden.

Behind at halftime, 22-21, the Lions outscored Ogden by four points in the second half. Barnes led the Lions' attack with 27 points, and teammate Doyle Holstead was next with 10. Fain, a sharpshooting Ogden forward, was high for the losers with 18.

In the girls' consolation tussle the Ouachita sextet defeated the Forest girls, 41-32. Leading all the way, the Lion lassies were paced by Retha Norman who had 18 for game honors. Jerry Stanford was high for Forest with 17.

The one o'clock girls' semi-final found the unbeaten - this - season Baskin sextette defeating a defensive - minded Ouachita six, 39-19. Leading by ten points at intermission, the winners outscored the Lion lassies by 12 more in the final half, and led at the close of every period.

Tall Alice Humphries, of Baskin scored 21 points for game high, and Virginia Brunson led the losers on offense with nine, though guard Charlotte Brown was the game's outstanding defender.

In the other girls semi, Calhoun edged Forest, last year's tournament runner-up, 41-37.

The game was a thriller throughout, with Forest trying to catch up for the first two periods, and finally making it late in the third. Their momentum carried them past the Calhoun girls, and Forest led at the end of the third by three points, 33-30. The exciting fourth, in which the score was knotted three times, saw Calhoun's Barbara Coon sinking two last minute [illegible] to decide the issue.

Diminutive Miss Coon, a scrappy floor - worker all the way, was game high with 24 Calhoun markers; while Mickey Drane led the losers with 17.

The Calhoun quintet didn't fare so well in the first boys' semi-finals, losing to Eros, 46-30.

The Chieftains trailed at halftime 7-15, thanks to the skyscraping Eros rebounders, led by pivotman G. W. Crowell. Hard - working Joe White, off his aim in the first quarter, sank 11 of the Chiefs' 13 second - period points, and wound with game honors of 17. Harold Pesnell was high for the winners, with 14, closely followed by Bill Holloway, who had 13.

All - tournament teams, selected by game officials, were as follows:

Girls — Barbara Woods, Baskin, Lane West, Columbia, Barbara Coon, Calhoun, Kay McBride, Weston, Jerry Stanford, Forest, Betty Ruth Jarrette, Baskin, forwards; and Charlotte Brown, Ouachita, Alice Hammond, Baskin, Margie Ann Peacock, Forest, Betty Fay Barnes, Calhoun, Billie Crammer, Weston and Ruby Coronado, Baskin.

The boys' sportsmanship trophy was awarded to Chatham's George Moore, and to Rita Tullos, of the same school, for the girls. The sportsmanship awards were made by Ed Lockhart of Monroe.

Tigers Sock Wave, 66-47

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 6 (AP) — Louisiana State University turned its long range guns on Tulane tonight to explode a 66-47 victory and keep its Southeastern Conference basketball record intact.

With high scoring Bob Pettit surrounded most of the night by a three-man Tulane bodyguard, L.S.U. called on sharpshooters Benny McArdle and Don Belcher to pick up the scoring slack from outside and in the corner. McArdle and Belcher each got 13 points.

Pettit, who entered the game with a 33.2 average, went without a field goal in the first half, but managed to break away for 22 points before the game was over.

Big Bob's defensive rebounding, coupled with Ned Clark's efforts under the L.S.U. basket, made the difference.

A capacity crowd of about 11,000 —one of the largest ever to see a basketball game in the deep south —saw L.S.U. master Tulane at its own specialty: strategy.

L.S.U. played it slow and deliberate, measuring off each shot with the care of a surveyor. Tulane, using the fast break, rocked into a 7-0 lead in the first six minutes but lost ground steadily thereafter as Belcher and McArdle sent up a barrage of swishing set shots.

Trailing 43-26 in the third quarter, Tulane suddenly charged to a man-to-man defense and gave Pettit his opportunity to take over scoring honors for the night. The best for Tulane was guard Roy Stoll who had 14 points.

Rebs Schedule Calhoun, Byrd

The West Monroe Rebels will be in action on their home floor in two basketball games this week, it was announced last night by coach Dan McClure.

The Rebs entertain Calhoun at the West Monroe gym Tuesday night, and meet an invasion from Byrd of Shreveprt in a class AA conference game Friday night.

Determine Takes Top Spot In San Felipe Handicap

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 6. (AP) — Andy Crevolin's favored Determine drew to the front in the stretch to win by a length and one-half over a fast track in the $29,350 San Felipe Handicap for three-year-olds at Santa Anita Park today.

The place wound up in a dead heat between Travertine and Mr. Mustard in the 11-horse field. The winning time for the mile and a sixteenth was 1:42 2-5.

A crowd of 48,000 under sunny skies watched the final tuneup for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Der by two weeks from today. They also saw Johnny Longden boot home Indian Hemp in the companion $15,000 On Trust Handicap.

The 8-5 favorite, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Find, finished out of the money in the prep for next week's $50,000 San Antonio Stakes and the richer Santa Anita Handicap on Feb. 27.

The winner went off a 2-1 choice and paid $6.30, $4 and $3.30. Travertine, owned by the Dormar stable and ridden by jockey Gordon Glisson, returned $5.20 and $6.10 and George Brent's Mr. Mustard paid $4.20 and $4.90 when the photo couldn't separate them.

Owned by Alberta ranches and trained by Longden's son, Vançe, Indian Hemp made his move around the final turn and stood off the challenge of the King Ranch entry of Rejected and High Scud that took the place and show. Find finished a failing fourth.

Indian Hemp returned $7.10, $3.60 and $3.70 and the King Ranch entry $3.60 and $3.60.

Eastern Kentucky Upsets Unbeaten Hilltoppers, 63-54

RICHMOND, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)— Eastern Kentucky smacked Western Kentucky from the unbeaten ranks tonight with a 63-54 victory over the nation's fourth ranking team.

Eastern, with just 5 wins in 16 starts this season, avenged 122-78 and 81-78 defeats in two previous meetings with Western by employing a tight defense and setting up its offensive opportunities with the greatest care.

Western thus saw its 21-0 record, the best in basketball this season, spoiled in one of the major upsets of the year.

Eastern led by as much as 10 points early in the third period and saw it whittled to one at 52-51, but the Maroons came back and accomplished the reversal mostly on free throws. Just three field goals were hit in the wild final period.

SECOND PLACE TROPHY—The girls of Calhoun High School claimed the second place trophy in the 16th Northeast Invitational Basketball tourney here last night. Left to right, they are: Kneeling, Bobbie Ann Finley, Debbie Faye Baker, Dora Ann Garland, Helen Spillers, Nelda Nolan, Betty Barnes, and Captain Bobbie Coon, and, standing, Mary Alice Kilpatrick, Sue Thompson, Rachel Ann Williams, Betty Lee White, Sally Lou White, Pat Coon, Jackie Kinman, and Mrs. Joy Johnson, coach. Tinsley Gets 3-Year Pact

BATON ROUGE, Feb. 6 (AP) —The Louisiana State University board of supervisors today, voted 8-5 to grant head football coach Gaynell Tinsley a three-year contract.

The surprise action was taken after a five-hour executive session. Both Tinsley and agriculture dean J. G. Lee, chairman of the athletic council, were summoned to the closed door meeting.

The council, an advisory group on athletics comprising faculty, student and alumni representatives, previously recommended the coach be retained for another year.

Tinsley, an All-America end at LSU in the mid-30's, took over as head coach in 1948, after serving as an assistant to coach Bernie Moore. He has been retained from year to year by action of the council and board and without a formal contract.

In five seasons, Tinsley has a record of 27 victories, 20 losses and six ties. His 1949 eleven went to the Sugar Bowl, losing to Oklahoma 35-0.

Last year the 38-year-old coach posted a record of five victories, three losses and three ties. The previous year ended with three victories and seven losses.

The motion to give Tinsley a three-year contract was made by George Baillio of Lake Charles, but Louis Gottlieb of Baton Rouge made an alternate proposal he be kept for one year as the council had recommended.

The three-year plan carried, with Baillio, James McLemore of Alexandria, Mrs. Ella V. Schwing of Plaquemine, Tom Dutton of New Orleans, Horace Wilkinson Jr. of Port Allen, Thomas Leigh of Monroe and Theo Cangelosi and Mrs. Margaret Dixon of Baton Rouge voting for it.

Against were Gottlieb, John Doles of Plain Dealing, C. J. Dugas of Donaldsonville, and J. Stewart Slack and James Smitherman of Shreveport.

Homer Brinkley, a board member now residing in Washington, D. C., was absent.

Winnsboro Cagers Take Both Halves Of Tourney

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 6. (Special)—The Winnsboro High School boys and girls captured championships in each division of their own Winnsboro Invitational Basketball Tournament here tonight. The Wildcat girls sacked up the first title with a 67-36 win over Newellton's sextet, and the Winnsboro quintet followed by defeating Rayville, 59-42, in the boys' final.

All-State Glenda Bennett, Winnsboro forward, hooped 30 points in sparking the girls to victory, while Perritt, with 20 points, was Newellton's chief point - maker.

The Winnsboro boys were led by Morse with 17 points, and Newsome sparked Rayville with 12.

In today's girls' semi - finals, Winnsboro beat Crowville, 47-26, and Newellton measured Fort Necessity, 75-64.

The boys' semi-finals saw Rayville whip Central, 54-46, and Winnsboro beat Holly Ridge, 45-43, after quarter - final scraps in which Central eliminated Ferriday, 46-26; Rayville topped Fort Necessity, 56-41; Holly Ridge defeated Grayson, 61-34; and Winnsboro beat Crowville, 51-38.

All - tournament teams were named as follows:

Girls — Pylant, Crowville; Guthrie, Fort Necessity; Bennett, Winnsboro; Watson, Winnsboro; Perritt, Newellton; D. Williams, Winnsboro; Montgomery, Newellton; Adams, Ogden, S. Williams, Winnsbor; P. Cullum, Newellton; Loflin, Winnsboro; and G. Williams, Winnsboro.

Boys — Germany, Holly Ridge; Floyd, Grayson; Best, Holly Ridge; C. Moore, Fort Necessity; Gilbert, Central; Riser, Winnsboro; Morse, Winnsboro; Newsome, Rayville; Thomas, Rayville; and Huff, Winsnboro.

Trophies were presented first and second place winners.

Will Shoot For New Water Ski Distance

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 6—UP —Babe Fox, 50-year old Chicago man, said Saturday he would attempt to set a new distance water ski record on a 540-mile trip from here to New Orleans.

Fox will leave Wednesday for the trip down the Red River and the Mississippi. He said he expected to cover the distance in 32 hours. The old record is 245 miles, he said.

Cage Comedians To Show In West Monroe Monday

West Monroe High School's inaugural comedy basketball classic gets two performances tomorrow when the "Block - Busting Band Boosters" engage the "Quarter-Bloomer Gals" in matinee and night contests in the high school gymnasium. The afternoon show is chiefly for the benefit of the students, while city fans are invited to turn out for the night performance, beginning at 8 o'clock. The matinee is billed for 2:15.

It will be women vs. men as the "Band Boosters" form the women's team, and the "Quarter-Bloomer Gals" will be composed of men in ridiculous attire.

Comic beauty contests and a fan dance are also on the program, according to Robert C. Ervin who has been ballyhooing the show.

Last reports on the personnel for the women's team had Mrs. Carmel Jones, Mrs. Howard Barker, Mrs. Primm, Mrs. M. C. Wooley, Mrs. Gregg, Mrs. Ouida Carter, Mrs. P. C. Hammond, and Mrs. Anna Mae Bennett ready to play with others to be added.

Passman Backs Easing Personal Tax Burdens

By KAY RAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (Special) —An increase of the personal tax deduction to $700 probably will be adopted yet by the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee, Congressman Hale Boggs of New Orleans, committee member, believes.

However, the fate of the desired increase appears to lie with the Republicans.

The committee, which is busily rewriting the whole internal revenue code, recently turned thumbs down on Bogg's amendment which would have raised the present $600 allowance $100 by 15 to 10 in a vote that was strictly along party lines.

Now, Boggs says, the only possible way for the increase to be adopted by the committee is for a Republican member to change his vote and ask that the matter be brought up again.

The personal deduction is only one of a great many tax problems tangling the committee's chore, but, as Boggs stressed, "this particular exemption is one affecting all families, and has wide support."

Standing solidly behind Boggs are most members of the Louisiana delegation—and several would raise the exemption higher than $700. At least three members have introduced bills which would provide for such a raise.

Sen. Allen Ellender, while saying he wishes to examine the entire tax structure, "I'm sympathetic to the type of relief sought. If it is possible in the light of our budgetary situation to grant relief, this would be the type of relief I'd be for."

Congressman Overton Brooks of Shreveport, commented, "I am particularly in favor of the bill which I introduced at the last session and at previous sessions. My bill would raise the personal exemption to $1,000. Further, I support the removal of theater taxes, and the emergency taxes put on the public as the result of the Korean War. Generally speaking, they ought to come off."

Noting the "inadequacy of the deduction presently allowed," Congressman Ashton Thompson of Ville Platte also introduced a bill at the last session, which would liberalize the allowable deduction. He said, "The small reduction in income tax which recently was allowed was just barely enough to offset the social security increase."

"I personally think a deduction of even $700 is taxing a person to live and I don't think taxing a person to live is proper. Whatever it costs to live should be exempt," declared Congressman Edward Hebert of New Orleans. He added he thinks the allowable exemption for a single person should be from $1,000 to $1,200 and for a married couple from $500 to $2,500.

"Definitely for an increase up to $700" is Congressman Otto Passman of Monroe.

"Members of the low income group should have relief. I will vote for the $700 exemption if I have a chance," he added.

Congressman Edwin Willis of St. Martinville thinks, "The first tax relief given should stretch across in favor of the people earning wages through sweat rather than to those who have money to spare and have invested it in securities. The time will come, the time may have come, when the latter group can have relief, but I think the first action should be to increase personal exemptions."

The third member of the delegation who has introduced legislation which would liberalize the deduction is Congressman George Long of Pineville.

His bill would allow a married person a $500 deduction and a single person a $3,500 deduction.

Congressman Long noted that "most reductions in taxes have benefited the big fellow more than the little fellow, and I think we should start at the bottom . . . I think we've had wartime taxes long enough. A lot of people are being pinched badly."

Ailing Youngster Is Thankful For Assistance Offers

Eleven-year-old Bobby Pallette said Saturday "I sure do thank the people who want to help my mother and dad."

Bobby is a patient at Riverside Sanitarium where he is receiving treatment for his most recent attack of the incurable disease which was his at birth. The bright looking youngster is a victim of hemophilia for which there is no known cure.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Pallette, who reside on a farm 15 miles from Mangham, are at the end of their financial resources. Bobby's latest illness, along with the many many in the past, has completely stripped the family. Until this year the father had been able to borrow on his crop, but this year because of acreage cuts on cotton he will not be able to do so.

Bobby's pitiful story began some 11 years ago in 1943 when he was born. The disease which is his burden is transmitted only to male members of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Pallette have two other children besides Bobby. There is a 14-year-old boy, Charles, who also has hemophilia, and one daughter, who is immune, but should she have sons they would also be victims. A third son died when he was five years old from the disease.

A life of hospitals and medical treatment has been the primary scene before Bobby's young eyes. The slightest bump, over-exertion or mismovement can cause the bleeding to start. When the internal bleeding starts Bobby is rushed to the hospital immediately and has to receive transfusions. One day the bleeding will be fast enough that there will not be enough time to rush him to a hospital.

A number of donations, totaling approximately $20, have been received here for the Bobby Pallette fund, but more are needed.

All the Pallette's want are finances to see their son through his illness and enough time to work and save for the next time it happens.

The fund for Bobby does not have to be a large one so if those who can give some small amount to aid his distressed family will, the blessings will be large in return.

Grand Coulee Dam is 4,173 feet long and 550 feet high.

By KAY RAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (Special)—An increase of the personal tax deduction to $700 probably will be adopted yet by the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee, Congressman Hale Boggs of New Orleans, committee member, believes.

However, the fate of the desired increase appears to lie with the Republicans.

The committee, which is busily rewriting the whole internal revenue code, recently turned thumbs down on Bogg's amendment which would have raised the present $600 allowance $100 by 15 to 10 in a vote that was strictly along party lines.

Now, Boggs says, the only possible way for the increase to be adopted by the committee is for a Republican member to change his vote and ask that the matter be brought up again.

The personal deduction is only one of a great many tax problems tangling the committee's chore, but, as Boggs stressed, "this particular exemption is one affecting all families, and has wide support."

Standing solidly behind Boggs are most members of the Louisiana delegation—and several would raise the exemption higher than $700. At least three members have introduced bills which would provide for such a raise.

Sen. Allen Ellender, while saying he wishes to examine the entire tax structure, "I'm sympathetic to the type of relief sought. If it is possible in the light of our budgetary situation to grant relief, this would be the type of relief I'd be for."

Congressman Overton Brooks of Shreveport, commented, "I am particularly in favor of the bill which I introduced at the last session and at previous sessions. My bill would raise the personal exemption to $1,000. Further, I support the removal of theater taxes, and the emergency taxes put on the public as the result of the Korean War. Generally speaking, they ought to come off."

Noting the "inadequacy of the deduction presently allowed," Congressman Ashton Thompson of Ville Platte also introduced a bill at the last session, which would liberalize the allowable deduction. He said, "The small reduction in income tax which recently was allowed was just barely enough to offset the social security increase."

"I personally think a deduction of even $700 is taxing a person to live and I don't think taxing a person to live is proper. Whatever it costs to live should be exempt.' declared Congressman Edward Hebert of New Orleans. He added he thinks the allowable exemption for a single person should be from $1,000 to $1,200 and for a married couple from $500 to $2,500.

"Definitely for an increase up to $700" is Congressman Otto Passman of Monroe.

"Members of the low income group should have relief. I will vote for the $700 exemption if I have a chance," he added.

Congressman Edwin Willis of St. Martinville thinks, "The first tax relief given should stretch across in favor of the people earning wages through sweat rather than to those who have money to spare and have invested it in securities. The time will come, the time may have come, when the latter group can have relief, but I think the first action should be to increase personal exemptions."

The third member of the delegation who has introduced legislation which would liberalize the deduction is Congressman George Long of Pineville.

His bill would allow a married person a $500 deduction and a single person a $3,500 deduction.

Congressman Long noted that "most reductions in taxes have benefited the big fellow more than the little fellow, and I think we should start at the bottom . . . I think we've had wartime taxes long enough. A lot of people are being pinched badly."

Ailing Youngster Is Thankful For Assistance Offers

Eleven-year-old Bobby Pailette said Saturday "I sure do thank the people who want to help my mother and dad."

Bobby is a patient at Riverside Sanitarium where he is receiving treatment for his most recent attack of the incurable disease which was his at birth. The bright looking youngster is a victim of hemophilia for which there is no known cure.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Pailette, who reside on a farm 15 miles from Mangham, are at the end of their financial resources. Bobby's latest illness, along with the many many in the past, has completely stripped the family. Until this year the father had been able to borrow on his crop, but this year because of acreage cuts on cotton he will not be able to do so.

Bobby's pitiful story began some 11 years ago in 1943 when he was born. The disease which is his burden is transmitted only to male members of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Pailette have two other children besides Bobby. There is a 14-year-old boy, Charles, who also has hemophilia, and one daughter, who is immune, but should she have sons they would also be victims. A third son died when he was five years old from the disease.

A life of hospitals and medical treatment has been the primary scene before Bobby's young eyes. The slightest bump, over-exertion or mismovement can cause the bleeding to start. When the internal bleeding starts Bobby is rushed to the hospital immediately and has to receive transfusions. One day the bleeding will be fast enough that there will not be enough time to rush him to a hospital.

A number of donations, totaling approximately $20, have been received here for the Bobby Pailette fund, but more are needed.

All the Pailette's want are financies to see their son through his illness and enough time to work and save for the next time it happens.

The fund for Bobby does not have to be a large one so if those who can give some small amount to aid his distressed family will, the blessings will be large in return.

Grand Coulee Dam is 4,173 feet long and 550 feet high.

1309 College Ave.

It glistens! That so adequately describes this one that we're tempted to leave it at that . . . but there are so many desirable features, we can't! Features like: sparkling pecan floors . . . floor-to-ceiling bookcases on each side of fireplace in living room . . . impeccable taste throughout house . . . large garage with metal overhead door and 5'x20' storeroom on garage (ideal for a workshop)! . . It's selling for considerably less than the FHA appraised value at $9260 with only $926 down.

Sandel Drive

WOULD any of the following interest you? Solid brick construction? lifetime white, crushed marble roof? 2 bedrooms and a den? living room with elegant Roman brick fireplace and wall-to-wall carpet? central heating? Pine - paneled dining area and a unique kitchen? Aluminum frame windows? 40 gallon water heater? Enclosed garage? Well, if just one of the above interest you, that's the perfect excuse to look at this Distinctive home on Sandel Drive!

104 Pecan

Now's here's the perfect home and the perfect location to rear those young'uns of yours . . . for they could "romp" freely on the spacious 100'x150' lot that goes with this friendly home, and too . . . it's a dead end street with no through traffic! The home itself has 2 comfortable bedrooms . . . asbestos siding . . . attic fan . . . large (10'x14') front screened porch and also screened back porch . . . there's also a garage! Only $1650 down will give you a lot of peace of mind!

705 Filhiol

If you've been in the market for a home, no doubt you've looked at many a home in the last few months. If so, and you have yet to find just the home that fits your family and pocketbook . . . you oughta' see this one and its many exciting features. Features like: tile bath with tub and shower stall . . . 3 roomy bedrooms . . . separate living and dining room . . . unusual solid maple floors . . . well shaded 70'x150' lot . . . walls & ceilings insulated . . . copper pipes . . . gutters and downspouts and there's a garage. It's selling at the FHA appraised value of $12,500. Call for appointment today!

Broadmoor Blvd.

Can you imagine a 200'x175' corner lot? I'll admit it's a heck-of-a lot of yard to mow . . . but you should see the imposing home that occupies most of this large yard . . . it's tremendous! There's many an unusual feature among its 1867 sq. feet . . . such as: solid masonry construction; aluminum frame windows; 2-car garage; 3 bedrooms (with double closets); central heating Roman brick fireplace wall in living room; tile bath with tub and shower stall; unusually large kitchen and an inviting den. $6000 down buys a lifetime of comfortable living!

1102 Cole Ave.

ONLY $1550 down will make the happiest move of your life . . . that is, if its to the above address! This gratifying home is the very essence of good living and it's found easily in the 1134 sq. feet . . . the 2 14'x14' bedrooms . . . the enclosed utility porch with washer plumbing and wiring for dryer . . . the separate living and dining room . . . the new 30 gallon water heater . . . the "woman planned" kitchen . . . the side screened porch and the garage with storage. You wanta' look?

1405 McGuire

It's brand new and ever so enticing with its many features designed for young moderns. There are 3 bedrooms . . . a faultless kitchen with vent-a-hood, washer plumbing, utility closet, double sink and entrance onto carport and storage . . . a well proportioned living room . . . Panel - Ray wall heat and all the above is on a 55' x165' lot. $1300 down is all it takes.

WEST
118 Riverbend

The "busy signal" keeps flashing for this snug 2 bedroom & den home on a 75' lot that's just been completely re-decorated. Why? Because . . . for only $475 down you can move in and enjoy such features as roomy kitchen with washer plumbing and lots of cabinet space . . . floor furnace and venetian blinds . . . attached garage with entrance into kitchen. If you're not eligible for G. I. financing, it'll FHA for only $950 down. It's vacant!

405 Travis St.

If you've been looking all over for a 3 bedroom & den home close to school . . . look no further. Here's why! This faultless 7-room home is just a half a block to the new West Monroe High School and just a block to Millsaps Grammar School. And the house itself contains these features among its 1643 sq. feet: large 20'x8' kitchen with dishwasher and garbage disposal; (2) floor furnaces; disappearing stair to attic; separate living and dining room and a 10'x26' den, as well as a double garage. It's situated on a 100'x150' lot with the back yard fenced, and only $2000 down turns the key.

322 Stewart St.

There's no getting around it, this one's for the kids! And the reasons are numerous: 3 bedrooms and a bath and a half; a relaxing breezeway on the back; more closets than you have ever seen in any home; attic fan and floor furnace; and "Mom" would revel in the roomy kitchen with cabinet space galore as well as the storeroom with its plumbing and wiring for a washer and dryer. One of the best features . . . it's just a half a block to grammar school and $2300 down does the trick!

602 Splane Dr.

Here's another one that's ideally located for the school children as well as being endowed with a host of livable features! Enhancing the 888 sq. feet of this one are: 2 bedrooms (one with walk-in closet); separate living and dining room; copper pipes; 36" attic fan and a disappearing stair to attic. All the above is on an 81'x200' lot fairly covered with trees. $1374 down makes your move!

1009 Arkansas Road

Normally you wouldn't expect to find a 3-bedroom home for only $950 down, but we've "got the goods"! And the reason why such a small down payment . . . it's selling for less than the FHA appraisal! Just look what it buys: 5-rooms and 3 bedrooms . . . attic fan and floor furnace; 30 gallon water heater . . . outside awnings . . . front screened porch; disappearing stair to attic; and a 50'x150' lot.

NORTH
600 Adcock St.

Here's the roomiest and most reasonably priced home on the Northside! Among the 884 sq. feet of this one are to be found such interesting features as: 2 comfortable bedrooms (one with circulating heat); a sparkling YOUNGSTOWN KITCHEN; roomy (11'26') den on the back; attic insulation; and another happy thought . . . it's on a corner lot. The price is only $7200 and $700 down turns the key.

707 "K" St.

If you've the urge to "piddle around" the yard in this glorious weather . . . you'd have a feast on the 75'x150' corner lot of this picturesque home with its many happy features. Happy features, such as: well proportioned 18'x14' living room; enjoyable screened porch of the east side; floor furnace and 48" attic fan, both with auto. controls; 2 bedrooms (one with double closets); roomy kitchen with stove hood; 30 gallon water heater and utility porch; double garage with overhead doors; and the happiest feature of all . . . only $608 down to a qualified G. I. makes the move. You wanta' peek?

1706 N. 5th

Talk about value in a northside home . . . wouldn't you like to buy a 3-bedroom home (perfectly located between the schools) that's valued at $12,000 by the FHA for only $10,700? If you're the least bit handy with a paint brush this one will easily convert into the most comfortable "family home" in its price range anywhere! For among the 1207 sq. feet are to be found these livable features: Payne forced - air heating . . . fireplace with wood burning logs . . . tile counter tops in kitchen . . . separate dining room . . . kitchen vent - a - hood and loads of other features. It's a bargain, so better take a look today!

SOUTH
1304 S. 1st

It's the perfect solution to your problem if you've found it difficult to raise a "hefty" down payment on an inviting home in a desirable location. 'Tis indeed, for this matchless home at 1304 S. 1st can be bought for only $500 down payment and monthly payments of as low as $47 per month . . . and look what it buys: brand new 20-gallon water heater; disappearing stair to attic; double closets in one bedroom; a novel kitchen with serving bar, dining area, washer plumbing and lots of cabinet space. It's vacant and selling for the FHA appraised value of $7500. Call for appointment!

1612 S. 4th

If you've been making the best of your present 2 bedroom home in hopes a reasonably priced 3-bedroom home would appear on the market . . . LEND US AN EAR! I'll admit it sounds completely insane, but it's true . . . a 6-room, 3-bedroom home (only 3 years old) that requires only $1100 down . . . and look what it buys: 1138 sq. feet of floor space richly endowed with such features as: large 14x24' living room; separate dining room; 60'x150' lot; 42" attic fan and floor furnace; glistening hardwood floors; copper plumbing & 30 gallon water heater; metal venetian blinds and it's only 2 blocks to the Plum St. Grammar School. Make that important call before someone beats you to it!

805 S. 6th

It's only 8 months old and combines the best of comfort and beauty in its spacious 1378 sq. feet of living area. Comfort such as: 2 spacious bedrooms and a den . . . sliding door closets in all bedrooms . . . auto. attic fan and (3) wall heaters . . . entrance from carport right into kitchen . . . and the bath has a large built - in dressing table. Beauty, such as: pine - paneled kitchen and den . . . wall - to - wall carpet in living room . . . delightfully decorated throughout . . . ingenious built-in china cabinet in dining area and a 75'x150' lot. It's already financed with $2763 down.

3104 Gordon Ave.

Location Plus and a distinct personality all its own for the "little lady" who decorated it when it was built 3 years ago had excellent taste. Here is the one home you can walk into and not want to change a thing! This pace - setting home has "loads" of inviting features among its 912 sq. feet . . . one bedroom has huge walk - in closet . . . washer plumbing and vent-a-hood in kitchen . . . roomy 8'x11' dining area . . . aluminum tension window screens . . . 42" attic fan and floor furnace. It's vacant and only $1050 down makes the move!

2004 Jackson St.

Make a reasonable down payment of $1900 and move right in and enjoy every inch of the 1426 sq. feet and the many pleasing features of this ageless home! Pleasing features, such as: 3 tremendous bedrooms; living room with fireplace and built - in bookcases; separate dining room and separate breakfast room; lifetime slate roof and "to boot" . . . it has a new 20 gallon, glass - lined water heater. It's selling for the FHA appraised value of $9500.

4208 Lee Ave.

Just a glance and you'll agree, it's truly distinctive looking from the outside and once inside . . . it'll take your breath! All the foregoing superlatives are about this imposing brick on a 60'x150' corner lot with these features: 2 bedrooms (one with walk - in closet) and a den . . . inside utility room with built - in drawers . . . bath has colored fixtures and a shower . . . kitchen is well arranged with natural wood cabinets, light over sink and splashboard . . . there's a separate dining area PLUS a breezeway on the back opening onto the carport and storage. This one's vacant too, but only $2400 down occupies it!

EAST

1309 College Ave.

It glistens! That so adequately describes this one that we're tempted to leave it at that . . . but there are so many desirable features, we can't! Features like: sparkling pecan floors . . . floor-to-ceiling bookcases on each side of fireplace in living room . . . impeccable taste throughout house . . . large garage with metal overhead door and 5'x20' storeroom on garage (ideal for a workshop)! . . . It's selling for considerably less than the FHA appraised value at $9260 with only $926 down.

Sandel Drive

WOULD any of the following interest you? Solid brick construction? lifetime white, crushed marble roof? 2 bedrooms and a den? living room with elegant Roman brick fireplace and wall-to-wall carpet? central heating? Pine - paneled dining area and a unique kitchen? Aluminum frame windows? 40 gallon water heater? Enclosed garage? Well, if just one of the above interest you, that's the perfect excuse to look at this Distinctive home on Sandel Drive!

104 Pecan

Now's here's the perfect home and the perfect location to rear those young'uns of yours . . . for they could "romp" freely on the spacious 100'x150' lot that goes with this friendly home, and too . . . it's a dead end street with no through traffic! The home itself has 2 comfortable bedrooms . . . asbestos siding . . . attic fan . . . large (10'x14') front screened porch and also screened back porch . . . there's also a garage! Only $1650 down will give you a lot of peace of mind!

705 Filhiol

If you've been in the market for a home, no doubt you've looked at many a home in the last few months. If so, and you have yet to find just the home that fits your family and pocketbook . . . you oughta' see this one and its many exciting features. Features like: tile bath with tub and shower stall . . . 3 roomy bedrooms . . . separate living and dining room . . . unusual solid maple floors . . . well shaded 70'x150' lot . . . walls & ceilings insulated . . . copper pipes . . . gutters and downspouts and there's a garage. It's selling at the FHA appraised value of $12,500. Call for appointment today!

Broadmoor Blvd.

Can you imagine a 200'x175' corner lot? I'll admit it's a heck-of-a lot of yard to mow . . . but you should see the imposing home that occupies most of this large yard . . . it's tremendous! There's many an unusual feature among its 1867 sq. feet . . . such as: solid masonry construction; aluminum frame windows; 2-car garage; 3 bedrooms (with double closets); central heating Roman brick fireplace wall in living room; tile bath with tub and shower stall; unusually large kitchen and an inviting den. $6000 down buys a lifetime of comfortable living!

1102 Cole Ave.

ONLY $1550 down will make the happiest move of your life . . . that is, if its to the above address! This gratifying home is the very essence of good living and it's found easily in the 1134 sq. feet . . . the 2 14'x14' bedrooms . . . the enclosed utility porch with washer plumbing and wiring for dryer . . . the separate living and dining room . . . the new 30 gallon water heater . . . the "woman planned" kitchen . . . the side screened porch and the garage with storage. You wanta' look?

1405 McGuire

It's brand new and ever so enticing with its many features designed for young moderns. There are 2 bedrooms . . . a faultless kitchen with vent-a-hood, washer plumbing, utility closet, double sink and entrance onto carport and storage . . . a well proportioned living room . . . Panel - Ray wall heat and all the above is on a 55' x165' lot. $1300 down is all it takes.

118 Riverbend

The "busy signal" keeps flashing for this snug 2 bedroom & den home on a 75' lot that's just been completely re-decorated. Why? Because . . . for only $475 down you can move in and enjoy such features as roomy kitchen with washer plumbing and lots of cabinet space . . . floor furnace and venetian blinds . . . attached garage with entrance into kitchen. If you're not eligible for G. I. financing, it'll FHA for only $950 down. It's vacant!

405 Travis St.

If you've been looking all over for a 3 bedroom & den home close to school . . . look no further. Here's why! This faultless 7-room home is just a half a block to the new West Monroe High School and just a block to Millsaps Grammar School. And the house itself contains these features among its 1443 sq. feet: large 20'x8' kitchen with dishwasher and garbage disposal; (2) floor furnaces; disappearing stair to attic; separate living and dining room and a 10'x26' den, as well as a double garage. It's situated on a 100'x150' lot with the back yard fenced, and only $2900 down turns the key.

322 Stewart St.

There's no getting around it, this one's for the kids! And the reasons are numerous: 3 bedrooms and a bath and a half; a relaxing breezeway on the back; more closets than you have ever seen in any home; attic fan and floor furnace; and "Mom" would revel in the roomy kitchen with cabinet space galore as well as the storeroom with its plumbing and wiring for a washer and dryer. One of the best features . . . it's just a half a block to grammar school and $2300 down does the trick!

602 Splane Dr.

Here's another one that's ideally located for the school children as well as being endowed with a host of livable features! Enhancing the 889 sq. feet of this one are: 2 bedrooms (one with walk-in closet); separate living and dining room; copper pipes; 36" attic fan and a disappearing stair to attic. All the above is on an 81'x200' lot fairly covered with trees. $1274 down makes your move!

1009 Arkansas Road

Normally you wouldn't expect to find a 3-bedroom home for only $950 down, but we've "got the goods"! And the reason why such a small down payment . . . it's selling for less than the FHA appraisal! Just look what it buys: 5-rooms and 3 bedrooms . . . attic fan and floor furnace; 30 gallon water heater . . . outside awnings . . . front screened porch; disappearing stair to attic; and a 50'x150' lot.

NORTH

600 Adcock St.

Here's the roomiest and most reasonably priced home on the Northside! Among the 884 sq. feet of this one are to be found such interesting features as: 2 comfortable bedrooms (one with circulating heat); a sparkling YOUNGSTOWN KITCHEN; roomy (11'26') den on the back; attic insulation; and another happy thought . . . it's on a corner lot. The price is only $7200 and $700 down turns the key.

707 "K" St.

If you've the urge to "piddle around" the yard in this glorious weather . . . you'd have a feast on the 75'x150' corner lot of this picturesque home with its many happy features. Happy features, such as: well proportioned 18'x14' living room; enjoyable screened porch of the east side; floor furnace and 48" attic fan, both with auto. controls; 2 bedrooms (one with double closets); roomy kitchen with stove hood; 30 gallon water heater and utility porch; double garage with overhead doors; and the happiest feature of all . . . only $608 down to a qualified G. I. makes the move. You wanta' peek?

1706 N. 5th

Talk about value in a northside home . . . wouldn't you like to buy a 3-bedroom home (perfectly located between the schools) that's valued at $12,000 by the FHA for only $10,700? If you're the least bit handy with a paint brush this one will easily convert into the most comfortable "family home" in its price range anywhere! For among the 1207 sq. feet are to be found these livable features: Payne forced - air heating . . . fireplace with wood burning logs . . . tile counter tops in kitchen . . . separate dining room . . . kitchen vent - a - hood and loads of other features. It's a bargain, so better take a look today!

SOUTH

1304 S. 1st

It's the perfect solution to your problem if you've found it difficult to raise a "hefty" down payment on an inviting home in a desirable location. 'Tis indeed, for this matchless home at 1304 S. 1st can be bought for only $500 down payment and monthly payments of as low as $47 per month . . . and look what it buys: brand new 20-gallon water heater; disappearing stair to attic; double closets in one bedroom; a novel kitchen with serving bar, dining area, washer plumbing and lots of cabinet space. It's vacant and selling for the FHA appraised value of $7500. Call for appointment!

1612 S. 4th

If you've been making the best of your present 2 bedroom home in hopes a reasonably priced 3-bedroom home would appear on the market . . . LEND US AN EAR! I'll admit it sounds completely insane, but it's true . . . a 6-room, 3-bedroom home (only 3 years old) that requires only $1100 down . . . and look what it buys: 1138 sq. feet of floor space richly endowed with such features as: large 14x24' living room; separate dining room; 60'x150' lot; 42" attic fan and floor furnace; glistening hardwood floors; copper plumbing & 30 gallon water heater; metal venetian blinds and it's only 2 blocks to the Plum St. Grammar School. Make that important call before someone beats you to it!

805 S. 6th

It's only 6 months old and combines the best of comfort and beauty in its spacious 1378 sq. feet of living area. Comfort such as: 2 spacious bedrooms and a den . . . sliding door closets in all bedrooms . . . auto. attic fan and (3) wall heaters . . . entrance from carport right into kitchen . . . and the bath has a large built - in dressing table. Beauty, such as: pine - paneled kitchen and den . . . wall - to - wall carpet in living room . . . delightfully decorated throughout . . . ingenious built-in china cabinet in dining area and a 75'x150' lot. It's already financed with $2763 down.

3104 Gordon Ave.

Location Plus and a distinct personality all its own for the "little lady" who decorated it when it was built 2 years ago had excellent taste. Here is the one home you can walk into and not want to change a thing! This pace - setting home has "loads" of inviting features among its 912 sq. feet . . . one bedroom has huge walk - in closet . . . washer plumbing and vent-a-hood in kitchen . . . roomy 8'x11' dining area . . . aluminum tension window screens . . . 42" attic fan and floor furnace. It's vacant and only $1050 down makes the move!

2004 Jackson St.

Make a reasonable down payment of $1900 and move right in and enjoy every inch of the 1426 sq. feet and the many pleasing features of this ageless home! Pleasing features, such as: 3 tremendous bedrooms; living room with fireplace and built - in bookcases; separate dining room and separate breakfast room; lifetime slate roof and "to boot" . . . it has a new 20 gallon, glass - lined water heater. It's selling for the FHA appraised value of $9500.

4208 Lee Ave.

Just a glance and you'll agree, it's truly distinctive looking from the outside and once inside . . . it'll take your breath! All the foregoing superlatives are about this imposing brick on a 60'x150' corner lot with these features: 2 bedrooms (one with walk - in closet) and a den . . . inside utility room with built - in drawers . . . bath has colored fixtures and a shower . . . kitchen is well arranged with natural wood cabinets, light over sink and splashboard . . . there's a separate dining area PLUS a breezeway on the back opening onto the carport and storage. This one's vacant too, but only $2400 down occupies it!

America's Strength In Future With Its Youth

"The future strength of America lies in its youth," says Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, in a message for Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, marking the 44th anniversary of the organization.

"How well the young men of tomorrow will meet the challenge of the times will depend upon the training that they receive today in character development, participating citizenship and personal fitness," the chief scout executive said.

"In cooperation with the home, the church, the school and other community institutions, the Boy Scouts of America," he continued, "is charged by its congressional charter with the responsibility for promoting the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to develop skills, self-reliance, initiative, physical strength, endurance, courage, patriotism and those other qualities which contribute to the very highest type of citizenship."

During Boy Scout Week, in countless communities Scouts, their parents, local institutions and public officials will pay tribute to the leaders of the 89,000 cub packs, boy scout troops and explorer posts for the contribution they are making to the boyhood of America.

The Boy Scouts of America, Dr. Schuck points out, is operated by volunteers with the help and assistance of a small professional staff. Men come forward in increasing numbers, he said, to give their best in the service of youth. Without them, he states there could be no scout program. Because of them over 2,440,000 boys today enjoy the adventure of scouting, which has become a part of normal American life.

Volunteer leadership positions in scouting attract men of education, as well as men of character with an educational and occupational background well above the national average.

A recent study of the personal data of men serving as leaders in all capacities shows that more than 60 per cent of the Scout leaders in America were once scouts. Sixty per cent were found to be high school graduates and 30 per cent graduated from college.

Among the scout leaders it was found that 86 per cent are married men and 61 per cent have sons. A high percentage report membership in fraternal, service or veterans groups.

In a check of the occupations of scout leaders it was found that 25 per cent were professional or technical workers, including lawyers, teachers and physicians. Another 20 per cent are craftsmen and foremen; 10 per cent are public officials, buyers, credit men, managers and proprietors of small businesses, while another 10 per cent are sales persons or engaged in advertising and insurance. Scattered occupations are followed by the remaining 35 per cent.

Most unit leaders say they volunteered to serve as a result of an intense personal interest brought about through their contacts with boys; others because of their friendship with men already serving as leaders or because of their affiliation with a local institution that sponsors a Scout unit.

Since scouting was established 44 years ago, Dr. Schuck said, emphasis has been placed on the right kind of leadership. This insistence upon high-quality men for positions of leadership, who serve without pay, has never been lessened.

Eleanor Harris Becomes Bride Of William Brown In Home Ceremony Monday

Of interest here and elsewhere in Louisiana was the wedding last Monday evening of Miss Eleanor Cargill Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Barbour Harris of Ruston and William Denis Brown III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brown, Jr., of Lake Providence.

The ceremony took place in the home of the bride in Ruston at 7 o'clock in the evening and was performed by the Reverend R. R. Branton. It took place before a mirrored mantle decorated with white candles and white roses and snapdragons. About the room were silver urns filled with bouquets of white roses and stock. Tall wrought iron candelabra holding white candles marked the path of the bride. Mr. Marshall Bretz, at the organ, played softly preceding the ceremony and used the traditional wedding music for the entrance of the bridal party. He accompanied Mrs. Bretz as she sang "I Love Thee" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lustrous white satin gown made with a sculptured basque and full skirt which formed a flowing train. The wide neckline was outlined with hand-run Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and irridescents. The waist length veil of French illusion was caught to a tiny cap of Alencon lace, also embellished with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Abe B. Harris, Jr. of New Orleans. Other attendants were Mrs. Alexander T. Hunt, Jr., Mrs. Marshall N. Terry, Jr. of Dallas, Tex. and Miss Martha Gene Nash. Miss Martha Brown of Lake Providence was junior bridesmaid. They wore moonstone blue taffeta waltz length dresses with deep vee necklines. The molded bodices were joined in double boxpleats to the bouffant skirts. Satin slippers matched their arm bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Grady Wyly Brown of Lake Providence was his brother's best man and the ushers were Abe B. Harris, Jr. of New Orleans, brother of the bride and Philip Brown of Lake Providence, brother of the bridegroom.

At the close of the ceremony the bride and bridegroom received congratulations. Standing with them and their attendants were the bride's mother. she chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of pink chiffon with tracery of irridescents around the neckline, with this she wore a corsage of blue iris and Mrs. Brown who was wearing beige lace and chiffon. Pink roses formed her corsage.

In the dining room the bride's table was placed before the French doors and was covered with an organdy cloth appliqued in floral design. Garlands of baby smilax edged the table and were caught with showers of white rosebuds and stephanotis and narrow satin ribbons. The twin hearts cake centered the table. It was placed on a reflector garlanded with smilax and starred with stephanotis. On either side were branched silver candelabra holding white tapers and tied with small showers of roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and Mrs. Raymond, Heard, aunts of the bride,presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Stewart Hunt served the wedding cake.

For her wedding trip to Point Clear, Ala., the bride traveled in a suit of light blue wool with white straw hat and navy accessories. A spray of stephanotis was pinned to her shoulder.

The bride, whose mother is the former Eleanor Cargill of Ruston, is a graduate of the Ruston High School and the Louisiana State University. She is a member of Phi Beta Phi social sorority.

Mr. Brown attended Lake Providence High School, Kentucky Military Institute, Louisville Ky. and is now attending Louisiana State Law School where he is a member of the Law Review, Kappa Alpha social fraternity and Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

They will be at home at 3350 Lake in Baton Rouge.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Denis Brown, Jr., Philip Brown, Mr. J. G. Wyly, Sr., Mr. Jack Wyly, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyly, Mr. and Mrs. McFarland Long, Mrs. C. R. Miss Kalil Will Wed In June Ceremony

Miss Gloria Kalil, daughter of Mrs. Fred Kalil and the late Mr. Kalil, will become the bride of Warren Adam Portier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Portier of New Iberia on June 26.

The wedding will be solemnized at St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

The bride - elect has chosen as her matron of honor Mrs. Delores Nomey. Mr. Edwin Ashy will serve as best man.

Miss Kalil is a graduate of Neville High School and attended Sullen's College in Bristol, Va.

Mr. Portier graduated from Orange High School in Orange, Tex. and Southwestern Louisiana Institute. He is a member of Theta Kappa Phi and Alpha Phi Omega.

The couple plan to reside in Monroe following their wedding.

Baking apples or pears for a winter dessert? Stuff core cavities with orange marmalade mixed with shredded coconut. Or mix chopped dates and brown sugar together for stuffing.

Candlelit Ceremony Unites Miss White, Mr. Thomason

Miss Glenda Ann White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kenneth White of West Monroe, became the bride of Edward Ray Thomason of Mangham, in a candlelight ceremony at seven o'clock, January 28, at the First Methodist Church. Reverend W. D. Milton officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Tall lighted tapers banked with green were placed in each window of the church giving a soft glow for the seating of the guests by the ushers, Mr. Robert Pepper, Mr. Carl White, Jr., Mr. Marvin Rushing and Mr. Spencer Edminston.

A double row of candelabra entwined in Southern Smilax holding tall white tapers pyramided at the altar, forming a background for the wedding vases filled with white stock and Marconie daisies. The pews were marked with satin bows. The candles were lighted by Miss Glenda Jo Walters and Mr. Milton Smith while Mrs. Charles Myers rendered a concert of organ music. Mrs. Myers also accompanied Miss Mildred White, who sang, "Because," "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in agown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The fitted bodice was of lace over satin with a tiny standing collar and long sleeves coming to a point over her wrists. The skirt of tulle over satin was in graduated tiers, ending in a chapel length train. The bridal veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap fashioned of lace and tiny seed pearls. She wore, for something old, a necklace of pearls and crystals, which added their richness to the gown. Her bouquet was a white orchid mounted on a white Bible, with cascades of stephanotis and satin ribbons.

Mrs. Carl Kenneth White, Jr. was the matron of honor. Her gown was of ice blue lace and nylon net. The fitted bodice was of lace over taffeta. The bouffant skirt was floor length and of nylon net, her mitts and stole were of the same color. She carried a heart shaped bouquet made of feathered pink carnations from the center of which showered white hyacinths and ribbons. Her head band was pink carnations and white hyacinths and was held in place by silver braid.

Miss Martha Nell Chappell, the maid of honor, Miss Yvonne Fisher and Miss Jackie White were bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical and were styled along the same lines as the matron of honor. Their stoles were of a darker blue. Their heart shaped bouquets and headbands were made of pink carnations and pink hyacinths.

John Drane of Forest served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a dress of rose color crepe, a white hat and gloves. Her corsage was a purple orchid. The bride's grandmother was attired in a navy dress with matching hat and gloves, with a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Thomason's dress was beige, her hat and gloves navy. She wore a purple orchid corsage.

For travel the bride changed to a grey suit, wearing white accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

After their wedding trip the young couple will be at home in Ruston, where Mr. Thomason is attending college.

A reception in the social hall of the church immediately followed the ceremony. The room was decorated with tall vases filled with stock and spring flowers. Tall candles placed throughout the room furnished the light. In the receiving line were the bride's mother, Mrs. Thomason, the bride and groom, and the attendants. Mrs. W. M. Smith presided at the bride's register, which was lighted by a Lohengrin pillar candle set in a base of white candytuff, fern and satin bows.

In the center of the bride's table was a tiered wedding cake embossed in white roses with a miniature bride and groom under an arch of lilies of the valley and tiny wedding bells. Three tiered crystal candelabra were placed at each end of the table, with white hyacinths, Marguerite daisies and green completing the picture. Mrs. Ralph White presided at the cake service.

Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Mrs. Alton Burkett and Mrs. F. C. McConnell alternated at the two punch bowls which were placed on a long lace covered table. The center piece of this table was a large crystal bowl filled with white stock, daisies and candytuff. Tall white candles burned in crystal candelabra.

Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. David Hunt, Mrs. Warren Harker, Miss Ginger Strong, Miss Gladyce Joy Walters, Miss Mildred White and Mrs. Mary Golson Edmonson. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Martha Nell Chappell.

Rehearsal Supper

On Wednesday night, January 27, following the rehearsal, the members of the White-Thomason wedding party were entertained at a supper at the Corral. The table was beautifully decorated with sky blue candles in crystal candelabra. The center piece was pink daisies and blue iris. Each place was marked with cards designed from a pink daisy. Silver books of matches with the names, "Glenda and Ray" in white were also at each place. In addition to the bride and groom, guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl White, Jr., Miss Martha Nell Chappell, Miss Yvonne Fisher, Miss Jackie White, Miss Mildred White, Miss Glenda Jo Walters, Mrs. Mary Golson Edmonson, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mr. Milton Smith, Reverend W. D. Milton, Mr. John Drane, Mr. Robert Pepper, Mr. Spencer Edminston, Mr. Marvin Rushing, Mr. and Mrs. Carl White, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Thomason, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Smith, Mrs. W. D. Golson.

Final Plans Are Being Made For Flower Show

Final plans are being made by the members of the Monroe Garden Club for the staging of their flower show to be held Tuesday, March 9 at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

The Town and Country Garden Club and the Patio Garden Club, both sponsored by the Monroe Garden Club have energetic young members who will assist with the staging of the flower show. These young matrons have many clever ideas and are diligently working to execute them.

The horticulture section is open to members and all flower lovers of the Twin Cities, whether an apartment dweller or the owner of a large estate. Many young matrons with their first pot plants can proudly exhibit their collection.

Home Furnishing Topic For Caddoan Club

Home Furnishing was the topic received enthusiastically by members of the Caddoan Club at their regular February meeting. Mrs. Henry Earl Stevenson and Mrs. W. M. Nolan were joint hostesses in the Nolan home on Monday evening.

Mrs. C. M. Williams gave advice in the selection of furniture with which to begin keeping house when the budget is not expansive. Articles that may serve more than one purpose and may be carried from room to room are wise choices.

Mrs. W. A. Shaw listed many accessories found in homes and remarked upon the suitability of use, placement and appropriateness of each in the situations common to the club members. She reminded her listeners that they are preparing backgrounds for their husbands as well as themselves and a masculine background in some parts of the home was essential. The storage and periodic changing of accessories was encouraged to provide freshness and prevent a cluttered effect.

Mrs. J. E. Smith, guest speaker, made color in the home seem very important. She conducted a quiz which provided for each participant a key to her personality color.

Activities of the group in projects of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs included a donation to the fund for television sets for the state homes for children; an order for Louisiana post cards printed by the state federation for the Golden Jubilee fund; and plans for a variety program to raise funds for the restoration of Independence Hall.

A large number of cancelled stamps for veterans were collected. Mrs. W. R. Kennedy and Mrs. R. E. Barham Jr., reported this project as one which will be shared by the newly organized Sub-deb clubs.

The hostesses served refreshments to Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mrs. Houston Goyne and Mrs. F. E. Files, who were guests of the club; and Mrs. W. P. Smith, Mrs. W. M. Rolfe, Mrs. Joe Cabuk, Mrs. J. M. Eleanor Harris Becomes Bride Of William Brown In Home Ceremony Monday

Of interest here and elsewhere in Louisiana was the wedding last Monday evening of Miss Eleanor Cargill Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Barbour Harris of Ruston and William Denis Brown III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Brown, Jr., of Lake Providence.

The ceremony took place in the home of the bride in Ruston at 7 o'clock in the evening and was performed by the Reverend R. R. Branton. It took place before a mirrored mantle decorated with white candles and white roses and snapdragons. About the room were silver urns filled with bouquets of white roses and stock. Tall wrought iron candelabra holding white candles marked the path of the bride. Mr. Marshall Bretz, at the organ, played softly preceding the ceremony and used the traditional wedding music for the entrance of the bridal party. He accompanied Mrs. Bretz as she sang "I Love Thee" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lustrous white satin gown made with a sculptured basque and full skirt which formed a flowing train. The wide neckline was outlined with hand-run Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls and irridescents. The waist length veil of French illusion was caught to a tiny cap of Alencon lace, also embellished with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Abe B. Harris, Jr. of New Orleans. Other attendants were Mrs. Alexander T. Hunt, Jr., Mrs. Marshall N. Terry, Jr. of Dallas, Tex. and Miss Martha Gene Nash. Miss Martha Brown of Lake Providence was junior bridesmaid. They wore moonstone blue taffeta waltz length dresses with deep vee necklines. The molded bodices were joined in double boxpleats to the bouffant skirts. Satin slippers matched their arm bouquets of American Beauty roses.

Grady Wyly Brown of Lake Providence was his brother's best man and the ushers were Abe B. Harris, Jr. of New Orleans, brother of the bride and Philip Brown of Lake Providence, brother of the bridegroom.

At the close of the ceremony the bride and bridegroom received congratulations. Standing with them and their attendants were the bride's mother, she chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of pink chiffon with tracery of irridescents around the neckline, with this she wore a corsage of blue iris and Mrs. Brown who was wearing beige lace and chiffon. Pink roses formed her corsage.

In the dining room the bride's table was placed before the French doors and was covered with an organdy cloth appliqued in floral design. Garlands of baby smilax edged the table and were caught with showers of white rosebuds and stephanotis and narrow satin ribbons. The twin hearts cake centered the table. It was placed on a reflector garlanded with smilax and starred with stephanotis. On either side were branched silver candelabra holding white tapers and tied with small showers of roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. J. M. Armstrong and Mrs. Raymond, Heard, aunts of the bride,presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Stewart Hunt served the wedding cake.

For her wedding trip to Point Clear, Ala., the bride traveled in a suit of light blue wool with white straw hat and navy accessories. A spray of stephanotis was pinned to her shoulder.

The bride, whose mother is the former Eleanor Cargill of Ruston, is a graduate of the Ruston High School and the Louisiana State University. She is a member of Phi Beta Phi social sorority.

Mr. Brown attended Lake Providence High School, Kentucky Military Institute, Louisville Ky. and is now attending Louisiana State Law School where he is a member of the Law Review, Kappa Alpha social fraternity and Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

They will be at home at 3350 Lake in Baton Rouge.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Denis Brown, Jr., Philip Brown, Mr. J. G. Wyly, Sr., Mr. Jack Wyly, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyly, Mr. and Mrs. McFarland Long, Mrs. C. R. Evans, Mrs. William Knobles, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown, Miss Amanda Brown, Miss Brenda Brown, Mr. Joseph Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown, Miss Susan Brown, Mr. Michael Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Brown, Grady Wyly Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parra, Mr. King Trieschman, Mr. Wayne Trieschman, all of Lake Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Tripp Martin, Pine Bluff, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carson, Mr. Arthur Hawkins, Mr. Ernest Merklein of Shreveport, Miss Anna Mosely, Baton Rouge, Mr. John Hunt, Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Long, Mr. and Mrs. Ledoux Provosty, Dr. and Mrs. R. U. Out-Of-Town Guest Feted At Luncheons

Continuous parties claiming widespread interest in Monroe and Bastrop have feted Mrs. Gorden E. Mulvey during her visit with relatives and friends in both cities, after an absence of three years.

Judge and Mrs. E. L. Gladney, Jr., and Mrs. Blanche Williams entertained at a lovely dinner party Saturday night in the Gladney home at Bastrop.

Camellias and spring flowers were used throughout the living room. The dining table overlaid with a handsome Italian cutwork cloth was centered with a beautiful arrangement of jonquils and Dutch iris.

Sharing the occasion with the honoree and hosts were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gladney III, Mr. and Mrs James Madison, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin and Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Meek.

Informal Luncheons

Among the hostesses honoring Mrs. Mulvey at informal luncheons this past week were Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. L C. McGuire, Mrs. J. S. Drew and Mrs. John Salisbury.

Camellias were arranged in an attractive centerpiece at the Redwood Lounge for Mrs. A. R. Doughty's compliment to the visitor.

When Mrs. L. C. McGuire entertained at the La Casa Tea Room in honor of Mrs. Mulvey, spring flowers were used in keeping with the season.

Mrs. Wayne Gray Is Hostess To The Review Club

The Review Club met February the 1st in the home of Mrs. Wayne Gray. The living room was beautifully decorated with early spring blossoms.

Mrs. L. N. Waddell, president of the club, presided over a short business meeting. Mrs. DeWitt Henry gave an excellent review of the Life of Thomas Hardy, author of the nineteenth century novel, "The Return Of The Native", which Mrs. W. T. Davis aptly reviewed later on the program. Mrs. Henry pointed out that Hardy writing's were often adapted for the opera and stage which brought him in contact with many interesting and important people of his time. In Mrs. Davis' review of "The Return Of The Native" she told that much of the setting for the book was taken from his childhood home.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Jamar Adcock, Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. A. T. Givens, Mrs. C. P. Gray Jr., Mrs. D. W. Griffith, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. W. M. Inabnet, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. L. N. Waddell, Mrs. H. D. Touchstone, Mrs. John Ray and the hostess.

Enjoying the day with Mr. Cooper were Mr. and Mrs. Rossie Cooper, Freer, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Kaguwa and children, Billie, Lila Sue, Celeste, and Kyle of Webster, Texas; Mrs. Clyde Martin, West Memphis, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cooper and daughter Willie Mae of Oak Grove, Mrs. Lester Maynor and children Glenda and Kathleen, Winnsboro, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Cooper, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Clark Salter, Mr. and Mrs. Caly Daniel all of Sicily Island, Mr. and Mrs. George Jordan, of Sarrento, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Salter and son Dwain, Baton Rouge, the hosts and their sons John and David.

State Library's Needs Are Cited At Board Meet

The Louisiana State Library's need for more space to better serve the entire state was reiterated in Baton Rouge last week at a meeting of the State Library board.

Developing parish library service for all the twenty - five parishes in Louisiana now without a library will take 25 years "under present operating conditions," in the opinion of State Library board members.

James L. Love of Hammond, chairman of the board, said the 25-year "minimum period" for parish library establishment in every parish is a direct result of the State Library's crowded quarters.

Thirty - five of the state's 39 parish libraries were started as year-long demonstrations directed by the State Library. Under present conditions, he said, only one demonstration can be opened each year because the library has no room to prepare more than one book collection at a time.

If the library could order books in larger quantities and have basic collections on hand ready to ship to new demonstrations, the libraries could be opened much faster, he explained.

There is a waiting list of parishes which have applied for demonstrations and each parish, after applying, has to wait about five or six years for service, State Librarian Essae M. Culver told the board.

Love pointed out, too, that "from the financial standpoint, it's poor business to lose money by not taking advantage of large - scale purchase discounts instead of ordering smaller collections as each parish library is opened."

In a recent resolution authorized at the board's last meeting to be sent to Gov. Kennon and members of the building authority, the State Library board stated that "the public library provides the greatest opportunity for a continuing education for the 80 per cent of the population who drop out of school before completing high school." The resolution urged that "earnest and favorable consideration be given to providing an adequate functional building for the State Library."

Primary aim of the Citizens' Library movement, a state - wide group of library - minded citizens, is to get legislative funds for a new State Library building. The citizens' objectives have been endorsed by a number of state organizations, including the executive board of the Police Jury Association, the Junior Chamber of Commerce state board and the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

State Library board members, besides Love are Mrs. Fensky Terzia, of Monroe; Miss Mary Mims of Shreveport; J. H. Henry of Melrose; Dr. Joel L. Fletcher of Lafayette.

Church Is Setting For Early Evening Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Ellen Yvonne Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Ford, Waterproof and Thomas Roland Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carter, West Monroe, was solemnized in a double ring ceremony on Sunday evening January 24 at 6:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church in Waterproof with Rev. W. E. Giddens, Jr. officiating.

The altar and sanctuary of the church were decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli and stock against a background of greenery and candelabra holding myriads of gleaming candles, which were lighted by James Phelps Jr. of West Monroe and Max Peters.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. L. T. Collins Jr., who also accompanied Miss Jeanne Crosby as she sang I Love You Truly.

The bride entered with her father and was wearing a gown of white chantilly lace over taffeta. The tight fitting bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt was ankle length. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara embroidered in pearls and bugle beads. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a single orchid. The traditional "something old" worn was a cameo necklace, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Lalla Akenhead of Baton Rouge.

Mrs. Henry T. Bonnette Jr., was matron of honor. Her dress was of pink chantilly lace over taffeta, with tight fitting bodice and sweetheart neckline. A Juliet cap of pink lace with crystal bugle trim completed her costume. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

The bridesmaids, Miss Gloria Ford, sister of the bride, and Miss Martha Marlow, the bride's cousin, wore dresses of American beauty nylon net over taffeta with tight bodices and bouffant skirt, ballerina length. They also wore Juliet caps of matching material and carried small bouquets of pink carnations.

John A. Carter of West Monroe served his brother as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Eugene Cox, James Phelps Jr. and Max Peters.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held in the home of the L. O. Peters with Mr. and Mrs. Peters as hosts. Receiving with Mrs. Peters were Mrs. Ford, mother of the bride who was wearing a champagne faille crepe with a corsage of pink carnations, and Mrs. H. P. Carter, mother of the bridegroom, who chose a black shantung suit for the occasion. Her corsage was of feathered gladioli.

Miss Esta Ann Ford, sister of the bride, presided over the guest register.

The dining room was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli and stock. The bridesmaids bouquets formed the centerpiece for the buffet. The bride's table was centered with a large crystal plate containing tiny cakes and confections. Crystal candelabras holding white cathedral candles were placed on either side. A crystal punch bowl at one end was presided over by the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. W. Klanke, Houston, Tex. She was assisted by Miss Frances Tillman. At the opposite end the four-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. G. W. Robb, an aunt of the bride. Miss Sarita Johns assisted her.

For travel the bride wore a light gray suit with black accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. After a short wedding trip the couple are at home at 807 Mill St.

Mrs. Carter, a graduate of Waterproof High School, is now attending Northeast State College, where she is a member of the Yellow Jackets.

Mr. Carter, graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and received his degree in music this January from Northeast State College. He is a member of Alpha Theta Chi fraternity, the Northeast State College Music Club and the Music Educator's National conference. He is the band director at Crosley Elementary School in West Monroe.

Out - of - town guests were Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Klanke and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Robb of Houston, Tex.; Mrs. Lalla Akenhead, Miss Martha Marlow, Jimmy Fair, Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carter and John Carter, Mrs. Elaine Cox, James Phelps Jr., and Gene Hibbard, of West Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mullins and daughters, and Miss Gertrude Sandrock of the Northeast College faculty; Miss Frances Hooper, Miss Virginia Huff, Carolyn Holloway and Vina Sue Mucklerath, of Winnsboro.

Garden Club Beautifies Public Library

The Northside Garden Club of West Monroe in conjunction with The Junior Chamber of Commerce "Clean-up" campaign is busy landscaping the foundation beds around the West Monroe branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. The club was presented with a check from the Jaycees to help beautify a public building or neutral ground and they chose the Library. Since there were sufficient background shrubs already planted, their project is planting a border of Liriope, filling in with Pansies and Florodora roses. Along each side of the building they used Daylillies, Iris, and Nandinas with some annuals to use as cut flowers in the Library rooms. The club members who came and worked so diligently were Mrs. James Tippit, Mrs. J. W. Nettles, Mrs. Paul Eisenreich, Mrs. Judson Moore, Mrs. Archie White, Mrs. Jesse Webb, Mrs. Lathan Williams and Miss Eloween Tippit.

Mrs. John P. Lewis and Mr. Carey Holmes contributed shrubs to this project along with some much needed advice.

Bake sweet potatoes in a hot oven. They'll need from half an hour to forty five minutes, depending on their size and shape. When you can pierce their centers easily with a fork, they're done. As soon as the potatoes come out of the oven, break their skins slightly so steam will escape.

MRS. J. W. NETTLES AND MRS. JAMES TIPPITT work tirelessly with other members of the Northside Garden Club of West Monroe in their beautification program for the Library. This is in conjunction with the Junior Chamber of Commerce and their "Clean Up" campaign.

The bridesmaids, Miss Gloria Ford, sister of the bride, and Miss Martha Marlow, the bride's cousin, wore dresses of American beauty nylon net over taffeta with tight bodices and bouffant skirt, ballerina length. They also wore Juliet caps of matching material and carried small bouquets of pink carnations.

John A. Carter of West Monroe served his brother as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Eugene Cox, James Phelps Jr. and Max Peters.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held in the home of the L. O. Peters with Mr. and Mrs. Peters as hosts. Receiving with Mrs. Peters were Mrs. Ford, mother of the bride who was wearing a champagne faille crepe with a corsage of pink carnations, and Mrs. H. P. Carter, mother of the bridegroom, who chose a black shantung suit for the occasion. Her corsage was of feathered gladioli.

Miss Esta Ann Ford, sister of the bride, presided over the guest register.

The dining room was decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli and stock. The bridesmaids bouquets formed the centerpiece for the buffet. The bride's table was centered with a large crystal plate containing tiny cakes and confections. Crystal candelabras holding white cathedral candles were placed on either side. A crystal punch bowl at one end was presided over by the bride's aunt, Mrs. C. W. Klanke, Houston, Tex. She was assisted by Miss Frances Tillman. At the opposite end the four-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. G. W. Robb, an aunt of the bride. Miss Sarita Johns assisted her.

For travel the bride wore a light gray suit with black accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. After a short wedding trip the couple are at home at 807 Mill St.

Mrs. Carter, a graduate of Waterproof High School, is now attending Northeast State College, where she is a member of the Yellow Jackets.

Mr. Carter, graduated, from Ouachita Parish High School and received his degree in music this January from Northeast State College. He is a member of Alpha Theta Chi fraternity, the Northeast State College Music Club and the Music Educator's National conference. He is the band director at Crosley Elementary School in West Monroe.

Out - of - town guests were Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Klanke and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Robb of Houston, Tex.; Mrs. Lalla Akenhead, Miss Martha Marlow, Jimmy Fair, Baton Rouge; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Carter and John Carter, Mrs. Elaine Cox, James Phelps Jr., and Gene Hibbard, of West Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mullins and daughters, and Miss Gertrude Sandrock of the Northeast College faculty; Miss Frances Hooper, Miss Virginia Huff, Carolyn Holloway and Vina Sue Mucklerath, of Winnsboro.

MEMBERS OF THE NORTHSIDE GARDEN CLUB are busy landscaping the foundation beds around the West Monroe branch of the Ouachita Parish Library. Working are Mrs. Jesse Webb, Mrs. Paul Eisenreich and Mrs. Lathan Williams.

Garden Club Beautifies Public Library

The Northside Garden Club of West Monroe in conjunction with The Junior Chamber of Commerce "Clean-up" campaign is busy landscaping the foundation beds around the West Monroe branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. The club was presented with a check from the Jaycees to help beautify a public building or neutral ground and they chose the Library. Since there were sufficient background shrubs already planted, their project is planting a border of Liriope, filling in with Pansies and Florodora roses. Along each side of the building they used Daylilies, Iris, and Nandinas with some annuals to use as cut flowers in the Library rooms. The club members who came and worked so diligently were Mrs. James Tippit, Mrs. J. W. Nettles, Mrs. Paul Eisenreich, Mrs. Judson Moore, Mrs. Archie White, Mrs. Jesse Webb, Mrs. Lathan Williams and Miss Eloween Tippit.

Mrs. John P. Lewis and Mr. Carey Holmes contributed shrubs to this project along with some much needed advice.

Bake sweet potatoes in a hot oven. They'll need from half an hour to forty five minutes, depending on their size and shape. When you can pierce their centers easily with a fork, they're done. As soon as the potatoes come out of the oven, break their skins slightly so steam will escape.

MRS. J. W. NETTLES AND MRS. JAMES TIPPITT work tirelessly with other members of the Northside Garden Club of West Monroe in their beautification program for the Library. This is in conjunction with the Junior Chamber of Commerce and their "Clean Up" campaign.

Two Outstanding Events Honor 40th Anniversary Of Fort Miro Chapter DAR

Fort Miro Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will observe the 40th Anniversary of the Chapter's founding with two outstanding events. A luncheon honoring chapter members and ex-regents will be held at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club at 1:00 p.m. February 13, followed immediately by the unveiling of a monument marking the Baron DeBastrop Land Grant. The chapter takes it's name from the fort which originally occupied the site now known as Monroe, and which had been named Fort Miro in honor of the then Governor Don Estevan Miro, by the commandant, Don Juan Filhiol.

The first organizational meeting was held Feb. 7, 1914, whereas the charter was actually granted February 16, 1914. There were then six chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Louisiana, and Mrs. Peter Youree of Shreveport, was the state regent. Those signing the charter were:

Mrs. Bessie McKittrick Ownes, Mrs. Georgia Stubbs Barringer, Mrs. Florence Cason Brown, Mrs. Anna Gibbs Herring, Mrs. Letitia Blakemore Latham, Mrs. Gordie Fontaine Renwick, Mrs. India King Stubbs, Mrs. Katherine Whitfield Blanks, Mrs. Cecilia Hackney Evans, Mrs. Mae Fontaine Surghnor, organizing regent, and Mrs. Gertrude Mayfield Brown, Mrs. Mary Stahl Herring, Mrs. Bernice Renwick Nichols, Mrs. Estelle Weaks Riley, Mrs. Maude Flower Stubbs, Mrs. Jennie Belle Weaks Trousdale, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cryer McGuire.

There are eight charter members who are still active in the chapter. These are: Mrs. Georgia Stubbs Barringer, Mrs. T. O. Brown, Mrs. Joe Renwick, Mrs. Guy Stubbs, Mrs. J. C. Liner, Mrs. Frank Stubbs, Mrs. J. H. Trousdale and Mrs. Manning McGuire.

The organization lost no time in putting into effect its aims and goals with the result that almost immediately negotiations began for possession of the small building on the courthouse grounds, said to be the oldest building in Monroe, which is now known as Fort Miro chapter house. In 1917, during the regency of Mrs. Guy Stubbs, the police jury assigned the building to the D. A. R. and the chapter has made various repairs and renovations since that time.

In 1925 during the regency of Mrs. Joe Renwick, the pecan grove on D. A. R. Drive, at the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home was planted, while in 1930 fifty oak trees were planted on the Georgia Tucker School grounds. Mrs. Elmer Slagle was regent at that time.

During the period Mrs. C. E. Faulk served as regent two live oaks were planted on each of the school grounds in Monroe, and a room was furnished at G. B. Cooley Sanitorium, and during the regency of Mrs. W. E. Leigh the stone benches were placed at the chapter house. Under the leadership of Mrs. Jane O'Kelly Mitchell the chapter erected a marker at the site on South Grand Street where the Ouachita territory was transferred to the United States government by Spain.

Some of the accomplishments of the chapter cannot be pointed out as landmarks. For instance, during the 1944-1946 regency of Mrs. H. Austin Miller, more than $1000.00 was raised for war work, while Mrs. Mary Williams Davenport became organizing regent for a new chapter — Abraham Morehouse at Bastrop.

Those who have served the chapter as regent from the time of its organization to the present time are as follows: Mrs. Mae Fontaine Surghnor, Feb. 7, 1914 - Nov. 14, 1914; Mrs. Jennie Belle Weaks Trousdale - Nov. 14, 1914 to Nov. 13, 1915, also April 13, 1918 to Nov. 23, 1918; Mrs. India King Stubbs, Nov. 13, 1915 to Nov. 10, 1917 and December 1922 to May 12, 1923; Mrs. Gertrude Mayfield Brown, Nov. 10, 1917 to Nov. 23, 1918; Mrs. Bessie McKittrick Ownes, Nov. 23, 1918 to June 13, 1921, and Feb. 11, 1922 to Dec. 1922; Mrs. Madeline Blackshear Phillips, June 13, 1921 to Feb. 11, 1922; Mrs. T. O. Brown, May 12, 1923 to May 1924; Mrs. Ivy Causey Oliver, May 1924 to Nov. 1924; Mrs. Mary Hunt Major, Nov., 1924 to December 1924; Mrs. Gordie Fontaine Renwick, May 1925 to May 1928; Mrs. Elizabeth Patton Slade, May 1928 to May 1930; Mrs. Anna Wooten Slagle, May 1930 to May 1931; Mrs. Mary Williams Davenport, May 1931 to May 1933; Mrs. Flora Maxwell Potts, May 1933 to May 1935; Mrs. Josephine McClendon Faulk, May 1935 to May 1938; Mrs. Cynthia Fuller Leigh, May 1938 to May 1940; Mrs. Eleanor Faulk Cone, May 1940 to May 1942; Mrs. Jane O'Kelly Mitchell, May 1942 to May 1944; Mrs. Agnes Allen Miller, May 1944 to May 1946; Mrs. Bernice Renwick Liner, May 1946 to May 1948; Mrs. Gladys Broadway Sperry, May 1948 to May 1950; Mrs. Mary Hazel Long Meek, May 1950 to May 1952; Miss Francis Flander, May 1952 to present.

DEDICATION OF MARKER

Mrs. John Theus, Jr., chairman of Historic Markers for Fort Miro Chapter, D. A. R. has planned an outstanding program for the dedication of a marker of the Baron DeBastrop land grant at 3:30 p.m., February 13, 1954. This is the special 40th anniversary project of the chapter. Mrs. Herbert C. Parker, state regent, will perform the dedication, while Mrs. Darwin G. Nichols, descendent of the area's first commandant, Don Jaun Filhiol, will unveil the marker. The Hon. John E. Coon, mayor, will accept the marker on behalf of the City of Monroe.

The program will be opened by the Neville High School band, playing "The Star Spangled Banner," and the invocation given by Rev. W .H. McFadden, pastor, First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. W. E. Hicks, state historian, will lead the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Mrs. Charles M. Mitchell, honorary first vice regent, and well known Ouachita historian, will bring an address on "The Baron DeBastrop and the Colonization of the Ouachita Valley." The Rev. John M. Allin, pastor, Grace Episcopal Church, will pronounce the benediction.

Those assisting Mrs. Theus in arranging the program were, Mrs. George Snelling, Jr., Mrs. Travis Oliver, Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Abbington, and Mrs. Charles M. Mitchell.

To get more service from a bed sheet that's worn down the center, cut it lengthwise, sew the former outside edges together and hem the raw edges.

New Residents Honored At Informal Luncheon Friday

Mrs. J. W. Adcock entertained at a luncheon in her home at noon Friday in honor of Mrs. John Ferguson and Mrs. Sam Arnette, who have recently moved to Monroe.

Arrangements of spring flowers were used throughout the living room. Centering the luncheon table was a Valentine arrangement of violets and white doilies.

Guests enjoying the occasion with the honorees and hostess were: Mrs. Allen Barham; Mrs. Walter Schubert; Mrs. Burt Sperry; Mrs. Robert Butz; Mrs. John Ferguson; Mrs. Sam Arnette; Mrs. Jack Taylor; Mrs. James Brothers; Mrs. Morris Haas, Jr.; Mrs. W. J. Riley, Jr.; Mrs. Dan Moore, Jr.; Mrs. Tom Boyd Grayson; Mrs. Bennie House; Mrs. Clay Wilson and Mrs. James Gates.

Annell West Honored At Church Party

The Columbia Methodist Youth Fellowship entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lafferty on Wednesday honoring the college students who were home between semesters.

The high point of the evenings entertainment came when Miss Annell West popular bride - elect of Clayton James Jr., was presented with a grocers cart filled with kitchen utensils and gadgets. The Youth Fellowship took this opportunity to present their gift, a silver cream and sugar to the bride.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Lafferty were Rev. and Mrs. Sam Holladay, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds and Miss Bert Hearn.

Guests besides the honoree were Miss Lane West, Miss Lind Minard, Miss Margaret Minard, Miss Elizabeth McDaniel, Miss Jenny Reynolds, Miss Gwen Henry, Miss Carolyn Coates, Miss Ann Godfrey, Miss Ann Morris, Miss Sandra Upshaw, Miss Betty Warner, Donald Farrow, Johnny Crump, of Monroe, Jimmy Fisher, Harold Bauman, James Marvin Lafferty, Charlie Traylor, Orvis Harold Watson, John Holladay, Linus Carroll and Mickey Alford.

The National Institute of Dry Cleaning points out that some coating fabrics are designed for serviceability and durability; others for luxury and beauty. If, every day, you wear a coat not designed for hard service, you may expect it to look worn around the cuffs, collars, buttonholes, down the front edge and across the seat after one season's use.

Miss Foster, James Fulton Exchange Vows On Sunday

TALLULAH— The First Baptist church here was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Nancy Carolyn Foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Milton Foster exchanged vows with James Travis Fulton, son of Col. and Mrs. Codd Thomas Baird of Arcadia. The Rev. Irvin Cheney performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

White gladioli and fern in tall white baskets, gleaming cathedral candles in graduated floor standards entwined with ivy and sprays of ivy trailing from the choir loft, formed the pretty setting for the marriage. A single white candle in a base of ivy burned in each window and the pews were marked with white satin bows and ivy sprays.

Mrs. J. C. Sherwin, organist, was in charge of the wedding music. After the guests were assembled the mothers of the bridal couple were escorted to their seats by the ushers. Mrs. Foster was attired in navy with which she wore matching accessories and a red carnation corsage. Mrs. Baird chose a black taffeta model and a corsage of Dutch iris and yellow pompons.

Accompanied by Mrs. Sherwin, Miss Helen Logue sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because" and as a benediction at the close of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Elizabeth Ezell, Miss Marguerite Everett, Mrs. Ira Hugh Ervis and junior bridesmaid, Ann Roper wore identical dresses of varying shades of aqua taffeta, designed with fitted bodices and full skirts with which they wore matching stoles of net. They carried muffs to match their costumes on which were small bouquets of pink carnations. Miss Joy Massey, maid of honor wore a dress exactly like the maids except that hers was of a deeper shade of aqua.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white satin trimmed with lace appliqued on the yoke and lace panel down the front of the hooped skirt which extended into a court train. The long sleeves ended in lily points over the hands and the fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a small cap of lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of feathered carnations and tube roses centered with a yellow throated orchid.

The bridegroom had as his best man, his step father, Colonel Baird and the groomsmen were Larry Jordon, Charles Emmett Cummings, Ray Gilbert and Curtis McCrary.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Foster entertained with a reception in the church parlors which were beautifully decorated with white flowers, candles and greenery. When guests had greeted the wedding party and parents of the bride and groom they were invited to register in the bride's book by Mrs. Clyne Elledge. Miss Annette Smith presided at the punch bowl and the cake service was presided over by Miss Jean Burgess. Others assisting in the courtesies were Miss Helen Logue, Mrs. Bud King, Mrs. L. S. Grace, Mrs. W. A. Smith, Mrs. J. R. Sturdivant and Mrs. R. L. Laird.

For traveling the bride wore a beige suit with brown suede accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. The couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans.

Mrs. Fulton is a graduate of the Tallulah High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. She has been employed for several years at the Tallulah State Bank here. Mr. Fulton graduated at the Arcadia High School and is a senior in the School of Business Administration at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is a navy veteran having served in the South Pacific area.

Mrs. Free Is Feted At Party

Mrs. Heloise Terry entertained at a birthday party in honor of Mrs. Maxynne Free on Sunday evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

On the refreshment table overlaid with a handmade linen cloth, was an embossed birthday cake decorated in yellow and green. Tall yellow tapers in crystal candelabra were placed on each side of the cake. After a toast to the celebrant, a four course dinner was served by candlelight.

Heidenreich-Shepard Vows Are Pledged

Miss Frances Marie Shepard and Benny Marrette Heidenreich were united in marriage during double-ring rites read at six o'clock Saturday evening, January 30, in the Memorial Methodist Church by the Rev. Ralph Cain.

Salmon gladioli, southern smilax and greenery trailing from branched candelabra with white cathedral tapers formed a background for the wedding party.

Miss Shepard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huber F. Shepard and Mr. Heidenreich's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Heidenreich.

Candle lighters were Miss Elizabeth Ann Doane and Miss Anna Stokes. They were dressed in identical salmon colored models with blue dutch iris headbands.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chantilly lace and satin waltz-length gown with a bouffant skirt of Chantilly lace over matching satin. A pleated panel, ruffled around the bottom accentuated the front of the skirt. The fitted bodice was of lace over satin with a tulle yoke appliqued in clipped lace which was embroidered with seed pearls and sequins. The long tight sleeves came to points over the hand. She wore a Juliet cap of lace and satin embroidered with pearls and sequins which held her finger-tip veil of illusion. The bride carried a cascade of talisman roses with matching satin streamers.

Attendants

The matron of honor, Mrs. Sam Shepard of Shreveport, wore a gown of aqua blue velvet and blue net, with a fitted scalloped bodice of velvet and full net skirt over matching taffeta. Her headdress was fashion of salmon gladioli. She carried a bouquet of salmon colored glamellias.

Miss Marretta Heidenreich, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. She was dressed identical to the matron of honor and carried a matching bouquet of glamellias.

Mr. B. A. Heidenreich, father of the groom, served as best man.

Ushers were J. W. Richards, Jr., and Jimmy Guice of Winnsboro.

Mrs. Irene Nelson, organist, played wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Estelle Sanders who sang "Because" and "Perfect Love."

The bride's mother chose for the occasion, a turquoise faille model with pink tulle embroidered with rhinestones and sequins. She wore a turquoise hat and veil with long pink gloves and a corsage of white camellias.

HEIDENREICH-SHEPARD ATTENDANTS—Mrs. Sam Shepard of Shreveport (left) was matron of honor at the wedding of Miss Frances Shepard and Benny Heidenreich January 30 at the Memorial Methodist church. Miss Marretta Heidenreich (right) served as junior bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Heidenreich, was becomingly attired in a dusty pink faille gown featuring a round neckline embroidered with black sequins. She also wore a corsage of white glamellias and long black gloves.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in their home on South McGuire.

Guests were received by Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. G. M. Hidenreich, Mrs. B. A. Heidenreich, Mr. G. M. Hidenreich, the bridal couple and Mrs. Sam Shepard.

Pink camellias and tall pink tapers in silver holders decorated the book cases on each side of the mantel.

Pink camellias cascaded from a silver scroll on the bride's table which was centered with a wedding cake embossed in pink roses. Slender pink tapers in silver candleholders were placed on each side of the arrangement.

Mrs. J. W. Richards, Jr., kept the bride's register.

The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Pearl Reynolds. Assisting at the punch service were Miss Bettye Joe Roach, Miss Anna Stokes and Miss Elizabeth Doane.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans, the bride changed to a blue and brown wool suit with a white hat and gloves. Her corsage was of talisman roses. They will make their home in Newport, Rhode Island where the bridegroom is stationed in the Navy.

Out-Of-Town Guests

Those attending the wedding from out-of-town were: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Banks; Mr. Roy Van Dusen; Mrs. Carl Spence; Mrs. Bob Cox; Miss Sherwood Smith; Miss Lewis Smith; all of Malvern, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Shepard of Dallas, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shepard of Newport, R. I.; Mrs. B. A. Heidenreich of McComb, Miss.; Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McGeever and family of Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Church Ceremony Unites Couple

In a beautiful church ceremony at 5:30 in the afternoon recently, Miss Mary Ann Hixson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ottis Hixson, became the bride of Rev. Joe Wayne McClain, son of Mrs. O. W. Erette of Selmer, Tenn.

The wedding was solemnized in the Memorial Methodist Church of Monroe, the Rev. Ralph Cain, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with southern smilax and baskets of white gladioli. Wrought iron candelabras held slender cathedral tapers. A concert of prenuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Harvey Nelson. She accompanied Mrs. C. M. Frey, as she sang, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Candles were lighted by Miss Jo Ann Cotton, cousin of the bride and Miss Betty Hixson, sister of the bride. The bride entered on the arm of her father and was lovely in her white costume suit with rhinestones and seed pearl trim. Her hat was pale blue. With this she wore navy accessories and carried pink roses mounted on a white satin Bible.

Miss Sandra McAdams was maid of honor. She wore a navy suit with grey accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mr. Malcolm Moore served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The coffee service was placed at one end of the table. Mrs. Irene Johnston, assisted at the coffee service, Mrs. George R. Harrington served the wedding cake. Mrs. W. A. Cotton, received the guests at the door.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School and attended Northeast State College.

Mr. McClain graduated from Selmer High School of Selmer, Tenn., and is attending college in Jackson, Tenn.

Shortly after the reception, the newly weds left for Jackson, where they will reside.

Out of town guests for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Erette, of Selmer, Tenn., Mr. Bill McClain, of Selmer, Tenn., Mr. C. E. Hixson of Lake Charles, Mrs. J. L. Keep Handbag Neat—Clean

Most of us don't have too much trouble tending the essentials of daily grooming. It's the jobs that need to be done only occasionally that usually are forgotten.

Evidence of this is found in observing some of the handbags that are being toted around town. Overstuffed and dull - looking, they obviously are the victims of neglectful owners.

For, given just a little attention now and then, most handbags will maintain their smart appearance through considerable wear.

A good, leather bag can be counted on to give years of excellent service if one remembers to give it a rest every few days, not to overstuff it, and to give it an occasional cleaning.

Bags made of calf and other leathers, except suede and patent, should be cleaned with saddle soap. Apply a thick lather with a sponge and allow to dry thoroughly. Then restore the gleaming finish with a coat of neutral polish.

Suede bags should be cleaned very carefully with a rubber-bristled brush or a wire brush that has very fine bristles. Stains can be removed with a soap eraser or an ordinary pencil eraser.

An occasional application of neutral cream polish or a special black polish will keep a patent-leather bag looking its best. The polish will lubricate the bag sufficiently to prevent cracking.

When you are planning a buffet menu, include those main - course foods that can be served on a single plate. Unless you are going to have small tables at which guests can seat themselves, it's best to serve fork-foods. Any bread, rolls or biscuits served, should be buttered ahead of time.

Worn-out blankets need not be tossed away. Just stitch the outer edges together and cover then with a comfort cover. You'll have a coverlet that will give you good service.

Miss Foster, James Fulton Exchange Vows On Sunday

TALLULAH— The First Baptist church here was the scene of a beautiful wedding on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Nancy Carolyn Foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Milton Foster exchanged vows with James Travis Fulton, son of Col. and Mrs. Codd Thomas Baird of Arcadia. The Rev. Irvin Cheney performed the impressive double ring ceremony.

White gladioli and fern in tall white baskets, gleaming cathedral candles in graduated floor standards entwined with ivy and sprays of ivy trailing from the choir loft, formed the pretty setting for the marriage. A single white candle in a base of ivy burned in each window and the pews were marked with white satin bows and ivy sprays.

Mrs. J. C. Sherwin, organist, was in charge of the wedding music. After the guests were assembled the mothers of the bridal couple were escorted to their seats by the ushers. Girl Scout News

As this is written, the day is sunny and warm, the kind that makes everybody want to get out of doors to soak up sunshine, plant flowers, play golf, or go camping. Hope the weather cooperated with Troop 3 for its overnight at Pine Wood and with the troops that went out to plant trees yesterday.

Mrs. James Bowers and Lorraine Ragland accompanied the girls of Troop 3 Friday for their first overnight. The girls thought it would be fun to spend the night and be there Saturday to join with other troops to plant the pine trees. For activities the girls planned to cook two meals out of doors yesterday and to do other activities on the Campcraft badge. They planned to sleep indoors this time and go back again later when they can sleep on the porch or in the new cabin.

Troop 37 is having a lot of fun these days and doing good deeds as well. Best of all, all four women who work with the troop, Marie Wilds, Edna Shaughnessy, Joan Cook and Lin Dyer are having just as much fun as the girls. That is as it should be.

Did you see the picture in the newspaper of three girls of Troop 37 giving a can with March of Dimes money to Mr. Holloway? The girls decided, it seems, that helping the March of Dimes would be one way in which they could serve the community, so the set out to see how much they could earn.

With the cooperation of their families they took on all kinds of extra jobs at home, such as polishing the family's shoes, polishing silver, raking leaves, running errands, taking care of younger children. Parents were delighted to reward such good deeds for a cause. Result was more than $13.00 in the collection can turned in to Mr. Holloway.

Another recent good deed was the planting of a shrub on Our Lady of Fatima school grounds. The busy Scouts of Troop 37 are: Joan Battaglia, Virginia Conte, Gail Dyer, Delores Fontana, Elissa Lozano, Martha Lucas, Diane Macknick, Rose Mary Masters, Sarah Shaughnessy, Mary Louise Thomas, Connie Trout, Maria Varino, Rosalie Varino, Veronica Wilds and Cecie Wood.

Troop 6, Brownies of Plum Street school had the most fun using buddy burners and tin can stoves at a recent meeting. In case you aren't in the know, a buddy burner is a small can containing rolled corrugated cardboard and half filled with paraffin. When lighted, it furnished enough heat to cook on a number 10 can placed over it. Pancakes are a lot of fun cooked on a tin can stove, but these girls, using two more cans and three nails, made hobo ovens and cooked gingerbread. If it sounds too complicated to you grownups, go to the out of door training now being held at the office on Friday mornings.

Mrs. J. M. Neighbors, Mrs. C. E. Carter, and Mrs. W. H. Chambliss are the adults who work with these Brownies.

Troop 10, Mrs. W. A. Lewis, leader, is enjoying its new meeting place at St. Paul's Methodist Church. This troop, now in its sixth year, is always a busy one, most of the members planning to achieve First Class rank before the end of the year.

The camp committee says there will be someone at camp for the next two Saturdays, the 13th and the 20th, to help plant trees. Any leader can plan to go out on those Saturdays. It's a good chance, the committee says, to get in those out of door activities every girl wants and needs. The Girl Planning Board meets at camp on the 13th. Don't forget.

News From The Public Library

Recent additions to the book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library will prove interesting to every type of reader. In the field of fiction there are several titles that you will want to read. "The Little Ark" by Jan De Hartog is a novel based on the floods which swept Holland in the spring of 1953. The hero of this story is a small boy, Jan Brink. This is the story of how he and his sister Adinda braved the floods and found them a magnificent adventure. "Around the Rugged Rock" by Elizabeth Cadell is another book by the English author who is an expert in creating a particular blend of warmth and madness in a carefree comedy of manners and morals. The setting is in Spain, but most of the characters are English. This is a perfectly delightful book, for anyone who wishes to read a book to fill in a dull hour. "The Untidy Pilgrim" by Eugene Walter has its setting in Mobile and is a gay rollicking story with which to pass an idle hour. "The Imposter" by Noel Gerson has its setting in the late 17th century, in one of the islands of the West Indies. It is a story of intrigue and action and will have a special appeal for men. "Indigo Bend" by Alice Walworth Graham is another of her novels with a background in Natchez. It is the story of a family after the Civil War and the problem which beset them. This is a good story of the period and the characters are well done. It is a book which should be very popular.

In the non-fiction field there are a number of books that have interesting possibilities. Music lovers will be interested in the Burl Ives Song book. It contains 115 songs which are taken from Burl Ives large repertoire. Each one has the piano accompaniment and the guitar chords. This is really a wonderful collection of American folk songs. Books of interior decoration are always popular. The latest book of this type is "Old Rooms For New Living" by Narcissa Chamberlain. It is a book which tells how to adapt early American interiors for modern comfort. The illustrations in black and white are especially good. Cook books are always popular and the newest one in the library collection is "The Toll House Cook Book" by Ruth Wakefield. This is a collection of recipes from one of the most famous Inns in New England. The illustrations in color are most tempting.

Three interesting biographies are among the new books in the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Mary Tudor" by H.F.M. Prescott is considered one of the best biographies that has ever been written about this interesting figure of English history. "Yesterday Today and Forever" by Maria Augusta Trapp is the story of the religious experience of an entire family, the family whom we have known as the Trapp family singers. "The Lady and the Lumberjack" by Olive Barber is the story of a school teacher who married a logger. In recounting the highlights of her life as a logger's wife, Olive Barber has captured the vitality, the raucous humor the joys and heartbreaks of a dangerous life that few men would choose and fewer women could share.

If any of these books appeal to your interests, contact your branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library at once.

Relax Often For Beauty

It is not mere accident that some women past 40 retain their youthful appearance and vigor.

These women, the ones whose interests are as varied as a twenty-year-old's, who are alert mentally and socially, have one beauty secret in common: they know the value of proper pampering.

Constant pampering of the body never does anyone any good, be she young or old. But taking time out to restore enthusiasm is essential for successful living.

As active as they manage to be, these women who are adding years gracefully, schedule a beauty rest every day. They have learned that just a brief rest can mean the difference between ending the day on a high or low note.

So they recline for 15 or 20 minutes with their feet higher than their heads to stimulate the circulation of blood. And they restore the sparkle of their eyes by covering them with soothing pads during the quarter hour.

Double-Duty Purse Vanity Is Designed

It's both good manners and good strategy to confine one's facial grooming to the bed or powder room.

No one enjoys observing a girl improving on nature. Some men find it most disillusioning.

But there are times when it becomes necessary to bring forth a compact and lipstick for repairs. At such times, a girl should be prepared to act discreetly, making just a quick touch-up.

And she should act prettily, using attractive beauty aids with a dainty, clean puff.

Designed for such service is a new purse vanity that is being offered by a well-known cosmetic house. Shaped like a miniature hand mirror, it couples a cream powder compact and a nonsmear lipstick.

So the girl who must repair smeared lipstick during a dinner engagement can do her work gracefully and unobtrusively.

The company points out that its double-duty make-up holder will also help a girl to keep her handbag well organized and uncluttered.

The hinged compact is fitted with a mirror and topped by a golden cover that's embossed with a powder-puff design. The handle, which contains the lipstick, is of pearly white plastic.

Another feature of the holder, the company says, is that refills are available for the cream powder, which is offered in eight shades. The lipstick comes in more than a dozen shades.

Spread thin slices of veal with bread stuffing, then roll the meat around the stuffing and fasten with toothpicks. Panfry in hot fat, then add a little liquid, cover and simmer for about three-quarters of an hour. The gravy in the pan may be thickened, if desired, before serving. Add any seasonings you prefer at the time you add the liquid to the stuffed veal rolls.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. HOLSTEAD

Couple Pledge Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Opal Collinsworth, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Collinsworth of Winnsboro, became the bride of William D. Holstead, son of Mrs. Corrine Kliensehmidt of West Monroe, in an impressive double ring ceremony at the Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe. The Rev. Hugh Bradshaw read the nuptial vows.

Mrs. Stewart Scott rendered a concert of organ music and accompanied Jack Smith as he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her brother, J. B. Collinsworth, the bride was wearing a navy blue suit trimmed in white with white gloves and a hat of white orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of dendrobium orchids mounted on a white Bible with white streamers of carnations.

Miss Anne Canterbury was maid of honor. She wore a mauve spring suit with white gloves and a white hat. Her corsage was of white feathered carnations.

The groom was attended by J. W. McClendon who served as best man.

The bridegroom's mother chose for the occasion a grey flannel suit with white gloves, a velour hat with jewels and a corsage of carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents immediately following the ceremony.

White candles and greenery were placed at vantage points throughout the reception suite. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was placed at one end of the table opposite the punch bowl.

Miss Lucy Klienschmidt, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch service. Mrs. Jack Thompson and Miss Patsy Davis served the wedding cake.

The bride's register was kept by Mrs. J. W. McClendon.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, they are making their home at 410 South First Street, West Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Winnsboro High School. Mr. Holstead graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and Louisiana Tech.

Out-of-town guests are: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Folds of Winnsboro; Mrs. J. B. Collinsworth and Jo Ann, Mrs. Nancy Wallace of Downsville; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Howard of Delhi; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stephenson of Rayville.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. HOLSTEAD

Couple Pledge Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Opal Collinsworth, daughter of Mrs. A. B. Collinsworth of Winnsboro, became the bride of William D. Holstead, son of Mrs. Corrine Klienschmidt of West Monroe, in an impressive double ring ceremony at the Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe. The Rev. Hugh Bradshaw read the nuptial vows.

Mrs. Stewart Scott rendered a concert of organ music and accompanied Jack Smith as he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her brother, J. B. Collinsworth, the bride was wearing a navy blue suit trimmed in white with white gloves and a hat of white orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of dendrobium orchids mounted on a white Bible with white streamers of carnations.

Miss Anne Canterbury was maid of honor. She wore a mauve spring suit with white gloves and a white hat. Her corsage was of white feathered carnations.

The groom was attended by J. W. McClendon who served as best man.

The bridegroom's mother chose for the occasion a grey flannel suit with white gloves, a velour hat with jewels and a corsage of carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents immediately following the ceremony.

White candles and greenery were placed at vantage points throughout the reception suite. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth. The three - tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was placed at one end of the table opposite the punch bowl.

Miss Lucy Klienschmidt, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch service. Mrs. Jack Thompson and Miss Patsy Davis served the wedding cake.

The bride's register was kept by Mrs. J. W. McClendon.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, they are making their home at 410 South First Street, West Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Winnsboro High School. Mr. Holstead graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and Louisiana Tech.

Out - of - town guests are: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Folds of Winnsboro; Mrs. J. B. Collinsworth and Jo Ann, Mrs. Nancy Wallace of Downsville; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Howard of Delhi; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stephenson of Rayville.

LA CARA-MILETTELLO WEDDING ATTENDANTS—Miss Anna Danna served as bridesmaid, Miss Mary Elizabeth La Cara, maid of honor, and Mrs. A. C. Warlick, Jr., matron of honor at the recent wedding at St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

Nuptial Mass Unites Couple

A nuptial ceremony united Miss Mary Jo Miletello and Lt. Joe M. LaCara in St. Matthew's Catholic Church, January 21. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miletello and Lt. LaCara is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam LaCara, both of this city.

Mrs. Della Williams, organist, provided the nuptial music and accompanied Tony Danna who sang Gounod's Ave Maria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional white satin bridal gown with a full train. A crown of pearls held her veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of feathered white carnations and white orchids.

Mrs. A. C. Warlick Jr. was the matron of honor. Miss Mary E. LaCara served as maid of honor and Miss Anna Dana was the bridesmaid. They wore net and satin ballerina length dresses with full net skirts and matching net stoles. They carried crescent shaped bouquets of blue iris and feathered pink carnations. They wore floral crowns of pink carnations.

For her daughters' wedding Mrs. Miletello wore a navy suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. LaCara chose a black faille suit. She also wore an orchid.

John D. Cameron served as best man and the ushers were Lewis Miletello, A. C. Warlick Jr., and Sam Danna.

Following the ceremony the bridal party was entertained at a luncheon in the Cajun Room of the Rendezvous. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miletello, Mr. and Mrs. Sam LaCara, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Warlick, Jr., Miss Anna Danna, Miss Mary E. LaCara, Miss Eleanor Wilder, Mr. J. D. Cameron, Mr. Lewis Miletello and Mr. Anthony Danna.

When the couple left on their wedding trip the bride wore a Mayflower worsted flannel suit with navy accessories. A hat of seed pearls and rhinestones and the white orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. LaCara attended Livonia High School. The bridegroom was graduated from St. Matthews High School and Louisiana State University. He is now a lieutenant in the armed services. The couple are making their home in Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. until Lt. LaCara receives orders for overseas duty.

Start Planning Spring Outfits

With winter winds still howling, it may seem a bit premature to you, teen-agers, to think of spring wardrobes. But if you're grooming-wise, you'd do well to start your planning now.

Fashion editors already have begun to preview the new designs, so the first thing you might do is study these styles in your newspaper.

Take the time to read several accounts so that you will fully grasp the trend. You will know very little of the fashion story if you do not go beyond the discovery that the slim silhouette continues most important.

After you know the important lines, detailing and colors, think of them in relation to your figure, personality type and coloring.

Then, for example, if you have a weight problem you can use your newly gained fashion knowledge to find a fashion-right substitute for the reed-like numbers that are now receiving acclaim.

If you have either leftover baby fat or protruding bones, you should pass by the figure-hugging styles for models that are kinder to imperfections.

By beginning now to plan your spring wardrobe, you will also have the time to outline a color scheme that will include shades that not only are fashion-favored, but are becoming to you and practical for the occasions they will meet.

Only when one is willing to give some thought and time to it, can a girl find costumes that will be both figure-right and budget-right while adhering to fashion's dictates.

Here's a quick and efficient way to pit cooked prunes. Hold a prune between the thumb and forefinger of your left hand. Use a small sharp knife to make a slit in the prune; now insert your left thumb an droll out the pit.

Small holes in linoleum can be patched by filling them with a mixture of finely grated cork and liquid glue. After they're quite dry, use a thin coat of clear varish over the patches.

Bono Nostrorum Club Met In Mangham

The Bono Nostrorum Club met in the home of Mrs. Maude Parham with Mrs. H. G. Tillman as co-hostess, for its first meeting of the new year.

The president, Mrs. H. L. Murray, called the meeting to order and asked Mrs. W. C. McKay to lead in prayer. Due to the absence of Mrs. C. J. Windham, Mrs. T. G. McKay acted as leader. She introduced Mrs. C. N. Underwood, the speaker of the evening, whose subject was "The Magic of Minerals."

"The study of minerals opens a new world. It leads by pleasurable steps, into the great outdoors. It shows why the waves wear away one part of a rocky ledge more rapidly than another, why the diamond shows such a wealth of rainbow colors, why ice floats on water.

"Recent discoveries in mineralogy, and its related subject, chemistry, are making the world over. New uses are being found for minerals previously supposed to be worthless. The study of minerals acquaints us with one of the world's greatest sources of wealth, second only to agriculture. Fortunes have been lost by lack of knowledge of minerals; fortunes may be won, and certainly a wealth of pleasure derived from the study of minerals.

Some knowledge of minerals is essential to culture. There are many references to them in literature; art is dependent upon them for many of its colors; science finds minerals one of its major bulwarks. They are as necessary to life as food, and enter in unnumbered ways into our every day life, contributing immeasurably to our happiness and comfort, and to the progress of the world.

The story of the makeup of minerals in one of the most thrilling tales ever told. Chemists had long claimed that the atom is the smallest part of an element which takes part in a chemical change. It was believed that the atom was an absolutely unchangeable unit, but in 1898, Dr. and Madam Curie discovered an element which they called radium, that simply overturned the theories about the atom. They showed that this element was constantly disintergrating, some of its atoms exploding and shooting off into space atoms of the gaseous element helium, at the incredible initial velocity of about twelve thousand miles a second. In addition to the helium, they proved that there were other "emanations" among which were negative particles of electricity. Scientists all over the world were much puzzled by these discoveries, and set to work to account for them. Finally, they came to the conclusion that the electrical particles could come from no other source than inside the atoms of radium. Soon they evolved the electrons theory.

The crystal is the flower of the mineral kingdom. A crystal of a mineral is the regular form which it assumes as the result of the attraction between the atoms of which it is built being exerted in process of formation.

Crystals are found (1) loose in a cavity in the rock in which they were formed; (2) attached to the rock or a mass of the same, or to some other mineral; (3) embedded in the rock.

Quartz crystals are widely distributed. In Hot Springs, Ark. they occur in clusters of beautiful attached crystals. Here has been built what is called the Crystal Cave. It is native rock on the outside while the three rooms are completely lined with native crystals. Most of them are clear, but some are tinted. It took father and son twenty-seven years to mine and build this Cave. It is an inspiring sight to see these creations of nature, the points of the crystals clear and glittering all around you. In the yard are specimens over five feet tall. One has an Indian maiden's face inside it, another has a bubble that moves up and down.

A most interesting exibition of magnatism among minerals is the loadstone. This remarkable mineral will not only pick up small objects of iron or steel, but when allowed to swing freely, will always come to rest in the same position—a certain part being toward the magnetic pole.

Mrs. Underwood exhibited about twenty specimens of minerals including salt from Winnfield, gypsum from Winn Parish, and lead from Joplin, Missouri.

A business meeting followed and these officers were elected to serve in 1954-55:

President Miss Ethel Watson; Vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Jones; Sec.-treas., Miss Virgie Evans; Corresp.-sec., Mrs. W. C. McKay; Parliamentarian, Mrs. B. N. Hixon.

The subject chosen for next year was book reviews. There being no further business delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames E. D. Baker, B. N. Hixon, C. W. Jones, Mary Laird, Maude Parham, C. E. Tillman, C. N. Underwood, Nettie Watson, H. G. Tillman, W. C. McKay, T. G. McKay, Misses Ethel Watson, Kate Talbort, and Virgie Evans.

Follow these three rules if you want to prevent heat tints on stainless steel cooking ware. Use only enough heat to cook the food. Do not apply heat to an empty pan. Avoid concentrated heat on a small area.

If you don't have some other cold dry place to store a bottle or can of olive oil, put it in your refrigerator. The oil will solidify, but if it is placed at room temperature a short time before it is to be used, it will melt.

Learn Basic Rules To Guard Pet's Health

NEW YORK —(NEA)— One of the many tasks that falls in the domain of the housewife is the care of the family pet. Knowing just what to do to keep a dog (for example) in sound health can relieve the woman of the house of both worry and heavy bills from a veterinarian.

The first basic rule in the care of any pet is a sound one that applies to humans: A thorough checkup by a doctor (veterinarian) once a year. Some dog lovers make this regular practice instead of buying their pets expensive toys or fancy trappings.

Almost anything that can happen to a human being in the way of sickness can happen to a dog or cat: arthritis, cancer, heart disease, nutritional deficiency disorders. Asthma is common among dogs with flattened noses, like the bull terrier and bulldog.

There are some half - dozen types of worms that may infest your puppy or grown dog. Each has its own characteristics and takes special treatment by a veterinarian.

Poisoning is the one thing dog owners fear most for their pets. Best rule is to prevent your dog from eating objects he picks up on the street. Nearly all of them try it. Most important factor in saving a dog that's been poisoned is speed. If you can't reach a vet at once, take steps yourself to save your pet's life.

First, empty the dog's stomach by mixing hydrogen peroxide (use regular drugstore strength of 3 per cent) and water, half-and-half, and pour it down his throat. Use a tablespoon of this mixture for each 10 pounds of body weight.

This should cause vomiting within two minutes. Warm salt water is also effective for this purpose.

When the vomiting has stopped, give the dog a teaspoon of epsom salts in a little water to empty the intestines. But never administer a laxative intended for humans.

Peroxide is an antidote for the phosphorus often used in rat poisons and epsom salts are helpful in clearing up lead poisoning.

These tips and many others come from J. W. Cunkelman, D. V. M., of the veterinary division research laboratories of a large meat packing company. He suggests that in case of food poisoning, you give an enema of water before administering epsom salts. And in all cases of poisoning, get your pet to a veterinarian as soon as possible.

Foot injuries are so common that every dog owner should know how to deal with them. If a nail is broken, clip away the broken part at once. For surface bleeding, use hydrogen peroxide. As dressing, secure a piece of cotton with adhesive tape. If your dog's feet should become frostbitten, massage them gently and bandage them with some soft material.

Most important, pay attention to symptoms. Don't neglect injuries and don't attempt to doctor a dog for any length of time without expert help.

Use bread at least half an inch thick, for best results, when you are toasting sandwiches in an electric sandwich grill.

MR. AND MRS. MARTIN ANTON KUTZ

Kutz-Cowan Vows Said In Church Ceremony

St. Matthew Catholic Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Betty Jo Cowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cowan of this city, and Martin Anton Kutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Kutz. The Father Dave Dabria officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Della Williamson was organist and accompanied Miss Sarah Batton who sang "Ava Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a two-piece chiffon velvet model with lace mittens and a hat of white orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a white orchid with a yellow throat surrounded by white carnations with white satin streamers.

Mrs. June Ferrington served as maid of honor. She was attired in a beige faille dress with blue accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with blue satin streamers.

Joseph S. Lasuzzo served the groom as best man. Gene Cowan, brother of the bride, was usher.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion an orchid suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother was wearing a black suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the La Casa Tea Room immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. On each side of the cake were arrangements of white carnations.

Mrs. La Trelle Nicosia presided at the guest book.

Serving cake at the refreshment table was Miss Lafaye Kilgore. Assisting at the coffee service were Mrs. Cecia Rawls and Miss Betty Holstead.

Following a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn., and Lexington, Ky., the couple are making their home at 507 North Sixth street, West Monroe.

The bride attended Ouachita Parish High School and graduated from Ruston High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Matthew School and recently returned from Korea where he served in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Miss Lafaye Kilgore of Ruston; Mrs. Edna Sompayrac of Shreveport; Mrs. Maude Shivers of Winnfield; Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Fulco of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Al Nicosia of Oakdale; Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Fulco of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Jules J. Maricelli of Campti; Mr. Clyde Desadier of Campti.

The label that comes with your dress, suit or sweater tells you how the fabric should be handled (laundered or dry - cleaned). It often includes other special instructions. Never throw this label away; file it for future reference.

Bono Nostrorum Club Met In Mangham

The Bono Nostrorum Club met in the home of Mrs. Maude Parham with Mrs. H. G. Tillman as co-hostess, for its first meeting of the new year.

The president, Mrs. H. L. Murray, called the meeting to order and asked Mrs. W. C. McKay to lead in prayer. Due to the absence of Mrs. C. J. Windham, Mrs. T. G. McKay acted as leader. She introduced Mrs. C. N. Underwood, the speaker of the evening, whose subject was "The Magic of Minerals."

"The study of minerals opens a new world. It leads by pleasurable steps, into the great outdoors. It shows why the waves wear away one part of a rocky ledge more rapidly than another, why the diamond shows such a wealth of rainbow colors, why ice floats on water.

"Recent discoveries in mineralogy, and its related subject, chemistry, are making the world over. New uses are being found for minerals previously supposed to be worthless. The study of minerals acquaints us with one of the world's greatest sources of wealth, second only to agriculture. Fortunes have been lost by lack of knowledge of minerals; fortunes may be won, and certainly a wealth of pleasure derived from the study of minerals.

Some knowledge of minerals is essential to culture. There are many references to them in literature; art is dependent upon them for many of its colors; science finds minerals one of its major bulwarks. They are as necessary to life as food, and enter in unnumbered ways into our every day life, contributing immeasurably to our happiness and comfort, and to the progress of the world.

The story of the makeup of minerals in one of the most thrilling tales ever told. Chemists had long claimed that the atom is the smallest part of an element which takes part in a chemical change. It was believed that the atom was an absolutely unchangeable unit, but in 1898, Dr. and Madam Curie discovered an element which they called radium, that simply overturned the theories about the atom. They showed that this element was constantly disintergrating, some of its atoms exploding and shooting off into space atoms of the gaseous element helium, at the incredible initial velocity of about twelve thousand miles a second. In addition to the helium, they proved that there were other "emanations" among which were negative particles of electricity. Scientists all over the world were much puzzled by these discoveries, and set to work to account for them. Finally, they came to the conclusion that the electrical particles could come from no other source than inside the atoms of radium. Soon they evolved the electrons theory.

The crystal is the flower of the mineral kingdom. A crystal of a mineral is the regular form which it assumes as the result of the attraction between the atoms of which it is built being exerted in process of formation.

Crystals are found (1) loose in a cavity in the rock in which they were formed; (2) attached to the rock or a mass of the same, or to some other mineral; (3) embedded in the rock.

Quartz crystals are widely distributed. In Hot Springs, Ark. they occur in clusters of beautiful attached crystals. Here has been built what is called the Crystal Cave. It is native rock on the outside while the three rooms are completely lined with native crystals. Most of them are clear, but some are tinted. It took father and son twenty-seven years to mine and build this Cave. It is an inspiring sight to see these creations of nature, the points of the crystals clear and glittering all around you. In the yard are specimens over five feet tall. One has an Indian maiden's face inside it, another has a bubble that moves up and down.

A most interesting exibition of magnatism among minerals is the loadstone. This remarkable mineral will not only pick up small objects of iron or steel, but when allowed to swing freely, will always come to rest in the same position—a certain part being toward the magnetic pole.

Mrs. Underwood exhibited about twenty specimens of minerals including salt from Winnfield, gypsum from Winn Parish, and lead from Joplin, Missouri.

A business meeting followed and these officers were elected to serve in 1954-55:

President Miss Ethel Watson; Vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Jones; Sec.-treas., Miss Virgie Evans; Corresp.-sec., Mrs. W. C. McKay; Parliamentarian, Mrs. B. N. Hixon.

The subject chosen for next year was book reviews. There being no further business delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames E. D. Baker, B. N. Hixon, C. W. Jones, Mary Laird, Maude Parham, C. E. Tillman, C. N. Underwood, Nettie Watson, H. G. Tillman, W. C. McKay, T. G. McKay, Misses Ethel Watson, Kate Talbort, and Virgie Evans.

Follow these three rules if you want to prevent heat tints on stainless steel cooking ware. Use only enough heat to cook the food. Do not apply heat to an empty pan. Avoid concentrated heat on a small area.

If you don't have some other cold dry place to store a bottle or can of olive oil, put it in your refrigerator. The oil will solidify, but if it is placed at room temperature a short time before it is to be used, it will melt.

Learn Basic Rules To Guard Pet's Health

NEW YORK —(NEA)— One of the many tasks that falls in the domain of the housewife is the care of the family pet. Knowing just what to do to keep a dog (for example) in sound health can relieve the woman of the house of both worry and heavy bills from a veterinarian.

The first basic rule in the care of any pet is a sound one that applies to humans: A thorough checkup by a doctor (veterinarian) once a year. Some dog lovers make this regular practice instead of buying their pets expensive toys or fancy trappings.

Almost anything that can happen to a human being in the way of sickness can happen to a dog or cat: arthritis, cancer, heart disease, nutritional deficiency disorders. Asthma is common among dogs with flattened noses, like the bull terrier and bulldog.

There are some half - dozen types of worms that may infest your puppy or grown dog. Each has its own characteristics and takes special treatment by a veterinarian.

Poisoning is the one thing dog owners fear most for their pets. Best rule is to prevent your dog from eating objects he picks up on the street. Nearly all of them try it. Most important factor in saving a dog that's been poisoned is speed. If you can't reach a vet at once, take steps yourself to save your pet's life.

First, empty the dog's stomach by mixing hydrogen peroxide (use regular drugstore strength of 3 per cent) and water, half-and-half, and pour it down his throat. Use a tablespoon of this mixture for each 10 pounds of body weight.

This should cause vomiting within two minutes. Warm salt water is also effective for this purpose.

When the vomiting has stopped, give the dog a teaspoon of epsom salts in a little water to empty the intestines. But never administer a laxative intended for humans.

Peroxide is an antidote for the phosphorus often used in rat poisons and epsom salts are helpful in clearing up lead poisoning.

These tips and many others come from J. W. Cunkelman, D. V. M., of the veterinary division research laboratories of a large meat packing company. He suggests that in case of food poisoning, you give an enema of water before administering epsom salts. And in all cases of poisoning, get your pet to a veterinarian as soon as possible.

Foot injuries are so common that every dog owner should know how to deal with them. If a nail is broken, clip away the broken part at once. For surface bleeding, use hydrogen peroxide. As dressing, secure a piece of cotton with adhesive tape. If your dog's feet should become frostbitten, massage them gently and bandage them with some soft material.

Most important, pay attention to symptoms. Don't neglect injuries and don't attempt to doctor a dog for any length of time without expert help.

Use bread at least half an inch thick, for best results, when you are toasting sandwiches in an electric sandwich grill.

Kutz-Cowan Vows Said In Church Ceremony

St. Matthew Catholic Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Betty Jo Cowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cowan of this city, and Martin Anton Kutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Kutz. The Father Dave Dabria officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Della Williamson was organist and accompanied Miss Sarah Batton who sang "Ava Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a two-piece chiffon velvet model with lace mittens and a hat of white orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a white orchid with a yellow throat surrounded by white carnations with white satin streamers.

Mrs. June Ferrington served as maid of honor. She was attired in a beige faille dress with blue accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with blue satin streamers.

Joseph S. Lasuzzo served the groom as best man. Gene Cowan, brother of the bride, was usher.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion an orchid suit with matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's mother was wearing a black suit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the La Casa Tea Room immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. On each side of the cake were arrangements of white carnations.

Mrs. La Trelle Nicosia presided at the guest book.

Serving cake at the refreshment table was Miss Lafaye Kilgore. Assisting at the coffee service were Mrs. Cecia Rawls and Miss Betty Holstead.

Following a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn., and Lexington, Ky., the couple are making their home at 507 North Sixth street, West Monroe.

The bride attended Ouachita Parish High School and graduated from Ruston High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Matthew School and recently returned from Korea where he served in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Miss Lafaye Kilgore of Ruston; Mrs. Edna Sompayrac of Shreveport; Mrs. Maude Shivers of Winnfield; Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Fulco of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Al Nicosia of Oakdale; Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Fulco of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Jules J. Maricelli of Campti; Mr. Clyde Desadier of Campti.

The label that comes with your dress, suit or sweater tells you how the fabric should be handled (laundered or dry - cleaned). It often includes other special instructions. Never throw this label away; file it for future reference.

Quilting Enjoys New Popularity

Fancy quilts lavish with color, pattern and exquisite handstitching spread their warmth and beauty as graciously in modern settings as they did in grandmother's home.

And I don't mean just the cherished heirloom you were lucky enough to inherit. As a matter of fact, the pink tulip quilt I cherish isn't an heirloom at all—my mother won it at a church raffle.

It's not surprising that the boom in home sewing has revived interest in the art of quilting. Simple lines of modern furniture are good foils for the colorful intricacies of quilt design.

Modern quilters enjoy advantages our forebears didn't have. Today's color-fast and fade-resistant fabrics promise to keep quilts bright for years. New textures in closely woven cottons add their luster to old favorites such as calico, gingham, percales and muslins.

New quilt pattern books have clear instructions eliminating much of the guesswork. In one new flower-quilt pattern book I've been studying, the designs are carefully diagrammed to size for easy transference to pattern paper. Exact yardages are given for each piece of the design.

This inexpensive pattern book includes 12 favorite flower motifs handsomely illustrated in color. All are based on a block design usually with the motif alternating with a plain block. Some designs are to be pieced together, some are appliqued and a few combine both techniques.

Although I like a little fancy work with my fireside chats (especially in winter), the idea of tackling a quilt seemed too ambitious. But the book's full-page sketches and two-page spread of general instructions profusely illustrated with sketches tempted me to try. By following the directions, I cut and sewed two test blocks without trouble and my needlecraft is far from expert.

MR. AND MRS. P. J. HARRIS

50th Anniversary Celebrated At Open House

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Harris celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, Jan. 24, with an open house between two and four o'clock at their home on Mitchell Lane in West Monroe.

Hosts for the occasion were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle Harris and Junior Harris.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with golden flower arrangements. In the dining room, the refreshment table was overlaid with a cutwork linen cloth. Candleholders with tall tapers added to the decorations. A gold tiered anniversary cake was placed at one end of the table opposite the punch bowl.

The Harris' granddaughters, Mrs. Parnell Williams and Miss Melba Harris, assisted in serving the courtesies. Misses Kay Harris and Penny Brooks kept the guest register.

Scores of friends and relatives called during the appointed hours.

The quilting attachment on your sewing machine will be an aid to you in making dishcloths from discarded sheer curtains. Cut a half dozen 15-inch squares of the fabric and sew them together with the quilting attachment.

Safety tip: be sure that all the electrical appliances in your kitchen are disconnected when you are not using them.

Little Sports Fans Need Added Care In Winter

Many parents believe in acquainting their children early with the fun of winter sports. Not long after they learn to walk, these tots are mastering the arts of balancing on ice skates or sliding on sleds.

Not only do these sports prove healthful exercise but they are excellent for helping little girls develop graceful muscle control.

Mothers can also use this time as an opportunity to instill sound skin - care habits.

Little girls' skins are at least as sensitive to the elements as are their mother's. Yet too seldom do parents think of the youngsters' need for some protective preparation.

One effort to overcome this neglect has been the introduction of a special line of skin - care preparations just for the little misses. Featured is a lip pomade that is red in the stick but colorless when applied.

There is also a special hand lotion that is said to be absorbed into the skin very quickly.

Doing any painting at your house? Protect windowpanes, when painting a room, by coating each pane with a thick soap-and-water paste. When you've finished painting, the paint splatters will wash off easily with the soap.

Recipe for bringing neglected paint brushes to life calls for soaking them in hot vinegar to clean them and make them pliable again.

Quilting Enjoys New Popularity

Fancy quilts lavish with color, pattern and exquisite handstitching spread their warmth and beauty as graciously in modern settings as they did in grandmother's home.

And I don't mean just the cherished heirloom you were lucky enough to inherit. As a matter of fact, the pink tulip quilt I cherish isn't an heirloom at all—my mother won it at a church raffle.

It's not surprising that the boom in home sewing has revived interest in the art of quilting. Simple lines of modern furniture are good foils for the colorful intricacies of quilt design.

Modern quilters enjoy advantages our forebears didn't have. Today's color-fast and fade-resistant fabrics promise to keep quilts bright for years. New textures in closely woven cottons add their luster to old favorites such as calico, gingham, percales and muslins.

New quilt pattern books have clear instructions eliminating much of the guesswork. In one new flower-quilt pattern book I've been studying, the designs are carefully diagrammed to size for easy transference to pattern paper. Exact yardages are given for each piece of the design.

This inexpensive pattern book includes 12 favorite flower motifs handsomely illustrated in color. All are based on a block design usually with the motif alternating with a plain block. Some designs are to be pieced together, some are appliqued and a few combine both techniques.

Although I like a little fancy work with my fireside chats (especially in winter), the idea of tackling a quilt seemed too ambitious. But the book's full-page sketches and two-page spread of general instructions profusely illustrated with sketches tempted me to try. By following the directions, I cut and sewed two test blocks without trouble and my needlecraft is far from expert.

50th Anniversary Celebrated At Open House

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Harris celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, Jan. 24, with an open house between two and four o'clock at their home on Mitchell Lane in West Monroe.

Hosts for the occasion were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle Harris and Junior Harris.

The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with golden flower arrangements. In the dining room, the refreshment table was overlaid with a cutwork linen cloth. Candleholders with tall tapers added to the decorations. A gold tiered anniversary cake was placed at one end of the table opposite the punch bowl.

The Harris' granddaughters, Mrs. Parnell Williams and Miss Melba Harris, assisted in serving the courtesies. Misses Kay Harris and Penny Brooks kept the guest register.

Scores of friends and relatives called during the appointed hours.

The quilting attachment on your sewing machine will be an aid to you in making dishcloths from discarded sheer curtains. Cut a half dozen 15-inch squares of the fabric and sew them together with the quilting attachment.

Safety tip: be sure that all the electrical appliances in your kitchen are disconnected when you are not using them.

Little Sports Fans Need Added Care In Winter

Many parents believe in acquainting their children early with the fun of winter sports. Not long after they learn to walk, these tots are mastering the arts of balancing on ice skates or sliding on sleds.

Not only do these sports prove healthful exercise but they are excellent for helping little girls develop graceful muscle control.

Mothers can also use this time as an opportunity to instill sound skin - care habits.

Little girls' skins are at least as sensitive to the elements as are their mother's. Yet too seldom do parents think of the youngsters' need for some protective preparation.

One effort to overcome this neglect has been the introduction of a special line of skin - care preparations just for the little misses. Featured is a lip pomade that is red in the stick but colorless when applied.

There is also a special hand lotion that is said to be absorbed into the skin very quickly.

Doing any painting at your house? Protect windowpanes, when painting a room, by coating each pane with a thick soap-and-water paste. When you've finished painting, the paint splatters will wash off easily with the soap.

Recipe for bringing neglected paint brushes to life calls for soaking them in hot vinegar to clean them and make them pliable again.

Roamin' In The Rural

Dixie Acres Club House

When you think of Dixie Acre Club House, sitting on the waters' edge at Sterlington, you think of a fish fry, picnic, banquet or some other form of recreation as this was primarily the purpose for which it was built. But this club house took on a very different atmosphere this past week when it was equipped with sewing machines, ironing boards, irons and other equipment needed for a tailoring workshop by the women.

Eight women spent four days at this workshop making three spring suits and five coats. Those participating in this project were: Mrs. O. H. Manhart, Mrs. A. P. Kimming, Mrs. L. R. McClain, Mrs. S. O. Sharp, Mrs. Buckner, Mrs. W. O. Davis, Mrs. Earl Garrett, and Mrs. B. W. Gay. This work was supervised by the home demonstration agent, Mrs. Euna D. Spielman. We certainly thank Mr. Eck Wheeler and Mr. A. Stonehart for their cooperation in letting us use this club house. We enjoyed it very much and it's a fine place to work with a group.

Second Tailoring Workshop

The second tailoring workshop will begin February 15th in the agricultural auditorium, West Monroe at 8:30 with cutting the garment. Be sure you have made a basic jacket of muslin and fitted it as you would like your finished jacket to fit. Then make alterations in your pattern. It's impossible to do big alterations in the garment and it makes your material look worn if you handle it this way. So be sure you have your pattern altered before February 15th.

Other dates for this work shop are February 22 through February 26th. Those enrolled with the agent for this work shop are: Mrs. W. A. Bearden, Mrs. H. O. Eley, Mrs. J. M. Adams, Mrs. Ruth Pipes, Claiborne; Mrs. W. J. St. John, Swartz; Mrs. Lucy Whitlock, Mrs. J. L. Joyner, Mrs. G. L. Stenett, Mrs. C. L. Crowell, and Mrs. Ethel Lawerence, Lenwil; Mrs. Cleburn White and Mrs. Lee Wilder, Cadeville Club.

If you are not enrolled and are interested in tailoring call me at 3-2251 or after six p. m. at 3-5023. This is the last tailoring group for this year.

House Furnishing Leaders

February 18th is the leaders' training meeting on making draperies. Mrs. Jessie Hill, L. S. U. extension specialist, will be with us. Remember two leaders from each Home Demonstration Club are expected to take this training, then these leaders are to give this demonstration in her club.

Mrs. Hill teaches an easy way of doing this job, so be here with needle, scissors, thimble, thread, a yard of print or some kind of material, and also a yard of material to use as a lining.

Don't Let Pretty Days Fool You

Several women have called about pruning roses this week. Remember February is a winter month so wait until late February or early March to do this pruning. Pruning stimulates new growth. It will also be encouraged by warm fair days. This new growth will be easily damaged by heavy frosts or freezes. February being a winter month may bring us our coldest weather. So wait for pruning — there's plenty of time for it.

You can get new roses planted now, if you have prepared a well drained bed. You have always heard "Roses can't stand wet feet" — so drainage is very essential.

Camellias

The beautiful blossoms on the camellias will make us all want to plant one. Many varieties do well here—so get a hardy variety. Call your extension service office at 3-2251 for bulletins on growing them. It will give this information.

See you next Sunday.

Try seasoning bottled clam broth with tomato catsup, celery salt and Worcestershire sauce. Serve as a first - course beverage with crackers.

Give Your Skin SPECIAL WINTER CARE!

10 minutes a day can take years off your age with

Gourielli's remarkable Estrolar Cream

Estrolar Cream is absolutely unique. No other cream contains ozonides plus potent estrogenic hormones—science's newest discovery for making you look years younger.

As you grow older, your skin becomes starved for oxygen and moisture. The lack of oxygen makes it discolored and flaky. The lack of moisture leads to wrinkles and flabbiness.

Now, with one cream, you can restore both these vital substances. The ozonides in Estrolar Cream release oxygen to your skin. This starts your blood circulating more freely. It tends to even the color of your skin, to give it the bright, radiant look of youth!

The potent estrogenic hormones sink deep into your inner skin and increase its ability to hold moisture. This fills out your outer skin, helping it look firmer, fuller—and years younger. It actually tends to make wrinkles disappear!

A 10-minute Estrolar Cream massage every night will show results in a few days! After less than 30 days, you will feel as if 10 years had dropped off your age!

Dixie Acres Club House

When you think of Dixie Acre Club House, sitting on the waters' edge at Sterlington, you think of a fish fry, picnic, banquet or some other form of recreation as this was primarily the purpose for which it was built. But this club house took on a very different atmosphere this past week when it was equipped with sewing machines, ironing boards, irons and other equipment needed for a tailoring workshop by the women.

Eight women spent four days at this workshop making three spring suits and five coats. Those participating in this project were: Mrs. O. H. Manhart, Mrs. A. P. Kimming, Mrs. L. R. McClain, Mrs. S. O. Sharp, Mrs. Buckner, Mrs. W. O. Davis, Mrs. Earl Garrett, and Mrs. B. W. Gay. This work was supervised by the home demonstration agent, Mrs. Euna D. Spielman. We certainly thank Mr. Eck Wheeler and Mr. A. Stonehart for their cooperation in letting us use this club house. We enjoyed it very much and it's a fine place to work with a group.

Second Tailoring Workshop

The second tailoring workshop will begin February 15th in the agricultural auditorium, West Monroe at 8:30 with cutting the garment. Be sure you have made a basic jacket of muslin and fitted it as you would like your finished jacket to fit. Then make alterations in your pattern. It's impossible to do big alterations in the garment and it makes your material look worn if you handle it this way. So be sure you have your pattern altered before February 15th.

Other dates for this work shop are February 22 through February 26th. Those enrolled with the agent for this work shop are: Mrs. W. A. Bearden, Mrs. H. O. Eley, Mrs. J. M. Adams, Mrs. Ruth Pipes, Claiborne; Mrs. W. J. St. John, Swartz; Mrs. Lucy Whitlock, Mrs. J. L. Joyner, Mrs. G. L. Stenett, Mrs. C. L. Crowell, and Mrs. Ethel Lawerence, Lenwil; Mrs. Cleburn White and Mrs. Lee Wilder, Cadeville Club.

If you are not enrolled and are interested in tailoring call me at 3-2251 or after six p. m. at 3-5023. This is the last tailoring group for this year.

House Furnishing Leaders

February 18th is the leaders' training meeting on making draperies. Mrs. Jessie Hill, L. S. U. extension specialist, will be with us. Remember two leaders from each Home Demonstration Club are expected to take this training, then these leaders are to give this demonstration in her club.

Mrs. Hill teaches an easy way of doing this job, so be here with needle, scissors, thimble, thread, a yard of print or some kind of material, and also a yard of material to use as a lining.

Don't Let Pretty Days Fool You

Several women have called about pruning roses this week. Remember February is a winter month so wait until late February or early March to do this pruning. Pruning stimulates new growth. It will also be encouraged by warm fair days. This new growth will be easily damaged by heavy frosts or freezes. February being a winter month may bring us our coldest weather. So wait for pruning — there's plenty of time for it.

You can get new roses planted now, if you have prepared a well drained bed. You have always heard "Roses can't stand wet feet" — so drainage is very essential.

Camellias

The beautiful blossoms on the camellias will make us all want to plant one. Many varieties do well here—so get a hardy variety. Call your extension service office at 3-2251 for bulletins on growing them. It will give this information.

See you next Sunday.

Try seasoning bottled clam broth with tomato catsup, celery salt and Worcestershire sauce. Serve as a first - course beverage with crackers.

Give Your Skin SPECIAL WINTER CARE!

10 minutes a day can take years off your age with

Gourielli's remarkable Estrolar Cream

Estrolar Cream is absolutely unique. No other cream contains ozonides plus potent estrogenic hormones—science's newest discovery for making you look years younger.

As you grow older, your skin becomes starved for oxygen and moisture. The lack of oxygen makes it discolored and flaky. The lack of moisture leads to wrinkles and flabbiness.

Now, with one cream, you can restore both these vital substances. The ozonides in Estrolar Cream release oxygen to your skin. This starts your blood circulating more freely. It tends to even the color of your skin, to give it the bright, radiant look of youth!

The potent estrogenic hormones sink deep into your inner skin and increase its ability to hold moisture. This fills out your outer skin, helping it look firmer, fuller—and years younger. It actually tends to make wrinkles disappear!

A 10-minute Estrolar Cream massage every night will show results in a few days! After less than 30 days, you will feel as if 10 years had dropped off your age!

Edgewood Baptists Plan Big Time On 5th Birthday

Sunday will be a big day for the Edgewood Baptist Church, 501 Travis Street, West Monroe as they celebrate their fifth anniversary. The church started from a handful of people who organized in the Millsaps School, five years ago. The church now has a beautiful building located on a large tract of land adjacent to the new West Monroe High School. Its present membership is over two hundred and is growing rapidly.

Rev. O. P. Bazer is pastor of the church, having come to pastor the church in July 1952. Since his coming a beautiful new pastorium has been added to the church plant and also additional land to the church property. Also there have been 122 additions since his coming.

An old fashioned "Dinner on the ground" will be observed at the church at noon.

For those who find it impossible to attend church Sunday morning, the church will have a radio broadcast at 11:00 a.m. on a local radio station. Also the pastor and choir will appear on a local television program at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The church is planning a long range building program to take care of the needs of growth in the future.

Landmark Baptist's Is Mission Church

Landmark Mission Baptist Church meets at 700 Montgomery (Union Hall) West Monroe. The pastor is Elder Johnny Tipton.

Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m.; morning worship at 11 a.m.; B. T. C. at 6:45 p.m. and evening worship at 8 p.m.

'Wisdom Words' Book Prepared By Ailing Man

NEW YORK, N. Y. — While convalescing from a heart attack, Guy L. Uber, an Indiana, Pa., businessman, conceived the idea of a new grouping of thousands of Biblical verses, listing them under a wide variety of subject headings. From the idea came his book, Words of Wisdom From the Bible, just published by Vantage Press ($3.00).

What Mr. Uber has done is to select material from the Bible falling into 156 different categories, any one of which might form the basis for a sermon or speech.

Without comment of any kind, the author has based his compilation on the King James Version to make his book as interdenominational as the Bible itself.

Mr. Uber stresses the fact that Words of Wisdom From the Bible is not intended to replace the Good Book, but rather to serve as encouragement and stimulus for Bible study.

Long interested in missionary work, Mr. Uber had dedicated his book to workers in that field, and stated that all royalties will be used to further the efforts of missionaries everywhere.

100th Birthday To Be Observed By Presbytery

Presbytery of Red River will celebrate its 100th birthday with a public meeting in the Minden Presbyterian Church of Minden, La., on Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Dr. W. F. O'Kelley of Marlin, Tex. will deliver the centennial address on "A Century of Presbyterianism in North Louisiana." Dr. O'Kelley, a former pastor in Minden and Shreveport, served in Red River Presbytery for 33 years.

Dr. O. M. Anderson of Bastrop is the moderator of the presbytery. He will open the two-day meeting on Tuesday morning at 10:00 with a sermon entitled, "The Distinctive Message of Christianity."

Business will be conducted during Tuesday and Wednesday. On Tuesday afternoon, William B. Kreig, Jr., pastor-elect of the Rayville Presbyterian Church, will be examined and licensed to preach. A commission for his ordination will be appointed to ordain him later in the Rayville Presbyterian Church.

DR. W. F. O'KELLEY

Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of West Monroe, is chairman of the Centennial Committee. Rev. Wade H. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, will report on progress toward a Presbyterian Student Center at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, during the Wednesday session.

Representatives from the 13 churches of Presbytery will attend, including First and Covenant of Monroe and Memorial Presbyterian Church of West Monroe.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: It seems that I worry about such little things. I find myself far more concerned about little things than I do about big things that are really more important. Is there something wrong with my religion? C.P.

ANSWER: Yes. Someone asked, "What is the first necessity for a college president" and received the reply—"a wastebasket." The Christian must have a wastebasket, not only for the bad but for the nonessential. Jesus had a sifted mind. He never once was led into a subordinate issue. Never once missed the real point, never got into a bypath and was always on the most important things in life. We must cut out not only what isn't good, but what isn't good enough. Jesus warned the Pharisees of His day about having omitted the weightier matters of the law, such as judgment, mercy and faith. "Those ought ye to have done and not to leave the others undone," He said. Give attention to spiritual things first and foremost and you will find that by seeking the Kingdom of God first, the other matters will take care of themselves.

(Billy Graham's "My Answer" appears Monday through Friday in the Monroe News-Star and on the church page every Sunday in the Morning World.)

Focus Week Chairman Is To Be Duty Of Wilhite

CLINTON, Miss. — Focus Week at Mississippi College promises to be the outstanding event of the year on the Baptist institution's campus. Louis Wilhite, who shouldered the responsibility as chairman for the launching of this important week, has been chosen as the student of the week by the Collegian, MC's campus newspaper.

Louis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilhite of West Monroe, La., accepted the call to the ministry unusually early in his life and was actually preaching when he was thirteen. He is presently the pastor of the Pleasant Hill Church, near Monroe.

A Louisiana native, Louis was a member of debate squads, the track team, band, choir and the Honor Society while in high school at West Monroe.

LEWIS WILHITE

When he receives his B.A. degree in this class of 1954, with a major in sociology, he will be placed in the top scholastic bracket for he has maintained a 2.4 record average in all his subjects.

Mississippi College traditionally turns out some of the outstanding leaders in every field of work. It is easy to predict that Louis will be, as he is now, a faithful leader of many Christians and a staunch follower himself of this chosen way of life.

Presbyterians Plan Service, Early Vespers

The time of the night service Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church will comprise a 5 p.m. vesper meeting.

This service will be held in the Fellowship Room of the church and will be didactic and informal in its nature. The minister will begin a series of discussions at these vesper services entitled, "What Christians Believe."

At the first vesper service, the topic will be: "What We Believe About God." At the close of the sermon, the congregation will be given an opportunity to ask questions and express opinions.

This program should enrich the Christian knowledge and spiritual growth of those who want to know more about their faith, it is stated. A nursery for small children will be provided in order that young couples may attend.

First Sunday Song Fest Set In Booster Hall

The regular First Sunday afternoon gospel singing will be held at the Missouri and Pacific Booster Hall this afternoon.

We are expecting the Lakeside Quartet of Oak Grove and the F. F. A. Quartet of Holly Ridge.

All singers, pianist and lovers of gospel music are cordially invited to attend.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

THE LORD'S PRAYER

The passage of Scripture that we call "The Lord's Prayer" is found as it is commonly recited in our churches in Matthew 6:9-13; and, in an abbreviated form, in Luke 11:2-4.

In Matthew 6:12 the petition is rendered (In the Authorized Version) "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," while in verse 15 the reference is to "trespasses," and the forgiveness of trespasses.

This led to some confusion in the public use of the prayer, embarrassing to one like myself, as a minister-journalist, conducting services in many different churches.

Methodist Churches use the word "trespasses," and, in general, churches that have their roots in the Church of England conform to this practice. But a Presbyterian "Book of Common Worship," for voluntary, but not obligatory use, has the word "debts."

The matter is not one of major importance. The meaning in each form of prayer is the same, as Matthew 6:12 and Matthew 6:14 make plain.

A more questionable matter is the entire omission from the Prayer of the closing words of doxology, as in the Authorized Version of Matthew 6:13: "for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever."

These words are omitted in the recently published translation in the REVISED STANDARD VERSION, where the prayer ends with the petition, "Deliver us from evil." A footnote mentions that the words of doxology are added by "other authorities, some ancient."

The recent translators have evidently omitted the words of doxology because they were not in other ancient manuscripts that were considered more authoritative.

Regardless of this, if the new translation, the product of a representative group of Protestant scholars, should be adopted in public worship, which I doubt, it is my belief that both in private devotions and in public worship the Prayer in its full form, with the doxology, as in the Authorized (King James) version, will continue to be used.

Again, the matter is not one of great importance, for the petitions in each case are the same. My own impression is that the recent translators would have been well advised to continue the Prayer as in St. Matthew's words, reserving for the footnote the indication that some ancient authorities omitted "For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory."

The point, however, does illustrate the high integrity with which these recent translators did their work and their zeal for honesty and accuracy, according to the evidence and their best judgment.

One question that might be raised is whether Jesus intended the Prayer to become, as it has an exact liturgical form, or rather, a model "after this manner" for all praying.

For the Prayer is what all prayer should be—not petitions for "things" or for personal benefits, but a lifting of the soul to the fulfilling of God's will, and His purpose in the gift of Christ to the world He loved.

DR. W. J. MILLARD

Presbyterian Laymen To Hear Dr. W. J. Millard

The Rev. W. J. Millard, pastor of the Evergreen Presbyterian church at Memphis, Tenn., will be one of the featured speakers at the 35th annual meeting of the Laymen's Association of Red River Presbytery to be held at Alabama church near Choudrant February 22. The Red River Presbytery comprises all Presbyterian churches in north Louisiana to a point a little south of Monroe.

T. Mickel of Monroe is president of the Laymen's Association and Sidney J. Crump of Shreveport is secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Millard, a native of Memphis, served as minister of the Belcher and Dixie Presbyterian churches in Red River Presbytery for 11 years. He has been pastor of the Evergreen Presbyterian church at Memphis for the past 20 years.

A graduate of Southwestern College and Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, at present he is serving as vice chairman of the board of directors and the executive committee of Southwestern College at Memphis. He is a member of the board of directors of Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary and of Monroe Harding Home, the orphanage of the Synod to which he is attached.

Dr. Millard is a member of the commission of the Memphis Housing Authority that is providing housing for 3,840 families, with 572 homes under construction.

Home missions will be the theme of the Laymen's meeting.

Methodist Men To Meet And Hear Of Finance Plans

Fred Riser, president of the Methodist Men's Club of the First Methodist Church of West Monroe, is expecting the largest assemblage of men seen at the church in a long time at the regular monthly meeting of the club in the Social Hall of the church at seven o'clock Monday evening. The special attraction is a free supper to all men of the church who attend. Every man in the church is being urged to attend, and a large attendance is expected.

The program will be devoted to a study of stewardship by Rev. W. D. Milton, pastor of the church, and a summary of the church program, especially plans for a new sanctuary, the erection of which is expected to begin in the near future.

A special committee, composed of D. C. Metcalf, F. C. McConnell, Charles Chisholm, Myatt McClendon, T. A. Sanders, Earl Hamm, W. L. Herron, and R. G. Taylor, has been assigned the task of formulating plans for the building and for raising funds for its erection and has functioned extremely well for the very short time it has been in action. Tentative plans for the new sanctuary and a new parsonage as well as plans for renovating and converting the old sanctuary to an educational building are well under way.

Mr. Metcalf, chairman of the fund-raising subcommittee says he thinks the committee has a unique and sure-fire plan for raising the necessary funds and is very anxious that every man of the church attend this meeting of Methodist Men on Monday evening and hear these plans.

Parker Memorial Class Staging Its Homecoming

The Parker Memorial Bible class at the First Methodist Church will have a homecoming Sunday, at the usual Sunday school hour. Edgewood Baptists Plan Big Time On 5th Birthday

Sunday will be a big day for the Edgewood Baptist Church, 501 Travis Street, West Monroe as they celebrate their fifth anniversary. The church started from a handful of people who organized in the Millsaps School, five years ago. The church now has a beautiful building located on a large tract of land adjacent to the new West Monroe High School. Its present membership is over two hundred and is growing rapidly.

Rev. O. P. Bazer is pastor of the church, having come to pastor the church in July 1952. Since his coming a beautiful new pastorium has been added to the church plant and also additional land to the church property. Also there have been 122 additions since his coming.

An old fashioned "Dinner on the ground" will be observed at the church at noon.

For those who find it impossible to attend church Sunday morning, the church will have a radio broadcast at 11:00 a.m. on a local radio station. Also the pastor and choir will appear on a local television program at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The church is planning a long range building program to take care of the needs of growth in the future.

Landmark Baptist's Is Mission Church

Landmark Mission Baptist Church meets at 700 Montgomery (Union Hall) West Monroe. The pastor is Elder Johnny Tipton.

Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m.; morning worship at 11 a.m.; B. T. C. at 6:45 p.m. and evening worship at 8 p.m.

'Wisdom Words' Book Prepared By Ailing Man

NEW YORK, N. Y. — While convalescing from a heart attack, Guy L. Uber, an Indiana, Pa., businessman, conceived the idea of a new grouping of thousands of Biblical verses, listing them under a wide variety of subject headings. From the idea came his book, Words of Wisdom From the Bible, just published by Vantage Press ($3.00).

What Mr. Uber has done is to select material from the Bible falling into 156 different categories, any one of which might form the basis for a sermon or speech.

Without comment of any kind, the author has based his compilation on the King James Version to make his book as interdenominational as the Bible itself.

Mr. Uber stresses the fact that Words of Wisdom From the Bible is not intended to replace the Good Book, but rather to serve as encouragement and stimulus for Bible study.

Long interested in missionary work, Mr. Uber had dedicated his book to workers in that field, and stated that all royalties will be used to further the efforts of missionaries everywhere.

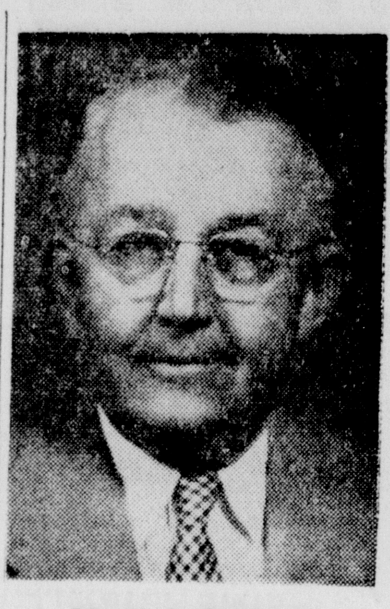
100th Birthday To Be Observed By Presbytery

Presbytery of Red River will celebrate its 100th birthday with a public meeting in the Minden Presbyterian Church of Minden, La., on Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Dr. W. F. O'Kelley of Marlin, Tex. will deliver the centennial address on "A Century of Presbyterianism in North Louisiana." Dr. O'Kelley, a former pastor in Minden and Shreveport, served in Red River Presbytery for 33 years.

Dr. O. M. Anderson of Bastrop is the moderator of the presbytery. He will open the two-day meeting on Tuesday morning at 10:00 with a sermon entitled, "The Distinctive Message of Christianity.".

Business will be conducted during Tuesday and Wednesday. On Tuesday afternoon, William B. Kreig, Jr., pastor-elect of the Rayville Presbyterian Church, will be examined and licensed to preach. A commission for his ordination will be appointed to ordain him later in the Rayville Presbyterian Church.



DR. W. F. O'KELLEY

Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church of West Monroe, is chairman of the Centennial Committee. Rev. Wade H. McFadden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, will report on progress toward a Presbyterian Student Center at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, during the Wednesday session.

Representatives from the 13 churches of Presbytery will attend, including First and Covenant of Monroe and Memorial Presbyterian Church of West Monroe.

Oak Ridge Youth Group Host To Mrs. Jas. Harris

Mrs. James Harris of Monroe will meet with the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Oak Ridge on Sunday evening. Following the regular meeting, Mrs. Harris, who is an authority on youth activities in the church, will speak to the group.

The United Christian Youth Movement, which is a part of the program of the National Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., named the week, January 31 through February 7 as Youth Week.

A special youth program was held on Sunday evening, January 31. Young people from the Oak Ridge Baptist Church and the Crew Lake Methodist Church were additional worshippers at the evening service. Edwards Barham, president of the Oak Ridge MYF, delivered an inspirational sermon with the topic "The Cup of Positive Christian Living." Miss Mary Sterling Rolfe sang a solo, "His Eye Is On the Sparrow." The youth choir sang the anthem "Hallelulah for the Cross." Jay Flynn and Tommy Barham received the offering.

Refreshments were served from the church kitchen after the service.

DR. W. J. MILLARD

Presbyterian Laymen To Hear Dr. W. J. Millard

The Rev. W. J. Millard, pastor of the Evergreen Presbyterian church at Memphis, Tenn., will be one of the featured speakers at the 35th annual meeting of the Laymen's Association of Red River Presbytery to be held at Alabama church near Choudrant February 22. The Red River Presbytery comprises all Presbyterian churches in north Louisiana to a point a little south of Monroe.

T. Mickel of Monroe is president of the Laymen's Association and Sidney J. Crump of Shreveport is secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Millard, a native of Memphis, served as minister of the Belcher and Dixie Presbyterian churches in Red River Presbytery for 11 years. He has been pastor of the Evergreen Presbyterian church at Memphis for the past 20 years.

A graduate of Southwestern College and Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, at present he is serving as vice chairman of the board of directors and the executive committee of Southwestern College at Memphis. He is a member of the board of directors of Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary and of Monroe Harding Home, the orphanage of the Synod to which he is attached.

Dr. Millard is a member of the commission of the Memphis Housing Authority that is providing housing for 3,840 families, with 572 homes under construction.

Home missions will be the theme of the Laymen's meeting.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: It seems that I worry about such little things. I find myself far more concerned about little things than I do about big things that are really more important. Is there something wrong with my religion? C.P.

ANSWER: Yes. Someone asked, "What is the first necessity for a college president" and received the reply—"a wastebasket." The Christian must have a wastebasket, not only for the bad but for the nonessential. Jesus had a sifted mind. He never once was led into a subordinate issue. Never once missed the real point, never got into a bypath and was always on the most important things in life. We must cut out not only what isn't good, but what isn't good enough. Jesus warned the Pharisees of His day about having omitted the weightier matters of the law, such as judgment, mercy and faith. "Those ought ye to have done and not to leave the others undone," He said. Give attention to spiritual things first and foremost and you will find that by seeking the Kingdom of God first, the other matters will take care of themselves.

(Billy Graham's "My Answer" appears Monday through Friday in the Monroe News-Star and on the church page every Sunday in the Morning World.)

Methodist Men To Meet And Hear Of Finance Plans

Fred Riser, president of the Methodist Men's Club of the First Methodist Church of West Monroe, is expecting the largest assemblage of men seen at the church in a long time at the regular monthly meeting of the club in the Social Hall of the church at seven o'clock Monday evening. The special attraction is a free supper to all men of the church who attend. Every man in the church is being urged to attend, and a large attendance is expected.

The program will be devoted to a study of stewardship by Rev. W. D. Milton, pastor of the church, and a summary of the church program, especially plans for a new sanctuary, the erection of which is expected to begin in the near future.

A special committee, composed of D. C. Metcalf, F. C. McConnell, Charles Chisholm, Myatt McClendon, T. A. Sanders, Earl Hamm, W. L. Herron, and R. G. Taylor, has been assigned the task of formulating plans for the building and for raising funds for its erection and has functioned extremely well for the very short time it has been in action. Tentative plans for the new sanctuary and a new parsonage as well as plans for renovating and converting the old sanctuary to an educational building are well under way.

Mr. Metcalf, chairman of the fund-raising subcommittee says he thinks the committee has a unique and sure-fire plan for raising the necessary funds and is very anxious that every man of the church attend this meeting of Methodist Men on Monday evening and hear these plans.

Parker Memorial Class Staging Its Homecoming

The Parker Memorial Bible class at the First Methodist Church will have a homecoming Sunday, at the usual Sunday school hour. So many are expected that after assembly in class room, the class will overflow to the church sanctuary for the lesson given by the capable teacher, Miss Julia Wossman. After the class session ends, the class membership will attend the morning worship service at 10:50 a.m.

This class is the pride of the Sunday School for its attendance and devotion. Its teacher is Mrs. C. W. Williams.

Louisiana Young Man Of Year To Be Named Feb. 13

Louisiana's Young Man of 1953 will be named at the quarterly meeting of the state Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting in Lake Charles February 13. The announcement was made by Jack Babbidge, state awards chairman for the organization.

The "Young Man of the Year" project is sponsored by the state Jaycees to honor young men who have distinguished themselves in leadership, outstanding contributions to the betterment of their communities and state, and success in their vocations. Luther Frazer, president of McNeese State College, will make the presentation.

Some of the young men being considered for the award include Irving Ziedman of Monroe, who recently moved to New Orleans; Rolfe H. McCollister, Baton Rouge; Earl J. Derouche, Lutcher; Jack J. Cousin, New Iberia; John A. Dykes, Shreveport; James A. Cathey, Bossier City; Enoch Nix, Benton; and Wilmer S. Guillory, Lake Charles.

Focus Week Chairman Is To Be Duty Of Wilhite

CLINTON, Miss. — Focus Week at Mississippi College promises to be the outstanding event of the year on the Baptist institution's campus. Louis Wilhite, who shouldered the responsibility as chairman for the launching of this important week, has been chosen as the student of the week by the Collegian, MC's campus newspaper.

Louis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilhite of West Monroe, La., accepted the call to the ministry unusually early in his life and was actually preaching when he was thirteen. He is presently the pastor of the Pleasant Hill Church, near Monroe.

A Louisiana native, Louis was a member of debate squads, the track team, band, choir and the Honor Society while in high school at West Monroe.

LEWIS WILHITE

When he receives his B.A. degree in this class of 1954, with a major in sociology, he will be placed in the top scholastic bracket for he has maintained a 2.4 record average in all his subjects.

Mississippi College traditionally turns out some of the outstanding leaders in every field of work. It is easy to predict that Louis will be, as he is now, a faithful leader of many Christians and a staunch follower himself of this chosen way of life.

Presbyterians Plan Service, Early Vespers

The time of the night service Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church will comprise a 5 p.m. vesper meeting.

This service will be held in the Fellowship Room of the church and will be didactic and informal in its nature. The minister will begin a series of discussions at these vesper services entitled, "What Christians Believe."

At the first vesper service, the topic will be: "What We Believe About God." At the close of the sermon, the congregation will be given an opportunity to ask questions and express opinions.

This program should enrich the Christian knowledge and spiritual growth of those who want to know more about their faith, it is stated. A nursery for small children will be provided in order that young couples may attend.

First Sunday Song Fest Set In Booster Hall

The regular First Sunday afternoon gospel singing will be held at the Missouri and Pacific Booster Hall this afternoon.

We are expecting the Lakeside Quartet of Oak Grove and the F. F. A. Quartet of Holly Ridge.

All singers, pianist and lovers of gospel music are cordially invited to attend.

Bible Comment

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

THE LORD'S PRAYER

The passage of Scripture that we call "The Lord's Prayer" is found as it is commonly recited in our churches in Matthew 6:9-13; and, in an abbreviated form, in Luke 11:2-4.

In Matthew 6:12 the petition is rendered (In the Authorized Version) "forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," while in verse 15 the reference is to "trespasses," and "the forgiveness of trespasses.

This led to some confusion in the public use of the prayer, embarrassing to one like myself, as a minister-journalist, conducting services in many different churches.

Methodist Churches use the word "trespasses," and, in general, churches that have their roots in the Church of England conform to this practice. But a Presbyterian "Book of Common Worship," for voluntary, but not obligatory use, has the word "debts."

The matter is not one of major importance. The meaning in each form of prayer is the same, as Matthew 6:12 and Matthew 6:14 make plain.

A more questionable matter is the entire omission from the Prayer of the closing words of doxology, as in the Authorized Version of Matthew 6:13: "for Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever."

These words are omitted in the recently published translation in the REVISED STANDARD VERSION, where the prayer ends with the petition, "Deliver us from evil." A footnote mentions that the words of doxology are added by "other authorities, some ancient."

The recent translators have evidently omitted the words of doxology because they were not in other ancient manuscripts that were considered more authoritative.

Regardless of this, if the new translation, the product of a representative group of Protestant scholars, should be adopted in public worship, which I doubt, it is my belief that both in private devotions and in public worship the Prayer in its full form, with the doxology, as in the Authorized (King James) version, will continue to be used.

Again, the matter is not one of great importance, for the petitions in each case are the same. My own impression is that the recent translators would have been well advised to continue the Prayer as in St. Matthew's words, reserving for the footnote the indication that some ancient authorities omitted "For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory."

The point, however, does illustrate the high integrity with which these recent translators did their work and their zeal for honesty and accuracy, according to the evidence and their best judgment.

One question that might be raised is whether Jesus intended the Prayer to become, as it has an exact liturgical form, or rather, a model "after this manner" for all praying.

For the Prayer is what all prayer should be—not petitions for "things" or for personal benefits, but a lifting of the soul to the fulfilling of God's will, and His purpose in the gift of Christ to the world He loved.

NO GREATER LOVE

There is a love greater than that a parent has for a child, or a husband and wife have for each other, or that a man has who gives up his life.

What better time than now to consider the greatness of the love of God for us.

It should have been a summer day of beauty and peace, that July 11, 1943, in balmy Sicily. But it wasn't. Instead, it was a day of horror and death, a day of hideous ugliness such as only war can spawn.

Second Lieutenant Robert Craig of Toledo, Ohio, found his platoon of the Third Infantry Division in a tough spot. They were trapped by a strong force of the enemy.

There was only one way out as Lieutenant Craig saw it. He "deliberately drew the concentrated fire of a force of about 100 Germans so that his platoon might withdraw to safety," his citation reads today.

Lieutenant Craig fell mortally wounded, but his unselfish heroism was not unrecognized. He was posthumously awarded this nation's highest military honor, the Congressional Medal.

But this infantry officer is only one of scores of courageous men who in time of emergency have sacrificed themselves for the safety and protection of others.

"Greater love hath no man than this," said Jesus, "that a man lay down his life for his friends." It is singularly fitting, then, that these who have made the supreme sacrifice should receive our highest honors and respect.

But there is a love even greater than this. Not mortal love, to be sure, for no man could love so much. But there is a love great enough to cause One to die, not for friends, loved ones, and comrades in arms, but for enemies.

Only a love as great as God himself could move His Son to make such a sacrifice — to willingly, deliberately lay down the only perfect life so that enemies who despised that life and wanted to bring it to an end might be pardoned and given eternal life and a home in heaven.

Every one of us can recall unselfish acts of love and sacrifice by our parents in our behalf, done so quietly and readily that we must admit today with a degree of shame that we hardly noticed their sacrifices at the time, or took them for granted.

LOVE CHANGES THINGS

The love of God in our hearts has an even greater effect. It changes our lives, gives us a new outlook and a new attitude towards others. And just as people in love are unable to hide it, neither can we hide the love of God.

Love must express itself. The child who loves his parents expresses it in a crude note or a handful of flowers, and the parent shows his love in countless ways. People in love delight to express their love for each other.

When the love of God is in our hearts, we express our love first by loving him in return "with all our heart, soul, mind, and strength." Then we also "love our neighbor as ourselves." We want him to share in the love of God that has blessed and enriched our lives.

A poor woman and her family had the curse of alcohol upon their home. The husband and father was an alcoholic. The story of this drunkard was the same as all the rest. He squandered his salary on alcohol—when he was sober enough to work and could hold a job. In addition to denying his family the food and clothes they needed, he actually stole from his wife and son to buy another drink. The wife was cursed and beaten and abused regularly.

Again and again her friends asked themselves, "Why doesn't she leave him?" and finally when she had endured more shame and abuse than they thought it possible to stand, they asked her why she didn't quit her drunkard-husband.

"I can't," she replied simply. "I love him too much."

Such is the love of God for us, though infinitely greater. God loved us so much that he refused to abandon us to the sin that would destroy us. Unworthy as we were he provided a of escape so that as many as would call on the name of the Lord might be saved.

How can we believe a love could be so wonderful, so glorious, so overwhelming? The only way we can lay hold of it is "to become as little children" and recall a favorite Scripture passage of our childhood: "God is love."

3 Ways To Prune Crape Myrtles

As I am writing this, we've had four glorious days of sunshine. The gardeners have really been busy and there was a continuous line of cars at the nurseries Sunday. The ground hog saw his shadow though, so I guess we're in for more winter.

Fertilizing

We sometimes fail to feed our plants just when they need food because we don't have the fertilizer on hand. So—sometime during the month of February, pick up some 5-10-5 which is good for lawn, trees, shrubs and flower borders. Wait until the last of February or the first of March (depending on the weather) to start the feeding of shrubs. If you're planning to plant seeds of annuals in March, you can work some 5-10-5 in the beds now as you work it up. This will have time to be absorbed by the soil and so won't burn the seed when you plant them in March.

Now is the time to fertilize your trees, using one pound of 5-10-5 or 8-8-8 for each year's growth. Take an iron pipe and drive it in the ground 6 or 8 inches deep and put the fertilizer in these holes. Start fertilizing 2 or 3 feet (for small tree) or for large tree 5 or 6 feet away from the trunk of the tree and extend several feet beyond the spread of the branches. All trees need food. Be sure to cut out all dead wood. Any pruning that is done to your trees, seal over the scar with tree paint.

Although mulch is not a fertilizer, when applied, it eventually decays and becomes part of the soil. Get your mulch ready now to put around new plants and to replenish those already established.

Garden Talk

It seems to me I've never seen the violets so beautiful as they are this year. I used them as a ground cover in a V shaped place between a walk and a shrubbery bed. It was one of those places you could never get in to mow. Covered with violets it's no longer a worry and is certainly one of the prettiest spots in the yard.

Also, two years ago I planted a slope that is hard to mow, with ivy and buttercups. This year the planting is showing up. The yellow blooms against the dark green foliage of the ivy is really lovely. The vine, then, will hide the foliage when its dying.

During the periods of low temperature such as we had last month, azaleas are likely to suffer cold injury. You remember just before the freeze we had a prolonged spell of warm weather. Many azaleas put on new growth. Then the freeze killed this. You should cut off these dead twigs. A much more serious injury—and the one I think we'll need to look for this year, is a splitting of the bark near the ground or at points of branching. This may go unnoticed until May or June. Then when the weather gets warm you'll notice a withering of the branches. At that time, all such branches should be removed. If you find such split branches, now, pull the mulch up well around the base of the plant. It is possible a plant, not too badly injured, will grow out from the damage.

Let me remind you again to prune your abelias and crape myrtles. Cut the oldest limbs off of abelias where they put out at the base of the plant. This may look like you're ruining your shrub, but soon new limbs will put out from the bottom.

You have three ways to prune crape myrtles. If you want a tall plant cut the tree back to one or two limbs and strip these limbs of every twig and branch. If you want your crape myrtle to be a bushy shrub, cut it down to 3 or 4 feet in height, then prune every side branch and twig, leaving several clean limbs. Now, if you have an old tree that's grown very large and flowers sparsely (if there's such a word) cut it off about 2 or 3 feet from the ground and let it start all over again. In all three cases, fertilize with 5-10-5 the last of this month or the first of March.

Pressing Woolens

For those who work on woolens here are some pressing tips. Never press wool until it is entirely dry; press with the grain of the material; press only in one direction, never back and forth; press curves over a tailor's ham (home made) to keep the contour; press all seams open first, even though they will not be open seams. The last statement refers to seams in collars, cuffs, flaps. I have a small seam presser made with two boards that is excellent for pressing seams open in small hard-to-get-to places. If you'd care to come by the office and cut a pattern, just come to 704 Cypress, West Monroe. If I'm not in Mrs. Fite will show you the board.

Dates

The second tailoring class will meet at the Red Cross Wednesday February 10th at 9:00 o'clock. The next slip cover class will be on Wednesday, February 17th. Please call to enroll. Tune in Tuesday at 2:45 on KNOE-TV for the homemakers program. At present I don't know the subject.

See you next Sunday.

The Rose All America is Talking About!

The BLUE ROSE
IT'S SPECTACULAR! IT'S SENSATIONAL!

Discovered by J. C. Schmidt, a German Plant Scientist, in 1909 — THE BLUE ROSE was developed from a number of Crimson Rambler Varieties and an unknown rose. After years of cultivation and experimentation, the BLUE ROSE today is one of the most unique and unusual in all Rosedom.

NOW—A BLUE ROSE...IN YOUR GARDEN

Have you ever heard of a BLUE ROSE? Have you ever seen one? If not — you're in for a never-to-be-forgotten thrill when you have this fascinating rose in your own garden. You'll be delighted with each lovely cluster of gorgeous semi-double cup-shaped flowers of shimmering color tones, highlighted by exciting shades of violet blue.

THESE ARE TOP NO. 1 GRADE, TWO-YEAR-OLD, FIELD-GROWN ROSE PLANTS

The very finest, big-sized, heavy rooted — and the most carefully grown and selected rose plants you can buy. For a limited time only — you can purchase two of these fabulous BLUE ROSES for only $4.98! Individual plants are priced at $3.00 each. AS A VERY SPECIAL OFFER — we will send you six (6) BLUE ROSES for just $12.00! (a saving of $6.00) NOTICE — Limit six (6) to a customer. These low prices are possible because you are buying direct from the largest BLUE ROSE Grower in the UNITED STATES.

PROLIFIC BLOOMING ROSE ONE OF THE HEALTHIEST, HARDIEST OF ALL!

This spectacular BLUE ROSE climber grows up to 15 feet in height with strong, heavy canes that are covered with blooms of huge clusters, some a foot wide. At first, the rose blooms a brilliant crimson, then quickly changes to a beautiful, amazing shade of violet blue. The blue remains throughout the blossoming stage. Be the first in your neighborhood to have this sensational BLUE ROSE . . . it will certainly add an entirely new effect to your flower arrangements.

GUARANTEED TO LIVE AND BLOOM ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES

The BLUE ROSE is a strong, healthy, disease-resistant rose plant and will thrive in most any climate — any soil! It's one of the easiest roses for any gardener to grow! SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

'Spice Plum' Is Favorite Of Many

The first blossoms of spring flowers never fail to lift the spirits of a gardener. Breath of spring, the winter flowering bush honeysuckle, is always a faithful bloomer. Even in our coldest winters it will flower during the warm spells from November on. Usually, enough flowers can be found on the red quinces for a tiny bouquet. Then, if you are lucky enough to have a clump of the winter iris on the south side of your house, you will always have a vase full of December and January blossoms. Around old house places and in some of the older parks over the southern states, you will suddenly come upon a small tree in full bloom in January or early February. These are the very earliest flowering trees of our gardens. There are several kinds, but most of them are Japanese flowering plums. The names have been lost, and our southern nurseries have long since ceased to offer them for sale. About the only thing you can do to own such a tree is to persuade your favorite nurseryman to graft or bud some of these little trees on plum stock for you. A few kinds are available from nurseries in this country.

Of all the different early flowering plums your columnist has even seen in his travels over the South, the small tree called a "spice plum" is the favorite. This is a name we find in some neighborhoods here in the south. Just at present, we are doing some research in old English gardening literature to find the origin of the name, and we shall report on it in the column. "Spice plum" is surely a good name for the spicy smelling double pink flowers of this plum. They smell just like a clove pink! In Japan, these early plums and the winter flowers of the Japanese apricots are greatly cherished.

The Japanese apricot blooms much earlier than the cultivated apricot and is almost invariably killed by the cold. The botanical name for it is Prunus mume. Over a long period of time, one of the old ornamental nurseries here in the south offered this little tree for sale. It must have been very popular with our grandmothers because it found its way into most of the old gardens from the Mason and Dixon Line southward. It is rather remarkable, however, that any of these trees survived until our day because peach borers get into all the plums and apricots as well as into peaches and soon kill the trees. There is a white form of the Japanese apricot and several double flowered ones, too. The trees will astonish you by blooming right in the middle of winter. Everybody is cheered by the sudden display of beauty. While the frost soon takes the blossoms away, the experience of having a tree to bloom in the middle of winter is well worth the trouble of digging out a few peach borers.

There are some beautiful tiny bulbs from southern Europe and north Africa that like our southern heat and summer drouths. One of these is the hoop-petticoat daffodil. Like the winter plums and apricots, you can find some of these bulbs in old gardens. They have never been very plentiful in this country, however. The best known one is a yellow or orange flowered type that blooms later on with the main season of the larger daffodils. Earliest to flower is the lemon yellow kind. It will bloom any time from December in the lower south till late January in the upper south. Somehow, lemon yellow blossoms in mid-winter are very exciting and especially when they smell like lemons. Of course, you will have to be very humble to smell them because the stems are only an inch or so long. The little flowers are the shape of an old-fashioned hoop petticoat.

In catalogues of daffodils and tulips in the fall, you will find these tiny bulbs listed either as Narcissus bulbocodium citrinus or simply as Bulbocodium citrinum. Plant them in a fairly moist spot but not in a wet one. In drier ground, they will live and grow, but the stems will not be as long as they are when the bulbs are growing in a moist place. A little bone meal should be dug into the soil before you set them out just under the surface. Not more than an inch of soil should cover them from sight. Don't worry about their getting too dried out from the sun in summer. They like it. Some of these tiny bulbs were taken out of a herbarium in England where they had been pasted on a sheet for preservation. Although it had been twenty-two years since they were collected they came up when planted and flowered the next year! Here we have a perfect example of the plants from the hotter parts of southern Europe and north Africa where the climate is like our own. As we get more and more of the trees, shrubs, perennials and bulbs from the Mediterannean Area all the way from Spain to The Holy Land, our gardening will become easier. In northern gardens, plants from these warm regions have to be coddled and protected, but down here, they want just what we have in the way of climate and soil to grow and multiply from seeds.

After Bulbocodium citrinum has flowered, the next one of these tiny daffodils to bloom is usually Narcissus minimus, a miniature with a one-to two-inch stem and a perfect trumpet all of one inch long if that big.

Garden Center Notes

Camellia Gardens In Bloom

The camellia season is now in full swing and the many beautiful varieties on display at the garden center certainly proclaim that north Louisiana is the "home of the camellias."

The Vidalia Garden Club had three blue ribbon camellias in the horticultural section this week. Awards were as follows: Mrs. Susie Dale Rogers, magnoliae flora, blue ribbon, Mrs. Frank Licata, purple dawn, blue ribbon, Mrs. Percy Roundtree, Jr., debutante, blue ribbon.

In the arrangement section, first place was awarded to Mrs. J. L. Fairbanks for a lovely arrangement of white camellias in a silver bowl, pittosporum foliage and white roman hyacinths made a background for the camellias.'

Second place was awarded to Miss Inez Callaway for a delightful line-mass arrangement of pussy-willow, iris foliage and paper-white narcissus. Third place award went to Mrs. T. T. Towles for a beautiful green and white foliage design. Mrs. Towles chose a low green container and skillfully combined aspidistra and variegated pittosporum in a mass design.

Mrs. L. P. Craighead of Delhi and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie Monroe served as judges.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stone provided a special display of camellias from their garden. Using the lily camellia from the Stone's garden, Mrs. Archie Dickerson created a lovely crescent arrangement. For a container Mrs. Dickerson chose a narrow oval milk glass bowl. The crescent design was achieved with pussy-willow, variegated aspitistra, sanseveiria and holly fern using the lovely white camellias as a focal point.

Next week is Camellia Week. The public is invited to visit the garden center and see the camellias on display Tuesday through Saturday.

Need A Bright Color At Your Door?

Need a spot of bright color right at your front door? Asters are the solution for that time after zinnias and before chrysanthemums when you want plenty of flowers in the garden and in the house, too, but not just any asters.

What's needed is an upright, compact plant with all its flowers at the top, and a new annual aster called Powderpuffs is really "tailor made" to fit your needs. Its plants are 2 feet high but take less than one square foot of space each, and when they're in bloom the ribbon of color is so thick the foliage is entirely hidden. Because Powderpuffs don't branch the way other asters do, they can be grown much, much closer together — the normal spacing is 4 to 6 inches apart! The result is a tremendous garden "show," with no special fertilizer or effort, but that's not all: this Powderpuff is a cutflower too.

Each plant produces over 20 fluffy, crested flowers that spring from a central stem, and you can pick over half of these to fill your house with flowers without even missing them from the display outside Pink, white, azure, rose, red and blue can be had from a single packet of seeds. The flowers are long-lasting in water, and are about the right size (3 inches across) for goof flower arrangements of all kinds.

POWDERPUFFS MAKE A COMPACT PLANT

Powderpuffs are easy to grow: fully wilt-resistant, and early enough for August bloom if started without delay in spring. It's a good idea to spray regularly right along with your roses to keep the insects away, but no pinching or shaping is necessary as the "bouquet" plant shape is entirely natural. Originally a professional florist's aster. Powderpuffs are designed right for you gardeners who don't have a lot of space, and want to grow "double-duty" annuals that will let you landscape and decorate at the same time. Try them out this spring for real Autumn bloom that's more than your money's worth.

There is a white form of the Japanese apricot and several double flowered ones, too. The trees will astonish you by blooming right in the middle of winter. Everybody is cheered by the sudden display of beauty. While the frost soon takes the blossoms away, the experience of having a tree to bloom in the middle of winter is well worth the trouble of digging out a few peach borers.

There are some beautiful tiny bulbs from southern Europe and north Africa that like our southern heat and summer drouths. One of these is the hoop-petticoat daffodil. Like the winter plums and apricots, you can find some of these bulbs in old gardens. They have never been very plentiful in this country, however. The best known one is a yellow or orange flowered type that blooms later on with the main season of the larger daffodils. Earliest to flower is the lemon yellow kind. It will bloom any time from December in the lower south till late January in the upper south. Somehow, lemon yellow blossoms in mid-winter are very exciting and especially when they smell like lemons. Of course, you will have to be very humble to smell them because the stems are only an inch or so long. The little flowers are the shape of an old-fashioned hoop petticoat.

In catalogues of daffodils and tulips in the fall, you will find these tiny bulbs listed either as Narcissus bulbocodium citrinus or simply as Bulbocodium citrinum. Plant them in a fairly moist spot but not in a wet one. In drier ground, they will live and grow, but the stems will not be as long as they are when the bulbs are growing in a moist place. A little bone meal should be dug into the soil before you set them out just under the surface. Not more than an inch of soil should cover them from sight. Don't worry about their getting too dried out from the sun in summer. They like it. Some of these tiny bulbs were taken out of a herbarium in England where they had been pasted on a sheet for preservation. Although it had been twenty-two years since they were collected they came up when planted and flowered the next year! Here we have a perfect example of the plants from the hotter parts of southern Europe and north Africa where the climate is like our own. As we get more and more of the trees, shrubs, perennials and bulbs from the Mediterannean Area all the way from Spain to The Holy Land, our gardening will become easier. In northern gardens, plants from these warm regions have to be coddled and protected, but down here, they want just what we have in the way of climate and soil to grow and multiply from seeds.

After Bulbocodium citrinum has flowered, the next one of these tiny daffodils to bloom is usually Narcissus minimus, a miniature with a one-to two-inch stem and a perfect trumpet all of one inch long if that big.

Garden Center Notes

Camellia Gardens In Bloom

The camellia season is now in full swing and the many beautiful varieties on display at the garden center certainly proclaim that north Louisiana is the "home of the camellias."

The Vidalia Garden Club had three blue ribbon camellias in the horticultural section this week. Awards were as follows: Mrs. Susie Dale Rogers, magnoliae flora, blue ribbon, Mrs. Frank Licata, purple dawn, blue ribbon, Mrs. Percy Roundtree, Jr., debutante, blue ribbon.

In the arrangement section, first place was awarded to Mrs. J. L. Fairbanks for a lovely arrangement of white camellias in a silver bowl, pittosporum foliage and white roman hyacinths made a background for the camellias.

Second place was awarded to Miss Inez Callaway for a delightful line-mass arrangement of pussy-willow, iris foliage and paper-white narcissus. Third place award went to Mrs. T. T. Towles for a beautiful green and white foliage design. Mrs. Towles chose a low green container and skillfully combined aspidistra and variegated pittosporum in a mass design.

Mrs. L. P. Craighead of Delhi and Mrs. C. E. McKenzie Monroe served as judges.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stone provided a special display of camellias from their garden. Using the lily camellia from the Stone's garden, Mrs. Archie Dickerson created a lovely crescent arrangement. For a container Mrs. Dickerson chose a narrow oval milk glass bowl. The crescent design was achieved with pussy-willow, variegated aspitistra, sanseveiria and holly fern using the lovely white camellias as a focal point.

Next week is Camellia Week. The public is invited to visit the garden center and see the camellias on display Tuesday through Saturday.

POWDERPUFFS MAKE A COMPACT PLANT

Need a spot of bright color right at your front door? Asters are the solution for that time after zinnias and before chrysanthemums when you want plenty of flowers in the garden and in the house, too, but not just any asters.

What's needed is an upright, compact plant with all its flowers at the top, and a new annual aster called Powderpuffs is really "tailor made" to fit your needs. Its plants are 2 feet high but take less than one square foot of space each, and when they're in bloom the ribbon of color is so thick the foliage is entirely hidden. Because Powderpuffs don't branch the way other asters do, they can be grown much, much closer together — the normal spacing is 4 to 6 inches apart! The result is a tremendous garden "show," with no special fertilizer or effort, but that's not all: this Powderpuff is a cutflower too.

Each plant produces over 20 fluffy, crested flowers that spring from a central stem, and you can pick over half of these to fill your house with flowers without even missing them from the display outside Pink, white, azure, rose, red and blue can be had from a single packet of seeds. The flowers are long-lasting in water, and are about the right size (3 inches across) for goof flower arrangements of all kinds.

Powderpuffs are easy to grow: fully wilt-resistant, and early enough for August bloom if started without delay in spring. It's a good idea to spray regularly right along with your roses to keep the insects away, but no pinching or shaping is necessary as the "bouquet" plant shape is entirely natural. Originally a professional florist's aster. Powderpuffs are designed right for you gardeners who don't have a lot of space, and want to grow "double-duty" annuals that will let you landscape and decorate at the same time. Try them out this spring for real Autumn bloom that's more than your money's worth.

The Rose All America is Talking About!
The BLUE ROSE
IT'S SPECTACULAR! IT'S SENSATIONAL!

Discovered by J. C. Schmidt, a German Plant Scientist, in 1909 — THE BLUE ROSE was developed from a number of Crimson Rambler Varieties and an unknown rose. After years of cultivation and experimentation, the BLUE ROSE today is one of the most unique and unusual in all Rosedom.

NOW—A BLUE ROSE...IN YOUR GARDEN

Have you ever heard of a BLUE ROSE? Have you ever seen one? If not — you're in for a never-to-be-forgotten thrill when you have this fascinating rose in your own garden. You'll be delighted with each lovely cluster of gorgeous semi-double cupshaped blooms in shimmering color tones, highlighted by exciting shades of violet blue.

THESE ARE TOP NO. 1 GRADE, TWO-YEAR-OLD, FIELD-GROWN ROSE PLANTS

The very finest, big-sized, heavy rooted — and the most carefully grown and selected rose plants you can buy. For a limited time only — you can purchase two of these fabulous BLUE ROSES for only $4.98! Individual plants are priced at $3.00 each. AS A VERY SPECIAL OFFER — we will send you six (5) BLUE ROSES for just $12.00! (a saving of $6.00) NOTICE — Limit six (6) to a customer. These low prices are possible because you are buying direct from the largest BLUE ROSE Grower in the UNITED STATES.

PROLIFIC BLOOMING ROSE ONE OF THE HEALTHIEST, HARDIEST OF ALL!

This spectacular BLUE ROSE climber grows up to 15 feet in height with strong, heavy canes that are covered with blooms of huge clusters, some a foot wide. At first, the rose blooms a brilliant crimson, then quickly changes to a beautiful, amazing shade of violet blue. The blue remains throughout the blossoming stage. Be the first in your neighborhood to have this sensational BLUE ROSE . . . it will certainly add an entirely new effect to your flower arrangements.

GUARANTEED TO LIVE AND BLOOM ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES

The BLUE ROSE is a strong, healthy, disease-resistant rose plant and will thrive in most any climate — any soil! It's one of the easiest roses for any gardener to grow! I GUARANTEE IT TO GROW ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES OR YOUR MONEY BACK! Your BLUE ROSES will be carefully root-wrapped in soft, damp moss and packed in strong, moisture-retaining paper to insure the best "field-fresh" condition possible on delivery.

Outstanding Leaders Are Former Scouters

The three programs of the Boy Scouts of America — cub scouting, boy scouting and exploring — contain many opportunities for boys to develop leadership ability.

Members select their own leaders and those who advance to greater responsibility often train the boys who succeed them. In these leadership opportunities the boy faces a widening and deepening of his own thinking. He trains himself so that he can take over additional duties, while taking part in a program that gives him fellowship, personal progress, adventure and opportunities for service to others.

During Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, the organization will honor its volunteer adult leaders.

Boy Scout leaders proudly point out that 15 members of their national executive board, which supervises the management of the organization now 3,300,000 strong, were Boy Scouts or leaders in scout troops.

Since 1910, more than 21 million persons have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America. Many have become leaders in their communities. Some hold the highest elective positions in the nation and others are leaders in their respective vocations.

Victor Ridder, New York publisher, and Frank L. Weil, New York attorney, both active in scouting over 40 years, are veteran members of the national executive board. Both led Boy Scout troops in the earliest years of the organization.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was an assistant scout master and scoutmaster from 1918 to 1929. Kenneth K. Bechtel of San Francisco, a vice president of the national council, was a scout from 1916 to 1919. He is president of the Industrial Indemnity Company.

Norton Clapp of Seattle, Wash., president of a lumber company, became a scout in 1918 and for 14 years was an assistant scoutmaster, scoutmaster and troop committeeman. George L. Harding of San Francisco, secretary and treasurer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, became a scoutmaster in 1935 of a Palo Alto troop.

Leonard K. Firestone of Los Angeles, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., of California, became a scout in 1919 and E. J. Thomas of Akron, Ohio, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., became a scout in 1913 and later was an assistant scoutmaster.

William H. Fetridge of Chicago, executive vice president of "Popular Mechanics" magazine, became a lone scout in 1918. A year later Frank C. Rand, Jr., Santa Fe, N. Mex. business executive, became a scout.

Dr. William C. Menninger of Topeka, Kans., general secretary of the Menninger Foundation, has an outstanding record in scouting. He became a scout in 1911 and achieved eagle scout rank. He was scoutmaster eight years, skipper of national sea scout flagship "Kansan" six years and cubmaster of Pack 607 for five years. During World War II, as a brigadier general, he was chief consultant in psychiatry in the office of the surgeon general.

Another board member who was an eagle scout is William D. Campbell of Southern Pines, N. C.

Thomas J. Watson, Jr., of New York, president of International Business Machines Company and now president of the Greater New York Councils of the Boy Scouts, joined a troop in 1926. John R. Donnell of Findlay, Ohio, treasurer of the Ohio Oil Company became a scout in 1924 and Ivan Allen, Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., was a scout four years and a scoutmaster for three years.

Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Allan Shivers of Texas, Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, Howard Pyle of Arizona, Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Francis Cherry of Arkansas were Boy Scouts. Gov. Kennon became an assistant scoutmaster of a troop at Minden, with which he is still affiliated.

Many leaders in Washington were scouts or helped to lead them. Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, William O. Douglas and Tom Clark were scouts. Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, was one of America's first scoutmasters in 1911. Other senators who were scouts include William F. Knowland of California, John Sparkman of Alabama, Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey, J. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

HERE TO ETERNITY—Bert Lancaster and Deborah Kerr are two of the big names in the film, "From Here To Eternity," which is now playing at the Joy Drive In Theatre. Others in starring rolls include Montgomery Clift, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed.

'From Here To Eternity' Now Showing Here

Seldom, if ever, has there been brought to the screen a motion picture of such brutal forcefulness, powerful drama, flaring passion and flaming excitement as in Columbia Pictures' "From Here to Eternity," which opened today at the Joy Drive-In Theatre. A screen masterpiece based upon James Jones' literary sensation, "From Here to Eternity" stars Burt Lancaster, Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed.

Jones' powerful and savage prize-winning novel, brought to the screen via Daniel Taradash's magnificent screen play and Fred Zinneman's whiplash direction under the production aegis of Buddy Adler, "From Here to Eternity" is magnificently created out of the elements of life itself: courage, brutality, love.

Set in the Pearl Harbor of 1941, in the months prior to and culminating with the sneak attack, "From Here to Eternity" is a compelling study of both the professional soldier — America's 30-year man—and of overwhelming romance. In fact, two romances and two professional soldiers strangely joined in friendship and conflict.

First of the soldiers is Robert E. Lee Prewitt, a bugler who once played "Taps" at Arlington Cemetery, who transfers into an infantry outfit in Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, run by First Sergeant Milton Warden. Professional soldiers both, the two find much to like and respect in each other but they cannot continue as friends when the company commander forces the sergeant to give Prewitt, a brilliant boxer who once had blinded a GI in a sparring match, The Treatment, making his life miserable as possible, for his refusal to join the company boxing team. Likable Pvt. Angelo Maggio remains the brooding, sensitive Prewitt's only friend.

It is Maggio who introduces Prewitt to Lorene, a young lady who helps Prewitt stand up against the mounting intensity and crudeness of The Treatment, and who shelters him when, in a bloody knife battle, he kills a stockade sergeant responsible for the death of Maggio. Against this impassioned story of a soldier and his girl is told, in "From Here to Eternity," the equally bitter and moving romance which couples Warden and Karen Holmes, wife of the brutal commander. First an accidental and unthinking affair, they gradually move to the point of real romance, with talk of divorce and marriage.

The attack on Pearl Harbor brings both affairs to an end. Warden resumes his rightful role as a leader of men, directing them with authority and skill. The fugitive Prewitt, professional soldier, attempts to rejoin his outfit and Warden, and is killed.

Perfect casting marks "From Here to Eternity." Lancaster is superb in his dramatic role, making Sergeant Warden a vivid, well-rounded representation of the prewar professional soldier, a man at home in any situation, bound by the rules but capable of breaking them. Clift is equally fine as the brooding, proud young bugler who is perfectly willing to fight—but not for the sake of fighting. Deborah Kerr abandons her hitherto regal and proper characterizations to appear as the lush, sweater-clad and unhappy Army wife whose chance amour with her husband's first sergeant turns into something unexpected but understandable. Donna Reed, too, breaks with her motion picture past to play the somewhat tarnished Lorene whose plans for the future had no room for romance with a soldier. Frank Sinatra is equally fine in a straight dramatic role as the likeable Pvt. Maggio, a little guy with a heart.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Occupation Housewife? You Will Find Fun In It.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sometimes it is hard for Father to understand that Mommie needs some time away from their small children. That "sometime" is really essential to her best health, her personality, and certainly to the companionship of husband and wife.

I know that father works very hard. His wife's job may seem pretty "neat" to him. Here he is battling the world for his family! He gets up early and must leave for work, rain or shine. Right at this season he may have to shovel snow, prime the car, put on chains, or run for the bus or subway on icy streets, while there his lady is, in a nice snug house or apartment. "What a life!" he thinks.

If it were possible for husband and wife to exchange jobs for one week out of every year, each would be more appreciative of the other and would better understand the other's investment and problems. I am firmly convinced that after taking on all the obligations connected with running even a small house, and taking care of the young fry, Father would go back to his own job with somewhat the same feeling with which he might approach a vacation in Bermuda.

He Has World Contact

I do not mean to ignore the advantages of being a housewife and taking care of your lovely children, but conversation with infants and very young children most of the time, and the day after day run of domestic duties are not conducive to a sparkling personality or to continued verve. Father at least comes in contact with the outside world.

Many a girl who had many friends, liked people, enjoyed many different interests, had individual tastes she wished to develop before marriage, finds herself somewhat bewildered after a few years of marriage, because she is tied to the house and to constantly demanding household routine. Many such young women write to me.

You can stay fresh in spirit if you will try. If your husband is understanding and helpful in his attitude that will be a big help. Psychologists say that we can become interested in anything if we learn enough about it. Why not make your homework interesting by learning about cooking and nutrition and child psychology? This will add new zip to daily life.

Enjoy Them Now

Also, remember that you will not have those little children very long. The day will come when you will be free again and have leisure. Enjoy them! They are so cute and so funny. However, begin preparing for that future date by enjoying them fully now and working if only a little each week on some interest or hobby you can carry on at home. This may be courses of study, gardening, making hooked rugs, or any number of things.

Then do try to plan time to go out with your husband and to see some of the girl friends once in a while. You will come back to your home job with new pep.

I have often wondered why young parents do not form cooperative clubs with a few of the other young couples they know. The couples could take turns baby sitting for the gang, and the same idea could be worked out for the women one day a week. Naturally this would have to be a small group and you would have to know the people.

Monotony can dull romance and health and personality!

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am 18 and have been going steady for the past year with a 21-year-old boy. I, like most girls, would like to get married but my boy friend says that he insists on finishing his college work and ha a good job and loads of money. I know that marriage is not a bed of roses but feel that when two people are in love they should consider it. I love him and I know that he loves me but since we never refer to the future I am getting worried. — Unhappy.

Take a tipe from one who knows, kiddie . . . you have a boy friend who has a lot of good sense but whom you will lose if you don't stop "slipping" and worrying about the future. You push him too far and you'll be all alone . . . love, or no love. Also, better take up a little college work at night school or you'll be stepping aside for a girl with more education than you have. Boys with college educations are funny that way.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Outstanding Leaders Are Former Scouters

The three programs of the Boy Scouts of America — cub scouting, boy scouting and exploring — contain many opportunities for boys to develop leadership ability.

Members select their own leaders and those who advance to greater responsibility often train the boys who succeed them. In these leadership opportunities the boy faces a widening and deepening of his own thinking. He trains himself so that he can take over additional duties, while taking part in a program that gives him fellowship, personal progress, adventure and opportunities for service to others.

During Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, the organization will honor its volunteer adult leaders.

Boy Scout leaders proudly point out that 15 members of their national executive board, which supervises the management of the organization now 3,300,000 strong, were Boy Scouts or leaders in scout troops.

Since 1910, more than 21 million persons have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America. Many have become leaders in their communities. Some hold the highest elective positions in the nation and others are leaders in their respective vocations.

Victor Ridder, New York publisher, and Frank L. Weil, New York attorney, both active in scouting over 40 years, are veteran members of the national executive board. Both led Boy Scout troops in the earliest years of the organization.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was an assistant scout master and scoutmaster from 1918 to 1929. Kenneth K. Bechtel of San Francisco, a vice president of the national council, was a scout from 1916 to 1919. He is president of the Industrial Indemnity Company.

Norton Clapp of Seattle, Wash., president of a lumber company, became a scout in 1918 and for 14 years was an assistant scoutmaster, scoutmaster and troop committeeman. George L. Harding of San Francisco, secretary and treasurer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, became a scoutmaster in 1935 of a Palo Alto troop.

Leonard K. Firestone of Los Angeles, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., of California, became a scout in 1919 and E. J. Thomas of Akron, Ohio, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., became a scout in 1913 and later was an assistant scoutmaster.

William H. Fetridge of Chicago, executive vice president of "Popular Mechanics" magazine, became a lone scout in 1918. A year later Frank C. Rand, Jr., Santa Fe, N. Mex. business executive, became a scout.

Dr. William C. Menninger of Topeka, Kans., general secretary of the Menninger Foundation, has an outstanding record in scouting. He became a scout in 1911 and achieved eagle scout rank. He was scoutmaster eight years, skipper of national sea scout flagship "Kansan" six years and cubmaster of Pack 607 for five years. During World War II, as a brigadier general, he was chief consultant in psychiatry in the office of the surgeon general.

Another board member who was an eagle scout is William D. Campbell of Southern Pines, N. C.

Thomas J. Watson, Jr., of New York, president of International Business Machines Company and now president of the Greater New York Councils of the Boy Scouts, joined a troop in 1926. John R. Donnell of Findlay, Ohio, treasurer of the Ohio Oil Company became a scout in 1924 and Ivan Allen, Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., was a scout four years and a scoutmaster for three years.

Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Allan Shivers of Texas, Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, Howard Pyle of Arizona, Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Francis Cherry of Arkansas were Boy Scouts. Gov. Kennon became an assistant scoutmaster of a troop at Minden, with which he is still affiliateed.

Many leaders in Washington were scouts or helped to lead them. Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, William O. Douglas and Tom Clark were scouts. Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, was one of America's first scoutmasters in 1911. Other senators who were scouts include William F. Knowland of California, John Sparkman of Alabama, Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey, J. William Fulbright of Arkansas and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

HERE TO ETERNITY—Bert Lancaster and Deborah Kerr are two of the big names in the film, "From Here To Eternity," which is now playing at the Joy Drive In Theatre. Others in starring rolls include Montgomery Clift, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed.

'From Here To Eternity' Now Showing Here

Seldom, if ever, has there been brought to the screen a motion picture of such brutal forcefulness, powerful drama, flaring passion and flaming excitement as in Columbia Pictures' "From Here to Eternity," which opened today at the Joy Drive-In Theatre. A screen masterpiece based upon James Jones' literary sensation, "From Here to Eternity" stars Burt Lancaster, Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed.

Jones' powerful and savage prize-winning novel, brought to the screen via Daniel Taradash's magnificent screen play and Fred Zinneman's whiplash direction under the production aegis of Buddy Adler, "From Here to Eternity" is magnificently created out of the elements of life itself: courage, brutality, love.

Set in the Pearl Harbor of 1941, in the months prior to and culminating with the sneak attack, "From Here to Eternity" is a compelling study of both the professional soldier — America's 30-year man—and of overwhelming romance. In fact, two romances and two professional soldiers strangely joined in friendship and conflict.

First of the soldiers is Robert E. Lee Prewitt, a bugler who once played "Taps" at Arlington Cemetery, who transfers into an infantry outfit in Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, run by First Sergeant Milton Warden. Professional soldiers both, the two find much to like and respect in each other but they cannot continue as friends when the company commander forces the sergeant to give Prewitt, a brilliant boxer who once had blinded a GI in a sparring match, The Treatment, making his life miserable as possible, for his refusal to join the company boxing team. Likable Pvt. Angelo Maggio remains the brooding, sensitive Prewitt's only friend.

It is Maggio who introduces Prewitt to Lorene, a young lady who helps Prewitt stand up against the mounting intensity and crudeness of The Treatment, and who shelters him when, in a bloody knife battle, he kills a stockade sergeant responsible for the death of Maggio. Against this impassioned story of a soldier and his girl is told, in "From Here to Eternity," the equally bitter and moving romance which couples Warden and Karen Holmes, wife of the brutal commander. First an accidental and unthinking affair, they gradually move to the point of real romance, with talk of divorce and marriage.

The attack on Pearl Harbor brings both affairs to an end. Warden resumes his rightful role as a leader of men, directing them with authority and skill. The fugitive Prewitt, professional soldier, attempts to rejoin his outfit and Warden, and is killed.

Perfect casting marks "From Here to Eternity." Lancaster is superb in his dramatic role, making Sergeant Warden a vivid, well-rounded representation of the pre-war professional soldier, a man at home in any situation, bound by the rules but capable of breaking them. Clift is equally fine as the brooding, proud young bugler who is perfectly willing to fight—but not for the sake of fighting. Deborah Kerr abandons her hitherto regal and proper characterizations to appear as the lush, sweater-clad and unhappy Army wife whose chance amour with her husband's first sergeant turns into something unexpected but understandable. Donna Reed, too, breaks with her motion picture past to play the somewhat tarnished Lorene whose plans for the future had no room for romance with a soldier. Frank Sinatra is equally fine in a straight dramatic role as the likeable Pvt. Maggio, a little guy with a heart.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Occupation Housewife? You Will Find Fun In It.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sometimes it is hard for Father to understand that Mommie needs some time away from their small children. That "sometime" is really essential to her best health, her personality, and certainly to the companionship of husband and wife.

I know that father works very hard. His wife's job may seem pretty "neat" to him. Here he is battling the world for his family! He gets up early and must leave for work, rain or shine. Right at this season he may have to shovel snow, prime the car, put on chains, or run for the bus or subway on icy streets, while there his lady is, in a nice snug house or apartment. "What a life!" he thinks.

If it were possible for husband and wife to exchange jobs for one week out of every year, each would be more appreciative of the other and would better understand the other's investment and problems. I am firmly convinced that after taking on all the obligations connected with running even a small house, and taking care of the young fry, Father would go back to his own job with somewhat the same feeling with which he might approach a vacation in Bermuda.

He Has World Contact

I do not mean to ignore the advantages of being a housewife and taking care of your lovely children, but conversation with infants and very young children most of the time, and the day after day run of domestic duties are not conducive to a sparkling personality or to continued verve. Father at least comes in contact with the outside world.

Many a girl who had many friends, liked people, enjoyed many different interests, had individual tastes she wished to develop before marriage, finds herself somewhat bewildered after a few years of marriage, because she is tied to the house and to constantly demanding household routine. Many such young women write to me.

You can stay fresh in spirit if you will try. If your husband is understanding and helpful in his attitude that will be a big help. Psychologists say that we can become interested in anything if we learn enough about it. Why not make your homework interesting by learning about cooking and nutrition and child psychology? This will add new zip to daily life.

Enjoy Them Now

Also, remember that you will not have those little children very long. The day will come when you will be free again and have leisure. Enjoy them! They are so cute and so funny. However, begin preparing for that future date by enjoying them fully now and working if only a little each week on some interest or hobby you can carry on at home. This may be courses of study, gardening, making hooked rugs, or any number of things.

Then do try to plan time to go out with your husband and to see some of the girl friends once in a while. You will come back to your home job with new pep.

I have often wondered why young parents do not form cooperative clubs with a few of the other young couples they know. The couples could take turns baby sitting for the gang, and the same idea could be worked out for the women one day a week. Naturally this would have to be a small group and you would have to know the people.

Monotony can dull romance and health and personality!

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am 18 and have been going steady for the past year with a 21-year-old boy. I, like most girls, would like to get married but my boy friend says that he insists on finishing his college work and ha a good job and loads of money. I know that marriage is not a bed of roses but feel that when two people are in love they should consider it. I love him and I know that he loves me but since we never refer to the future I am getting worried. — Unhappy.

Take a tipe from one who knows, kiddie . . . you have a boy friend who has a lot of good sense but whom you will lose if you don't stop "slipping" and worrying about the future. You push him too far and you'll be all alone . . . love, or no love. Also, better take up a little college work at night school or you'll be stepping aside for a girl with more education than you have. Boys with college educations are funny that way.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

Victor Mature, Demetrius and Michael Rennie, Simon, called Peter by Jesus, as two converts in "The Robe," CinemaScope production in Technicolor, opening Friday, February 12 at the Joy Theatre Rayville, La.

'The Robe' In CinemaScope Starts Friday In Rayville

"The Robe" in Cinemascope, already heralded as a milestone in motion picture history, is scheduled to have its first showing in this area on Friday at the Joy Theatre in Rayville, La. The recent world premiere at the Roxy Theatre in New York City elicited the most extraordinary attention paid any movie since the advent of sound, accountable both to the prominence of the subject, "The Robe," and the introduction of the new revolutionary process, CinemaScope. This new medium utilizes an anamorphic lens, sterophonic sound and the new Miracle-Mirror screen to achieve vast dimension, lifelike depth and hitherto unknown brilliance. Without being required to wear glasses, the viewer is said to be engulfed by the picture he witnesses in CinemaScope.

The selection of "The Robe," surely one of the most eagerly awaited properties in filmdom's history, as the initial project for CinemaScope, was the master stroke of Darryl F. Zanuck, production chief of the producing company Twentieth Century-Fox, which pioneered the new process, and Frank Ross, the film's producer. Mr. Ross has cherished the aspiration of bringing "The Robe" to the screen ever since he purchased the film rights from the author of the widely-read novel, the late Lloyd C. Douglas, after reading the galley proofs some 12 years ago.

Nearly two years of pre-production activity, involving research to guide the building of the sets and creation of the costumes, brought "The Robe" to readiness on the eve of the discovery of CinemaScope. A six-week delay in shooting was interposed to permit the wedding of these two monumental undertaking of current film history. In all, $5,000,000 has been expended in reproducing on the screen in fitting scale and style the most wide-read and best-loved best-seller of all time. More than two million copies of the Douglas masterpiece have been sold in the English editions and it is estimated that more than twenty million Americans have read it. This is exclusive of the vast sale of editions abroad in 18 foreign languages.

Immense themes of faith, love and sacrifice are blended in "The Robe," amid depictions of the pomp and pageantry of Rome. Painstaking care governed the selection of players for "The Robe." By the time the Technicolor cameras were ready to roll, the producers were certain that their offering was peopled with the finest English-speaking talent from both sides of the Atlantic. Playing Marcellus, tribune to the Emperor, is Richard Burton, the brilliant young Britisher who won instant attention on Broadway in Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning" and duplicated this success in his very first picture role in "My Cousin Rachel," earning himself an Academy Award nomination. Opposite him, as Diana, the Emperor's ward, is Jean Simmons, whose haunting beauty and skillful artistry first emerged when she enacted Ophelia to Sir Laurence Olivier's, "Hamlet," and were confirmed in "Trio" and "Young Bess."

Victor Mature, whose performance previewers have ranked as a revelation of new powers from this already highly regarded star, is seen as Demetrius, the Greek slave bonded to Marcellus and instrumental in the latter's conversion to the faith which is symbolized by the robe, the cloak Christ wore when He was crucified. The picture's fourth star, Michael Rennie, appears as Simon of Galilee, whom Jesus called Peter. As the disciple known as "The Big Fisherman," he finally inherits the robe when Marcellus and Diana are finally united.

Other important roles are filled by the youthful Jay Robinson, brilliant performer from the Broadway stage, who plays the sadistic Caligula, and the veteran prize-winning [illegible] Dean Jagger, cast as Justus, a disciple. Among the thousands of supporting players are such prominently featured actors as Torin Thatcher, Richard Boone, Betta St. John (who created the role of Liat in "South Pacific"), Jeff Morrow, Ernest Thesiger, Dawn Addams and Leon Askin. The screen play of "The Robe" was written by Philip Dunne from an adaptation by Gina Kaus.

'Give A Girl A Break' Is Gay M-G-M Musical

The competition between three girls for the starring role in an elaborate Broadway production furnishes the plot motif for "Give a Girl a Break," M-G-M's newest Technicolor musical, now showing at the Jim Theatre.

With Marge and Gower Champion and Debbie Reynolds in its principal roles and with Helen Wood and Bob Fosse, two talented recruits from the Broadway stage adding freshness and zest to pivotal portrayals, "Give a Girl a Break" has a rare buoyancy, sparkle and footlight magnetism in both plot and production numbers.

Gower Champion plays the director and dancing star of the Broadway show who, when his tempermental leading lady walks out on her contract, is forced to find an immediate replacement for her. He secretly hopes to win back his former dancing partner, Marge Champion, who gave up show business when she permitted romance to interfere with her career. Marge shows up again to make a bid for the starring role, but now there are two other competitors in the running in Debbie Reynolds and Helen Wood. The conflict and suspense revolves about the efforts and alliances each girl makes to achieve her goal. Only one of them can win the starring role, of course, but in the end each one gets what she really wants.

ROMANTIC TEAM — Marge and Gower Champion dance and romance again in M-G-M's sparkling new Technicolor musical, "Give A Girl a Break," which will be the next attraction at the Jim Theatre. Debbie Reynolds is another headliner in a picture loaded with love, laughs and lilting melodies, which begins Wednesday, Feb. 10.

'Paratrooper' Is Realistic Story In Technicolor

Two of the most daring and spectacular paratroop attacks ever to strike Europe and Africa are seen in color by Technicolor on the Paramount screen in Columbia Pictures' "Paratrooper," which opened last night starring Alan Ladd and Leo Genn with lovely newcomer Susan Stephen. A spectacular reenactment of the historic campaigns, "Paratrooper" is a ripcord thriller that seared yesterday's audiences with the grim excitement of its commando realism.

Carefully watched by the army during its production, "Paratrooper" is a thrilling record of its boldest hand-to-hand combat filmed with what obviously was the most faithful devotion to accuracy. Even Alan Ladd himself, it is reported, had to enlist for full commando-paratrooper training before he was allowed to portray the toughest of them all.

The true events of the picture were adapted from "The Red Beret," Hilary St. George Saunders' best-seller of actual commando raids. The Warwick film production covers not only the formation and training of the thousands of paratroops seen in action on the screen, but also an historic raid on the Channel coast to smash a radar station, paving the way for the opening of the second front, and a larger scale attack to take over an airfield in North Africa.

"Paratrooper" is told as the story of Alan Ladd who, like his fellows, volunteers for the rugged service. It starts with his training in hand-to-hand combat and includes his first jumps. Ladd's encounter with parachute-packer Susan Stephen, winsome new British star, is given an importance in the film that adds to, rather than slows down, the adventure and action which comprise the essential entertainment values of the picture. Ladd carries on his shoulder a chip against the world and Susan knocks it off at their first meeting. From there on Ladd's battles never end—not with Susan on the home front; not with Leo Genn as his tough, understanding commanding officer nor with the enemy behind their own lines.

Victor Mature, Demetrius and Michael Rennie, Simon, called Peter by Jesus, as two converts in "The Robe," CinemaScope production in Technicolor, opening Friday, February 12 at the Joy Theatre Rayville, La.

'The Robe' In CinemaScope Starts Friday In Rayville

"The Robe" in Cinemascope, already heralded as a milestone in motion picture history, is scheduled to have its first showing in this area on Friday at the Joy Theatre in Rayville, La. The recent world premiere at the Roxy Theatre in New York City elicited the most extraordinary attention paid any movie since the advent of sound, accountable both to the prominence of the subject, "The Robe," and the introduction of the new revolutionary process, CinemaScope. This new medium utilizes an anamorphic lens, sterophonic sound and the new Miracle-Mirror screen to achieve vast dimension, lifelike depth and hitherto unknown brilliance. Without being required to wear glasses, the viewer is said to be engulfed by the picture he witnesses in CinemaScope.

The selection of "The Robe," surely one of the most eagerly awaited properties in filmdom's history, as the initial project for CinemaScope, was the master stroke of Darryl F. Zanuck, production chief of the producing company Twentieth Century-Fox, which pioneered the new process, and Frank Ross, the film's producer. Mr. Ross has cherished the aspiration of bringing "The Robe" to the screen ever since he purchased the film rights from the author of the widely-read novel, the late Lloyd C. Douglas, after reading the galley proofs some 12 years ago.

Nearly two years of pre-production activity, involving research to guide the building of the sets and creation of the costumes, brought "The Robe" to readiness on the eve of the discovery of CinemaScope. A six-week delay in shooting was interposed to permit the wedding of these two monumental undertaking of current film history. In all, $5,000,000 has been expended in reproducing on the screen in fitting scale and style the most wide-read and best-loved best-seller of all time. More than two million copies of the Douglas masterpiece have been sold in the English editions and it is estimated that more than twenty million Americans have read it. This is exclusive of the vast sale of editions abroad in 18 foreign languages.

Immense themes of faith, love and sacrifice are blended in "The Robe," amid depictions of the pomp and pageantry of Rome. Painstaking care governed the selection of players for "The Robe." By the time the Technicolor cameras were ready to roll, the producers were certain that their offering was peopled with the finest English-speaking talent from both sides of the Atlantic. Playing Marcellus, tribune to the Emperor, is Richard Burton, the brilliant young Britisher who won instant attention on Broadway in Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning" and duplicated this success in his very first picture role in "My Cousin Rachel," earning himself an Academy Award nomination. Opposite him, as Diana, the Emperor's ward, is Jean Simmons, whose haunting beauty and skillful artistry first emerged when she enacted Ophelia to Sir Laurence Olivier's, "Hamlet," and were confirmed in "Trio" and "Young Bess."

Victor Mature, whose performance previewers have ranked as a revelation of new powers from this already highly regarded star, is seen as Demetrius, the Greek slave bonded to Marcellus and instrumental in the latter's conversion to the faith which is symbolized by the robe, the cloak Christ wore when he was crucified. The picture's fourth star, Michael Rennie, appears as Simon of Galilee, whom Jesus called Peter. As the disciple known as "The Big Fisherman," he finally inherits the robe when Marcellus and Diana are finally united.

Other important roles are filled by the youthful Jay Robinson, brilliant performer from the Broadway stage, who plays the sadistic Caligula, and the veteran prize-winning actor, Dean Jagger, cast as Justus, a disciple. Among the thousands of supporting players are such prominently featured actors as Torin Thatcher, Richard Boone, Betta St. John (who created the role of Liat in "South Pacific"), Jeff Morrow, Ernest Thesiger, Dawn Addams and Leon Askin. The screen play of "The Robe" was written by Philip Dunne from an adaptation by Gina Kaus.

'Give A Girl A Break' Is Gay M-G-M Musical

The competition between three girls for the starring role in an elaborate Broadway production furnishes the plot motif for "Give a Girl a Break," M-G-M's newest Technicolor musical, now showing at the Jim Theatre.

With Marge and Gower Champion and Debbie Reynolds in its principal roles and with Helen Wood and Bob Fosse, two talented recruits from the Broadway stage adding frrshness and zest to pivotal portrayals, "Give a Girl a Break" has a rare buoyancy, sparkle and footlight magnetism in both plot and production numbers.

Gower Champion plays the director and dancing star of the Broadway show who, when his tempermental leading lady walks out on her contract, is forced to find an immediate replacement for her. He secretly hopes to win back his former dancing partner, Marge Champion, who gave up show business when she permitted romance to interfere with her career Marge shows up again to make a bid for the starring role, but now there are two other competitors in the running in Debbie Reynolds and Helen Wood. The conflict and suspense revolves about the efforts and alliances each girl makes to achieve her goal. Only one of them can win the starring role, of course, but in the end each one gets what she really wants.

ROMANTIC TEAM — Marge and Gower Champion dance and romance again in M-G-M's sparkling new Technicolor musical, "Give A Girl a Break," which will be the next attraction at the Jim Theatre. Debbie Reynolds is another headliner in a picture loaded with love, laughs and lilting melodies, which begins Wednesday, Feb. 10.

'Paratrooper' Is Realistic Story In Technicolor

Two of the most daring and spectacular paratroop attacks ever to strike Europe and Africa are seen in color by Technicolor on the Paramount screen in Columbia Pictures' "Paratrooper," which opened last night starring Alan Ladd and Leo Genn with lovely newcomer Susan Stephen. A spectacular reenactment of the historic campaigns, "Paratrooper" is a ripcord thriller that seared yesterday's audiences with the grim excitement of its commando realism.

Carefully watched by the army during its production, "Paratrooper" is a thrilling record of its boldest hand - to - hand combat filmed with what obviously was the most faithful devotion to accuracy. Even Alan Ladd himself, it is reported, had to enlist for full commando-paratrooper training before he was allowed to portray the toughest of them all.

The true events of the picture were adapted from "The Red Beret," Hilary St. George Saunders' best - seller of actual commando raids. The Warwick film production covers not only the formation and training of the thousands of paratroops seen in action on the screen, but also an historic raid on the Channel coast to smash a radar station, paving the way for the opening of the second front, and a larger scale attack to take over an airfield in North Africa.

"Paratrooper" is told as the story of Alan Ladd who, like his fellows, volunteers for the rugged service. It starts with his training in hand-to-hand combat and includes his first jumps. Ladd's encounter with parachute - packer Susan Stephen, winsome new British star, is given an importance in the film that adds to, rather than slows down, the adventure and action which comprise the essential entertainment values of the picture. Ladd carries on his shoulder a chip against the world and Susan knocks it off at their first meeting. From there on Ladd's battles never end—not with Susan on the home front; not with Leo Genn as his tough, understanding commanding officer nor with the enemy behind their own lines.

Excellent performers giving rich characterizations appear in support of the stars under the expert direction of Terence Young. The screen adaptation by Sy Bartlett and the screen play by Richard Maibaum and Frank Nugent are as crisp, tight and crackling as the machine gun fire of the paratroopers the picture glorifies. Producers Irving Allen and Albert R. Broccoli are to be congratulated for this achievement.

NO FIXED MODE OF PAYMENT. YOU PAY YOUR PREMIUMS MONTHLY, QUARTERLY, TWICE-A-YEAR, OR ANNUALLY . . . WHICHEVER IS BEST FOR YOU!

These 6 ADDITIONAL BENEFITS can be Yours under the Famous Low-Cost Plan

Pays You Money for

DOCTOR VISITS

Under the WHITE CROSS PLAN YOU can get up to $150.00 for doctor visits at your home, doctor's office, or in hospital for each member of your family, for each different sickness or accident. Indemnity for doctor treatment includes first treatment for bodily injury and begins third treatment for sickness. You may choose any doctor or hospital you want.

Pays You Money for

HOSPITAL BILLS

Choose any hospital you wish. Under the WHITE CROSS PLAN you can get from $4 to $15 a day for as many as 100 days for each different sickness or accident, for each member of your family. Hospital room and meals are included. We send the money to hospital or you, as you direct. (One person in every two families will need hospital care this year.)

Or Pays You Money for OPERATIONS

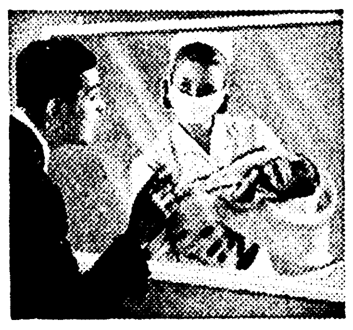
Under the White Cross Plan you can get $5.00 to $250.00 for surgery performed on any member of your family. Fractures, excisions, sinus, mastoid, hemorrhoids, goiter, and many more are covered . . . even stitching a simple wound ($5.00). Operations may be done in hospital, your home or doctor's office.



Pays You Money for

MATERNITY BENEFITS

Under the WHITE CROSS PLAN (after you have been a policyholder for 9 months) you can get $50.00 under the medical-surgical policy for childbirth or any complication of pregnancy, or miscarriage . . . up to 10 times the daily rate in the hospital policy. (Any baby is all the more welcome when you're under the WHITE CROSS PLAN.)

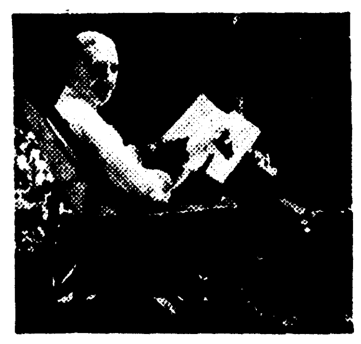
Pays Specified Amounts for MEDICINES, DRUGS, DRESSINGS, X-RAYS, ELECTROCARDIOGRAMS, ETC.

Under the WHITE CROSS PLAN you can get cash for many expenses you might not ordinarily expect to be covered. Full cost of Operating Room; specified amounts for anaesthetics, X-ray, drugs, dressings, ambulance, blood transfusions, oxygen, electro-cardiograms and medicines.



Pays You Money Each Month for

LIVING EXPENSES

Under the WHITE CROSS PLAN you can get up to $300.00 a month for hospital care; and up to $200.00 a month, when disabled, recuperating at home. No need to worry about bills piling up! Have the security that gives true Peace of Mind. (Why have bills pile up with no money coming in?)

Gets Paid for Third Operation

"I'm out of the hospital and feeling fine again even have my peace of mind, thanks to Bankers Life & Casualty Co. who paid me my third surgery. Without this insurance we would surely be in debt."

Genevieve L. Lenfert
Kankakee, Illinois

More Than Covers Cost of Operation

"I am writing to acknowledge your checks for my son's operations. We have had many insurance policies and they have never satisfied us as your policy has. Thank you for the promptness and friendly way you handled this matter."

Arthur Lautner
St. Louis, Missouri

Rec'd $259.00 for Hospital Expenses

"I want to express my deepest appreciation for the claim of $259 for hospital bills which has been received. I want to thank you for the prompt settlement. If I could only find words to help others receive the same wonderful benefits offered through your hospitalization that I have received. My heartfelt thanks goes to you for this wonderful service."

ANOTHER BANK ROBBERY! WHY CAN'T PEOPLE OBEY THE LAW?
LOOK WHO'S TALKING
I'LL HAVE YOU KNOW I'M A RESPECTABLE LAW-ABIDING CITIZEN
YOU BREAK THE LAW FROM MORNING UNTIL NIGHT
DAGWOOD, DO YOU THINK I SHOULD HIRE A LAWYER TO HANDLE THE SALE OF MY LOT?
NAW--COME ON IN--I'LL GIVE YOU ALL THE LEGAL ADVICE YOU NEED FOR PRACTICING LAW WITHOUT PASSING THE STATE BAR EXAMINATIONS, I SENTENCE YOU TO WASH THE DISHES
BOO-HOO, DADDY--I CUT MY FINGER
FIRST, DADDY WILL KISS IT--THEN I'LL BANDAGE IT WITH ANTISEPTIC
YOU'RE A GOOD DOCTOR, DADDY
FOR PRACTICING MEDICINE WITHOUT A LICENSE, I SENTENCE YOU TO CLEAN THE CELLAR
I NEVER REALIZED I WAS SUCH A CRIMINAL--I'LL NEVER FINISH ALL THIS WORK
I'LL PAY EACH OF YOU FIFTY CENTS TO CLEAN THE CELLAR FOR ME
I CAUGHT YOU AGAIN--VIOLATING THE CHILD LABOR LAWS
WHAT ARE YOU MAKING, MAMA?
I'M MAKING A NEW SUIT FOR DADDY

BEER FIVE TIES CAN ON HOOPLE

In the middle of a disastrous season, the Schmeltz Brewery basketball team has dismissed its coach, Maj. Amos B. Hoople.

At the start of the season the beer quintet was widely acclaimed as possible champion of the city league. Under Hoople's tutelage the team scored only 18 points in its first six games.

Several of the players were interviewed and declared they could not understand the diagrams Coach Hoople gave them for games. In addition, it was said the major only showed up twice for practice.

OUT OF MY KITCHEN, WOMAN! I, PIERRE, AM ZE CHEF HERE!
OH, DEAR!
CERTAINLY, M'SIEUR, YOU DO NOT INTEND TO DISCHARGE THE GREAT PIERRE!
WELL, ER, UH— YOU SEE, I-UH— I JUST WANTED PLAIN HAM AND EGGS, FRIED.
ZAT EEZ EXACTLY WAT I 'AVE CREATED FOR YOU— CREAMED EGGS WIZ ZE HAM SAUTÉED IN CHAMPAGNE SAUCE A LA PIERRE.
BUT DON'T YOU SEE? I WANTED JUST PLAIN HAM AND—
I WILL NOT GO! NEVAIR! BUT UNLESS ZAT FEMALE SCRAM OUT OF MY KITCHEN, I'LL—
IT IS UNTHINKABLE!
AND WHAT HAVE WE HERE— ANOTHER UPROAR?
MR. DIMWITTY HAS HIRED A NEW COOK!
I WILL NOT STAND FOR IT! I, PIERRE, AM ZE CHEF!
ALL I WANT IS JUST PLAIN HAM AND EGGS.
OF COURSE, PIERRE... THE FINEST IN THE WORLD! BUT EVEN IF M'SIEUR DIMWITTY HIRES A HUNDRED COOKS, YOU ARE STILL THE HEAD COOK. NOW GO— ENOUGH OF THIS!
THERE, DARLING! DID I MAKE EVERYONE HAPPY?
WHAT WOULD I EVER DO WITHOUT A SECRETARY LIKE YOU, ZIZI, TO SOLVE THESE ENDLESS PROBLEMS?
LATER.
BLOCKHEAD! WE MAY LOSE MILLIONS!
WAT IF OLD DIMWIT MARRY ZE NEW COOK INSTEAD OF YOU, YES?
THAT IS ABSURD.
ABSURD, MY EYE!
OUR PLANS ARE CONFRONT WIZ DANGER!
THERE IS NO NEED FOR ALARM, FRIENDS. ON THE SURFACE, WE WILL APPEAR TO WELCOME HER; ON THE SLY, WE WILL RUIN HER.

The PHANTOM
By LEE FALK and WILSON McCOY
EACH YEAR, A DAY COMES WHEN THE PHANTOM NEITHER EATS NOR DRINKS-- Beginning, The BELT.
--WHEN HE WALKS MOODILY IN THE CAVERN VAULTS OF HIS ANCESTORS--THE PHANTOMS FOR 4 CENTURIES BEFORE HIM--
--OF ALL JUNGLE FOLK AND SEAFARERS, THE PYGMIES ALONE KNOW THAT THE PHANTOM IS NOT IMMORTAL.
THIS IS THE ANNIVERSARY OF HIS FATHER'S DEATH--THE PHANTOM BEFORE HIM.
IT IS FITTING HE SHOULD HONOR THIS DAY.
THE PHANTOM'S THOUGHTS GO BACK TO THAT DAY OVER TEN YEARS AGO-WHEN HIS FATHER DIED--
THE SINGH PIRATE FLAGSHIP. HOW CAN YOU BOARD HER, FATHER?
AN INFORMER IS WAITING FOR ME ON THE BEACH. HE WAS ENSLAVED BY THE SINGH. I RESCUED HIM ON A FORMER RAID-
HE KNOWS ALL THEIR WAYS-- WHEN THEY CHANGE SENTRIES-- THE LOCATION OF THEIR POWDER MAGAZINE AND TREASURE--
GO TO THE WOODS, SON, AND AWAIT ME-
WILSON McCOY 2-7
BUT HE LINGERED TO SEE A MAN-THE INFORMER-JOIN HIS FATHER. TOGETHER THEY ROWED TO THE SHIP--
HE WAITED-- AFTER WHAT SEEMED AN ETERNITY, THERE WAS A VIOLENT [illegible]
CONT'D.

UP TO NOW I HAVEN'T EVEN EARNED MY AIR FORCE PAY AS FAR AS FINDING OUT IF THIS AIRLINE IS RUNNING HEROIN OUT OF RED CHINA IS CONCERNED
I SAY, CANYON, OLD TIGER, YOU ARE THE WIZARD AT HANDLING THIS AIRCRAFT! WHY WAS MILADY MULDOON SO RELUCTANT TO HIRE YOU?
MILTON CANIFF
WELL, DUKE, SHE SAYS I'M A YANKEE SPY! I GUESS SHE'S AFRAID AN AMERICAN GROUP WILL MOVE INTO INDONESIA AND CUT IN ON HER AIRLINE BUSINESS!
CAPABLE WOMEN SUCH AS HERSELF MULDOON ARE A RUDDY TRIAL! I AM KEEN FOR THE TYPE WHO CARE ONLY FOR HOW WELL A CHAP CAN RHUMBA!
AREN'T WE EDGING IN TOWARD RED TERRITORY?
INDEED! THIS IS A BIG TRANSSHIPMENT POINT! —WE LEAVE ELECTRONICS EQUIPMENT AND THE LIKE SO IT CAN BE TAKEN INTO ACTUAL RED COUNTRY BY OTHER MEANS...
WE PICK UP WHAT THEY HAVE TO SELL, THEN OFF WE GO!.. ALL QUITE LEGAL—AND JOLLY PROFITABLE!
YOU SHOOT THE LANDING, YANK—IT WILL GIVE THE GROUND LADS A SURPRISE! THEY'LL BE EXPECTING MY SLOPPY HUNT-AND-PECK TOUCHDOWN
DUKE, DON'T WE GUARD THE AIRCRAFT IF WE TIE DOWN HERE OVERNIGHT?
THE CUSTOMS CHAPS AND THE COMMIES WATCH IT CLOSELY—WHILE WATCHING EACH OTHER! YOU AND I MAY RELAX A BIT!
NEXT DAY—STEVE GOES OVER THE AIRPLANE LIKE A FACTORY INSPECTOR, THEN CHECKS EACH CARGO ITEM AGAINST THE MANIFEST AND CUSTOMS DECLARATION
CUSTOMS CLEARED, M'SIEU! BON CHANCE!
